MELLON TO STAY PUT

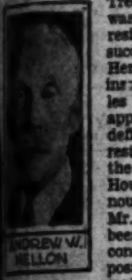
Rumor Killed by White House

Report That Robinson Was to Take Over Post Disproved

Secretary Declared Member of Cabinet for Rest of Term

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Constantly recurring reports in political and banking circles that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was about to resign to be succeeded by Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, were apparently quite definitely set to rest today when the White House announced that Mr. Mellon had been asked to continue at his post for the remainder of President Hoover's term in office.



ANDREW W. MELLON

"The President," it was stated, finally, "has asked Mr. Andrew W. Mellon to remain in his Cabinet for the next three and one-half years—or for the balance of the administration."

That Mellon has agreed to stay was taken for granted. When the latest resignation rumor reached the Treasury, the Secretary dismissed it with the comment:

"It looks like more of the work of [illegible] hands."

BLOW AIMED AT RUMOR

The purpose at the White House obviously was to quiet for all time rumors of Mr. Mellon's impending retirement after eight years at the head of the financial branch of the government, and it was said unofficially but with considerable emphasis that it was hoped this object would be accomplished.

But a lot of explanation is due the observers and well-informed persons in the political and business world who will believe that Mr. Mellon's resignation has not been considered by the President and the Secretary himself, or that an understanding has not existed between the President and Mr. Robinson of Los Angeles whereby the latter was to come to Washington at an unspecified time to take over the Treasury portfolio.

In this connection there was a brand-new report today to the effect that Robinson has not been slated for the Treasury berth at all but that it was as Secretary of Commerce that the President really wanted his services. The rest of the rumor is that Secretary Lamont, now at the Commerce post, came into the Cabinet with the understanding he would remain only

Senator Sheppard's Proposed Measure Hits Recipient of Bootleg Liquor

Norris May Oppose But Bill Certain to Get Hearing; Passage Doubtful

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Another major battle over prohibition seemed in the offing today with introduction by Senator Sheppard of Texas, pioneer among Congressional drys and "father of the Eighteenth Amendment," of a bill making the buyer of bootleg liquor equally guilty with the seller.

Such proposed legislation has made its appearance in Congress before, only to be choked off after a momentary flurry. But there is a well-grounded feeling that this time a really serious effort is to be made to drive it through to enactment. And inasmuch as the passage of such a law would make enforcement of prohibition a matter of personal concern to some millions of Americans instead of a mere topic of conversation, its progress through the legislative mill undoubtedly will attract extraordinary interest.

BACKED BY DRYS

The Sheppard measure has the backing of many powerful dry leaders.

Senator Sheppard said that in introducing the bill he acted on his own initiative and as direct result of the recent decision of the Federal Circuit Court at Philadelphia holding purchasers of liquor guiltless under the Volstead Act. Sheppard interpreted that decision as a blow to proper enforcement, and therefore drafted his bill. It provides that the word "purchase" shall be inserted in that part of the Volstead Act which prohibits the "manufacture, sale, transportation" etc., of intoxicating beverages.

"This is another step in the fight for temperance," said Senator Sheppard, "and it is an entirely natural development. When we first launched the Eighteenth Amendment, it applied only to the sale of liquor. Gradually we extended that to manufacture and transportation as the public became educated to the prohibition idea. We omitted the word "purchase" at first because prohibition had not proved itself, and we were anxious that the law should not be top-heavy at the start."

NORRIS MAY OPPOSE

Senator Sheppard may encounter some difficulties among his own dry colleagues in the Senate. Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the Judiciary Committee to which the measure was referred, said he is inclined to be against it on a number of grounds. He believes such a law would add to the con-

THREE HURT BY BOLTS IN RAINSTORM

First Measurable Fall of Season Visits North After Long Dry Spell

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—A 7-year-old Salinas boy was struck by lightning in a freak electrical storm which formed part of a series which brought the first measurable precipitation of the season to most parts of Northern California last night and today. Forest Edwards, the boy hurt, will recover. He was watching the storm from a kitchen window when a bolt which traveled down from the roof, burned his legs and tore his clothing.

Two women also suffered minor injuries, it was reported tonight. Mrs. Susan Copeland of Stockton was knocked down and her face slightly burned and Mrs. Edith Zasitz, her daughter, also was knocked down and her back wrenched. They were watching the storm from a window when a bolt of lightning struck the house next door and split.

In Sacramento, the storm ended a rainless period of 111 days. N. R. Taylor, meteorologist there, reported electrical disturbances in the Sacramento Valley also, but said the accompanying rainfall did not hurt late crops.

San Francisco was almost completely missed, there being no measurable fall, but Berkeley had a trace.

Two Burned as Engine Strikes Gasoline Truck

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The engineer and fireman of the Southern Pacific south-bound Sunset Limited were severely burned tonight, the fireman so severely that he may not live, when the train, en route to Los Angeles and New Orleans, crashed into an automobile trailer, carrying 3000 gallons of gasoline, at San Jose. The gasoline tank exploded.

Roger E. Fitzpatrick, 32 years of age, San Jose, the fireman, suffered first and second-degree burns and his condition is critical. Fred E. Reynolds, 54, San Jose, the engineer, although not so badly injured, is in a serious condition.

WHEN WAR WAS DECLARED ON CITY'S INDUSTRIES

Open Shop Brewing and Laundry Businesses First Targets of Unionite Attack

This is the eighth of a series of articles on the open-shop war of Los Angeles. Others will follow daily.

In yesterday's article on the story of the open-shop war in Los Angeles an account was given of the tactics of the American Federation of Labor's Agents, operating from their strongly intrenched base in San Francisco, to bring about the subjugation of Los Angeles by the twin weapons of the strike and the boycott. In all the scores of unsuccessful attempts made by the federation to attain this end during the past forty years there have been but few variations from this set program of union strategy. Los Angeles' introduction to these methods came during the five years between 1897 and 1902.

One of the first moves was directed at the brewing industry, thoroughly unionized in San Francisco but open shop here. Under the direction of organizers for the San Francisco Brewery Workers' Union, a unit of the American Federation of Labor, an effort was launched in October, 1897 to unionize the employees of the Maier & Zobelein Brewery, then our largest establishment of the kind.

It did not work. The local brewery workers had had past experience with unions and were getting higher pay for the same number of hours' work than the union brewers of San Francisco. Further, many of them were stockholders in the Maier & Zobelein plant. Figuratively speaking, they told the organizers to go jump in the lake.

BOYCOTT INDORSED

Much incensed, the San Francisco union forthwith declared a boycott on the product of the Maier & Zobelein plant. Then came an incident which further opened the eyes of Los Angeles to the character of the war against her industries. The Los Angeles Council of Labor, forerunner of the present Central Labor Council, indorsed and sustained the boycott, notwithstanding that it was directed against a home product under attack from San Francisco. The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association denounced such tactics and pledged its moral support to the Maier & Zobelein company. The boycott got nowhere.

Like tactics, with similar results, attended the effort to get control of the establishments of Sanborn, Vail & Co., art dealers with houses both in San Francisco and Los Angeles. In the northern city an effort on the part of organizers to fix wages, hours of work and other closed-shop regulations for the company had met with failure. A boycott was ordered, with the Los Angeles branch included in the ban. It failed.

The abortive results of these efforts and a few others like them apparently awakened the San Francisco laborite tacticians to the necessity—from their standpoint—of more vigorous and skillful work, if any headway in the Los Angeles field were to be made. Early in 1901 John Ince, an American Federation of Labor organizer of some reputation, came to Los Angeles as a sort of director of the campaign.

LAUNDRY STRIKE

The first industry to receive his attention was that of the laundry workers. A branch of the shirtwaist and laundry workers' union was formed by the means already described and the employers served with orders fixing a scale of wages and hours for laundry operation. In a majority of cases, however, it developed that the Los Angeles workers were already receiving higher wages than specified in the ulti-

STRIKE BANS SHIPPING OF PERISHABLES

Roads Place Embargo on Produce at New York Because of Congestion

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—An embargo on shipments of all perishable produce to New York effective at midnight was laid down by the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and Erie railroads. The action was taken because of the congestion in freight terminals resulting from the strike of 2000 market truck drivers despite an earlier announcement by Miss Frances Perkins, State Labor Commissioner, who said Ward W. Smith, secretary of the Fruit and Produce Trade Association, informed her an agreement probably would be reached tonight to end the strike.

Miss Perkins transmitted Smith's announcement to Acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who then authorized her to cancel arrangements he had made for a meeting of interested parties at his home tonight in an effort to settle the labor dispute.

The embargo action was announced first by the Pennsylvania Railroad, followed quickly by the Erie, New York Central and the three other lines. Shipping agents in cities throughout the country were notified by the railroad lines to accept no further shipments for this city.

Colby College Gets $500,000 From Champlin

WATERVILLE (Me.) Oct. 7. (AP)—The largest single gift ever received by Colby College was announced today by President Franklin W. Johnson. It is a request of $500,000 from Frank A. Champlin, who died recently in Los Angeles. The bequest is to be part of the permanent endowment funds of the college and to be known as the James Tift Champlin and Mary Champlin Gift."

Champlin was the son of Dr. James T. Champlin, a former president of Colby.

FALL JURY SWORN IN

Defendant Ill and Feeble

Fear Expressed That Former Secretary Will Not Withstand Ordeal

Court Overrules Dismissal Plea on Contention of Once in Jeopardy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The fate of Albert B. Fall, facing charges of bribery growing out of his administration of naval oil lands, will be decided by four women and eight men jurors who were chosen today and locked up until the end of the trial.

It was a comparatively young jury that watched Fall walk feebly out of court after it had been sworn. The former Cabinet officer, whose physician urged against his attempt to go on trial today, overruled his medical advisory and was helped into court by members of his family.

DEFENDANT FEEBLE

Fall's condition is regarded by government prosecutors as one of their greatest obstacles. The picture presented to the jury showed the 68-year-old defendant as a feeble old man barely able to shuffle to his big, easy leather chair which was brought inside the witness railing for him. Once in the chair Fall slumped back and while watching every move seldom raised his head from its reclining position.

Members of the family said they are alarmed by the defendant's condition and some of his counsel fear he will be unable to finish the trial. Sitting beside him was his physician, Dr. H. T. Safford, of El Paso, Tex., and a trained nurse.

The jury was selected after three hours questioning of the veniremen. Government counsel used their peremptory challenges to remove three negroes, who were on the original panel, and one woman. Another negro—George E. Parker, a dining car worker—remained.

BRIBE ASSERTED

The government expects the opening arguments to be concluded tomorrow in time to permit it to call its first witness, probably a government employee who will be asked to tell of the leasing of the Elk Hills oil reserve to Edward L. Doheny.

Fall is asserted by the government to have received $100,000 from Doheny for granting this lease. He maintained it was a loan and asked dismissal of charges against him on grounds that through the acquittal of Doheny and himself in 1926 on charges of conspiring to defraud the government, he was being placed in double jeopardy. Justice William Hitz overruled this contention after court opened today and work of selecting the jury started at once.

Only three members of the jury are more than 40 years of age. Mrs. Ollie O. Walker is 59. Two of them, Miss Virginia Cooper, pretty blond stenographer, and Barney O. Weitz, coal dealer, are only 23. Three others are in their twenties, and four are in their thirties.

The other jurors are: Mrs. Helen M. Jarboe, 36 years of age, bookkeeper; Thomas C. Adkins, 45, railroad engineer; Daniel Weisbach, 31, clerk; George E. Parker, 44, negro dining-car waiter; Festus E. Bowman, 29, clerk; Mrs. Hazel A. Fuller, 35, housewife; Thomas E. Norris, 28, bank teller; Charles R. Nichols, 31, hotel employee, and Harvey L. Taylor, 27, interior decorator.

Will Rogers Remarks:

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 7. [To the Editor of The Times:] Everybody is talking about the fine prospects of a world peace from this trip of Mr. MacDonald, and already it has had tremendous effects. But after it's all forgotten and a couple of different men in both countries are in these high positions with many different ideas, why the lasting impression of Premier MacDonald's trip will be the same effect that daughter of his has had on these girl cigarette ads, lip shellac and nose kalsomining of ours over here. Miss MacDonald has been so busy all her life learning how to be agreeable and wholesome that she hasn't had time to worry about how she looked, and as a consequence she looks lovely.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

MACDONALD GIVES PEACE MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Anglo-American Strife Impossible With Kellogg Pact Effective, He Tells House and Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald interrupted his conferences with President Hoover today to tell the Congress of the United States that there can be no war between the two great English-speaking nations if each does its duty in making effective the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war.

"There can be no war," the British statesman said. "Nay, more, it is absolutely impossible, if you and we do our duty in making the peace pact effective, that any section of our arms, whether land, or sea, or air, can ever come into hostile conflict."

The Senate chamber was crowded with legislators, diplomats and citizen spectators who eagerly embraced his words.

RAMSAY MACDONALD

Asserting amid applause that problems of jealousy and of fear have disappeared, the Prime Minister declared the American and British governments have met together and have said: "What is all this bother about parity?"

QUESTION OF PARITY

"Parity?" he questioned sharply. "Take it," he exclaimed, "without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That is one of the results of this visit. Another result of the visit is that we have come to understand each other."

"Ah, Senators," the Prime Minister continued, "as long as you conduct your negotiations by correspondence over thousands of miles of sea you never will understand each other at all. In these democratic days, when heart speaks to heart, as deep speaks to deep and silence talks to silence, personality, personal contact, exchange of views by the lip, sitting at two sides of a fireplace, as it was my great privilege to do this week-end with your President—these things are to be as important as anything else in laying the foundation of an enduring peace all over the world."

PROGRESS REPORTED

Before the visiting statesman spoke to Congress, he and President Hoover joined in a statement that gratifying progress has been made in their exchange of views and that the conversations in the mountains of Virginia last Saturday are continuing.

"We have reviewed frankly all questions which might give rise to friction between our peoples," the statement said. "Gratifying progress has been made and the conversations are continuing."

This brief pronouncement was made immediately after the return of the President and his guest from the Hoover camp on the Rapidan River. The informal talks between the leaders of the two governments were continued during the afternoon at the White House—where the Premier is a guest.

CORDIAL RECEPTION

The first British Prime Minister to address the American Congress, Mr. MacDonald was accorded a cordial reception in both houses. He mounted the dais of the House of Representatives, in company with Representative Hadley of Washington, Speaker pro tem, who made a short introductory address. Only about one-third of the members of the House were present, since it has not yet begun to transact business. The Premier spoke in his customary steady and even tone, his voice carrying to the far reaches of the crowded galleries.

Occasionally he lifted his eyes to glance at his daughter Ishbel sitting in the front row of the diplomatic gallery in company with Lady Isabella Howard, wife of the British Ambassador.

After a brief address, the Prime Minister stepped down and received the members.

On his departure for the Senate chamber, the Premier was followed by many persons.

The Senate chamber became silent as the statesman began his address. He spoke in a low tone at

Social War Flares Anew as Alice Longworth Snubs Affair of State

Dolly Gann Takes Seat of Honor at Festivities in White House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Great Britain's Prime Minister, sojourning in our democracy to promote peace was guest of honor tonight at a White House dinner which may bring on a Washington war.

MRS. EDWARD E. GANN

Exactly one hour and fifty minutes after Dolly Curtis Gann had sat triumphantly down to the left of President Hoover, Alice Roosevelt Longworth came serenely back from the New York visit which had been her reason for declining an invitation to the dinner.

ALICE "EXPLAINS"

As the guests, leaving the White House tonight, were discussing her absence from Washington, she was explaining that of course she could not have attended the dinner for she had been home only five minutes. From New York, where she had gone to say good-by to her brother Teddy, en route to his new post in Porto Rico, she said she had gone to the family home at Oyster Bay to let her daugher Pauline have a visit with her small cousins.

Nor would she say more.

There were other surprises, too, at tonight's dinner.

First of all Vice-President Curtis, who said that for this once he'd accept any chair that was given him, got the best one, to the right of Mrs. Hoover, while Ramsay MacDonald, the official guest, drew the chair to the left of Mrs. Hoover, with Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, wife of the Secretary of State, as his partner instead of the first lady, as was expected.

Directly across from the Vice-President sat Mrs. Dolly Gann, his sister-hostess, beaming beneficently on Lady Isabelle Howard, wife of the British Ambassador, who held the precious position at President Hoover's right only because Mrs. Gann a week ago had given it to her, not for keeps, but just for this trans-Atlantic good-will festival. Mrs. Gann sat to the President's left and had for her partner Sir Esme Howard, dean of the Diplomatic Corps.

To the right of Lady Isabella sat Secretary of State Stimson and to his right Ishbel MacDonald, youngest and most serene of all the guests.

There were other guests, of course, seventy-five of them, but they were obscured by the placing of this octet about the controversial horseshoe of fine white linen and pale

WHITE HOUSE RESPLENDANT

Highest in Officialdom Enter Mansion's Portals to Dine With Premier MacDonald

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—All of the splendor of new world democracy glittered tonight in the entertainment of a Prime Minister from an old world power where pomp and royalty still hold sway.

Through the historic portals of the White House walked the highest officials, past and present, of the American government to sit at the dinner of state for Great Britain's Premier, the first formal affair of its kind given by President and Mrs. Hoover.

The stately rooms of the old colonial mansion were a blaze of light and color. The brilliant uniforms of members of the Diplomatic Corps, and army and navy officers vied with the multitude of hues in the gowns of the women.

Through the foyer, where the red-coated marine band orchestra played scarcely loud enough to be heard beyond the front door, the arriving guests moved in pairs to the East Room, there to be met by the President and Mrs. Hoover. A golden brocade canopy against the wall between the north and south ends overhung the place where the guests of honor and others were received. The brief word of welcome and the formal introduction to the Premier and his daughter were the only preliminaries permitted by the short space of time between the arrival of the last guests and the entering of the dining hall.

The century-old treasured possession of Dolly Madison, wife of President James Madison—her gold and mirrored centerpiece—graced the horseshoe table about which the guests were seated.

Mrs. Hoover had installed in the table decorations an atmosphere of her native California. On either side of the centerpiece were ranged golden Epergnes, overflowing with huge white and purple California grapes. These stood between alternately placed large and smaller bowls of pink roses, hanging gracefully toward the two sides of the semicircular table. Also on either side of the table four tall gold vases held masses of pink roses. Scores of smaller vases were included in the giant centerpiece. A gift of the President of France to Mrs. Madison when she was mistress of the first, but frequently raised his voice to emphasize a point. He was interrupted several times by prolonged applause.

CONGRESS HEARS PREMIER IN PROPHECY OF PEACE

The members of the Premier's party had to force their way through the crowds which gathered at the Senate entrance to the Capitol as they left for the White House, where the Prime Minister and his daughter lunched informally with the President and Mrs. Hoover.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The text of Premier MacDonald's address to the Senate follows:

"Mr. President, and Senators, I cannot say that these walls are unfamiliar to me. I have been here before; but when I sat in one of those galleries, having been brought here under the wing of the late Senator Hoar, destiny never whispered to me that one day, before I 'ceased from troubling,' I should stand as I stand here now, facing you and receiving your good will and your honor.

"I do not know what I can say, Mr. President, but you are overburdening me with your kind and your good wishes. The only thing that I feel is why have I been so long in coming over.

"There are two functions that the Prime Minister of Great Britain fills. The first, he is the leader of his party, and he is the head of a party government. But there is a second function, far more important than that:

AIM OF VISIT CITED

"He represents his nation. He leads not only his party, but the House of Commons itself. In the second capacity, Mr. President, I have come here; and I have come here in the second capacity because deep down in my heart there is a conviction that nothing ever will remove, that the many misunderstandings, small but so deplorably effective, that have been growing up and existing between us, do not belong to the substance of things, but belong to the appearances of substance; and I have come, full of faith, to try to reduce misunderstandings to substance, because I know when that can be done the misunderstandings will be completely charmed away.

"I have come in consequence of one great event that I believe will stand up like a monument in history. The event was the signing of the pact of peace in Paris—the pact of peace in the construction of which America played such a magnificent and such an honorable part.

WORD FOR PEACE

"America united with France, Mr. Kellogg alongside of M. Briand, gave the word that renewed hope and renewed energy, which is encouraging us to gird our loins together with more determination than ever before and pursue the path of peace.

"Where do I find the great difference that the signature of that pact has made? It is this: You signed it; we signed it; other nations signed it. Did they mean, when they put their names, or the names of their representatives, at the bottom of that pact—did they mean it to be merely an expression on paper, or did they mean it to be a guiding idea in policy? We mean it to be a guiding idea in policy.

"Speakers in our country and speakers in your country inumerable have said that war between the United States and Great Britain is unthinkable.

REASON FOR CHANGE

"What has happened, and what has made the great change in the prospects of peace, is this—that up to now a proclamation never has been made solemnly, with all the dignity, with all the authority and with all the backing that can be given when two governments and the representatives of two governments make it. I think, Senators of the United States, that declaration now can be made.

"There can be no war; nay, more: It is absolutely impossible, if you and we do our duty in making the peace pact effective, that any section of our arms, whether land or sea or air, can ever again come into hostile conflict.

"Think upon that when we face many of our own problems—problems of jealousy, problems of fear, problems that the young and rising and successful generation put into the hearts of the old generation. They all disappear, and by virtue of the fact that they have disappeared we have met together, and we have said, 'What is all this bother about parity?' Parity? Take it, without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That was the only condition under which competitive armaments could be stopped, and we could create a public psychology which could pursue the fruitful and successful avenues of peaceful cooperation.

FURTHER RESULTS

"That is one of the results of this visit. Another result of the visit is that we have come to understand each other. Ah, Senators! As long as you conduct your negotiations by correspondence over thousands of miles of sea, you never will understand each other at all. In these democratic days, when heart speaks to heart as deep speaks to deep, and silence talks to silence, personality, personal contact, exchange of views by the lip, sitting at two sides of a fireplace, as it was my great privilege to do this week-end with your President—these things are to be as important as anything else in laying the foundation of an enduring peace all over the world.

"I did not mean, really, to deliver you a speech. I am afraid that my remarks are rather developing into that. I really wanted to thank you—to thank you as the representative Senators of this great county and this wonderful people — for your kindness and for your hospitality.

ALLIANCE IDEA SCOUTED

"But I must say that in the building up of those ideals you and I, meeting together here today, must remember the tremendous contributions that have been made by other people. We are not out for any exclusive alliance. You would reject it, so should I. It is not for the benefit of either of us.

"In the old days, when two people used to talk together, all the other peoples used to put their hands up to their ears and say 'what are they saying? They must be conspiring against us.' That was the spirit of war, and that spirit must be extirpated.

"In these days, when two nations talk together, it ought to give hope and confidence to the other nations of the world, especially when neither of those nations—neither you nor we—will form any exclusive alliances directed against the existence or the interests of any other nations or group of nations on the face of the earth.

PURPOSE EXPLAINED

"Our idea is the free, open, intellectually and spiritually attracted co-operation of friends. We are not a criminal conspiracy to protect each other against policemen. We are a union of co-operation, a body—I doubt if there is the exact word in our English language—a co-operation, at any rate, of nations coming together, discussing together, living the open life, in order that their exchange of views, their common actions—sometimes they conflict in opinion and why not? Conflict of opinion is a co-operator in the cause of peace when sane and honest men express contrary opinions—in order that that sort of combination, that so trof co-operation—I do not like the word 'combination'—that sort of co-operation, that sort of free, friendly relationship might be established not only between you and myself, not only between your country and my country but between your country, my country and all the other civilized and honest countries under the face of the sun.

TWO TRIBUTES

And we must pry our tribute to two great men who have helped on this work: First of all, M. Briand, that gay, genial, happy, humorous, eloquent man whose whole life has been devoted to the promotion of the cause of peace; and another, an old friend of mine, to praise whom, alas, at this moment is to lay a wreath upon his tomb—Gustav Stresemann.

"Many a story could I tell you, many a picture could I paint to you, of that quiet, steady, heroic man, standing surrounded by enmity, not only abroad, but at home, determined to play a perfectly straight game, determined to carry into practice the proverb that he who does not respect himself is respected by nobody else.

"I would think I might, here on this platform of the Senate, in this way, paying my tribute to my dead friend, regard it as laying a wreath on his tomb.

"Thank you—thank you very much indeed—for the hearty reception you have given me, and the patient way in which you have listened to me."

SHE TURNED DOWN WHITE HOUSE BID

pink roses and glistening gold candelabra.

Yet, it was the absent guests who attracted much of the attention. Alice Roosevelt Longworth made good her promise that she'd not attend any dinner at which she was obliged to look up the table, rather than down, to see Mrs. Gann. Not lightly does one refuse a White House invitation. Death in the family or illness have long been the only accepted excuses.

But Mrs. Longworth and Speaker Nicholas Longworth declined the invitation, it was announced this afternoon at the White House, because they were out of town. Former Secretary of State and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg journeyed here from Minnesota for the party. Others came from New York. And Mrs. Gann herself hurried back from Topeka for the party. Nevertheless the Longworths were absent and significantly absent, Washington gossip declares.

A somewhat similar social crisis occurred back in 1901 when, strangely enough, a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt's daughter, Alice, was the cause of it. Lady Pauncefote, wife of the British Ambassador, who like Sir Esme was dean of the corps, was in mourning and could not attend a formal White House dinner. In Lady Pauncefote's place, to the right of the President, the White House put young Marguerite Cassini, niece and hostess of Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador.

HEATED CATCH COLDS

The wives of the Cabinet members were furious. But they dared not decline a White House invitation unless ill. Simultaneously, they all developed colds. The State Department got busy with a blue pencil and with one big stroke sent Marguerite down to the middle of the table. Simultaneously all the Cabinet wives recovered in time for the dinner.

But officials are more daring now. So the Longworths stayed out of town.

And one guest, less than four blocks from the White House, telephoned that he couldn't attend just five hours before the dinner. This guest was Alexander Legge, chairman of the President's Farm Board.

HE WAS BUSY

"But, please," he explained genially, "don't make a story out of that. It's nothing. I accepted. Then, when I got back in town this afternoon at 3 o'clock, I found there was some work to do that I just couldn't get away, so I telephoned and begged off and they were fine about it."

Washington's social mentors go back in history and recall how in the good old days nobody declined a White House invitation. And they look forward to the elaborate session that starts in December and they predict that the Curtis-Gann-Longworth triangle will bring about many stag dinners. They predict, too, that Mrs. Gann's status is now stamped with the approval of the administration and that she is No. 2 woman in this land of the free.

Mrs. Hoover wore periwinkle blue velvet and Mrs. Gann wore a silver lace gown with a long train. Lady Isabella's diamond tiara shone down on her gown of orange velvet. Ishbel, with her naturally wavy hair, with her cheeks free from powder, had a simple white taffeta frock, against which the deep red flowers of which she is so fond contrasted pleasantly.

Faith in Hoover Ability to Guide Nation Stressed

EUREKA, Oct. 7. (AP)—Congresswoman Florence P. Kahn of San Francisco, a visitor here today, said the Untied States Senate, "always anti-President," opposed Roosevelt, Wilson and Coolidge and now is opposing Hoover.

"But I think we Californians did not notice this opposition so much until it was directed against a California President," she said.

"Mr. Hoover, is confronted with graver questions than any President since Lincoln," she said, "but he is meeting and solving them in a characteristic engineering way.

"He solved the debenture question in the agricultural bill and I believe he will win out on the flexible tariff feature of the present revenue bill."

More Car Strike Bombs Explode in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Two street cars in different neighborhoods were bombed late tonight almost simultaneously. The passengers and crews escaped injury.

The first blast occurred when a car rolled over a quantity of explosive on Alvar street near Bartholomew.

As the motorman and conductor were investigating the amount of the damage, someone hiding in weeds in a vacant lot threw an improvised grenade against the side of the car that did further damage.

A few minutes later a bomb went off under a car on Franklin avenue near Prieur street.

NAVAL PARLEY BID RECEIVED

Dawes Cables Invitation to Secretary Stimson

Text Not to be Made Public Until Tomorrow

Japan's Acceptance Already Has Been Indicated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The formal invitation of the British government for the United States to participate in a naval-limitation conference in London during the third week in January was received today by the State Department.

Shortly after it arrived by cable from Ambassador Dawes, to whom a copy was handed tonight by the British Foreign Office, Secretary Stimson went to the White House for a comparatively brief conference with the President, but whether the parley was a subject of discussion was not disclosed.

DRAFTED AT CAMP

Mr. Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald went over a final draft copy at the President's camp in Virginia Saturday and the text then was sent back to London. The formal invitations to the United States, Japan, France and Italy then were put into form for forwarding to the ambassadors of those countries.

While the invitation will not be made public until Wednesday, it is the understanding here that it explains the situation arising from the negotiations for equality in cruiser strength which have been going on between the American and British governments for several months.

JAPAN EAGER

Acceptance by the Japanese will have more than the three months' notice. Officials in Tokio indicated they desired before the gathering of the delegates at the British capital to discuss not only limitation of cruisers, submarines and destroyers, but also a further holiday in the construction of capital ships. The American proposal is that this holiday extend from 1931 to 1936, the time of the expiration of the Washington naval limitation treaty.

Whether France and Italy will accept without reservations is a subject for speculation in some official quarters here. They declined to take part in the disrupted 1927 conference on the ground that this was a matter for the League of Nations. However, since the League's preparatory commission on disarmament has referred the naval question to the principal powers, that reason is regarded by some as being removed.

DELEGATES INDICATED

After the formal acceptance of the invitation, President Hoover will give attention to the selection of the American delegation to the London parley. This probably will consist of three delegates in addition to the staff of naval experts, which is expected to be headed by Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones.

The general belief is that Secretary Stimson will head the American delegation, with Hugh S. Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, as another member. Should President Hoover follow precedent, a Democrat will be named to the third place, but he has given no consideration to that matter.

FRANCE SIGNIFIES AID FOR NAVAL PARLEY

(Copyright, 1929, by New York Times)

PARIS, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—It was announced authoritatively at the Quai d'Orsay tonight that France will attend the five-power naval conference for which invitations were issued today from London and there do everything in her power to help the work of the protection of peace by agreement on the limitation of armaments.

From the conference, it is hoped and believed, may come a great contribution to the solution of the disarmament problem which is being studied at Geneva.

Liquor-Running Craft Captured, Another Sunk

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—A thirty-five-foot dory with a cargo of liquor valued at $30,000 was captured and another believed to be similarly loaded was sunk in the Raritan River off the lower bay today by customs guards after a running machine-gun battle. The crews of both boats escaped.

GEN. W. W. SKIDDY DIES

A Test Every Man Past 40 Should Make

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, frequent nightly risings, sciatic pains are some of the signs—and now a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has written a remarkably interesting free book that tells of other symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life be content to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the amazing method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostate gland to its proper functioning. Arrange immediately for this book. Call in person if possible, otherwise mail your request to the Electro Thermal Company, Dept. B-158, 303 Van Nuys Bldg., Los Angeles—the concern that is distributing this book for the author —it will be sent to you absolutely free, without obligation. Simply send name and address. But don't delay, for the edition of this book is limited.—[Advertisement.

PASTOR LOSES KENNEDY BALM

Clark Weeps in Court When Judge Grants Nonsuit

Letters Asking for "Loan" Prove to be His Undoing

Jurist Delves Into Emotions of Repentant Preacher

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The case of Rev. H. H. Clark against Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, ended abruptly this forenoon after six days of testimony, when Superior Judge Ronald granted the evangelist's motion for a nonsuit. Judge Ronald read his memorandum decision at the opening of court after having held his motion for dismissal under advisement since Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Clark wept throughout the reading of the decision, but told reporters afterward that he considered Judge Ronald's statement that he must accept as true the evidence thus far introduced, as vindication of his charges. Having gone through a "baptism of fire," he is ready to begin life anew, he said, though he is not certain whether he will return to his life work in the church.

To Mrs. Kennedy it was a complete vindication, and when spectators rushed to congratulate her and even to kiss her hand, she bowed like a prima donna acknowledging an ovation.

EMOTIONS STUDIED

Judge Ronald's opinion took nearly an hour to read, with the excerpts he interspersed from the letters the middle-aged preacher wrote to Mrs. Kennedy, her secretary, Kay Burbeck, and her daughter, Aimee Semple McPherson.

"I have given this matter a great deal of time and study," the judge began. "The motion depends entirely upon the construction put on these two letters in evidence (the letters to Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Burbeck.)

"What they mean is a question of law to be decided by the court. To arrive at their true meaning one must exercise the emotions of the man who wrote them. Put one's self in his place; see life from his viewpoint.

"In passing on this motion the court has to assume the truth of the testimony.

"The testimony showed that the plaintiff, Clark, had spent his life in church work. He and the defendant became engaged to marry. During the engagement acts were committed which his conscience condemned. He reconciled his acts with his conscience solely on the ground that he and the defendant soon were to become husband and wife. The plaintiff loved the defendant. Suddenly the plaintiff sees that the object of his affections had played with him, jilted him, had no love for him.

"Thereupon the acts which before had been excusable became a damning sin. In his own estimation he was a traitor to and outcast from his God.

CHANGE IN PLANS

"Being a creature of emotions and impulses and of very poor judgment, he set his mind on two courses: first to get away and atone for his sins by other work; second, if he could not get away, to die by his own hand. Before dying he felt he must confess before God and man."

But the court found a change in his plans.

"In view of this letter (to Mrs. Kennedy's secretary) in which he told Miss Burbeck of the acquaintanceship he had with the defendant, a thing she specifically told him not to, she (Mrs. Kennedy) was entirely justified in not marrying him."

Further, the court ruled, in his letter to Mrs. Kennedy volunteering to "fade out of the picture" if she would advance him a loan, he indicated "acquiescence to her refusal to marry him. At least that is the court's interpretation. Otherwise it is evidence of blackmail."

Counsel for Mr. Clark said a motion for a new trial will be considered.

TWO SCORE LISTED LOST WITH SHIP

Sixty-nine Saved from Steamer That Strikes on Rock in Storm

BERGEN (Norway) Oct. 7. (AP)—Thirty-five passengers and nine members of the crew were believed today to have drowned when the steamer Haakon VII struck a rock near Floroe in a terrific storm late last night and foundered almost immediately. Sixty-nine other persons were saved.

The horrors of the disaster were described today by some of the survivors, although many still were suffering from exposure and shock so that they were unable to answer questions.

Twelve third-class passengers were imprisoned for hours in their quarters in the bow of the vessel barely above the water which flooded the rest of the ship. The impact threw the captain into the sea and extinguished the electric lights, adding darkness to the terrors of shipwreck. The captain swam to a rock from which he later was rescued, but was so exhausted tonight that he was unable to give any explanation of the cause of the wreck.

It was a pitch-dark night with a heavy wind blowing when the vessel struck.

It was difficult tonight to determine the exact number of those lost, the passenger list having gone down with the ship.

SENATE TARIFF TANGLE GROWS

"American Selling Price" Clause Knocked Out

Democrat-Insurgent Line-up Foreshadows Defeat

McKellar Urges Election of Conferees on Bill

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The tariff debate entered its fifth week today with the Democratic-insurgent coalition more firmly in command of the situation than ever before.

Just before adjournment tonight, after an afternoon of desultory debate, the Senate adopted an amendment offered by King of Utah, a Democrat, knocking another pet provision of the Finance Committee from the bill. This is a section giving to the Treasury Department the right to establish the "American selling price" as basis of valuation, whenever the foreign valuation cannot be determined.

CLAUSE DEFEATED

The move to strike it out prevailed by a vote of 44 to 37. Only one Democrat, Kendrick of Wyoming, sided with the Republicans, while the Democrats again had the support of a baker's dozen of insurgents. This was the first test of strength since the flexible tariff went out of the bill last week, and it indicated that in minor matters coalition is even stronger than on the fundamental provisions of the bill.

The vote foreshadows defeat for any attempt to incorporate "American valuation" in the bill as proposed by the Tariff League of America, the organization of which Joseph R. Grundy is the moving spirit. If he could establish this principle, Mr. Grundy probably would be willing to forego many of the increases which have been voted to eastern industries. But now the outlook is very dark, indeed.

UNION MEASURE FOUGHT

With this preliminary battle on the controversial "valuation" question out of the way the Senate proceeded to discuss another new proposal, an amendment which would give labor unions the right to intervene in valuation disputes. The American Federation of Labor sought this privilege before the House committee last winter, but failed. This summer the obliging Senate Finance Committee put it into the bill.

Senators Walsh of Massachusetts and Harrison of Mississippi have taken the leadership in fighting this proposal, and this is regarded as amusing to many members of the Senate. It is an open secret that the Republicans on the Finance Committee yielded to the labor unions on the theory that it would compel some Democrats to look with more favor on the bill. They had written down Walsh, who comes from a State where labor unions are powerful, as a certainty on their side. But today Walsh, indorsed by the A. F. of L. in all his recent campaigns, launched the attack on the measure; while the principal speech in its advocacy was made by Reed of Pennsylvania, who often is denounced for overfriendliness with the capitalists of Pittsburgh.

McKELLAR'S MENACE

Although some Republicans still voice confidence that through some miracle the present confusion can be dissolved and the bill become law, another menace to that program developed today.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee, speaking through the publicity bureau of the Democratic National Committee, suggested that the Senate should elect its own conferees, if the bill should pass. Ordinarily the Vice-President would appoint them. If McKellar's ideas should prevail and the Democratic-insurgent coalition can load the conference committee, there is little hope that an agreement with the House could be reached and the tariff bill would die between the branches.

COOLIDGES END THEIR HONEYMOON

John Goes Back to Work and Bride Gets Ready to Arrange Apartment

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Maj. John Coolidge, back from his honeymoon at Moosehead Lake, took up the prosaic duties of a railroad clerk in the operating offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad today. His wife remained at the home of her parents, Gov. and Mrs. John H. Trumbull, at Plainville, where the couple spent last night on their return from their honeymoon trip to the summer camp of the Governor in Maine.

The apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge in Fountain street had been made ready for their occupancy but it will be necessary for the bride to arrange the furniture and fittings as most of the former was not delivered until last Wednesday.

SAVE $200 IN OPERATING YOUR CAR!

Experts estimate that faulty lubrication causes unnecessary losses, such as premature repairs and increased fuel consumption, averaging about $200.00 per year for each car now in use.

The chief purpose of McBryde's 12,000-mile lubricating service is to prevent this waste. Not only do we agree to lubricate your car properly every 500 miles, but we also subject it periodically to rigid inspection. All loose nuts and screws are tightened and reported to the owner in writing.

If your car has been left to the mercies of "hit-and-miss" grease shooters, you can save money and get a lot more fun out of your car by signing up with McBryde.

WAR DECLARED ON INDUSTRY

First of Series of Closed Shop Attacks Here

Strike and Boycott Both Used Without Effect

matum. The employees of one plant declared in a statement that they were entirely satisfied and would remain at work as long as their conditions of work continued.

In this absence of any grievance upon which a strike could be predicated, a demand for the closed shop in the laundry business was formulated. Of this The Times said:

"The demand . . . when analyzed, amounts to nothing less than this—a demand that the laundry proprietors shall establish a blacklist and shall refuse to give employment to any person whose name is on the blacklist. In this manner they (the union members) would coerce every laundry worker into joining their organization, on pain of being deprived of work in Los Angeles altogether. That is to say, they would take away the natural and inherent right of these American citizens to do as they please, so long as they obey the laws of the land and infringe upon no other person's rights."

All demands of the union were refused and a strike was called. A majority of the members of the union responded, many of them with reluctance, but their absence was insufficient to cripple the industry and most of them were back within ten days. President Bonfilio, of the Excelsior Laundry, took a leading part in organized resistance to the union's coercive efforts and this establishment's example was a considerable factor in the outcome.

An ineffectual attempt to boycott the open-shop laundries was made but the sentiment of the community was such that it received negligible support.

TEST OF STRENGTH

The laundry strike was regarded by both sides as merely a preliminary test of strength and of no particular importance in itself. Of it The Times said:

"This little local dispute is simply a faint reflex of the great struggle which is now under way in various sections of the country between employers of labor, who are determined to free themselves from the tyranny of labor unions, and those who support the claims of the unions. It is the culmination of a long course of outrageous and impossible demands, made by the unions to be permitted to dictate the conditions under which business enterprises shall be conducted, although the members of those unions have invested neither time, nor money nor experience in the establishment of such enterprises."

In one of which statements The Times was mistaken. It was not the culmination of union demands but merely the beginning of them. Los Angeles was to see labor troubles compared to which the laundry strike was a Sunday-school picnic.

The failure of the latter does not appear to have discouraged Ince and his lieutenants. They turned their organizing attentions successively to as many industries as they could reach, with varying degrees of success. An attempt to form a union among the employees of the street railway company was nipped in the bud. The teamsters, stablemen, metal workers, bakers and hod carriers were among the others upon which effort was expended.

NONUNION BAKER SHOT

One of the first acts of violence to occur since the Debs riots was the shooting and serious injury of E. C. Hurth, a nonunion baker, in a quarrel described by Hurth as following an effort on the part of a union sympathizer to make him join the organized bakers. The assailant escaped.

Actual strikes to enforce union hours and wages did not figure largely in this early part of the unionizing campaign, probably because the Los Angeles industries had made progress to a point where they were able to pay as good or better wages than prevailed elsewhere on the Coast. For the most part the organizers devoted their attention to strengthening existing unions and forming new ones with an eye to the struggle to come. A closed-shop condition in key industries, similar to that existing in San Francisco, was the immediate goal.

In the Bay City the fruits of the closed shop were ripening in the form of a dozen or more strikes in as many different industries. Wholesale and retail business was beginning to suffer heavily by reason of partial suspension of production and because of the withdrawal from circulation of some $20,000 per day, the normal wage aggregate of the 7000-odd men out on strike. The machinists' strike alone, it was estimated, had cost the strikers and the community about $360,000.

Tomorrow's article will describe some of the permanent machinery set up here by San Francisco unionism to handle the job of "organizing" Los Angeles.

MELLON WILL STAY AT POST

for an indefinite time and then go back to his private business interests at Chicago. There seems no real basis for such a report, and it may be just so much idle talk. But Washington grabbed at it tonight, tentatively, unwilling to give up the idea that Robinson was really and definitely in line for a Cabinet appointment.

STATEMENT SURPRISE

The general belief here ever since President Hoover took office has been that Mr. Robinson could have had a Cabinet post at the outset of the administration, but begged off for a time that he might set his private business affairs in order. These included all the complexities growing out of the Security-First National Bank merger in Los Angeles recently. Robinson was president of the First National and is chairman of the board of the new and larger banking institution. He was in Washington last week, it was learned today, and it is presumed he saw President Hoover as he invariably calls at the White House first thing when he comes to the capital.

Today's White House announcement came as a distinct surprise especially in view of the fact that many rumors concerning Mellon have come and gone within the last month without attracting any official notice from the executive offices. And many of those in the past have been stronger and apparently had much more plausibility behind them than the one today, which was merely a bare ticker-room rumor of a character that has cropped up every week for the last six months. The manner in which the White House seized upon it as the basis for the official denial led to the belief President Hoover has lately found a particularly important reason of his own for wanting to let the country know once and for all that there is no trouble between himself and Secretary Mellon and that Mr. Mellon does not want to quit nor the President desire that he should and that, accordingly, Mr. Mellon is going along for the rest of the administration.

LIKES HIS JOB

The ever-recurring rumors of his resignation have been extremely annoying to Secretary Mellon and it may be he finally decided to ask the President to take a hand with a White House denial. The indications were, however, that the President acted entirely upon his initiative in making this afternoon's announcement. The reports have bothered Mr. Hoover, too, and as a business executive he perhaps had in mind the impairment of Mr. Mellon's effectiveness that might result from allowing the rumors to go much longer without definitely and formally being squelched.

It is recalled now that when the President asked Mellon to continue in the Cabinet at the start of the administration he attached no reservations or time limit to the invitation such as he did in the case of Secretary of Labor Davis, for example, whom he asked to stay on for one year. Nevertheless, from the start there was a general belief that Mellon would not remain permanently. First he was staying because Mr. Robinson was not ready to come from Los Angeles, and Hoover wanted him to stay until that time. Then, it was said he was remaining until he could conclude the European debt-funding negotiations. Then it was something else again.

GEMS OF JEANNE EAGELS FOUND TO BE JUST PASTE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Most of Jeanne Eagels's gems were paste, it was revealed at police headquarters today, when jewelry worn by the actress at the time of her sudden death last week was appraised at $7970 instead of the $250,000 to $350,000 reported as their value when they were seized for the public administrator.

A marquise diamond ring worth $4500, a $3000 pearl ring, a $150 diamond wedding ring and a rope of graded imitation pearls worth only $300 comprised the major portion of the gems. The rope of pearls at first was thought to be worth $15,000.

FUNERAL SERVICE TODAY IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—The body of Jeanne Eagels, stage and moving-picture star, tonight rests in Kansas City, her old home. Funeral services for the actress, who became a "trouper" of the old school at 5 years of age and who later played in Kansas City stock companies, will be conducted here tomorrow morning.

The body of Miss Eagels, who died Thursday in New York, arrived here last night accompanied by Miss Helen Elaine Eagels, a sister.

Mrs. Julia Sullivan Eagels, mother of the actress, and two brothers, George Eagels and Paul D. Eagels, arrived Sunday afternoon from their home in Los Angeles.

Another sister, Mrs. W. K. Ackerly, Needles, Cal., her husband and five children also are expected to join the funeral party here.

LAW URGED TO HIT BUYER

gestion which prohibition already has brought upon the courts.

Moreover, he fears that it would multiply the difficulties which now confront the prosecutor, because it would be almost impossible to obtain tangible evidence which would convict.

In spite of his personal opposition, however, it is not likely that Senator Norris will pigeonhole the measure. He favors wide-open hearings on every subject, and as Senator Sheppard says he will ask for a hearing when Congress meets in regular session in December Norris is pretty certain to give him one. Of the seventeen members of the Judiciary Committee only one, Blaine of Wisconsin, is a pronounced wet. The chances are large, therefore, that the Sheppard Act will receive a favorable report from the committee—and then the fun will begin.

BORAH WOULD STUDY

Senator Borah of Idaho, some time champion of the dry cause, was hesitant today about giving the Sheppard proposal his unqualified indorsement.

"Naturally," he said, "I would be in favor of anything that would make both parties to the crime equally responsible, but I have thought about the matter since the Philadelphia court decision which, to my mind raised a serious constitutional point, and I would like more time to study this proposed amendment."

Other drys are taking about the same position—that they would like more time before committing themselves—but privately some of them admitted a lack of enthusiasm. They are afraid that such a law would look like fanaticism and would only increase popular resentment toward prohibition.

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, a wet, said he would oppose the bill because it was carrying matters too far, but he added: "Its passage might not be a bad thing because it would awaken millions of Americans to the ridiculousness of the whole prohibition scheme. The more unpopular these laws become the sooner will we get rid of them."

PASSAGE IMPROBABLE

All in all, it is improbable that the dry forces in Congress will push the Sheppard proposal through to final enactment at this time for if they did prohibition then would begin to work both ways. And votes are involved. Senators and Representatives for the most part not only have found it politically expedient to support the dry side of the prohibition controversy but have found that even the "wets" among their constituents are not unduly exercised over prohibition so long as they can get what liquor they want without physical jeopardy of legal punishment.

But these same Senators and Representatives knowing the psychology of the whole prohibition situation are going to hesitate a long time yet before passing a law they know would place many of their constituents in daily or weekly liability of prosecution.

There is now one radio that gives to music an entirely new interpretation. It catches something in the music that is utterly different, something that stops conversation, makes you listen—Spellbound!

Stewart-Warner engineers found a way to gain absolute fidelity of tone by a new method of controlling oscillation. This method eliminates every whisper of outside noise or hum.

Then came our new power transformer equal to double any power requirements it might need.

Here's "The Set with the Punch!" It's the "Punch" that gives championship performance from one end of the dial to the other. That banishes all A. C. hum—yet retains 100% sensitivity. That gives volume, selectivity and realism of tone never before offered. It gives you your choice of Screen Grid or Balanced Bridge Circuits. It's modern—even to a plug-in for televison.

INSECT PERILS IN NATION GROW

Despite Quarantines More Bugs Cross Border

California Has Advantage of National Barrier

Scientists Claim Gains; Others Fearful

BY ALLEN SHOENFIELD

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

(This is the third of five consecutive articles written after a thorough study of the war being waged by the United States to control or check the scourage of insects, to combat an invasion whose possible disastrous effects are beyond belief.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—While entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture place their faith in quarantine and control measures as a means of checking effectively the spread of foreign insect pests threatening the country's food supply, others less concerned with a specific problem and viewing the situation in larger perspective are by no means certain man will check the ultimate domination of the world by insect hosts.

In a recent issue of the Scientific Monthly, organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Prof. Glenn W. Herrick, Cornell University, lists thirty-five species of insects introduced from abroad since 1750. He fails to find that anywhere—except in California with its admirable natural barriers —has the spread of the pests been checked by man.

EASY TO ENTER

He writes: "One scarcely can refrain from asking what the stiff quarantine regulations against the vegetable, fruit, cereal and other products of foreign countries instituted some fifteen years ago have accomplished in preventing the introduction of undesirable insect visitors.

"No one can say. Perhaps dozens of unknown dangerous species have been kept out. Two things, however, are certain: namely, that some of the more recent ones which 'got by' are now among our most serious pests, and that it is, apparently, very easy for these small animals to enter our country."

EXPENSE HEAVY

Prof. Herrick finds rigid quarantine regulations "always annoying, always sources of friction and in many cases the cause of maintenance of quarantines entails a heavy expense which, of course, falls as taxes upon the people whom they injure as well as upon those they are supposed to benefit."

To indicate that such measures are futile—despite the assertions of government agents—the scientist cites as typical the case of the Mexican cotton-boll weevil, "which spread eastward over the cotton belt from its center of infestation in Texas with an irresistible yearly progress despite any State or local quarantine measures instituted against it."

WHERE QUARANTINE HELPS

Only in the case of those insects, such as the San Jose scale, which pass the greater part of their lives attached to the plant host, is quarantine of any avail, Prof. Herrick says. Shipments of nursery stock can be controlled with reasonable effectiveness, though without certainty.

Seventeen years ago the Kansas State Agricultural College estimated that insects injurious to the fruit production of that State alone account for an annual loss of 20 per cent of the entire crop, valued at $30,000,000. What the annual loss was in 1912 in farm crops, fruits and grain for the country at large no one may say.

NEW MENACES

Since 1912, however, the devouring hordes which cross the seas have been augmented by the European pine-shoot moth, the pine sawfly, the Japanese beetle, the oriental peach moth, the European corn borer, the pink cotton-boll worm, the apple and thorn skeletonizer, the Asiatic beetle, the satin moth, the camphor scale, the Mexican bean beetle, the oriental beetle, the Australian tomato weevil, the oriental twilight beetle, the cabbage weevil, the grape thrips, the Mexican fruit fly and, as recently as April 6, last, the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Pressed for an estimate of the annual damage done to crops together with an estimate of the amounts annually expended by State and Federal agencies to check insect depredations, Altus Lacy Quaintance, associate chief of the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, could only state that anything like accurate statistics are unavailable.

Take a single crop, however, such as apples, which are produced in varying quantities in every State with the possible exception of Florida and North Dakota. The yearbook of agriculture for 1928 lists the production of forty-six States at 184,920,000 bushels, which brought the producer an average price of $1.26 a bushel or a total crop value of $232,999,200. If the Kansas statistics are applicable here, then 20 per cent of the possible apple crop, valued at $58,249,800, never got to market, but was consumed by insect pests.

However large this item appears, it represents only damage done a single crop, and does not even take into consideration the sums expended on sprays and spraying equipment, necessitated by insect pests, to get 80 per cent of the possible apple crop to market.

TRAVEL SWIFTLY

Apparently man, with all his ingenuity, cannot devise a means of transportation so swift that his winged brothers cannot outspeed it. Somewhere in his granaries of steel or stone the tiny enemies are holding high carnival. Man is beginning to realize that it is quite as great a problem to get his food from market to table as from orchard and grain field to his places of trade.

The number of beetles, bugs, scales, flies, moths, ticks and lice which are living with man, certainly on him and in some cases within him, seems to be growing. They destroy not merely what he seeks to eat, but what he designs to wear. A long list of pests devote their exclusive attention to man's domestic animals, many of which comprise his chief source of food.

What is the answer? Is the quiet confidence of agricultural experts, as voiced by Mr. Quaintance, based on fact—or on ignorance of present trends and an inability to view the situation in its broadest aspects?

"The gypsy moth has been exterminated in New Jersey," said Mr. Quaintance. "The ermine moth has been wiped out in western New York. None of the common garden pests is as great a menace as a few years ago. Our knowledge is growing. Therein lies our salvation. The International Congress of Entomologists, meeting annually, serves as a clearinghouse. More than 2000 delegates attend the meeting in Italy last year. Our publications number more than 10,000 each year. We learn from each other the best methods of eradication or control.

"I believe that we may obtain from 70 to 90 per cent control of any pest, given the opportunity. The support of research in entomology is the key to the situation. Thus we learned to defy the Hessian fly by planting our wheat later. We will control the European corn borer by close cutting and plowing under the stubble.

"In my opinion no insect ever yet stopped agriculture. There is no need for alarm. Science is not merely holding its own; its victories over the insect world are steadily increasing in number and importance."

WHAT ARE FACTS?

It is an optimistic note, and yet—.

What are the facts? Do the agricultural experts and the students of evolution really speak the same language? Does not the expert talk, rather, of today, and the biologist of tomorrow, basing his predictions on the seemingly immutable law of the survival of the fittest?

Within the last few weeks Georges Delport, distinguished French scholar, has published in Paris a dissertation on "Insects as Future Masters of the World," in which he offers proof that, millions of years hence, perhaps, the cycle of life on the earth is bound to turn in favor of the tiny organisms whose physiological complexity and ability to survive under the most adverse conditions points them out as man's superiors.

WHICH DATA RIGHT?

Three years ago the experts smiled tolerantly when Dr. Austin H. Clark of the Smithsonian Institution, internationally known entomologist, propounded his theory on "The Future Balance of Life." Only recently, with the immigration of new foreign pests to this country and the increase of concern for our food supply, have Dr. Clark's predictions been re-examined and something like credence accorded them.

From what set of facts did Mr. Clark draw his conclusions, so singularly like those just voiced by Delport, and in how far may they be accepted?

Too much acid in the system will upset any stomach. There is a simple way to neutralize all this excess acid, and everyone who ever experiences any after-eating distress, any gas, or whose stomach ever pains or is sore, should know about Pape's Diapepsin.

These tablets neutralize the acid so quickly and completely! And they do nothing else. They do not affect the entire contents of the stomach, but they do dispose of the acid—the cause of nine-tenths of all "stomach trouble." Every drug store has Pape's Diapepsin, or you may have a box to try free!

What kind of bones is your baby building?

does he have a well-shaped head a full chest .. .. straight legs?

Authorities on baby care are telling mothers that a plentiful supply of one essential factor must be provided if bones and teeth are to develop strong and sound.

This factor—Vitamin D—should be supplied even though your baby is breast-fed; even though he is plump and rosy and the picture of health.

This needed protection is obtainable from two common sources—sunshine and good cod-liver oil. It is almost impossible, however, to get enough sunshine on the bare skin to be of benefit. Clothing, clouds, fog and smoke prevent it. Even ordinary window glass filters out the ultra-violet rays.

Physicians therefore advise, as the most dependable protection, the daily use of Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil.

In urging cod-liver oil as a way to avoid future trouble, thousands of physicians advise, "Use Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil."

They specify Squibb's because it is very rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which helps to build good bones and teeth, and in Vitamin A which increases resistance to many infections.

Your physician knows that Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected and that it will help build teeth and bones for your baby. You can get both Squibb's Plain and Mint-flavored Cod-Liver Oil at all good drug stores.

ENGINEERS HEAR ECONOMY PLEAS

Secretary Wilbur's Message Read at Session

Great Natural Subsurface Riches Pointed To

Other Speakers Address Bay City Gathering

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Conservation of the great natural subsurface resources of the United States and particularly all of California, was the dominant note struck today at the one hundred and thirty-eighth meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, unable to be present, in a letter pleaded for careful consideration of conservation plans of President Hoover. The letter was read to the more than 200 delegates by Dr. Theodore J. Hoover, brother of the President and head of Stanford University school of engineering.

That the engineers have devoted and will continue to give earnest and constructive thought to the Presidential plans was evident, but care was urged in consideration of the problem of just how far the States should go in working out plans for future development of resources lying under the soil. Speakers expressed the opinion it may be better to deal with one guiding bureau only—that a Federal one—rather than a bureau in each of the States.

WILBUR'S MESSAGE

Secretary Wilbur prefaced his message with a brief survey of the enormous changes in mining and metallurgy since the days of "rule of thumb," and continued:

"If we look over the changes that have come about we find that the resources of the western half of the country are taking on a new significance. Metals and other raw materials are becoming increasingly important. There are great stores of them under various conditions in many parts of the West. This, together with the large reservoirs of oil and gas, and the deposits of coal in the public land States, are guarantees of the continuation of the industrial life of our country.

"The general policy of the Federal government for generations has been to distribute its public lands for the development of homes.

"There has been a similar policy in connection with the precious and useful metals. Every effort has been made to promote the development of these, as well as their discovery. Large premiums have been given to those who were willing to meet the vicissitudes of prospecting and the risks of mining.

CONSERVATION PLEA

"It is quite evident that the supplies stored up by nature in the ground are to determine largely the success of our industrial civilization. Upon the soil itself depends the vegetation upon which our life depends.

"We must proceed, as the President of the United States recently pointed out, to the proper conservation of the oil and gas and coal resources of the country and we must view our mineral supplies, including our mineral fertilizers, as problems of a national as well as of a local character."

How California has taken the lead in legislation seeking to conserve and to curb overproduction was told by W. E. Colby, San Francisco.

"The total amount of natural gas wasted in one year in California alone," the speaker declared, "is said to be more than 200,000,000,000 cubic feet, equivalent in heat units to more than 25,000,000 barrels of fuel oil or more than 10,000,000 tons of coal.

"Assuredly such an enormous wastage of an irreplaceable resource so vital to the welfare of the community justifies control and regulation by the State.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

"Agreements contemplated have been tentatively entered into between some of the larger operating companies. The success of such agreements will depend upon the co-operation of independent companies and those possessing smaller interests, who naturally are disinclined to make material sacrifices which they assert will benefit the larger companies.

"The outcome is of profound importance and is being awaited with intense interest by the entire petroleum industries of the United States."

Touching upon the proportionate problem between Federal and State governments, Charles W. Merrill, San Francisco declared:

"Our colleague for whom we have such deep esteem and who has assumed such great responsibility, the President of the United States, is planning for the investigation of a proposition to change our public-land policy, consonant with his 'desire to work out more constructive policies for conservation of our mineral resources, to check the growth of Federal hierarchy, to reduce Federal interference in affairs of essentially local interest and thereby increase the opportunity of the States to govern themselves.'

"He tentatively suggests that the surface rights of the remaining unappropriated, unreserved public lands should be transferred to State governments for public schools under State administration.

VAST MINING PROBLEM

"The lands aggregate 225,000,000 acres, of which the underground rights of 35,000,000 have been withdrawn for coal and shale reserves.

"This constitutes truly a mining problem of serious portent and again the mining industry is handicapped by lack of that mineral mindedness on the part of preceding administrations which has prevented adequate service and economical research which would have furnished data on which an intelligent conclusion could be formed regarding the probable content of this 200,000,000-odd acres.

"For the present, at least, it is proposed that the Federal government retain the subsurface rights and thus the mining industry may still continue to deal with one bureau instead of forty-eight. But prospecting, on which our mineral industry so largely depends, would seem to be even further handicapped if they have to deal with State bureaucracies instead of one Federal bureau, in order that it may be determined whether the surface rights of the State or the subsurface rights of the nation prevail."

Many of the delegates attending the gathering are en route to the World Engineering Congress, which will convene in Tokio the end of this month. They will sail later this week.

Among them is Prof. Joseph W. Roe of New York University, who carries to the congress the personal message of President Hoover.

BANDITS SEEK CAR ONLY, BUT BANKROLL WAS IN IT

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP) — Parting was such sweet sorrow for Andrew Cerva last night that a pair of roughnecks did him dirt.

Cerva, sitting in his parked automobile taking a long time saying good night to Miss Alma Neimeyer, was held up by two men with pistols. Such things are not unusual, and Cerva had figured out what he would do in such emergency. He had $15 in a vest pocket and $100 in his purse.

"What do you two nice young fellows want to take my money for?" he temporized. "I'm just sitting here with my girl." As he talked he slipped the purse from his pocket and it dropped to the floor of the car.

"You are insulting," said one of the roughnecks, "even to imply we would steal your money. We don't want your money. We want your car."

A moment later Cerva and Miss Neimeyer stood on the curb watching the receding tail light of the Cerva car, on the floor of which was the Cerva bank roll.

McPHERSON CHURCH REVIVAL PROJECTED

DETROIT, Oct. 7. (AP)—Forty-one persons assembled here yesterday to revive the Four-Square Gospel Lighthouse Church of Aimee Semple McPherson, disrupted by disputes following the evangelist's campaign last summer.

Rev. R. J. Turner, new State superintendent, said preliminary plans for a revival of the Four-Square Gospel had been made and announced that $700 had been raised to meet payments due on a note for $2750 held by the Masonic Temple Association, in whose auditorium Mrs. McPherson conducted her services. The dispute resulted in a severance of relations with Angelus Temple at Los Angeles.

INDIANS AUGUR BITTER WINTER

Apache Medicine Men Warn Arizona Palefaces

GLOBE (Ariz.) Oct. 7. (AP)—A cold, stormy, uncomfortable winter, one of the worst ever experienced in the Gila Valley, is forecast by the wise men of the Apache Indian tribe.

The Indian prognosticators base their assertions on the unusual presence of thousands of mosquitos and grasshoppers in this district, swarming south because of the impending cold spell.

Recently the redmen proclaimed the ending of Arizona's eight-year drought, declaring that a succession of storms would send all the streams of the State to flood stage. This prophecy was fulfilled in August when rains, torrential in character, fell over the State, overflowing the river banks and inundating hundreds of acres of land.

At that time along the Gila, the Salt, the Verde and many other rivers the Indians everywhere moved to higher altitudes, forsaking their crops to the gods in payment for the long-needed rain.

The desertion of the lowlands, the tribesmen said, was caused by the position of certain stars and the pallor of the moon. Too, they said, the birds were nesting higher in the trees and the beasts were also seeking higher ground.

considered likely that all organizations and activities, including particularly the peace and preparedness advocates as well as the prohibition and antiprohibition societies, will come under the surveillance of the committee.

Discussing the scope of the committee's investigation, Senator Caraway made a distinction between lobbying and propaganda. He was inclined to believe that those organizations and agencies engaged purely in propaganda work do not come under the committee's eye. He feels the investigation should be directed at those who are seeking to influence Congress directly in the enactment of legislation rather than those who are endeavoring to influence public opinion.

In this connection, the chairman indicated he is not much interested in the activities of the wet and dry organizations or of the church and other institutions except in so far as their activities are centered on legislation.

First Aid For Injured

British Girl Scouts seek chance to do good turn for motorists in distress.

LONDON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—If there's any country in the world where it's a pleasure to be in a traffic accident, it's England. At least, that's what the motorists of this country are declaring today.

When one is injured along the highways of England one has the knowledge provided, of course, one is conscious, that it won't be long until a comely miss will be along on a motorcycle carrying all the necessary first-aid equipment. Maybe she'll feel your pulse or put her head against your chest to see if you heart is still beating.

Anyway, she'll be there, for a group of Girl Road Scouts has been organized in England to aid troubled motorists on the highways. Miss Grace New has the honor of being assigned territory first. Miss New, exceedingly comely, wearing a neat uniform that adds to her attractiveness, patrols a section of the Kingston-by-Pass road. She is equipped with a motorcycle and a kit for rendering first aid in traffic accidents.

JINX PURSUING RESCUE PARTY

MacAlpine Relief Efforts Balked Further

Tug With Supplies for Base Two Days Overdue

Three Aviators Missing on Reconnaissance Flights

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The most serious development in the search for the MacAlpine party, now over four weeks lost in the Barren Lands, is the nonappearance of the Neophyte, the fifty-ton tug, at Baker Lake base on Chesterfield Inlet, with supplies for the winter base being established there.

The Neophyte, which was steaming up the inlet with a boatload of stuff brought up from Fort Churchill by the steamer Ocean Eagle, is now two days overdue. She was presumably held up by Saturday's gale, driven to shelter and possibly frozen in some bay. A plane from Baker Lake will probably try to locate her. The distance to Baker Lake from Chesterfield Inlet is 200 miles, and the trip is most hazardous at this season.

RELIEF PLANS

In the meantime the Ocean Eagle has reached Chesterfield Inlet on her second trip, carrying skis and winter equipment for the two planes at Baker Lake. Arrangements are being made to have small motor boats of the Hudson Bay Company transport these in to Baker Lake, along the same route as the Neophyte.

This employment of the Ocean Eagle by Dominion explorers to help in outfitting the winter base at Baker Lake was a $100,000 gamble, since no insurance could be obtained for ship risks on such a trip at this time.

C. H. (Punch) Dickens, whose daring flights in search of the lost explorers have carried him farther north than any flyer since Capt. Wilkins's air expedition to the Pole, is forty-eight hours overdue on his second reconnaisance of the Barren Lands.

CAUGHT IN STORM

He made a last hasty attempt to reconnoiter a portion of the 250,000 square miles in which the missing men are believed to be lost, but a severe snowstorm with its accompanying poor visibility overtook him before he could complete his flight.

Two other planes, piloted by Andy Cruickshank and Hollick-Kenyon, which left Stoney Rapids Friday for Baker Lake, are still somewhere en route.

It is feared that all three were forced down and will be stalled until after the freeze-up.

STUDENTS GO IN TEST TUBE

"Ambassadors of Progress in Chemistry" Will Begin Great Human Experiment Friday

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7. (AP)—An unprecedented five-year experiment of national scope, the schooling of nine "Ambassadors of Progress in Chemistry," will begin officially Friday at Johns Hopkins University.

The experiment is a tribute to the importance chemistry has attained since the beginning of the century as a science that is creating a new world of industry.

To the nine, first of a group of nineteen to be selected for scholarship, personality and enthusiastic curiosity for the mysteries of chemistry, four years of training will be given to equip them as leaders in chemical progress.

The fellowships were given by eleven industrial concerns, two foundations and three individuals. Each appointee will receive $1000 a year throughout the training period and will be free at the end to enter on a teaching or industrial career.

Friday's event will be marked by the dedication of the Francis P. Garvan chair of chemical education, established to provide for the new fellowship project which ultimately may reach every State in the Union.

Invited leaders in the rapidly expanding field of chemistry and the donors will confer with the university authorities, who are to guide the training of the students.

Strictly speaking, the conference will be held on the subject of the selection and training of the superior chemistry student; in a deeper sense, the leaders in the experiment and their charges will be putting the final touches to the groundwork of the four-year program.

The nine selected students are Willard E. Bleick, Stevens Institute of Technology; Robert W. Cairns, Oberlin College; Michael S. Ebert, Lehigh University; Theodore E. Fields, Bates College; Kenneth E. Glidden, University of New Hampshire; Maurice E. Krahl, De Pauw University; John R. Ruhoff, University of Wisconsin; Robert D. Stiehler, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, and Paul Porter Sutton, Johns Hopkins University.

The new La Salles are priced from $2295 to $2795; the new Cadillacs from $3195 to $3795; the new Fleetwoods from $3995 to $7500. All prices f. o. b. Detroit.

WHEN, three weeks ago, the new Cadillacs, La Salles and Fleetwoods were introduced, the Cadillac Motor Car Company promised—in these new creations—the greatest chassis value, the greatest body value, and the greatest price value in the motor-car industry today.

That this promise is fulfilled is perfectly apparent to every one who has become personally familiar with these new Cadillacs and La Salles and had an opportunity to contrast them with those cars which might even remotely be considered competitive.

The present newness of the new Cadillacs and La Salles affects every phase of motor car appearance, performance and appointment.

New designs; lower, longer, racier lines; greater seating capacity; larger, smoother, more flexible V-type, 8-cylinder engines; more speed and power; non-shatterable Security-Plate Glass in all windows, doors and windshields.

A new harmonized steering system, designed by Cadillac engineers, makes these cars amazingly easy to handle. So perfectly does this new harmonized steering system solve the problems arising from low-pressure balloon tires and higher speeds that it eliminates all steering effort and steering strain.

Two special Cadillac-La Salle features—the quick, quiet, clashless Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission and the Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes—have been raised to new heights of efficiency, ease of operation and protection.

The new Fisher and Fleetwood bodies are so rich and regal that the average automobile body appears disturbingly inadequate by comparison. Luxurious new special fittings and appointments are everywhere evident in these new Cadillacs and La Salles:

New touches of modernity in the fashioning of mouldings, louvers and valances; roomier rear seats; more spacious front compartments; all Cadillac and Fleetwood 5- and 7-passenger closed bodies are equipped with disappearing center arm rests in rear compartments; adjustable front seats are even more easily adjusted than in previous models; instrument panel recessed into cowl; smart cadet visors; larger headlights; double-acting windshield wipers.

Nothing has been left undone—in these new Cadillacs and La Salles—in equipment, finish and appointment to achieve the very utmost in comfort, safety, dependability, driving facility and luxurious environment.

A summing-up of comparisons and contrasts can result in but one conclusion: that these new Cadillacs and La Salles are not only the most highly perfected and completely appointed motor-cars in the industry today, but—what is of even greater importance—that Cadillac, the world's quality-standard, has become also the world's price-value standard by which all other motor-car values must come to be judged. Cadillac Motor Car Company, Division of General Motors.

. . . Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Cadillac-La Salle delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

COL. LINDBERGH REACHES BELIZE

Ends 800-Mile Exploration Flight in South

Party Sails Over Land Never Seen by White Men

Mayan Village Ruins Sought; Bride Serves Meal

COL. LINDBERGH'S PLANE, Oct. 7. (AP)—(By radio direct to the Pan-American International Airport, Miami)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived over Belie, British Honduras, at 5:10 p.m., completing 800 miles of reconaissance of unexplored regions of Guatemala, British Honduras and Mexico on the first aerial expedition in the interests of the archelogical department of Carnegie Institution of Washington and the Pan-American Airways.

Today's flight, most of which lay over land which never had been seen by a white man, covered nearly 400 miles. Mrs. Lindbergh, Dr. Oliver H. Ricketson and W. W. Ehmer were in the party. All were delighted by the trip and in fine spirits, a little tired and all sunburned.

LANDS AND EXPLORES

At 12:23 p.m. the colonel made a landing to explore the region near Lake De Chichen Ancaba. Mrs. Lindbergh served a real field lunch consisting of raisins, bananas and crackers. It was late because everyone was too interested to think of eating.

The plane was bearing generally on its outlined course, but was scouting considerably over an interesting looking country where Mayan cities might be found.

Col. Lindbergh circled prospective sites and a photograph was taken and charted on the map, while Dr. Ricketson made scientific observations. The country at this stage of the flight was flat and covered with jungle.

At 4:05 p.m. the plane was following down the border on the north between British Honduras and Mexico. Col. Lindbergh circled around some Indian settlements and then headed back up the river for more observations before swinging to the south again and heading out toward the coast. The plane came within sight of the Bay De Chetumal and shortly afterward passed Corosal in Northern British Honduras. The weather was uniformly good.

ALL ENTHUSIASTIC

During the halt at the lake no ruins or sign of human habitation of any kind was found on the shore. The party boarded the ship again and took off at 2:30 p.m., heading south on a diagonal course through Quintana Roo toward Belize. This entirely unknown area was watched carefully for signs.

The customary thoroughness of Col. Lindbergh was shown when the plane was brought down on the surface of the lake. He had provided full ground equipment. An inflated rubber boat was loaded with a compass, machetes to cut away dense brush and firearms. Mrs. Lindbergh was right in the thick of activity and every one was full of enthusiasm.

All National Air Tourists Reach Massachusetts

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Oct. 7. (AP) With the arrival after dark tonight of Mrs. May Haizlip and William Welborn in their planes entered in the national air tour, twenty-eight ships left in the tour had arrived at Springfield airport tonight.

The standing of the first ten at the end of today's flight follows: First, John Livingston, 8563 points; second, Arthur J. Davis, 7531; third, M. E. Zeller, 7023; fourth, J. W. Crosswell, 6609; fifth, George W. Haldeman, 6269; sixth, Earl Rowland, 6148; seventh, D. M. Hackman, 6099; eighth, R. A. Nable, 5737; ninth, Stanley Stanton, 5356; tenth, Mrs. Keith Miller, 5250.

Kidnapers Get Long Sentences

DETROIT, Oct. 7. (AP)—Sentences of from thirty to fifty years each in a State penitentiary were given Frank Hohfer and Edward Wilds today after a Recorder's Court jury had pronounced them guilty of the kidnaping of Matthew Holdreith, Jr., 24 years of age, September 20, last.

Holdreith later was found in an apartment chained to a bed.

PORTO RICO'S NEW GOVERNOR SWORN IN

Col. Theodore Roosevelt

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Oct. 7. (AP)—With his hand resting on the same Bible with which his father took oath as President of the United States, Col. Theodore Roosevelt today swore to uphold the laws of Porto Rico and the Constitution of the United States as Governor of the island.

The Governor arrived an hour late, owing to head winds, and the actual inaugural ceremony took place partly in a heavy downpour of rain.

DINNER GIVEN TO MACDONALD

White House, held snapdragons of the same hue as the roses.

Four huge candelabara set with twelve candles each were placed at intervals among the vases of roses.

Within the outermost reaches of the table were banked ferns, above which hung an oil painting of a California mountain scene.

GUESTS AT PARTY

The list of guests was announced at the White House in the following order, but it was explained that this was not the order of seating:

The Vice-President, Charles Curtis, and his sister and official hostess, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann; the Right Honorable Ramsay MacDonald and Miss Ishbel MacDonald; the Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Isabella Howard, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson; the Canadian Minister and Mrs. Vincent Massey; Michael MacWhite, the Minister of the Irish Free State.

Associate Justice James C. McReynolds of the United States Supreme Court; Lord Arnold, personal friend of Premier MacDonald; Sir Robert Van Sittard British Undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Robert L. UNIONTOWN (Pa.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Dr. Wolfgang Klemperer of Akron, O., is said to have broken all United States glider records today when he covered twenty-five miles and remained aloft for an hour.

MISS ISHBEL PLAYS HOOKEY

British Premier's Daughter Slips Away from Pomp and Ceremony to Visit Model School and Clinic

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—Ishbel MacDonald slipped away from the pomp and ceremony of official doings today to spend more than an hour at a model school and clinic for children.

ISHBEL MACDONALD

Dropping her role of official visitor to assume that of investigator in the work she holds dear—the educational phase of social service—she left the White House shortly after luncheon accompanied only by one of the secretaries of the President's wife, and an aide.

The Prime Minister's daughter had an engagement for tea at Woodley, the home of Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, wife of the Secretary of State, and after that the state dinner at the White House. She had not had one free moment during the morning after returning from the President's camp with Mrs. Hoover, for it had been filled with a visit to Congress and luncheon in the executive mansion.

At the school, the Washington Child Research Center, Dr. Louise Stanley, director of the home economics bureau of the Agriculture Department, met the special guests and ushered them into a room in which about twenty-five children play every day, while highly trained psychologists and teachers study from their actions the most propitious aids in training children to develop with "free opportunity," as the director explained, to use the play materials set before them.

A 16-months'-old girl adopted by Dr. Stanley was among the children the visitors found playing in a yard at the back of the building. The group were busy as bees playing in a specially constructed pergola and on a long pile, sliding on a shoot—choosing their own toys.

BOY CAUSES SMILE

Upstairs Miss MacDonald found a psychologist giving a 3-year-old boy a mental test.

"Say mama," the psychologist directed.

Miss MacDonald smiled widely as the boy answered, "I don't. I've been taught at home to say, 'Mother.'"

CORPORATE TAX RULING SOUGHT

States Ask Reversal of Excess Levy Devision

New York and California Join in Petition

Case in Question Comes from Massachusetts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—New York, California, the American Bankers' Association and the Massachusetts National Bank Association today asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its decision last term holding invalid an excise tax imposed by Massachusetts on corporations.

Oregon and Washington already had joined Massachusetts in urging that the case be reopened.

New York, California, Oregon and Washington have laws similar to that of Massachusetts, which was declared unconstitutional. These laws imposed taxes on corporations and banks measured by their income. The highest tribunal declared such taxes illegal, and, in effect, a tax on income from tax-exempt securities.

The briefs submitted today contend States have the right to tax net incomes derived from all sources, and that such laws equalize the tax burden between banks and corporations, the inclusion of income from tax-exempt securities as a part of the measure of the tax being only incidental to carrying out that object, and not in violation of the well-established principle that States cannot tax the bonds or income derived from tax-exempt securities.

Many Flee When Carolina Floods Invade New Area

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Families were driven from their homes, growing crops inundated and rail and highway traffic disrupted today as flooded rivers which last week harrassed the mountain and hill country of North and South Carolina poured the heavy burden into the flat coastal section of the two States.

Residents of Harpersville, a village of 300 inhabitants across the Neuse River from Kinston, N. C., moved out of their homes tonight as flood waters from the rising river lapped building foundations. The river has risen nearly four feet since Sunday and still is rising rapidly.

More than 300 families are reported marooned in the lower sections of Braden and Pender counties, North Carolina, after the breaking of two dykes on the Cape Fear River. No loss of life has been reported.

Seven More at Borger Taken in Clean-up Drive

BORGER (Tex.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Seven present or former city and county officers had been arrested tonight as Borger swung into its second week of clean-up under martial law.

Officials arrested today, all for possession of liquor, are: Deputy Sheriff Cal Baird, Clint Millhollon, a policeman, and former policemen D. T. Blassingame and J. D. Lee. All were arrested on orders from the military court which is investigating the asserted ring and seeking at Gov. Moody's orders, to destroy it.

Mayor Glenn A. Pace, Justice of the Peace Walter Broomhall and Deputy Constable Sam Jones were arrested during the first week of martial law.

Arizona State Senator's Wife Balks at Law

TUCSON, Oct. 7. (AP)—Mrs. T. W. Donnelly, wife of State Senator Donnelly, dashed by a boulevard stop sign today.

She was haled into Police Court by a traffic officer, where a fine of $10 was imposed.

The Senator's wife stormed that the boulevard sign was not distinguishable from other signs along the street and refused to pay the fine.

She was marched toward the jail. While she was being booked, her husband appeared and paid the fine. Mrs. Donnelly protested, insisting she would rather go to jail.

These prices are for cash. Purchase may be financed at convenient monthly payments if desired.

THERE is a difference between the list (f. o. b.) price of a new automobile and its delivered price — the price you actually pay. This difference consists of certain additions made by the dealer.

In line with General Motors' policy of giving the public all the facts, its dealers show you exactly what their additions are. They are using the standard price tag illustrated here. It is attached to the steering wheels of new cars displayed in their showrooms.

Everything is set forth frankly. Every charge is fair and reasonable. Nothing is hidden. There is no extra charge to permit a seemingly better trade-in offer. No extra charge to cover advertising, etc. You are entitled to buy a General Motors car with full knowledge of just what makes up the difference between the list price and the delivered price.

Study this tag. Use it as your guide in comparing automobile values. Look beyond the list price. Find out just exactly what goes into the delivered price of a new car—for that is the price you pay.

THIS is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the delivered prices of their new cars.

List Price. The f. o. b. price advertised by the factory.

Freight and Delivery. An authorized amount to cover the freight charges paid by the dealer and the cost of unloading, inspecting, supplying fuel and oil—preparing the car for delivery to you.

ONE-WAVE RADIO CHAINS SIGHTED

Experts Relied on to Make Great Scheme Work

Such Steps Would Broaden Network Field

Synchronization Tests Now Being Made

BY MARTIN CODEL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Chain broadcasting is evolving to the point where one wave length may be sufficient to carry a network program to the entire country. If synchronization can be accomplished the establishment of many new stations, perhaps owned and operated by the chains themselves and serving only chain programs on the wave lengths they use in common, may be expected in the future.

That is the ultimate goal of synchronization tests now being conducted. If and when this goal is achieved it may spell the end of chain programs from independently owned broadcasting stations, or it may mean simply the establishment of new outlets for more chain programs, the present independently owned outlet being continued on their present part-time basis.

Such a revolution in the broadcasting structure, while it might detract from stations' individuality, undoubtedly will effect an economy of wave lengths. For example, all of the stations of the National Broadcasting Company's Red network would operate on one channel; all stations of the Blue network would operate on another and all of the Columbia Broadcasting System network would utilize a third channel. No more channels would be required unless new chains were started.

DREAMS OF EXPERT

Presumably the chains would own these stations themselves. As for the privately owned stations they would devote their attention to programs of local origin or they might subscribe to supplementary services from the network studios. They would not be likely to synchronize on the chain channels for then they would be able to offer nothing but chain programs unless each, as now, retained a separate wave length for its own local programs.

The foregoing picture of the future broadcasting structure is presented by a person high in the radio realm. He looks ahead a considerable distance, he admits, in envisaging such a setup, but he says it is exactly what the scarcity of wave lengths will develop. Moreover, he looks to a time not far distant when all sponsored hours will be occupied and when newcomers to commercial radio will need new outlets for their programs. As far as the public is concerned, it simply means the choice of a wider variety of programs because it makes the way for more of them on the air.

TESTS BEING MADE

Much remains to be done in a scientific way, however. While stations WBZ and WBZA, at Springfield and Boston, respectively, have been broadcasting on a common channel for some time, the results of this synchronization have not been conclusive of the practicability of synchronizing two or more stations on one wave length. These stations are linked by land line to keep them in phase.

In the interest of wave-length economy, the Federal Radio Commission generally has encouraged all efforts to synchronize. One of the major experiments now under way seeks to determine whether WABC, New York City, and WCAU, Philadelphia, both on the Columbia chain, can operate simultaneously on the former's frequency of 860 kilocycles. These tests are being conducted after midnight in order to avoid interference.

Keeping the stations in exact phase relation is seen by Dr. A. Hoyt Taylor, radio chief of the naval research laboratories and president of the Institute of Radio Engineers, as an apparently insurmountable difficulty in the [illegible] of synchronizing broadcasting stations on a widespread scale.

RELYING ON SCIENCE

"During periods of favorable distance reception," says Dr. Taylor, "the program signals coming from a distant station likely would interfere with the identical program coming from the local or near-by station."

The signals of the former station on the mutually-used wave length would "lag" behind the latter's signals on account of the difference in distance. There would be no way to tune out this "lag," inasmuch as the stations would be operating on exactly the same frequency, according to Dr. Taylor.

Science, however, may find a remedy not now apparent. At any rate, several radio engineers are trying to find a way to permit two or more stations to occupy one wave length simultaneously without interfering with each other, whether they are broadcasting the same or different programs.

Electric Shock Kills Arizonan

PHOENIX, Oct. 7. (AP)—M. E. Anderson, 21 years of age, of this city, was electrocuted today when 11,000 volts passed through his body while he was working on a hoist line for the Roosevelt Irrigation District near Buckeye.

Anderson and several fellow-workers were pulling a twenty-foot joint of an air-line pipe from a well when it came in contact with a high-tension wire. The victim was holding a cable attached to the pipe at the time of the accident. The other employees were not injured.

STILLMAN ON WAY TO ANCHORAGE BY BOAT

ANCHORAGE (Alaska) Oct. 7. (AP) James A. Stillman, New York banker, will arrive here tomorrow by boat, Pilot Joe Crosson said today upon his return from a flight up the Skwentna River, where he landed and visited Stillman. The banker had been delayed in his trip down the river. He was expected to arrive here Saturday after several weeks of hunting.

SHE WADES RIGHT INTO INQUIRY

Gets Feet Wet, but Gains Information

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen

MIAMI (Fla.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive) That Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman, gets first-hand information on any subject she may seek is being demonstrated in the Florida keys section which was inundated during the recent storm.

The Florida keys section lies within Mrs. Owen's district and she is anxious to know just the extent of the damage done. She wasn't willing to take some one else's report on the matter. She wanted to see for herself. A little thing like a lot of water didn't stop her. She just took off her shoes and stockings and waded right in. And she got her first-hand information.

ALHAMBRAN WILL WED CLASSMATE

Romance of Nearly Fifty Years Ago Culminates in Marriage License

ST. JOSEPH (Mich.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—A schoolday romance of nearly half a century ago culminated today at New Buffalo, Mich., when a marriage license was issued to Jared K. Quantrell, 70 years of age, a hardware merchant of Alhambra, Cal., and Miss Anna Bentler, 63 of New Buffalo.

"Jarry" Quantrell and Anna sat side by side in the New Buffalo village school house. As Miss Bentler grew to young womanhood Quantrell wooed her and she promised to marry him "later on."

Meanwhile Quantrell went into the hardware business, then answered adventure's call to the Pacific Coast where he married. Miss Bentler started a millinery business in New Buffalo and prospered. Several years ago Quantrell's wife died. This fall he returned to his old home, met Anna, renewed his plea and was accepted. The wedding date is not divulged.

Wife Wins Fare to Divorce Trial

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—To pay the railroad expenses of his wife Martha from Hollywood to Chicago so that she may answer his charges in a divorce suit was the order given today by Judge Joseph Sabath to Henry C. Moir, Jr., son of the owner of the Morrison Hotel.

Young Moir charges that his wife deserted him in February, 1927, and he filed a bill for divorce last spring on that charge. Judge Sabath set the case for hearing November 19, next. The Moirs were married in April, 1926, and lived together until February, 1927, at which time Moir charges his wife deserted him.

Nevadans Die as Home Burns

RENO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Dashing into his burning home in an attempt to rescue his father who already had been carried to a place of safety, Ygnacio Aberasturi, 17-year-old high-school boy of Austin, Nev., was burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home at Austin last night.

The father, Manuel Aberasturi, died today of the burns.

ARIZONA PAIR PLEAD GUILTY TO ROBBERIES

PHOENIX, Oct. 7. (AP)—E. L. Guernsey and Claude Smith, arrested here on charges of robbing safes in Central and Northern Arizona, pleaded guilty today and will be sentenced next Monday. Lawrence Bearden, third man charged, was granted until Wednesday to make his plea.

CHILEAN FINANCIER DIES

SANTIAGO (Chile) Oct. 7. (AP)—Ismale Tocornal, president of the Banco Central and one of Chile's greatest public industrial and commercial figures, died last night.

DEATH LEAP OF WOMAN DELIBERATE

Intent to Take Own Life Hinted in Previous Acts of Banker's Widow

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Helena Fisher, 55 years of age, widow of a Vacaville banker, and mother of Leland Stanford Fisher, prominent San Francisco attorney, early today leaped from a window of the Hotel Sir Francis Drake to her death eleven stories below.

Mrs. Fisher was in ill health, it was said by Dr. J. E. Wirt, the family physician. He said that she had threatened once to end her life. Her attorney, Theodore Breslauer, said that she had recently drawn up her will, and once hinted that she contemplated committing suicide.

Mrs. Fisher registered at the hotel yesterday under her real name. She had been living in this city. Her husband died ten years ago.

The fact that Mrs. Fisher had on several occasions previously tried to obtain a room when none was available, led hotel attaches to believe that she had borne her suicide intent in mind for weeks.

A woman who was passing by the hotel on the Sutter-street side narrowly escaped being injured when the body of Mrs. Fisher hurtled past her by a matter of inches. The woman was the first to apprise the hotel management of what had occurred.

AIR CLASS SETS MARK FOR ARMY

School at Kelley Field to Graduate 119 Flying Students On 12th Inst.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Army Air Corps advanced flying school at Kelley Field, Texas, will graduate the largest class since the World War on the 12th inst. when 119 flying students, including forty-seven West Pointers, will receive their wings.

The West Pointers, who are second lieutenants, will be transferred to the Air Corps, to increase the number of pilots needed in the five-year air expansion program. The remainder will be given reserve commissions and fifty-seven of these will be given active duty.

Handicapped by a lack of funds to provide for qualified pilots, the Air Corps has been confronted with a shortage of pilots under the program which calls for 1650 regular and 550 reserve pilots. Many pilots have finished the flying course and gone into commercial flying.

In the last sixteen months, 370 pilots have been turned out. Despite this, the Air Corps has only 1065 flying officers, and eighty-seven undergoing training, although the program calls for 1237 active flying officers at this time.

RAILROAD VETERANS RETIRE VOLUNTARILY

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Col. N. L. Howard, president of the Chicago Great Western Railroad for the last four years, resigned today. He was succeeded by V. V. Boatner, president of the Peoria and Pekin Union Railway. Mr. Boatner will assume entire direction of the Great Western operations immediately under the guidance of the executive committee. Ill health was given as Col. Howard's reason for retirement.

S. M. Felton, for many years identified with the Great Western as president and chairman of the executive committee, also resigned from active duty, but at the request of the directors will remain as chairman of the board. He was succeeded as executive committee head by Bernard E. Sunny, chairman of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

MEXICO INDIANS IN BARRED LIST

Ineligible for Citizenship Here, Webb Declares

Law Excludes All Except White Race, He Rules

Issue Raised Over Exclusion of Japanese and Hindu

SAN FERNANDO, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Indian or red races in Mexico, constituting the bulk of the population in that country, were declared by Atty.-Gen. Webb today ineligible for American citizenship and subject to immigration restrictions excluding them as immigrants to the United States.

Webb expressed himself on the eligibility of these races in a memorandum prepared at the request of the California Joint Immigration Committee.

The issue was raised in a recent letter to Senator Johnson, chairman of the Senate Immigration Committee, wherein the United States Department of Labor held that all citizens of Mexico, regardless of race, are eligible to American citizenship. Incidently, it was pointed out that the pure Indian stock in Mexico numbers between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000, the white stock between 1,500,000 and 3,000,000 and the mixed between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000.

Webb's memorandum declares that under the comparatively recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court in the cases of Ozawa and Thind (the first a Japanese and the second a Hindu of claimed Aryan descent) the statutes do not permit naturalization of any person not of the white race, or of African nativity, or of African descent; and that Mexican Indians, being of the red race, are clearly ineligible.

OMAHA THEATER ROBBED

OMAHA, Oct. 7. (AP)—Ten thousand dollars, the week-end receipts of the Paramount Theater, were taken from Glen McDaniel, assistant manger, at the point of a pistol early today. The robber compelled McDaniel to put the money in a sack and then fled in an automobile.

CHANGE MADE IN ENGINEERS

Army Construction Force Given New Line-up

Move Part of Program to Aid Flood Work

South Pacific Division to Control California

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—A realignment of army engineers designed to carry out President Hoover's plan of decentralizing the vast river and harbor flood control work throughout the country was announced today by Secretary Good.

Brig.-Gen. Thomas H. Jackson, president of the Mississippi River Commission, has been placed in charge of the development of the Lower Mississippi with headquarters at Vicksburg, Miss.

SPALDING IN CHARGE

Lieut.-Col. George R. Spalding, district engineer at Louisville, Ky., has been placed in charge of the development of the navigable waters of the Mississippi and tributaries, with headquarters at St. Louis.

Col. Edward M. Markham has been ordered from Fort Humphreys, Va., to Cleveland, O., to take charge of the development of the Great Lakes waterways.

This reorganization was outlined by the President when he appointed Maj.-Gen. Lytle Brown chief of engineers.

Gen. Brown announced reorganization of other divisions, saying each would be placed in charge of a specially qualified engineer officer, to be known as division engineer, who would be responsible.

DIVISIONS REVISED

The South Pacific division will have charge of operations along the California coast and in Hawaii and the Sacramento River flood-control project with headquarters at San Francisco. The North Pacific division with headquarters at Portland, Or., will be in charge of operations along the coast of Oregon, Washington and Alaska and also the Columbia River system.

The San Francisco district is identical with the former first San Francisco district, but what was formerly the second San Francisco district now becomes the Sacramento district with headquarters at Sacramento.

In this house where Dr. Clement Moore wrote "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" Mrs. Tillie Hart (below) defies eviction before her lease expires and thereby holds up a $25,000,000 building project.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—In an old house in Chelsea where more than a century ago Dr. Clement Moore wrote the famous Yuletide poem, "'Twas the night before Christmas," a determined woman sits, firm in her resolution that wrecking crews shall not force her to leave.

Although the rest of the block has been razed in preparation for the erection of a huge apartment-house, leaving her home standing gaunt and lonely amidst the wreckage, Mrs. Tillie Hart has in a bureau drawer a lease which she insists does not expire until next June.

The owners think differently and a lawsuit is pending. Meanwhile the steam shovels continue their march and tomorrow will scrape the walls of Mrs. Hart's home. Her water supply has been cut off and her rooms are filled with dust rising from excavation, but she stands firm.

Chicago Setting Bombing Mark

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—The high mark in bomb outrages will be reached this year, the Employers' Association predicted today on the basis of ninety-eight bombings since December 12, 1928.

The association notes that the year's bombings have been directed in 45.9 per cent of the cases against business places rather than against speakeasies and gambling houses, as formerly.

Manslaughter Charge Filed

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Manslaughter charges were lodged against J. G. Maxwell, Jr., 172 North Primrose avenue, Monrovia, today as a result of an accident last night in which Mrs. James Cawson, 60 years of age, was killed when she was struck by an auto driven by Maxwell.

He told police Mrs. Cawson stepped from a safety zone into the path of his machine. Maxwell has been released on bail of $250.

SECRET OF CITY PLAN REVEALED

Los Angeles Success Holds Convention Interest

Municipalities League in Session at Oakland

Whitnall Says Human Nature Basis of Progress

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

OAKLAND, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles as the city which has accomplished more constructive benefits in city planning occupied prime attention today as 500 delegates from all parts of the State gathered here for the twenty-first annual meeting of the League of California Municipalities.

Mayor Davie, in welcoming the visitors said:

"I am always glad to see visitors from Los Angeles. They have the energy and push needed in this town. They must have it to have built a city down on the desert that was there when I first came to California."

WHITNALL TELLS HOW

Gordon Whitnall, director of the Los Angeles City Planning Commission, felicitated on the skill which he has shown there, said, "The basic consideration of politics, human nature, is the secret of the conspicuous success we have achieved in establishing our Los Angeles city plan.

"Most city plans of the past have been pictures — full-fledged imaginary cities. These are all very well and theoretically perfect as city plans. But they have had a sorry record. They were good engineering, but they were not good city planning.

"We have been working thirteen years on the present Los Angeles city plan. Seventy-five per cent of the work has been human psychology; application of the art of the politician, if you like; work that has looked toward assurance of the plan going through before calling it completed.

IDEAS DIGESTED

"The Planning Commission has felt itself as the mouth of a funnel, with ideas and wishes coming in from everybody in the city.

"The plan we have now is not our plan, my plan, not some individual's plan, not the plan of a particular city administration, not a plan supported by an element or group of civic bodies. It is the plan of that nebulous thing known as Los Angeles. As such it is too big for anything or anybody but Los Angeles to change.

"No transient city administration is going to court certain public displeasure by tinkering with it. That is the way we have made good the engineering in our plan work; creating the public opinion to support it by letting public opinion build the plan itself.

"In the creation of our city plan we have begun by anticipating future problems, work which has largely dealt with tracts ad subdivisions where the population is just beginning. Here there is nothing existing that must be torn up, nothing to be uprooted or wrecked. The cost is small and the opposition is negligible. As the years have passed these projects have advanced into their practical and working phases with the growth of population. The advantages of sound engineering and economics as expressed in good city planning then become apparent for all to see, proof against argument.

PLAN PSYCHOLOGICAL

"We have an arterial highway project ten miles long which will cost $10,000,000 for the right of way alone; $1,000,000 a mile. Do you think we could put that over easily, if at all, if we started our city plan with it? But we have some 100 miles of exact similar arterial highway work that have not cost anything for right of way and are demonstrations in their practical value.

"So you see our city plan is built first on human nature, on psychology and next on sound engineering."

Reports were submitted by Allen H. Wright of San Diego and Ralph W. Robinson of the public safety group. The sessions are being held in the Hotel Oakland.

TILGHMAN BOYS HELD IN KILLING

Sons of Famous Midwest Peace Officer Will Face Murder Accusation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—Two sons of the late Bill Tilghman, pioneer peace officer of Kansas and Oklahoma, today face possible murder charges as the outgrowth of the hold-up of a dice game near Minco, in which James Chitwood, 60 years of age, a farmer, was killed and Richard Tilghman, 23, was wounded critically.

Richard Tilghman is in an Oklahoma City hospital, shot through the kidney, and his brother, Woodrow Wilson Tilghman, 16, and their uncle, Alfred Stratton, 57, are held here for Grady county officers.

B. F. Holding, County Attorney of Grady county, said that murder charges will be filed against five men, including the Tilghman brothers and their uncle, who are asserted to have raided the game and escaped with $800 yesterday.

The younger Tilghman, who served last year as a page in the United States Senate, admitted the part taken in the hold-up by himself, his brother and his uncle, but he refused to name the other two men implicated, officers said.

HOTEL MEN PRESENT PHONE HEARING BRIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The California Northern Hotel Association today filed a brief in the telephone rate hearing before the State Railroad Commission, protesting the 10 per cent increase in rates recommended by Lester S. Ready, commission expert, charging the increase will amount to 35 per cent for the hotels of the State.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—[Advertisement.

SURVEY ASKED FOR BAY SPAN

Commission Requests State to Prepare Data

All Members of Board Meet for Organization

Another Session Today in San Francisco

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 7. (AP)—An economic and traffic study to determine the relative value of several proposed locations for the San Francisco transbay bridge will be made by the State as the first step toward ultimate construction of the structure, the San Francisco Bay Bridge Commission decided here today in its initial meeting.

The commission members, representing Federal and State interests, passed two resolutions late today at conclusion of their executive conference lasting several hours. One resolution stated briefly that traffic problems between San Francisco and Alameda counties will be studied. The second resolution asks the State Department of Public Works to make an economic and traffic study and furnish the commission with all data obtained for the purpose of determining the relative value of the several proposed locations for a connection between the two counties.

SESSION FRIDAY

The commission adjourned to meet in San Francisco tomorrow All nine members of the commission, selected by President Hoover and Gov. Young, met here today to organize and eventually co-ordinate, if possible, Federal and State interests in a bridge over San Francisco Bay.

The commission members first met in Gov. Young's office, then went to the office of Bert B. Meek, Director of the State Department of Public Works, where they were to discuss methods of procedure. It is expected that the commission will hold future meetings in San Francisco.

TWO TO LEAVE SOON

Mark L. Requa, named by the President as his personal representative on the commission, and Charles D. Marx, civil engineer, also selected by the President, expect to leave the latter part of this week for Japan to attend a world conference of engineers so efforts will be made before they go to lay a foundation for an engineering study of the bay bridge proposal. The findings of this study would be ready for presentation to the commission when Requa and Marx return the latter part of this year.

Following are the members of the commission: Requa, Marx, Rear-Admirals W. H. Standley and L. E. Gregory, Col. George B. Pillsbury, Maj. Edmund L. Daley, George T. Cameron, State Senator Arthur H. Breed and C. H. Purcell, State Highway engineer.

WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES

SALINAS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Miss Rose Page, 48 years of age, of Palo Alto, died today from injuries suffered when she either fell or jumped from a speeding Southern Pacific train near here yesterday.

Air Line Given Radio Licenses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Western Air Express, Inc., today was granted thirty-five applications for licenses and modifications of licenses for radio communications between airplanes and various flying fields, reaching from Kansas City to the Pacific Coast.

The applications were filed with the commission by Herbert Hoover, Jr., technical assistant to the president of the air company.

TAGS ON PRISON-MADE PRODUCTS SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—Tagging of prison-made products to distinguish them from those of free labor is suggested in an advisory committee report to the Department of Commerce. The committee, with two dissenting opinions, suggests that the "differentiation obvious to the buyer would make it possible to sell similar goods even in the same retail store with different prices for the prison products and the "free products."

RAIL EXTENSION DENIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today denied an application of the Sacramento Northern Railway seeking reconsideration of its application to construct an eight-mile extension of its Holland line in Yolo and Sacramento counties, California.

MITTEN RICHES WILL AID LABOR

Traction Magnate's Estate Put in Trust

Co-operative Employment Plan Provided For

Wealth Estimated as High as $10,000,000

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7. (AP)—The estate of Thomas E. Mitten, traction magnate who drowned last week, variously estimated from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000, has been left in trust for "the promotion and advancement of the cause of co-operation between capital and labor and the furtherance and continuance of the 'Mitten plan.'"

The Mitten plan in operation here between the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and its employees and the International Railway Company of Buffalo and its employees is described as providing opportunity for participation in increased earnings made possible by the increased effort of the employees and to encourage investment of this added compensation in such a way as to make the employees owners as well as workers.

Oil Securities Case Dismissed

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Superior Judge Hughes today dismissed the charges of violating the State Corporate Securities Act preferred against J. L. C. Irwin of Hanford, former State Senator, and W. M. McNamara, officers of the Pismo Dome Corporation of San Luis Obispo county. The charges were voted last July by the Sacramento grand jury on testimony of officials of the State Corporation Department.

Guy P. Johnson, Chief Deputy District Attorney, who made the motion to dismiss, informed the court that a study of the case by the District Attorney's office had developed the fact there had not been a violation of the State law and that the indictment should not have been voted. Johnson said the matter was the result of a disagreement between stockholders in an oil concern.

Lamar to Try Bank Suspects

LAMAR (Colo.) Oct. 7. (AP)—District Judge Hollenbeck today denied the motion of George J. Abshier and Howard L. Boyston for a change of venue in their trial on a charge of first-degree murder in connection with the Lamar Bank hold-up.

SENATORS WON BY FARM BOARD

Opposition to Confirmation Appears Lessened

Approval of Entire Group Now Indicated

Williams Cotton Position Curries Favor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—Opposition of cotton and wheat groups in the Senate to confirmation of two Federal Farm Board members is believed by administration leaders to have lessened today and they renewed their expressions of hope that the entire board will be approved.

The move against Carl Williams of Oklahoma, cotton's representative on the board, appeared to be less pronounced after publication of a supplemental statement sent by him to Chairman McNary of the Senate Agriculture Committee, in which he said he favors the highest price for cotton the world would pay.

Likewise, opposition to Sam R. McKelvie of Nebraska, wheat's representative on the board, is said by administration leaders to have eased off considerably.

FLYER SETS NEW SOLO ENDURANCE RECORD

HE MADE IT ! ! 38 hours and 48 seconds in the air, beating Lieutenant Fahy's former world's record by 1 hour, 4 minutes and 12 seconds.

Tired but happy, Vern Speich brought his record-smashing Zenith biplane safely to earth late Thursday, October 3. A world's record that had been attacked many times finally had fallen.

Associated Aviation Gasoline—440 gallons of this sensational west-coast motor fuel, and Cycol Aero Oil, 48 quarts, played their dramatic part. They kept the roaring Wright motor smoothly counting off the hours in this latest aviation triumph.

ASSOCIATED GASOLINE
MORE MILES TO THE GALLON

New mark made with Associated Gasoline and Cycol

VERN SPEICH, daring west-coast aviator, lifted his Zenith Wright-motored biplane into the sky from Long Beach municipal airport.

Alone, and without addition of gasoline or motor oil, he and Associated triumphed in world competition! He stayed in the air longer than any lone flyer under similar conditions ever has done before.

Again, Associated Aviation Gasoline proved itself the motor fuel that really assures "More Miles to the Gallon." Again Cycol Aero Oil demonstrated "Endurance Beyond Belief."

Ask for Associated Gasoline and Cycol Motor Oil at the red, green and cream stations or garages. Enjoy, in your car, the same sparkling performance that featured this record-breaking flight.

POVERTY RIFE IN RED RUSSIA

Wretchedness Described by French Communist

Prevalence of Drunkenness Laid to Hopelessness

New Soviet Appropriations Will Add to Burdens

BY PAUL MARION

PARIS, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—When a foreigner succeeds in the difficult task of seeing into the private lives of the Moscow working classes, the first things that strike him are the poverty, the cramped conditions and the lack of elementary comfort of the rooms in which three, four, five and sometimes as many as eight or ten people belonging to workers' families are crowded. Outside of a small privileged class, nobody in Russia has an apartment to himself.

The second thought that occurs to one promptly is that wages are very low. In a country where the cost of living is much higher than in France and almost as high as in the United States, the bulk of workmen earn between fifty and 100 roubles ($25 to $50) a month.

Some specialists may earn twice as much, or more, but the great majority of the people do not touch the $50-a-month mark, which means a life of stringency and privations. Wages of less than sixty roubles, slightly more than $25 a month, represent real misery.

MUCH DRUNKENNESS

Finally there is a third fact, in no way concealed, which surprises the onlooker disagreeably, and that is the systematic drunkenness of the workmen.

All these things, however, bad though they are in their way, are far from being an indictment of the soviet regime. What really matters are the underlying causes of this situation, and what the workmen think of it. In ninety cases out of 100 the impression obtained after talking with the proletariat, assuming the proletariat trust you, is the following: The men despise as much as they fear soviet bureaucracy, the state syndicalist structure and the triple power which is in command in the factories, namely the Communist cell, the men's committee and the technical management.

One day a young woman belonging to the O.G.P.U. (political police,) told me, quite innocently, the following story:

RESULTS OF INQUIRY

"I had been ordered," she said, "to make an inquiry at a large Moscow works into the exact cause of death of a workman accidentally killed. The regulations for the protection of workmen evidently had been broken, as they often are, but we wanted to know who was responsible for this fatal accident.

"To my great astonishment none of the workmen who had seen the incident would give the slightest information. The man was dead, they said, and it was no business of theirs. I insisted on getting the information, and I explained who I was, assuring the hands of my powerful protection in the event of administrative reprisals.

"They still held their tongues, however, arguing that although I might be there that day I should not be there the next, when they would be exposed to the ill-will of the factory managers or of their successors, and saying that they did not want their families to be deprived of bread. That was a bad business."

PROOF AS TO UNTRUTHS

To my mind it was more than just "a bad business," because the facts related to me, which were anything but an isolated event, formed a glaring proof of the lies told about the dictatorship of the proletariat.

It will be pointed out that in the soviets, in the factory councils and at conference relating to production, Russian workmen meet, debate and vote, and that after all the decisions of such conferences have sovereign validity. There is not a single Russian workman, not even a Communist, who, if he thinks he can talk freely to you, does not either express impatience or smile bitterly when he hears such statements.

"It is only to avoid bother that we go to such meetings when we cannot wriggle out of them," they say. "We are surrounded by Communists, and the debate, as well as the sudden 'unstudied' interruptions of certain of those present and all the resolutions, are prepared in advance by Communists, so that the final vote shall take place without a division under their supervision."

FORCED SUBSCRIPTIONS

It may be, someone will point out to me, that Russian workmen subscribe en masse to the soviet industrial loan, and that they take part by the thousands in the great street demonstrations on festival days. I admit that the majority of the workmen subscribe to the loans, but the reason is that their subscriptions are paid by the withdrawal of one-tenth of their monthly wages.

In other words the men, in exchange for a lower wage, have some sort of guarantee of being allowed to remain at work and not thrown into the ranks of the unemployed. They go to the street demonstrations because, as their presence is carefully checked, it is an easy means of living on good terms with the masters of their factories besides being a form of amusement to which Russians are partial.

FEAR OF IDLENESS

The fear of being thrown out of work is the key to many a political contradiction in Russia. In Moscow, 400,000 men are working and 200,000 idle. The state, which controls all employment, has a monopoly of granting work or withholding it, and a man out of work who receives a dole of 15 rubles a month (and that for six months only) is simply sentenced to death.

Administrative pressure, however, is not the only weapon of the Bolshevist over the Communists, as the press and propaganda exercise in the most varied directions, their clever labor leadership, their campaign against foreign capitalism and their constant foretelling of the coming world revolution which will improve the conditions of the Russian proletariat, go very far in helping them to maintain, to some extent at all events, the revolutionary spirit in many of the workers.

REAL MASTERS

Asked what advantages the revolution had brought the people, the average workman with whom I spoke generally explained that the revolution has given them no political rights—that the newspapers lie when they say the workers are the masters of Russia, because the leaders of the Communist party and not the workers are the absolute masters of the country.

Wages, that is to say, the real value of what the men receive, are about the same as in Czarist times, but nowadays hands work eight hours a day whereas under the Czarist regime a working day might have run to eleven or twelve hours. Nowadays men have a right to fifteen days' paid holiday a year, and in case of accident or illness it is possible to obtain compensation under the health insurance schemes.

MEDICAL TREATMENT

Workmen continue to be badly housed but rents are low and remain in proportion to wages. If workmen are on good terms with their Communist cell and their trade union they sometimes are allowed to go to a sanatorium for a cure if they are suffering from any organic disease, and they also may be sent to a so-called "house of rest" during their holidays.

Workmen's children who joined the pioneers (a form of communist boy scouts) and later become members of what are called associations of communist youth, may receive general instruction and even sometimes technical education.

EYES ON AMERICA

So long as the soviet regime is not attacked workmen have a right to criticize their foremen and factory managers on matters relating to their work. In spite of all the soviet press might say, the Russians know the workmen of Western Europe are happier than they. There is one thing the Russian workmen would like to do above all, and that is to be employed in an American factory.

This describes the feelings of what I might call the middle class among the workers of Russia, but the bulk of the ill-paid men and men out of work talk bitterly. I often heard them say, "We must have our princes back."

And when they are asked why they get drunk they reply: "Because it is cheaper in Moscow to drink than eat, than to amuse oneself or to learn anything, because we are disgusted with everything, and because we want to forget, and finally because we see nothing ahead."

SABOTAGE LEADERS

The more intelligent men and those formerly active members of the communist party will tell you frankly: "We must have another revolution and drive out the bureaucrats." Those are the men who are at the head of the sabotage in the factories, who organize the "go-slow" strikes and spread the popular slogan, "Soviets without Communists."

These men are trapped, thrown out of work, deported or imprisoned. I was in Moscow when 500 of them were sent to Siberia, on December 25, 1928, for having dared a few days before at some factory meetings in Moscow to speak or vote against resolutions put forward by the communist cells for the renewal of the collective agreements between the trades unions and the soviet trusts.

BAY CITY FIRE "VICTIM" ALIVE

Missouri Man Thought Dead Living in Los Angeles All These Years

RICHMOND (Mo.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Believed killed in the San Francisco fire, Carlos Thompson, 56 years of age, Los Angeles contractor, returned to his former home here last Friday after an absence of twenty-six years.

Thompson left home in 1903 to visit a sister, Mrs. Flemmie Cole, in Danville, Ill. He told his family he might go on to California. After the fire friends of the family wrote that the hotel in San Francisco in which he was staying was destroyed. Since no word had been received from the missing man he was believed killed.

TOTALS IN RED BUDGET GO HIGHER

Aggregate Shows Rise of 49 Per Cent Over That for Last Year

MOSCOW, Oct. 7. (AP)—The total budget of the soviet government for 1929-1930 as approved by the Council of People's Commissars amounts to 2,298,000,000 rubles, which is about 49 per cent more than last year.

The amount appropriated for education shows an increase of 42 per cent while the amount to be spent for agriculture and development of industry is increased by 44 and 56 per cent, respectively. The sum of 195,000,000 rubles will be spent on road building, a new item in the soviet budget.

The total income of the state for 1929-1930 will be slightly more than 3,000,000,000 rubles. A striking feature of the new budget is the great growths in revenue from nontaxable sources such as railroads, industries, state trade, etc., which increased by 56 per cent.

Bay City Passes Billboard Ban

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—A new billboard ordinance prohibiting the erection of any signs along the major boulevards of the city was given final passage by the Board of Supervisors today.

Mayor Rolph is expected to sign the measure tomorrow.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

DEAD BODY MAY UNCOVER CRIME

Hunters Find Corpse Hidden Near Huntington Beach

Murder Indicated by Stab Wound and Bullet Hole

Remains May be Those of Missing Angeleno

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 7.—Discovery of an unidentified man's body, bearing a chest stab wound, today led county authorities to the trail of a possible murder mystery, centered in a secluded corner of a miniature jungle near here.

Whether the dead man is a Los Angeles resident, named Nolan, missing from Balboa for the last two weeks, or some other victim of either foul play or suicide, provided a problem which the Coroner and Sheriff's office were trying to fathom, following the grewsome discovery in the chicken corral of an abandoned shack on Westminster avenue late yesterday.

Two hunters, Harold E. Bray and C. E. Davis, of 2986 East Randolph street, Huntington Park, came upon the body as they started on a hunting excursion, after parking their automobile in the driveway of the deserted place. Passing through the corral, which was darkly shaded by the heavy surrounding growth of willows, they came upon the body, crumpled between an old, rusty-topped trunk and the wall of the corral, with its arms grotesquely twisted underneath the body facing the corral wall.

STRUGGLE INDICATED

The blood-spattered tree trunks, the knife wound, and a bullet hole found in one of the corral timbers a few feet from the body indicated foul play, in the opinion of officers who inspected the scene. The ground around the body was trampled, as though a struggle had occurred, they said.

The body had occupied its lonely resting place for at least two weeks, and identification was impossible, it was said. All marks of identification had been removed from the clothing.

A dark coat and a Stetson hat lay near by. The victim wore grey trousers, tan shoes and a khaki shirt.

Possibility that the man might be the missing Nolan was called to attention when Sheriff Sam Jernigan today received a letter from Nolan's brother, a Las Vegas (Nev.) attorney, asking that search be made for the man, who disappeared about two weeks ago from Balboa. The time element appeared to fit the case, said Jernigan.

AUTOPSY ORDERED

Coroner Charles D. Brown, accompanied by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff F. W. Howard and Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel, finger print expert, visited the scene today, and also made further examination of the body, which had been removed to the Dixon undertaking establishment here. The Coroner stated that an autopsy would be ordered to determine exactly the cause of death.

The abandoned corral where the body was found is located about a mile and a half north of this city and about 200 yards northwest of the Peat Humus Company plant. The locality is thickly wooded with willows.

First Marriage Under New Law Held in Court

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 7.—What is thought to be the first marriage under the new State law permitting girls 15 years of age to marry, occurred in Superior Court today when Judge Patrick Parker united Samuel Haskel Snider and Silvie May Voris, in wedlock.

County Clerk D. P. Hunt said it was the first marriage of its kind he had heard of in this State. The law permitting such marriages by the judge of the Juvenile Court went into effect on August 14, the County Clerk pointed out. The bride is of Ojai and the bridegroom from Mokelumne Hill.

FIREMEN'S LONG TOIL SAVES INFANT'S LIFE

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 7.—After working in relays of three hours each ever since Thursday morning, city firemen's efforts to save the life of the newly born son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Kirk of 2831 Nebraska avenue seem to have been successful.

Fire Chief David Glines of the local department reported late today that the baby has been successfully transferred to the California Lutheran Hospital in Los Angeles and placed in an incubator. The inhalator, operated for more than 100 hours by local firemen, is near by in case there is a relapse.

CHARIOT OF FIRE SEEN

Jack Mizger Drives Car With Top Aflame Through City Streets

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 7.—Speeding his automobile over the streets of East Huntington Park with the top in flames, Jack Mizger of Maywood avenue was finally brought to a halt in front of his home early yesterday and, with his companion, a Maywood woman, was placed under arrest. They were taken to police headquarters and charged with intoxication. Bail for Mizger was placed at $200, while the woman was taken to her home by officers. The Fire Department saved the car, the inside of the machine as well as the top being badly burned. Police state that they had noticed Mizger driving, and he seemed to be intoxicated, when they started after him. He speeded up and led a chase for several blocks. Both are scheduled to appear in police court Friday.

SEVEN CRASHES HURT EIGHT

Week-end Toll of Traffic Accidents Heavy, Glendale Records Show; One Man's Skull Fractured

GLENDALE, Oct. 7.—The week-end toll of automobile accidents here was eight persons injured in seven crashes, the worst injured being Walter Ballard, 9 years of age, of 1517 Cypress street, Los Angeles, who received a possible skull fracture and other injuries when he was struck at the intersection of San Fernando Road and Fletcher Drive.

James Faries, 1339 Carmen street, driver of the car that injured the child, rushed him to the Glendale Sanitarium. The lad's brother Charles, 12, told police that Walter had started to cross the street when the first bell rang and had looked back when he collided with the rear fender of Faries's machine and was knocked down.

Roy M. Hughes of Columbus, Ind., was stricken with illness while riding on a truck on San Fernando Road and fell off. He broke several ribs and was bruised.

Katherine McElhany, 7, of 425 Hawthorne street, was cut about the scalp when the car in which she was riding with her mother, Mrs. Goldie McElhany, figured in a head-on collision with a machine driven by John B. Thompson, 758 Sunland avenue. The child was hurled against the windshield.

Willis E. Gamet, 651 West Wilson street, sustained a broken ankle in a collision with a car driven by Amos Collins, Maddux Air Lines employee. Sergeant Evans of the motorcycle squad reported that Gamet is almost a helpless cripple as a result of a chronic illness and the police have recommended that his license be suspended on the ground that he is not in physical condition to drive an automobile.

Mrs. G. Heins, 737 Aragon street, Los Angeles; Margaret Hissem, 11, of 224 Hill Drive, and Harold Hetebek, 1220 Ethel street, Alhambra, escaped with minor injuries in the accident in which they were involved.

"FIXING" CASE CONFAB ON

Federal Border Service Official Visits San Diego to Confer With Government Agents

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 7.—To confer with local Federal agents in connection with the liquor "fixing" case, Archie P. Rumberg, assistant to Jesse Flanders, in charge of special border service agent activities in Southern California, arrived here today. Rumberg's visit follows closely on that of Flanders, who was here last week. Following a review of evidence already obtained, Rumberg probably will return to Los Angeles tomorrow, it is reported.

Federal agents have announced that the case is being closed this week and that it probably will be in the hands of a Federal grand jury at Los Angeles early next week. Part of the work to be done by local agents this week involves the questioning of several persons.

With the return yesterday of John D. Cornell, county detective, who has been at Los Angeles several days, another session of the county grand jury is expected. Cornell said last night that he would have certain information to present to the District Attorney today as a result of his trip north.

Patron Makes Hit With Kruz

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 7.—It's all right to strike a nail on the head with a hammer but it's painful to strike a man on the head with a hammer, Nick Kruz complained to police last night. Kruz, who operates a hammer-and-nail contest booth in the carnival grounds, suffered severe bruises and cuts on the head as the climax of an argument with one of his customers when the unlucky customer decided to make the operator unlucky also, by striking both the nail and the man on the head.

Kruz called the police as his "customer" disappeared in a cloud of dust. Krus was treated in Santa Barbara clinic for his wounds. Police are searching for the "customer."

PASADENA LOW IN BLAZE LOSSES

PASADENA, Oct. 7.—With a per capita fire loss of 43 cents for the last year this city leads every other municipality of the same size or larger in California, it was learned today. The average per capita loss from fire in 445 cities in the United States last year was $2.70, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Per capita losses of other California cities were: Los Angeles, $1.86; Oakland, $1.38; Long Beach, $1.62; San Diego, 79 cents; Santa Barbara, $1.35 and San Jose, $2.70.

YOUTH WHO DREW GUN SENTENCED

Officer Calls His Bluff and Forces Him to Drop Weapon Before Arrest

POMONA, Oct. 7.—Clinton C. Crook, 20 years of age, 564 Texas street, was today sentenced to the County Jail for six months following his conviction of drunkenness in a special session of Police Court. Judge E. H. Bowen set the penalty without alternative of fine when it was testified that the youth had drawn a loaded revolver on the arresting officer last night and threatened to kill him. The officer refused to be bluffed, however, drew his own gun and ordered the boy to drop his or take the consequences. Crook dropped his weapon and was lodged in jail.

Three hours after the boy's arrest, police again visited the Crook residence and arrested the father, J. E. Crook, 51, for possession of liquor when a gallon jug of whisky was found in the house. He was released on bail pending trial before Judge Bowen at a later date.

Memorial Organ Given to Church

MONROVIA, Oct. 7.—In memory of her husband and son, Mrs. Lily M. Woolwine of Duarte has had a new three-manual organ installed in St. Luke's Episcopal Church. It will be dedicated on the 18th inst., which is St. Luke's Day, with a special musical service.

With installation of the new $12,000 organ, Rev. J. Alvin Shirley, rector, announces that the choir is planning to offer cantatas and musicals during the coming season.

FAITHFUL DOG WAITS FOR YEARS ON HIS MASTER KILLED IN ACTION

SAN FERNANDO, Oct. 7. — After twelve long years, old Shep still waits for the master who will never return from the battlefields of France.

Shep holds the unofficial rank of chief commanding officer at United States Veterans' Hospital No. 104, here, and takes orders from no one, not even Dr. S. H. James, medical officer in charge of the institution. In that respect, Shep is a poor soldier but his loyalty to the memory of his dead master is the loyalty that only a faithful dog can show.

When Shep wishes to make himself comfortable in a bed of flowers on the hospital grounds, no one disturbs him. When he deigns to permit a pat on the head, that person may consider himself one of the honored few who have been allowed that privilege.

Back in the hectic days of 1918, a debonair young lieutenant arrived at Camp Kearney, near San Diego. With him came Shep, then a round, furry puppy. Those were happy, active days for the growing pup who worshiped his master and rarely let him out of his sight, if it could be avoided. The puppy, with the friendliness of his kind, played with the khaki-clad comrades of his master and became a favorite with other young men who had "joined up."

SHEP BANISHED FROM TRAIN

Then came the overseas orders. Every effort was made by the young officer and his buddies to take Shep along. He was smuggled on the train but at San Bernardino, when trainmen found the pup, he was banished.

A few days later. Shep limped into Camp Kearney, weary and footsore. He made his way to the quarters where his master had lived. In vain he searched the area. The pup scanned the faces of the new officers but he could not recognize the young fellow that brought him to camp months before.

So Shep stayed on, but no longer frolicked with the soldiers. However, he was treated with the greatest respect by the men who knew the cause of the dog's grief, and provided with a good kennel and plenty of food.

When Camp Kearney was abandoned, one of the soldiers took Shep to Los Angeles in his car with the intention of keeping the dog. Shep escaped and twenty-four hours later, showed up at the Camp Kearney Hospital, where he remained.

RANCHER GIVES SHELTER

Later when the hospital was closed, Shep was taken to the home of a rancher near San Diego, who knew the dog's history. A few weeks later the rancher wrote to Dr. James at the hospital here, saying that Shep was so unhappy that he feared the dog could not live long and requested that he be allowed to send him to the hospital here.

So, on March 5, 1926, Shep was admitted to the United States Veterans' Hospital No. 104, where he is the idol of patients and personnel. A one-sided affection, for Shep has remained true to his love for the young lieutenant.

Shep is a duly credited patient at the institution as his service record on file in the office shows. It reads:

SHEP

Name—Shep. C-No. 121. Registration No. 1.

Permanent Address—U.S.V.H. No. 104, San Fernando, Cal.

Rank and Organization—Private unassigned. Marital state—?

Occupation—Watch dog. Date of birth, January 1, 1918.

Character of Discharge—Received a C.S.D. discharge for flat feet, following meritorious service while on patrol duty at Camp Kearney, Cal., January, 2, 1920, he was admitted to U.S.P.H.S. at Camp Kearney at his own request, for the above disability. Continuously hospitalized until transferred to U.S.V.H. No. 104, San Fernando, Cal., March 5, 1926, where he is now receiving domiciliary care.

Diagnosis—0587—flat feet, all four; 0139—rheumatism left hind leg.

Complaints — No ambition, tires easily, short of breath.

Comment—This patient is cooperative, minds his own affairs, and takes no guff from anyone.

MASTER WILL NEVER COME

And so the aging dog waits loyally for the master who will never return.

For Shep cannot know that the young officer in those happy Camp Kearney days was killed in action. And even if he could understand, none of the men at the hospital here would tell him. Shep, apparently, lives for the day when he will see his master come striding through the gates at the hospital.

If he knew, that courage and hope that keeps men, and even dogs, alive, would be shattered and Shep would "go west."

MIRACLE WORKS OUT IN REVERSE

Modern Day Version Proves Embarrassing to Judge

Liquid Evidence Turned to Water in His Charge

Resignation of Justice at Calipatria Follows

CALIPATRIA, Oct. 7.—A modern day version of the biblical miracle of the water and wine, with the elements reversed, came to a sudden climax today when Dist.-Atty. Elmer Heald appeared before the Imperial County Supervisors and presented the resignation of P. N. Myers, justice of the peace in this city for fourteen years. The resignation was accepted by the board without comment.

Today's resignation came as the aftermath of an incident several days ago when enforcement officers discovered that certain liquid evidence with which they expected to convict a local bootlegger and which had been intrusted to the care of the court, had lost its alcoholic content.

The story of the wine that changed to water reached the office of the District Attorney and an investigation followed. Neither Heald nor the justice of the peace would disclose what took place at a conference attended by both men, but it was admitted that the conference had a direct bearing on the resignation filed today.

Judge Myers has been City Clerk here since incorporation in 1917. He served last year as president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Imperial county.

Mexican Consul and Party Land on Blythe Field

BLYTHE, Oct. 7.—This city's new airport scored a beat last night when an eight-place trimotored monoplane bearing F. Alfonso Pesqueira, Mexican Consul at Los Angeles, and his party made a perfect landing here after dark. The plane, chartered at San Diego for a pleasure jaunt, flew off its course and landed here yesterday afternoon resting and taking on fuel. After receiving directions for Mexicali and Yuma the plane left for the south to return at 8 p.m. seeking the protection of the airport.

The ship hesitated to land at Yuma where the field was not lighted. The party remained in Blythe for the night leaving for Mexicali this morning. The party was to have been the guests of Gov. Rodrigues at Mexicali, Consul Pesqueira stated. Included in the party were Roberto Pesquiera of Hollywood, Ricardo Montero of Mexico City, Robert Carry and Andres De Heguróla and daughter of Mexico. They had eaten breakfast at Agua Caliente, lunch at Ensenada, and were planning to take dinner in Mexicali. At the landing last night 100 local automobiles turned their lights on the field.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO PUBLISH NEWSPAPER

SIERRA MADRE, Oct. 7.—Making its debut in the local grammar school, the Safety Committee will publish a weekly paper to be known as "The Headlight," with Lester Asbury, son of a local newspaper publisher, as editor. Other members of the staff include Richard Wilson, Dick Lewellyn, Gilbert Trejo, Buddy Walsworth, Samuel Bever, Elsie Rauch, Fred Pagenkopf, George Groth, Bill Dewey and Bennie Lyon.

SECOND CITRUS RAID MADE

Officers Scour Country in Search of Despoilers of Smith Grove; Banker's Fruit First to Go

ANAHEIM, Oct. 7.—Police of this city and Fullerton and deputies from the Sheriff's office have for five days been seeking persons responsible for the picking of almost a full crop of Valencia oranges from an eight-acre grove halfway between the two cities, they admitted today. The grove is owned by Mrs. Emma J. Hill of Fullerton.

Mrs. Hill, who does not live on her grove, said that she had ordered 300 boxes picked from the property some time ago, leaving approximately 2000 boxes on the trees.

This is the second large theft of citrus fruit in the vicinity of Fullerton within a month, S. W. Smith, Fullerton banker, having lost $5000 worth of oranges recently.

Mrs. Hill said today that private detectives working on the case have determined that the oranges were removed by trucks gaining access to the property through a subdivision at the rear of her acreage.

BURGLAR IN GAS STATION AT VENTURA

Radio and Blankets Taken by Marauder; Attempts at Oxnard Get No Loot

VENTURA, Oct. 7.—Reports of one burglary and two attempted ones were received by the Sheriff's office today. They were the work of the same group, it is believed, from the method of entry in each case.

At the Triangle service station, just outside the city limits, the proprietor found his radio valued at $75 and a number of blankets missing when he went to his place of business this morning.

The Union and Seaside service stations in Oxnard were also reported broken into some time after 2 a.m. today, but nothing of value was missing.

In each case it appeared that the would-be burglars had broken the window panes, unfastened the windows, gained entry and rummaged throughout the buildings, evidently looking for cash.

Veterans' Posts Plan to Merge

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 7.—A colorful military program will mark the merger of the Santa Monica and Sawtelle Soldiers' Home posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, tomorrow night, at which a senior honorary degree will be conferred on Burr McIntosh, actor, author and war correspondent, and a junior honorary degree on Billy Lennon, the vocal protege of Tito Schipa, world-renowned tenor. McIntosh is to be honored for his war-time journalistic contributions eulogizing the American soldier, and young Lennon for his recent entertainment in behalf of disabled veterans at the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle. Ethel Boswell, the boy's accompanist, will be awarded an auxiliary degree in recognition of her services at the latter event. The program will be held in the Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m., and will be open to the public. Mayor Michel of Santa Monica, and Councilman Barthel of Venice, will be among the civic leaders present.

Downey Intends to Become City

DOWNEY, Oct. 7.—Fathered by some of the finest settlers here, the Downey Incorporation Club has been organized for the purpose of incorporating this community and papers filed with the County Board of Supervisors will be acted upon on the 14th inst.

Downey, settled sixty years ago, is one of the earliest landmarks of the San Gabriel Valley, which boomed during its first few years and later took a steadier pace as a farming and citrus center as it is now recognized.

As proceedings were started several months ago to organize a water district, which has been achieved with the result of a $195,000 water bond issue to be voted upon at a special election December 1, members of the Incorporation Club are anxious that Downey become a full-fledged city to take over the administrative responsibilities.

White Car Gets Speeders Still

UPLAND, Oct. 7.—C. S. Lehman, local traffic officer, was peeved today. Recently he had his automobile, which he uses in pursuing speeders, painted white, in accordance with new State regulations governing traffic officers. The white automobile makes no difference to motorists, Lehman said.

"Here the city goes and puts out good money to have the car painted as ordered by the State law just so motorists can see us and heed the warning and they just whizz by me like they used to do."

Lehman demonstrated that the nifty new decorations of his car hasn't slowed its speed a bit and a number of speeders were cited to court.

DRIVER GETS PROBATION

SANTA ANA, Oct. 7.—As a condition of probation following his conviction of driving an automobile while intoxicated, B. K. Morgan must pay $1253.65 to the family whose car he wrecked near Yorba Linda on August 4. Morgan's driving license was suspended for one year, but the court granted him permission to drive to and from his work.

NEW PASTOR IN PULPIT

ONTARIO, Oct. 7. — Rev. Charles L. Knight, pastor of a La Jolla church, was received by the congregation of Bethel Congregational Church here yesterday. Knight has been elected to take the place in the local pulpit made vacant by resignation of Rev. John Barron Toomay. His family will move here next week.

VOTE TO COST $7000

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 7.—An ordinance calling a special election to vote on the proposed new city charter December 19 may be ready for the City Council next Monday, Mayor Harry C. Clark announced today. The cost, it is estimated by the City Clerk's office, will be $7000.

Braley Loses Leg From Old Bicycle Mishap

PASADENA, Oct. 7.—Edward R. Braley, a director of the Tournament of Roses Association and pioneer local business man, is reported to be recovering today from the effects of the amputation of a leg which was injured years ago when he fell from a high-wheel bicycle.

The amputation was performed Saturday at the Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles. Dr. Early, attending physician, asserted this afternoon that Braley will recover, but that he will be confined in the hospital for about a month.

In the early days, Braley was the proprietor of a bicycle business, later entering the automobile field. He erected the Braley Building on South Raymond avenue, and has taken an active part in the affairs of the Tournament of Roses Association for twenty years.

Mayor Porter to Aid Town in Change of Name

NORTH LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—All plans have been completed for the big celebration which is to be held here Saturday, at which time official recognition will be taken of the changing of the name of this San Fernando Valley town from Zelzah to North Los Angeles.

Mayor Porter of Los Angeles has accepted the invitation to be principal speaker, according to John L. Kirkham, president of the local Chamber of Commerce. Councilman Randall and Congressman Evans also are on the program. A banquet will follow an automobile ride over this part of the valley. Members of the chambers of commerce of Reseda, Tarzana, Girard, Owensmouth and Chatsworth, neighboring towns, have accepted invitations to take part in the affair.

While he is here, Mayor Porter will be shown the Runnymede poultry plant containing 350,000 Leghorn hens, the largest institution of the sort in the country.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY HEADS TO BE FETED

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 7.—Feeling that Loyola University is such a close neighbor to this community, and wishing to foster a spirit of cooperation and friendly feeling between the institution of learning and this city, the local Chamber of Commerce is planning for a luncheon or banquet in honor of the president, governing board and the faculty of the university, at the instance of Postmaster Fred E. Laxdal. Laxdal, George C. Malloy and Josephus D. Barrett have been appointed by President A. E. Chamberlain of the chamber as a committee to arrange for this gathering, the date of which will be set soon.

FIRST FATALITY OF DEER SEASON OCCURS

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 7.—First fatality of the deer-hunting season in Riverside county was Joe Vasvary of Los Angeles, 29 years of age, according to a verdict returned by a Coroner's jury today. Vasvary was killed late yesterday when a rifle in the hands of Frank Mevale, 20, also of Los Angeles, exploded in the Temescal Mountains. Testimony at the inquest indicated the gun was set off by accidentally striking a rock. Vasvary was to have been married this week to a Los Angeles girl.

CHEST DRIVE UNDER WAY IN SAN DIEGO

Tenth Annual Community Appeal Starts With Goal Set at $265,326

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 7.—San Diego county's tenth annual Community Chest appeal and Red Cross roll call started this morning when 3500 volunteer men and women opened the campaign that must produce $265,326 to operate thirty-one chairty and welfare agencies all next year in every section of the county.

An early check-up today showed every team in the field working on the gigantic task of carrying the story of the needs of helpless children and the aged, the sick and the distressed to every home and place of business in the county, Col. Ed Fletcher, general campaign chairman, announced.

"The goal of this campaign, $265,326, has been set by a budget committee of our leading business men and women as the absolute minimum requirements for properly carrying on the work of thirty-one charity and welfare agencies that serve all San Diego county with an extensive program of human helpfulness," Fletcher declared. "We have not the least doubt that the response of the people will be generous once these needs are made known to them."

Water Poppy of California Liked by East

VAN NUYS, Oct. 7.—San Fernando Valley, a semidesert country until a few years since, has a fast-growing industry that wouldn't have been dreamed of two decades ago.

A survey has disclosed that next year more than $10,000 in water lilies and aquatic-garden plants will be shipped to eastern markets by owners of aquatic gardens in the various sections of the valley. Initial orders for spring delivery are being received. The biggest demand, it is stated, is for a water poppy, very much like the field California poppy, that grows prolifically in garden pools when it is transported to the East. Other plants and water flowers that propagate in rank form in the valley sunshine also are in demand by certain dealers in the Midwest and East.

P. D. Woodford of Fulton avenue yesterday received one of his first orders for spring delivery, consisting of 300 root plants for starting purposes, including the water poppy. Woodford says that before his shipping season is through he will send at least 1500 water plants to various points. He states that California-grown aquatic plants especially do well when transplanted in the East.

Plane Turns Cow to Steak

REDLANDS, Oct. 7.—Forced to land in a field near the Tricity Airport because of engine trouble, a plane piloted by G. P. Cook of San Bernardino crashed into a cow today, injuring the animal so badly that it had to be killed. The plane was slightly damaged but its occupants escaped without injury.

The plane was carrying Clifford Quillen of San Bernardino and S. J. Nichols, sailor attached to the U.S.S. Saratoga at San Pedro, as passengers. The cow, which was grazing in the field near the airport, was the property of Hans Vanderveen.

DILLINGHAM HOME AT REDLANDS BURNS

REDLANDS, Oct. 7.—The home of Ray Dillingham was destroyed by fire early this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Dillingham and their two little girls barely escaping from the house in time. Just a few of their clothes which they grabbed up as they went out and a washing machine was all they saved of their household and personal effects. It is thought that defective wiring in the attic of the frame bungalow caused the fire. Mrs. Dillingham, awakened by the smoke found the house in flames. The family fled in night clothes just in the nick of time.

SOUTHLAND PIONEER DIES

LONG BEACH, Oct. 7.—Jesse J. Allen, a resident of Southern California for forty-two years, died at a hospital here last night. He was 74 years of age. Born in Indiana, he came west in 1887, settling first in Pasadena. He moved to Long Beach ten years ago. Allen leaves his widow, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary L. Seares of Long Beach and Mrs. Dora Baxter of San Francisco. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MUNICIPAL REPORT MADE

Pasadena Department of Light and Power Shows Net Earnings and Details of Operation

PASADENA, Oct. 7.—The Municipal Light and Power Department net earnings amounted to $656,022 for the fiscal year 1928-29, according to the twenty-second annual report filed by Supt. Benjamin F. DeLanty with the Board of City Directors today. The surplus totaled $550,716, an increase of $7610 over the 1927-28.

The total income from sales last year amounted to $1,483,712, an increase of $94,410 over the previous fiscal period. Cash assets of the utility are reported as $351,118, and investments total $945,544. The investment in land, building and equipment totals $3,094,251. The bonded indebtedness is $596,333, bonds retired last year amounting to $200,617, including issues of $113,000 that were retired prematurely.

During the year, operating expenses were reduced from 37.10 per cent of operating income to 34.94 per cent, due to cheaper fuel. Net earnings on the depreciated value of the property were 11.26 per cent as compared to 11.24 per cent for the previous year. Depreciation for 1928-29 was estimated at $311,885, and cost of repairs and maintenance at $116,306.

The earnings, according to DeLanty, are due partly to the increased efficiency of the new light plant unit installed about a year ago. "With our new equipment, which now gives the city a total capacity of 34,000 kilowatt hours, it is possible to obtain 400 kilowatt hours from a barrel of fuel oil, while the old plant produced only 200 kilowatt hours from the same fuel," DeLanty explained.

Now I take my facials all night long!

There was just one line after another! Morning, noon and night, I discovered new ones. It was terrible! And I went to every beauty shop in town too.

What do you think? Sleep and rest were all I needed. Bought a Nachman Feather-Spring mattress for $39.50—and now I get eight hours beauty sleep every night!

MRS. CASSLER ESCAPES AGAIN

Suspect Released from Jail in Second Slaying

Lack of Evidence Serves Her This Time

Noose Barely Missed After Prior Conviction

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Again Mrs. Catherine Cassler has emerged from the shadow of the penitentiary.

For the second time in a year the middle-aged woman, serene and smiling in her certainty of exoneration, has stepped from behind jail walls, freed of a murder charge.

Once before she had been saved from the gallows in Cook county by the Supreme Court after a conviction for murder, and went free because one witness refused to testify at a second trial and another witness was dead.

Today Mrs. Cassler, the accused slayer of her husband's asserted mistress, was given her freedom at Valparaiso, Ind., because the Porter county prosecutors could not produce evidence that the woman was slain in Indiana, where her body was found. Nor had Illinois authorities the evidence to show that Miss Cameola Soutar was shot to death in Chicago and her body dumped into the swamp at Hebron, Ind., last April.

FLAW IN "PERFECT CRIME"

There was a tiny flaw in the "perfect crime" that Mrs. Cassler first stood accused of. The body of William Lindstrom, a cabinet maker, was found one night in an alley, the victim apparently of a fall. But the night was rainy and the alert patrolman observed that Lindstrom's shoes were dry.

Loren Patrick and Mrs. Lillian Fraser were arrested at the Fraser home, where Lindstrom had been a roomer. Mrs. Fraser readily confessed a plot to kill him and collect $1000 insurance—a plot suggested, she asserted, by Mrs. Cassler. And it was Mrs. Cassler, she testified, who obtained Patrick's release from jail at Crown Point, Ind., where he was held for bootlegging.

"REQUEST" SLAYING

"I just killed him because the women asked me to," Patrick admitted. "I wouldn't do it again. I'm through killing people."

Patrick and Mrs. Fraser pleaded guilty, but Mrs. Cassler stood trial and was sentenced to hang, one of few women in Cook county to receive a death sentence. Her fellow conspirators were sentenced to the penitentiary and Mrs. Fraser died there.

Mrs. Cassler's conviction was appealed, a Supreme Court stay prevented her execution twenty-four hours before it was scheduled, and the case was remanded for new trial. Then Patrick repudiated his charge that Mrs. Cassler formed the plot, and the State, without a witness, dropped the charges last April.

STORM IN PORTUGAL RUINS OLIVE GROVES

LISBON (Portugal) Oct. 7. (AP)—Large tracts of land are under water and thousands of olive groves ruined in Central Portugal today after a violent storm which passed through that section during the week-end. The village of Rideira was destroyed. Many villages are isolated and no trains are running.

WIFE MURDER CHARGED

SCREEN DIVORCE SCANDAL AIRED

Son-in-Law of William Fox Contests Action

Witnesses Tell of Girl in Hotel Bathroom

Steuer Fails to Break Down Stories for Tauszig

MINEOLA (L. I.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—A bobbed-hair woman in a bathrobe reported found hiding behind the shower curtains in a hotel suite occupied by Douglas N. Tauszig, former film executive, was described today as the principal reason why absolute divorce should be granted Mrs. Mona F. Tauszig, daugter of William Fox, the motion-picture magnate.

After repeated infidelity charges by the wife and counter-charges of a frame-up by the husband, the screenland marital action opened in Mineola Supreme Court before Justice Fawcett.

The unnamed brunette found in the Montclair Hotel suite by raiders had little on under the bathrobe, according to Mrs. Tauszig's witnesses.

When the raiders, headed by Lewis S. Levine, purchasing agent for the Fox interests, pushed in past Tauszig, who, according to testimony, had opened the door of the suite, Fox's son-in-law's fair companion fled to the bathroom. When the shower sheets were drawn and she was revealed with her face in her hands Levine testified Tauszig protested, saying: "Gentlemen, is that necessary?"

Private Detectives Thomas J. Tunney and James A. Donahue, also participants in the raid, corroborated Levine. Their stories and Levine's stood up despite vigorous cross-examination by Max D. Steuer, the husband's attorney.

The trial will continue tomorrow.

Wife Slayer Will be Shot

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—Werner Stembeck, 42 years of age, today was sentenced by District Judge McConkie to be shot at the State prison here November 24 for the slaying of Mrs. Minnie Mantyle, his common-law wife.

Stembeck accepted the sentence calmly and refused to choose between the gallows and firing squad when offered his choice.

DAUGHTER OF FILM MAGNATE SUES MATE

Husband Battles Two ex-Wives on Back Alimony

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Gordon C. Thorne, who is being sued by two of his former wives for back alimony and who has a motion for reduction of the $750-a-month alimony he is paying his first wife, was given a few more days to untangle his marital and financial matters when Judge Sabath of the Superior Court today set two angles of the case for hearing at 3 o'clock Thursday.

At that time Mrs. Virginia M. Thorne, the first wife, will ask that Thorne be sent to jail if he doesn't pay the $3000 which she claims as alimony due her for the last four months, and he will ask that the alimony of $750 a month that he has been ordered to pay Mrs. Thorne No. 1, be reduced on the ground that the sum is excessive and that it has made her become "dissolute and immoral."

Steamer Blast Fatal to Seven

Raymond Lake, 45, General Engineering Works; T. V. Hansen and Jacob Schmalyried.

CANNON FIRES ON DEMOCRATS

Bishop Issues Statement on Virginia Race

Raskobian Liberalism Hit by Methodist Divine

He Declares Protestant Clergy Insulted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP)—In his first public statement on the Virginia gubernatorial campaign since the regular Democratic and anti-Smith Democrat-Republican candidates took the field, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today said the issue at stake was:

"Shall the men who not only betrayed the cause of prohibition in the last election for the sake of a partisan victory, but who also denounced, slandered and villified as 'traitors,' 'bigots' and 'hypocrites' those men and women who had put moral convictions above party regularity—shall these men now, unrepented and unashamed, be rewarded for such despicable conduct by electing them to positions where they may proclaim exultingly their vindication and again in 1932 betray the cause of prohibition if political expediency demands it?"

POLLARD OPPOSED

Opposing Dr. John Garland Pollard as "the nominee of the Smith-Raskob Democratic organization," Cannon asked: "Can anti-Smith Democrats vote for such men with any regard for consistency or personal self-respect?"

"I cannot," he answered.

Bishop Cannon would not discuss reports that he will take the stump. He plans to disclose later whether today's statement is preparatory to such a step or is intended to take the place of a series of campaign speeches.

The statement bristled with denunciation of "Raskobian liberalism." He denied that in taking his position he became a Republican.

RASKOB ASSAILED

"I still remain an independent Democrat," he asserted, "flatly refusing to wear the wringing-wet collar of Raskobian liberalism and calling upon my fellow-Democrats to rescue the Democratic party from the inevitable disintegration and destruction which must follow the continuance of the present leadership."

Cannon called for the election of Dr. William Moseley Brown, the anti-Smith Democrat-Republican nominee, recalling that he had "rendered exceedingly effective personal and platform service" during the last Presidential campaign. He said Brown is a "convinced advocate of prohibition" and "a good mixer" with a "practical outlook on life."

Cannon's 5000-word statement dealt at length with the 1928 political campaign. Describing John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, as "a Roman Catholic Knight of Columbus and a chamberlain of the Pope's household."

UNION OIL TO PAY IN STOCK

New Plan Voted in Addition to Cash Dividends

Profits Jump 40 Per Cent for Nine Months Period

Concern Earns $2.94 a Share on Greater Capital

Inauguration of a new policy in the payment of dividends by the Union Oil Company of California was announced yesterday by W. L. Stewart, president, following the action of the directors in declaring a quarterly dividend in stock of 1 per cent. This distribution is in addition to the regular cash dividend of 50 cents a share.

Payment of the stock dividend in combination with the regular cash dividend will be continued as long as the condition of the company's business justifies, Mr. Stewart said. On this basis the Union Oil stockholders will receive annual dividends of $2 in cash and 4 per cent in stock.

Payment of the cash dividend will be made on November 9 to stockholders of record the 17th inst. The stock dividend will be distributed to holders of record November 20, after the permission is obtained of the State Corporation Commissioner, and the committees on stock list of the New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles stock exchanges.

PROFITS HIT PEAK

Record-breaking earnings for the first nine months of the year were also announced by the company in connection with the inauguration of the new dividend policy. Net profits for the period ended September 30, last, totaled $12,000,000 after all charges including depreciation, depletion and taxes, or an increase of 40 per cent over the same period of 1928.

Calculated on 4,082,000 shares outstanding on September 30, last, net income was equal to $2.94 a share, compared with $2.25 a share on $3,795,000 shares a year ago. On the same basis the net profit per share for the third quarter of 1929 was $1.22, compared with 72 cents in 1928.

Profits before depreciation, depletion, etc., amounted to $5.86 a share, according to the report, against $4.24 a share in the same period of 1928. Provision for depreciation, depletion and drilling expenses was equivalent to $2.72 a share, compared with $1.90 a share.

OUTPUT GAINS

"The larger profit for 1929," the report states, "is accounted for principally by increased production of refining crude at Santa Fe Springs and expansion of the gasoline cargo business at better prices. The charges to income for labor and incidental costs of new drilling were about $2,500,000 more than for the same period of 1928, due to increased drilling in the Santa Fe Springs area."

Production, subject to royalties, totaled approximately 17,300,000 barrels of crude oil and natural gasoline in the nine months, an increase of 6,950,000 barrels over the same period of last year. At present the company is producing and purchasing 130,000 barrels of crude oil daily and has shut-in production of about 15,000 barrels daily.

Sales for the nine months amounted to $67,750,000, an increase in value of $4,850,000 over the same period of last year. The quantity sold approximated 26,600,000 barrels, an increase of 3,800,000 barrels. Gasoline cargo shipments increased 58 per cent in volume over a year ago.

LIQUID ASSETS UP

Current assets on September 30, last, amounted to about $67,800,000, an increase of about $11,000,000 over December 31, last. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities was more than seven to one. Sale of capital stock to stockholders added approximately $13,300,000 to

Value of Pima Cotton Told to Arizona Group

PHOENIX, Oct. 7. (AP)—Approximately $9,000,000 was handled by the Arizona Pima Cotton Growers' Association in the marketing of last year's crop, according to the financial report read at the annual convention of the organization here today.

This morning's session was devoted to the annual address of President K. D. Hellwarth, who told the delegates that development of new duties for Ariona's cotton was the greatest step forward the organiation has made since its inception.

Of the 65,000-bale crop marketed by the association during the fiscal year, 50,000 were absorbed by foreign buyers, he said. Developing American mill business in New England and the Carolinas has been another phase of the Arizona cotton marketing that has progressed appreciably, Hellwarth said.

More than 150 members were present for the opening session.

Aircraft Unit Reports Orders

Commercial Aircraft Corporation, Ltd., yesterday reported orders for seven ships had been taken by Arthur B. Green, general manager, on a trip to Omaha, Neb., where he sold three ships. The Gold Ace Mining Company at Las Vegas, Nev., placed an order for a ship; two orders were taken in Salt Lake City, Utah., and one at Amarillo, Tex.

Recent inquiries about the Sunbeam plane have been received from several foreign countries, Mr. Green stated. The factory is now on a production basis of one ship every three weeks.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—V. V. Boatner, president of the Peoria and Pekin Union Railroad, was elected president today of the Chicago, Great Western Railroad, succeeding Nathaniel L. Howard, who resigned on account of ill health.

B. E. Sunny was made chairman of the executive committee, succeeding S. M. Felton. Mr. Felton will continue as chairman of the board of directors.

Pacific Public Service Net Up

Pacific Public Service Company, controlling interest of which was recently acquired by Standard Oil Company of California, yesterday reported net earnings for the twelve months to August 31, last, of $2,126,948, as against $1,944,150 for the previous twelve-month period.

Total sales for the period were $5,423,081, as compared with $5,214,295 in the preceding twelve months, while operating expenses amounted to $3,554,723, as against $3,411,019.

STOCK MARKETS CLOSE SATURDAY

Governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and the Los Angeles Curb Exchange announced yesterday that both security markets would be closed next Saturday in observance of Columbus Day.

No official announcement has yet been made on what action other exchanges of the country will take.

PRICE CUT IN OIL RUMORED

Mounting Storage Supply May Force Reduction Without Waiting for Gas Law Results

BY EARLE E. CROWE

As petroleum products in storage draw closer to the capacity of tanks in the Pacific Coast area, the prospects for an early cut in the price of crude oil appear more likely. Production officials are frankly concerned over the outlook for full tanks if crude oil output is not curtailed in some manner, and it is no secret in the industry that more than one company believes that lower prices are the most effective remedy.

Action in this direction has been postponed until more could be learned about the probable effect of the natural-gas law on crude-oil production. While the law is not yet working effectively, the principal operators seem to believe that its success is drawing closer to realization and that crude-oil output in the State will soon begin to decline as a result. But the time element is a factor, and there is considerable doubt if the industry can wait.

If the gas-conservation law falls down completely, then a substantial cut in the price of crude is a certainty. Even if the law holds up and the operators swing into line unanimously, there is a possibility of an early reduction of at least 25 cents a barrel in the price of light crude oils.

REFINERS WOULD BENEFIT

Refining and marketing companies, which include the majority of the large petroleum companies, should benefit somewhat from such an action. Most of them purchase a substantial portion of their crude oil requirements and any decrease in the price of the commodity would represent a saving. Union Oil, for illustration, purchases 40 per cent and produces 60 per cent of its refinery requirements; Standard Oil runs about 65 per cent produced and 35 per cent purchased, and Richfield's ratio is about 35 per cent produced and 65 per cent purchased.

Marketwise, then, the stocks of the refining and marketing companies should be affected favorably by lower prices for crude oil. Inventories, of course, would decrease in value, but most companies have already written down inventories heavily. The stock market would probably pay more attention to the saving in crude oil purchases, and might find in this development another argument for the long awaited bull market in oil shares.

TANKS NEARLY FULL

Reasons for some action to encourage immediate curtailment in crude oil production are readily deduced from current statistics on storage in the Pacific Coast area. Available storage capacity on the Coast is estimated around 200,000,000 barrels. Based on August figures, it is expected that the data for the end of September will show storage of petroleum products at approximately 180,000,000 barrels, or a margin of only 20,000,000 barrels.

At the end of August, total storage amounted to 175,000,000 barrels, an increase of 6,000,000 barrels over the previous month. September figures will probably show a further gain of approximately 5,000,000 barrels, or a total of 180,000,000, the largest in the history of the Pacific Coast petroleum industry.

One year ago, at the end of September, 1928, storage totaled 138,000,000 barrels. The increase is due chiefly to the phenomenal production in Santa Fe Springs and other light oil fields in the State. Light oil storage on August 31, last, totaled 37,750,000 barrels, compared with 19,000,000 barrels a year ago, or a 100 per cent increase.

Telephone Net Earnings Gain

Combined net operating income after fixed charges of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph System amounted to $10,377,535 for the eight months closed August 31, last, against $9,687,321 for the same period last year, a gain of $690,214, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company. The balance after accrued dividends totaled $2,757,535 against $2,067,321 and the gross operating revenues increased $6,800,000 to $66,866,489.

The net income for August after fixed charges totaled $1,411,526 against $1,413,756 in August, 1928, a decline of $1230. The balance after accured dividends declined the same amount to $459,026, while the gross were $888,909 higher than in August, 1928.

Samson Rubber Tells Earnings

Samson Tire and Rubber Corporation yesterday reported for the first seven months of this year total sales of $5,257,792, as compared with $4,592,963 in the same period of 1928, an increase of 14 per cent. The number of tires sold increased 32 per cent and the number of tubes 22 per cent over the 1928 period.

Figures on the earnings for the period have not been finally computed, but will run in excess of the profits shown in the first seven months of 1928, according to A. Schleicher, president.

GENOA AMERICAN LOAN REFINANCED IN ITALY

LONDON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The Financial News stated today that in 1927 the city of Genoa concluded a two years' loan of $8,500,000 with an American banking group. The loan fell due at the beginning of this month. Upon appeal for a renewal for another year, the American lenders wanted to raise the interest to 9½ per cent. Rather than pay that figure, the city concluded a 7 3-4 per cent loan with an Italian banking group.

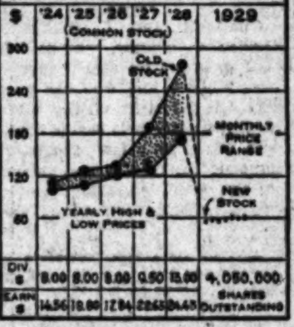
PRAIRIE PIPE LINE

The Prairie Pipe Line Company is one of the largest oil transportation units in this country, with 12,500 miles of trunk and gathering lines, extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes. Through a subsidiary, the Pure Oil Pipe Line Company, a pipe line system is being developed connecting the producing areas of Texas with ports on the Gulf of Mexico.



Net earnings for 1928 amounted to $19,786,612, as compared with $18,327,711 for 1927. This was equal to $24.43 per share on the common stock outstanding at that time, as compared with $22.63 per share in 1927. After the 4-for-1 split, and 25 per cent stock dividend in January, 1929, net earnings for the first half of 1929 amounted to $10,975,000, or $2.71 per share. The company makes liberal allowances for depreciation and reserves, and has current assets of $69,180,461, or about eighteen times current liabilities.

Steel Output Curtailed at Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Youngstown district steel plant operations were again curtailed today with manufacturers reporting sharp losses in steel ingot and sheet production. Steel works output, particularly, is hard hit, with thirty-five open hearths operating for independent companies against thirty-eight last week and forty-one two weeks ago.

The steel industry in this and other districts is paying a greater penalty for tremendous production in the first eight months of the year than leading manufacturers expected and still further reductions are possible before activity on the industry can again turn upward. The definite decline in automobile business has struck Mahoning Valley industry a hard blow, which may be softened somewhat by reported advances in Ford production. Ford takes sheets in large quantities from Youngstown district manufacturers.

While some soft spots in steel prices are appearing, prices are holding strong in face of steady declines in new business operations and shipments. Fabricators are reporting high operations as contrasted with reductions in steel plant schedules. Pipe production in the Mahoning Valley is unchanged with thirteen of the twenty-one mills now operating for independent manufacturers.

New Industrial Issue Out Today

Metzler & Co., of California, underwriters of a new $100,000 issue of debentures for the Fernholts Machinery Manufacturing Company, Ltd., today will tender the debentures at prices to yield 7 per cent to the investor, according to announcemest yesterday.

The company's net worth, exclusive of patent rights, is more than 2½ times the amount of this issue, which represents practically the entire liabilities, it was stated. The business has shown a steady growth over a period of fourteen years.

LORILLARD ADVANCES CIGARETTE PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) P. Lorillard Company today met the advance in cigarette prices posted Saturday by other major tobacco companies, marking up the price of Old Gold cigarettes 30 cents to $6.40 per 1000, which is the price level established by R. J. Reynolds, American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers. The last three companies formerly quoted the price per 1000 at $6.

Pig'n Whistle Profits for Two Months Up One-third; Stores Increased

Net profits of the Pig'n Whistle Corporation for July and August, the first two months of its fiscal year, were 33 1-3 per cent ahead of the earnings reported for the same months in 1928, according to statement issued yesterday by the company.

Sales for August totaled $181,100 against $168,500 in August, 1928, a gain of 7.47 per cent, and for the twelve months closed August 31, aggregated $3,704,000. This compares with sales of $3,325,000 reported for the corresponding twelve months ended August 31, 1928, and represents a gain of 11.39 per cent.

Business of the Pig'n Whistle Corporation consists of 65 per cent restaurant trade with the balance in pastry, fountain and candy sales. Ninety-eight per cent of the sales are for cash, it was stated.

Last week the company opened a new restaurant on the corner of Wilshire Boulevard and Hauser street, which with the one recently opened in the Barbara Hotel Building on Sixth street, makes a total of twenty stores now in operation. These stores are located in Seattle, San Francisco, Oakland, Pasadena, Hollywood and Los Angeles.

Net earnings for the fiscal year closed June 30, last, were equivalent to $1.81 a share on the 85,000 shares of $1.20 participating preferred shares listed on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange.

Investing Unit Plans Stock Rights Offer

Investors' Association has applied to the Corporation Commissioner for a permit to issue rights to its stockholders to subscribe for one additional share at $52.50 for each five shares held, it was announced yesterday. Rights are to be issued to stockholders of record the 15th inst., and will expire November 1, next.

It is understood that the further distribution of stock will largely be in eastern markets and that application will be made later to list on the New York Curb Exchange. The announcement states that further rights may be issued stockholders and additional stock sold to enlarge its capitalization and scope of activities.

Holdings of the Investors' Association consist largely of leading stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Its shares are reported to have a present tangible asset value of more than $55 a share, not including unrealized profits.

New Industry Starts Work

On completion of the testing of its new steam plant tomorrow, Standard Products Company, Inc., which waterproofs fabrics and paint compounds, will begin a regular production schedule, Frederick Beutel, president, stated yesterday. The company last Friday began accepting fabric for converting.

An eastern banking house is now negotiating for the underwritting of 40,000 Class B shares to net the company $5 per share, Mr. Beutel said. When this financing is completed, the company will have outstanding 83,000 Class B shares out of 225,000 authorized and 3000 shares of $2 dividend cumulative preferred shares out of 60,000 authorized. All shares are of no-par value. The directors have decided not to issue any additional shares of preferred stock, Mr. Beutel said.

SHUTDOWN PENDS IN MIDCONTINENT AREA

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Shutting down on all flush production of petroleum in the Midcontinent field for at least thirty days, is the recommendation to be made by the Midcontinent committee at its meeting tomorrow at Tulsa by C. C. Thornton, chairman of the committee, and vice-president and general manager of the Skelly Oil Company. Mr. Herndon stated that such a shutdown would curtail the production about 150,000 barrels a day. "All of the leading companies," he said, "are in favor of the proposal."

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Moderate early advances on relatively steady cables were checked by southern selling and realizing in the cotton market today, but offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying on setbacks of a few points. The midafternoon market was quiet and steady with prices holding about 3 to 5 points net higher.

UTILITY PROJECT ATTRACTS

Pacific Gas and Electric's Plans for Distribution of Natural Product Over Wide Area Told

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

Natural gas, so long wasted, will soon be piped into every city and town in California. It should reach much farther.

"The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has constructed already 300 miles of high-pressure transmission gas lines to meet the situation," said A. F. Hockenbeamer, president to me.

"We are piping gas from Kettleman Hills up the San Joaquin Valley to Richmond on the shores of San Francisco Bay," he added. "Some towns are already receiving straight natural gas, others mixed gas. When the second pipe line, twenty-two inches in diameter, is completed, say in seven or eight months, we will be providing Northern California with natural gas. It will not be long before 95 per cent of our 500,000 gas customers will be receiving straight, natural gas service."

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, when its second unit is completed, will have 750 miles of gas mains to the important gas fields of the State. It will have cost them more than $27,500,000. Its delivery capacity will reach 220,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

"We have been in the gas business a long time," continued Mr. Hockenbeamer. "It was, however, only five years ago that the first unit of our present system, the San Francisco Gas Company, began operations. This was seventy-five years after the discovery of gold in California. In 1879, we installed the first electric generating plant and distributing system. It probably was the first electric station in the world. We have pioneered in the transmission of high-voltage electricity. We probably were the first super-power company in the field. So you see, we believe that both electricity and gas should go hand in hand in the development of industry."

It was Mr. Hockenbeamer also who in 1914 inaugurated the customer ownership plan of selling securities. Billions of dollars have been brought into public utilities companies since that time by the method, but Hockenbeamer was the originator.

"We expect to build a network of gas mains throughout Northern California, which parallels in principle, if not geographically, the vast network of electrical transmission and distributing lines, aggregating upward of 18,000 miles in length, through whic hwe serve our 540,000 electric customers," concluded this public-utility president.

It was the tremendous wastage of natural gas in the Ventura fields which attracted the Pacific Gas and Electric Company first. Then they determined to bring that gas, which was then being wasted, through 350 miles of pipe to San Francisco. Just about that time gas was discovered on Kettleman Hills, which was 100 miles nearer to San Francisco. So the Ventura plan was abandoned and the Kettleman Hills region, one of the most important oil and gas producing areas in the world, has been made the source of their gas supply.

in one year has shown over 600% increase in both gross and net earnings.

THE Corporation through subsidiaries now furnishes various classes of public utility service to about 116,000 consumers in 12 states. Over 75% of gross revenues, and 83% of net earnings, are derived from the sale of electricity, water and gas.

Property values, after all proper deductions, are equal to over $2,500 per each $1,000 of the 6% Convertible Debentures which we are now offering. Recent available earnings have been over 3½ times the issue's interest requirements, and after depreciation are equal to $3.48 per share on the Class A Common Stock.

We recommend as attractive investments both the Class A Common and the 6% Debentures which are convertible into it, as combining decided investment merit and an excellent opportunity to profit by continued growth and improvement.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—The bond market made progress today on the more favorable sentiment created by easier time money and a better investment demand for seasoned issues. The improvement, as measured by the Associated Press averages, was the best in more than two months and followed several weeks of easiness in the standard list.

Although dealers were reluctant to predict that the upward turn would have any permanence, it was pointed out that prices for some time had been showing a tendency to crystalize around the low levels established after months of apathy and that the appearance of a better inquiry for fixed-charge obligations would be quickly reflected in prices.

Today's market had somewhat more depth than recent sessions and although stock feature issues still led the trading they did not enjoy quite the monopoly they have been holding. Numbers of rail and industrial loans changed hands in larger volume, indicating that such customers as the insurance companies, which have been the chief buyers in the recent market, were not contributing all of the demand. Time money was quoted at 8¾ to 9 per cent against the recent rate of 9 per cent flat.

Rails were well supported. Obligations of the Baltimore and Ohio, Denver and Rio Grande, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania, St. Louis and Southwestern, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific were uniformly higher and some sizeable turnovers were established.

Armour 5½s and 4½s gained about a point each, while Bethlehem Steel refunding 5s, Indiana Limestone 6s, Goodyear Tire and Rubber 5s, International Match 5s, Pressed Steel Car 5s, American Sugar 5s, Chile Copper 5s and a few others gained from ½ to 1 point. Oil company obligations were mostly higher, with California Petroleum 5½s, Shell Union 5s and Standard of New Jersey 5s showing strength.

American Telephone debenture 5s and 5½s were well taken. New York Telephone general 5½s moved up nearly 3 points, North American Edison 5½s gained 6, and Rochester Gas and Electric 7s advanced 1½.

St. Paul adjustment income 5s were a strong spot in the secondary rail group, climbing a point on a large turnover. Ulster and Delaware 5s rose 3 points to a new high and the 4s made a similar gain. Seaboard Air Line issues eased a trifle.

Convertibles closed higher after an irregular session. Atchison 4½s displayed the best strength, soaring 5 points. American Telephone 4½s gained 1¾, International Telephone 4½s rose 2½. New Haven 6s and Reading Coal and Iron 6s climbed 2 each and Alleghany Corporation 5s, 1944, advanced 1½. Transcontinental Oil 6½s, with warrants, and Walworth 6½s, with warrants, were other share feature issues in demand.

Liberty bonds and Treasury certificates rose moderately, but foreign bonds were irregular.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

A PROGRAM FOR THE PROFESSIONAL MAN

"FOR the last ten years," a successful Los Angeles doctor said to us [illegible] months ago, "I have had no time to think about investing. I bought [illegible] whatever happened to look good [illegible] me. The other day I checked over [illegible] securities and found their total [illegible] value was only about 60% of what I paid for them. I can't go on this way. What should I do about it?"

We assisted him in drawing up an investment program based on his present earnings and living requirements. We then prepared a diversified list of sound securities from which his investments are to be selected. He now knows how much he is saving, what he is buying, and that his investment list is being constantly watched and his interest protected.

Corporate Trust Shares

This one investment offers ownership and profit participation in 28 of the country's leading companies

ALL dividends and extra profits declared by 28 of the nation's leading utilities, oils, rails and industrials accrue to investors in Corporate Trust Shares. Had this fixed trust been instituted in 1913 the average annual return on capital invested for the 16 year period would be 14.6%.

From time to time stock dividends, rights and other forms of extra profits are sold and proceeds distributed in cash...further increasing returns. On June 30, 1929 regular coupon rate was $.35, extra distribution $.81½...total annual rate of 19% at $12 per share.

Wide diversification of funds in the stocks of these strong companies safeguard security of principal and dependability of income. Low price per unit is an additional attractive feature.

Stocks of these and 20 other companies included:
American Telephone & Telegraph
General Electric du Pont
United States Steel
New York Central Southern Pacific
Standard Oil (Indiana)
Standard Oil (New York)

COMMON STOCKS

Which Are Rarely Affected by Market Depressions

OUTSTANDING in the face of market conditions during the past week is a group of common stocks whose price was relatively unaffected by the general depression.

In the case of most of these issues the current price is less than ten times the net earnings per share. A high income rate acts as a cushion of protection against market declines; while steadily increasing earnings give promise of future appreciation possibilities.

We have prepared a special circular descriptive of five listed issues yielding as high as 8% which exhibit this strong market position. It will be gladly furnished on request. Send name and address below.

METALS STEADY ON QUIET MART

Buying Moderate With Price Levels Unchanged

Zinc and Lead Believed Due for Improvement

Copper Situation Regarded as Most Satisfactory

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

Editor The Mining Journal, Phoenix

Quietness prevails in the nonferrous metal market with all prices stable. Copper remains at 17.87 f.o.b refinery, lead at 6.90 f.o.b. New York and zinc at 6.80 f.o.b. St. Louis. The amount of business placed has been moderate and the market featureless.

Lead buying is being somewhat limited by the dealers as they will not take orders for delivery in November and December and there is a desire on the part of the consumers to get their requirements for those months partially covered. Thus business is on a comparatively small scale. Conditions are good among the consumers and recent new plants indicate that there will be an increased demand for the metal.

Most of the large lead users are in a position where they can afford to wait before making further purchases. They have already covered October and bought some November. Since there seems to be no immediate likelihood of any price advance, they feel that they have little to lose by waiting.

LEAD OUTPUT DROPS

The world's production of pig lead in August was the lowest for any month since March of this year. The August total came to 160,751 tons, as compared with 163,594 tons in July, a drop of 2843 tons.

The decrease in August was due chiefly to the drop in the United States output, which fell from 56,924 tons in July to 53,948 tons the following month, and also to the decline in the Mexican production, which in August totaled 22,007 tons, as compared with 26,654 tons in July.

For the eight months of the current year, the world's output amounts to 1,278,023 tons, whereas in the same period last year the total was 1,199,562 tons. This year the average monthly production has been 159,753 tons and last year the average was 151,757 tons.

Zinc, which has been extremely quiet for some weeks, is a little better than it has been and the prices have remained steady with less bargain lots available at a discount. It seems as though the active buying period for zinc is close at hand.

TRI-STATE MINES CURTAIL

The zinc situation has been strengthened by the fact that a large percentage of the mines of the Tri-State District closed down for a week because of the large tonnage of zinc concentrates that had accumulated. This will make a substantial production cut which will show up prominently in the October figures.

The world production of slab zinc during August showed little change from that of the preceding month, the August total being 136,406 tons as compared with 136,018 tons in July. Of the August total, the United States produced 55,290 tons and the rest of the world 81,116 tons.

For the eight months of the current year, the world's output comes to 1,074,424 tons, whereas in the same period last year production amounted to 1,051,446 tons.

COPPER EXPORT TRADE DULL

It appears that the domestic consumers are now well covered on their October copper requirements and that much November metal has been bought, although nothing like the amount required for November has been ordered. It is natural, then, to expect quietness the early part of this month. Export demand is likewise quiet.

While the official figures are not yet out, copper shipments for September are estimated at 130,000 to 155,000 tons by J. J. Louis, vice-president of the National Metal Exchange. He estimates that foreign shipments will reach 50,000 to 55,000 tons and domestic shipments 100,000 tons.

Domestic and foreign copper consumers will require an additional 200,000 tons of metal between now and the end of the year, according to well-informed members of the trade, provided, of course, that there is no appreciable falling off in consumption during the last quarter of the year.

Of the 200,000 tons, it is estimated that domestic consumers will require 90,000 tons and that about 110,000 tons will be needed by the foreign trade. Should the consumers again bunch their purchases there may be a repetition of the excitement that prevailed at the beginning of the current month.

The situation in the copper industry is highly satisfactory, according to Simon Guggenheim, president of the American Smelting and Refining Company.

"Export buying of copper," said Mr. Guggenheim, "is running at a satisfactory rate with the trend toward an increase. The domestic situation, likewise, shows every indication of improvement. With the price of copper more definitely established around current levels, the demand should continue more than sufficient to absorb production. In general, I consider the outlook for the copper industry highly satisfactory."

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Union Oil Issues After a Spectacular Turnover Close Session at Firm Levels

Union Oil issues, traded in a larger volume than all the rest of the market put together, dominated operations on the week's opening session yesterday of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Both issues, Union Oil Company and Union Oil Associates, fluctuated in a 2-point range reaching the high around noon and receding after the announcement of the quarterly 1 per cent stock dividend which was declared in addition to the regular quarterly cash dividend.

Union Oil Company opened at 55, dropped to 54 and after swinging up to 55 3-8 again reacted, falling to 53 3-4 and ended the session at 54 1-8, up 3-8 net. Union Associates moved in a similar fashion and after ranging between 55½ and 53½ closed at 54, off ½ net, after a transfer of 6900 shares. The former was traded to the extent of 15,800 shares.

The balance of the market responded favorably to a generally strong undertone, with the oil shares subjected to the greater portion of the demand. Standard of California swung up 2 1-8 points to 76 3-8 and Richfield jumped 1 1-4 points to 40. Rio Grande firmed up 1-8 to 28 1-4 and Pacific Western, ½ to 22.

Southern California Edison continued a leader of the market activity and after reaching 84 3-4 closed at 83 1-8, off 3-8 net. Pacific Public Service advanced 1 1-4 to 22 1-4 on light sales.

Pacific Finance traded rapidly and advanced 2½ points to 153 and the rights moved up 20 cents to 3.25. Pacific American Fire jumped 4 1-4 points to 74 and International Re-Insurance firmed up a point to 61. Security-First National and California Bank strengthened fractionally.

Sales totaled 44,473 shares, valued at $2,251,167; previous day, 19,046 shares, valued at $1,080,538.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Conflicting opinions regarding the outlook for the oil industry brought the only spurt of activity witnessed on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today. Favorable commission house advices were credited with lifting oil issues 1 to 2 points.

Union Oil of California was a leader in the improvement in oil shares, its turnover being the heaviest of the entire list. Union closed at 54⅜, a gain of ⅜ of a point. Union Associates followed with the big company's flurry, but settled to 54, even with the close of Saturday. Activity in these issues was influenced by declaration of an extra stock dividend of 1 per cent in addition to the regular cash dividend of 50 cents quarterly, net profits also showed an increase despite the clouds of overproduction hanging over the industry.

Other oil issues moved higher, North American showing the largest gain of 2½ points net at 25 after dripping to 22½. Offices of the company revealed no reason for the advance, a pessimistic attitude being held as to the near term prospects, although it was admitted that the ultimate story should be more optimistic. Montgomery Street reflected more optimism than was justified over the bringing in of a new well in Maricopa Flats, North America's officers said.

Standard Oil of California was another upward leader, closing two points higher at 76⅜. Shell, Honolulu and Richfield gained ⅛ each.

The reverse side of the oil situation was reflected in a 25-point drop in Bank of California, which owns lands in the Kettleman Hills from which disappointing reports have emanated recently. Only ten shares changed hands at the day's low, 385.

Transamerica, always among the leaders in turnover, showed but ¼ of a point fluctuation, opening at 63¾, rising to 64 and falling back to hold steady at the opening price. Moderate activity in Caterpillar Tractor accompanied reports of testing a new model grader, but price fluctuation was inconsequential, as was that of practically all of the remaining issues.

Investors Association advanced to a new high at 63½ in the late trading. Union Sugar touched a new low at 9 but closed at 9½, down ½. Total sales were 56,320 shares, of $2,388,842 market value. Bond sales were 9000. Trading was the lightest for many weeks.

Midwest Chain Annexed by Fox

WICHITA (Kan.) Oct. 7. (AP)—L. M. Miller, president of the Consolidated Amusement Company and the Midwest Theaters, comprising motion-picture showhouses in Kansas and Missouri, announced today the sale of controlling interest in all properties of both chains to the William Fox interests.

The deal was said to have involved $3,500,000.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Claude Neon Electrical Products, stimulated by the announcement by officials of the company that an increase in the dividend is scheduled, overshadowed trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday and on sales of 8800 shares shot up 5 points to 57. The last sale crossed the board at 56 1-4. Brokers were asking 47 1-2 for the stock last Friday.

Gladding McBean was the second most active issue and with more than 2000 shares changing hands jumped 3 1-2 points to a high at 91 and closed the session at 89 1-4, up 2 3-4 net. The action was attributed to a revival of the rumors that the company would buy up a large eastern brick manufacturing concern.

Intercoast Trading rallied 7-8 to 31, Diamond Electric 1 1-2 points to 59 1-4, Electrical Products of Washington, 1-2 to 24 1-4; Pokker, 1 3-4 to 38, and Hancock Oil, 7-8 to 20 3-4. Consolidated Steel preferred was a feature of the market with a turnover of 1200 shares under which it advanced 1-4 to 27 1-4. The stock has convertible features.

Samson Tire and Rubber slumped 2 3-8 points to 13 1-4 and Kreutzer broke 40 cents to 1.10.

Sales totaled 89,279 shares, valued at $931,145; previous day, 68,310 shares, valued at $228,222.

THE LARGEST PRODUCER
of Evaporated Milk in the World

WITH an annual sales volume of approximately $40,000,000, the Carnation Milk Products Co. ranks as the largest producer of evaporated milk in the world. Through a large sales organization, products are marketed in all parts of the United States and Canada, and through subsidiaries of affiliated companies, in 55 foreign countries.

This powerful company has just acquired a controlling interest in Albers Bros., Milling Co.—the largest cereal millers on the Pacific Coast. The latter concern will not lose its identity, but will continue operating as a subsidiary. It is expected numerous operating economies will be effected, and Albers Bros.' products will be distributed through the world-wide Carnation sales organization.

For a seasoned first mortgage investment backed by this strong ownership and management, we offer

Net Income of Leading Rails at Record High

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) The class-one railroads in the first eight months of the year earned the record net railway operating income of $827,734,000, according to a statement issued by the Bureau of Railway Economics today. This total was an increase of 20.6 per cent from the $686,981,000 earned in the same period last year. The report is based on returns by 180 class-one roads operating 241,567 miles of line.

Gross revenues in the eight months increased 5.6 per cent to $4,208,393,000. Operating expenses increased 2.1 per cent to $3,031,026,000.

Net operating income of the roads in August totaled $141,436,000, an increase of 10.1 per cent from the $128,435,000 earned in August, 1928. Gross revenues increased 5 per cent to $586,563,000. Expenses increased 2.9 per cent to $395,686,000.

The much greater increases in net reported by the roads compared to the increases in gross, again showed that the carriers were in a position where they were able to retain a high percentage of new business.

Eastern railroads in the eight months had a net operating income of $434,845,000 against $353,852,000 in the same period last year.

Western roads earned net operating income of $304,399,000 against $250,983,000 in the same period last year.

Protection
No Investor Can Afford to Overlook

DIVERSIFICATION IS A FACTOR that no investor can afford to overlook. It costs nothing; yet properly applied, constitutes one of the surest protections for an investment fund.

AFFORDING THE SOUTHERN California tax-exempt bond buyer an opportunity for sound geographical diversification, our current list includes a number of carefully selected 1911 Act, 1915 Act and Acquisition and Improvement District Bonds, yielding 6% to 6½% tax exempt, and issued by the cities of Berkeley, Palo Alto and other established Northern California communities.

Common Stock (no par value)	300,000 shares	150,000 shares

NO FUNDED DEBT

The Preferred Stock is entitled to 8% Cumulative Dividends from date of issue. This stock is preferred over the Common Stock as to assets and dividends, and is redeemable, at any time, at the option of the Company, at par, plus 3%, and accrued dividends. The Common Stock is entitled to all earnings after payment of Preferred Dividends, and holds all the voting power unless dividends remain unpaid on Preferred Stock for two consecutive years, in which case each share of Preferred Stock is entitled to one vote.

Business: International Live Stock Feed Mills, an Arizona corporation, was organized to manufacture and sell a balanced ration for live stock, including beef and dairy cattle, hogs, sheep, horses, rabbits and chickens.

The formulae to be used by this Company were originally developed by President Christensen and his associates, originators and first manufacturers in the U. S. of a balanced feed for live stock; and who, through intensive and highly successful study, research, experimental feeding and actual fattening of live stock for 22 years, have developed what is today recognized as one of the very best products of the kind in the country—Tarkio Feed.

The product is a molasses feed, mixed with cotton seed products and various grains, containing about 83% nutriment, which greatly improves the quality of beef cattle and increases both milk and butterfat in dairy cattle.

Fattening live stock on balanced rations of this character is strongly endorsed by the U. S. government, agricultural colleges, and all the big packing houses and live stock commission companies.

Owing to high freight rates, Tarkio Feed has not been shipped to the Pacific Coast; and at the urgent request of men active in the live stock industry in California, Mr. Christensen agreed to form this separate company to manufacture the same type of feed in Los Angeles.

The demand for meat and dairy products in California has become so great, with a corresponding increase in cattle, sheep and hogs raised in this State, there should be an ever increasing market for this Company's products.

Plant and Property: The Company has purchased, at a most advantageous price, an eight-acre site, located on the Los Angeles Junction Railroad, at 61st Street and Eastern Avenue, in the Central Manufacturing and Union Stock Yards District, with ample transportation facilities for both rail and truck.

Upon this site there is now nearing completion one of the best equipped feed mills in the U. S., having an initial capacity of 400 tons per day, constructed under supervision of P. J. Walker & Co., building superintendents, with Hamm, Grant & Bruner as architects and engineers, and Jno. R. Gray Engineering Co. as millwrights.

This plant will be ready for operation the latter part of October; and ample provision has been made in the Company's present financing to double the mill's capacity without increasing the authorized capital.

Management: The operating management will be under the active supervision and direction of Mr. J. A. Christensen, President, whose long experience, ability and success in this business is best reflected by the striking growth and large profits of the original Tarkio Feed Company of Kansas City, founded by Mr. Christensen and associates 22 years ago.

Starting with an original investment of only $30,000, the original Tarkio Company (with which Mr. Christensen has been continuously identified since its inception) has earned and paid over two thousand per cent (2000%) in cash dividends, besides increasing its value more than another two thousand per cent (2000%) over the original investment.

Board of Directors: Associated with Mr. Christensen in directing the Company's affairs will be the following officers and directors, among whom, and certain of their associates, $125,000.00 of the stock herein set forth has already been subscribed on the same basis as that stipulated in this public offering:

DRIFT OF PRICES IRREGULARLY UP

York banks were said to be almost entirely out of debt at the Federal Reserve, which was attributed to the liquidation of brokerage loans in the market collapse of last week, and the completion of the month-end settlements.

The brokerage-loan figures this Thursday are eagerly awaited as an indication of whether stock has actually been passing from weak to strong hands. Experience of the past few years has shown that during a definite and sound rally, loans have tended to decline, although stock prices advanced, indicating that investors and powerful interests were actively accumulating stocks.

Bankers still see no indications of more than momentary improvement in the money market. Arthur Reynolds, head of the Continental Illinois Bank, stated that he saw no prospect of easy money in the near future, and that the huge total of brokers' loans had in a measure depleted the money market.

UNEASINESS NOTED

Wall street remained somewhat uneasy over the market. The rally has been too rapid to suit conservative traders and a secondary reaction is predicted in some quarters. Also, it is pointed out that there may still be a huge volume of support stock to be unloaded. There is a widespread tendency to look for a quiet and highly selective market during coming weeks.

Chemical stocks were once more the high-fliers, with Columbian Carbon soaring 38 points to a new peak at 338, and closing at 330. Air Reduction and United States Industrial Alcohol gained about 9 and 12 points. Eastman Kodak and National Biscuit were outstanding strong spots, also rising about 9 and 12 points, and to unprecedented levels. Ingersoll Rand jumped 15 points to a new peak. Utilities were less active, but American and Foreign Power rose more than 11 points. Westinghouse Manufacturing jumped 14 points and Remington-Rand reached another new top on optimistic earnings estimates.

ATCHISON JUMPS

Atchison led the rails, mounting 12 points, aided by an excellent August earnings statement. Chesapeake and Ohio, Rock Island, Delaware and Hudson, Reading, Union Pacific and St. Louis Southwestern sold up from 5 to 9 points and gains of 2 to 4 points were common throughout the carrier group. Standard of New Jersey again led the oils, selling up more than 4 points to within a couple of points of its record in a turnover of approximately 250,000 shares. Royal Dutch was also heavily accumulated.

Steels in general failed to make headway. United States Steel sold off 3½ points at one time, but regained its loss and closed more than a point higher. Radio was also under pressure and closed off a fraction. Most of the motors were steady to firm, but General Motors sagged fractionally and Hudson slipped back about 3 points. The American Tobacco shares lost about 7 points in profit taking on their sharp rise Saturday.

Commodities were irregular. Wheat closed about ⅛ a cent lower on bearish crop estimates and corn lost more than a cent on fine harvesting weather. Cotton was quiet pending the government crop report due tomorrow but closed firm, 25 to 55 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges were somewhat mixed, but sterling was firm, with cables rising to $4.86 3-16, the high of the year.

UNION OIL TO PAY IN STOCK

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Trading on yesterday's fair supply was not very active; however, a good clearance was made by late afternoon. Only a small proportion of the supply was steers, most of the run being cows and heifers. More than half of the supply arrived from the intermountain States, Arizona and Texas, largely from the Utah-Idaho section. The market was very uneven, mostly steady to 25c lower, she stock showing the most downturn.

Half a load of 1071-pound steers topped at 10.90, with a load of 1070-pound averages at 10.75. The bulk of steers, common and medium kind, sold from 9.25@10.50, the latter price for four cars of 987-pound Imperials, as well as loads of Utahs and Idahos. Two loads of plain holdover Mexicans made 7.75, with other Mexicans from 9.00@9.50.

Three loads of medium and good Utah heifers cashed from 9.25@9.50, with plain heifers down to 8.00. A car of good 1130-pound Idaho cows topped at 8.85, while the bulk of medium and good cows, mostly northerns, sold from 8.00@8.60. Common and low medium cows sold from 7.00@8.00, including light weight Arizona and Texas cows from 7.50@8.00. Cutters and low cutters sold mostly from 3.00@6.25. A few good bulls sold around 8.25, with common and medium bulls from 7.00@8.00.

CALVES—A good clearance was made of the small supply at generally steady prices. A short load of good 151-pound vealers made 14.00, with odd head higher. Plain vealers and calves turned from 10.00@12.75, with very thin kind down to 8.00.

HOGS—Active demand developed and a good clearance was made of the liberal supply. Three loads were still unsold. Prices were unevenly 25@40c lower, late sales reflecting the full decline. Two cars of good Nebraska butchers with a freight benefit made 12.00, while the practical top was 11.90. The majority of desirable 145 to 205-pound butchers sold from 11.50@11.90, while loads of mixed underweights cleared from 11.25@11.40, with pigs and weighty butchers in small lots down to 10.00. Packing sows went over mostly from 9.00@9.50, a few light butcher sows making 9.75, with rough heavies at 8.50.

SHEEP—The two cars of lambs offered today were still unsold. The general market was quoted steady to weak. Medium to choice lambs were quoted from 10.50@12.50, with medium to choice ewes from 4.75@6.25.

HISTORY
Repeats Itself

In 1864, just 39 years after the development of the steam railway, the invention of the Pullman car revolutionized the railway industry by making night travel popular.

The introduction of the Pickwick Nitecoach today promises a similar effect on highway transportation. Providing luxurious sleeping accommodations for 26 passengers, the Nitecoach makes possible night travel in comfort with the same economy responsible for the rapid growth of the stage industry.

Every far-sighted investor will want to know more about the securities of Pickwick Nitecoach Corporation, Ltd. Call, phone or write for a circular.

CAPITALIZATION

The authorized issue of Common shares represents the only type of capital.

The shareholders have full voting rights.

The directors, officers and bankers are receiving no bonus or management shares from the Company, but will receive through the bankers, options which have been given to the bankers, in consideration of their payment of all preliminary organization expenses and taxes in connection with the formation of the company and the issuance of the original shares. These options are to purchase all or any part of 2,000,000 Common shares of this Corporation from time to time at the following prices, to wit: On or before August 1, 1932, at $12.50 per share, thereafter and on or before August 1, 1935, at $14.00 per share, and at any time after August 1, 1935, at $15.00 per share until August 1, 1939, with proper provisions to prevent dilution of the value of the options.

PURPOSE

The Railroad Shares Corporation now owns and will acquire additional securities of Railroad corporations, of holding companies owning shares of railroad operating companies, and/or corporations or companies* engaged in any business incidental to or doing a substantial portion of its business with one or more corporations or companies engaged in the railroad business in the United States of America and/or Dominion of Canada. All proceeds received from the sale of these Common shares by the Corporation will be devoted to the purchase of securities of this type.

MANAGEMENT

The officers and directors will include executives and directors of railroad operating and allied companies and will also include members of leading public utility and banking interests in the financial centers of the country. Through these men the Corporation will be enabled to keep in closer touch with important railroad situations than would be possible with the management vested in any one organization.

ASSETS

The Corporation's portfolio includes, at cost, securities of many of the country's great railroad systems and of corporations doing a substantial portion of their business with such railroad systems. The Corporation is restricted by vote to invest not over 10% of its assets in the securities of any one company, to make no investments in companies whose only property is under construction and not to purchase the control of any operating property. Shareholders are assured of the Corporation's funds being at all times invested in a well diversified list of such approved securities of established standing, a partial list of which will be found below.

CORPORATION INCOME

The Corporation's Income is not subject to any management fee.

The income is derived from interest, cash dividends, stock dividends, rights and realized profits, which will accrue to this Corporation for the benefit of the Common shareholders and which will be distributed in accordance with the dividend policy of the Corporation.

DIVIDEND POLICY

The dividend policy of this Corporation is to distribute in cash dividends, cash received from cash dividends, interest, and a reasonable proportion of the net trading profits. The balance, together with stock dividends and rights received and realized on, will be used to further build up the surplus of the Corporation against which stock dividends may be issued from time to time.

CONCLUSION

The great strides made by railroads in the last few years and by companies or corporations doing business with these railroad systems in the elimination of costly methods of operation and the substitution therefor of efficient management make the securities of this essential industry attractive to investors.

We believe that the precedent established in the O'Fallon decision will be far-reaching in its effect in making possible a clear understanding as to what will be the ultimate returns of earnings of railroad corporations.

We believe that the securities of these corporations, at the present time, have a better opportunity to show to the holders a real possibility for appreciation and increased yield in the future, and that the present prices, present earnings and present dividend rates will all reflect the improved conditions under which the railroads are now operating.

Likewise it is expected by executives of these great systems that ultimately great consolidations will take place in the United States of America and/or Canada which will advantageously affect the future earnings of railroad companies. The development of electrification of rails we feel will also expedite traffic and increase the earnings per ton mile with advantage to the shareholders. With the ownership of shares of Railroad Shares Corporation the holder may expect an interest in the entire railroad situation in the United States of America and Dominion of Canada.

*The Corporation is restricted by vote to invest not over 30% of its assets in the securities of companies coming within this classification.

Railroad Shares Corporation owns and will acquire securities of the following corporations and other similar leading railroad and allied corporations approved from time to time:

As the major part of the company's assets consists of cash and collateral loans receivable it is in a position to take advantage of the present favorable opportunities to acquire additional amounts of these securities. Many of those securities now owned have been acquired at near the low prices for the year.

Investment Counselors for over a Quarter Century

When Reaction Sets In—

It is in periods of reaction that the value of investment counsel becomes most strikingly apparent.

You can easily have the profits of weeks or months wiped out if you have inadvertently become over-extended, have purchased speculative stocks, have accepted unauthoritative advice.

It is the business, and the duty, of an organization such as Brookmire to take every means to prevent these things from interfering with clients' investment progress.

It is dangerous to try to "go it alone".

We have set up comprehensive research facilities; and in every possible way provided a Service which you, as a careful investor, can use to help eliminate the sharp and frequently disastrous set backs, which individuals trying to "go it alone" experience all too frequently.

We would like the opportunity of letting you see what this Service is and how you can use it. Without obligation you can secure a copy of our recently prepared "Broader View Program", an outline of Brookmire Service, and our current bulletin on security trends.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—The recovery in curb prices, which started last Saturday, was extended today under the stimulus of easier money rates, but sufficient new points of heaviness cropped out to give the market the appearance of irregularity throughout most of the session. Public utilities, oils and specialties led the advance, gains of 1 to 10 points being scattered over a fairly broad list, with larger advances in a few ordinarily inactive specialties.

Trading was only moderately heavy in volume, the day's sales running just above 1,500,000 shares. Extension of the curb ticker service to several southwestern and southern cities today resulted in some new business from these points.

Public utilities rebounded in brisk fashion. Commonwealth Edison jumped 35 points on a few sales. Standard Power and Light, Middle West Utilities and American and Foreign Power warrants showed net gains of more than 10 points. Electric Bond and Share closed 3½ points higher. Cities Service moved up 1¼ points to another new high record at 63. Dixie with a gain of nearly 2 points, led the advance in the gas stocks.

Oils were in brisk demand at rising prices. Gulf, Humble, Lion and Standard Oils of Indiana, Kansas and Kentucky closed 1 to 3 points higher. The recent falling off in crude oil production has brought fresh buying into the oil group.

Marine & Midland, the new $60,000,000 bank holding company which made its official appearance today, sold between 73 and 77¾, as contrasted with the offering price of 60. The stock previously had sold as high as 88 in trading on the produce exchange.

Gleaner Combine Harvester dropped 10 points despite the announcement that directors intended to split-up the stock. New low records for the year were established by Allied Aviation, Crystal Oil Refining, Goldberg Stores, Ross Gear, Skinner Organ, Southwest Stores and Universal Pictures.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Schulte-United to Offer Rights

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Directors of Schulte-United Stores, Inc., authorized today a $10,000,000 issue of fifteen-year 7 per cent bonds, which will be offered to preferred stockholders. Each holder of preferred stock is given the right to purchase one $100 bond at 70 for every share of such stock owned. David A. Schulte, chairman of the board, has agreed to purchase on the same terms, all or part of the bond issue that may not be subscribed for by preferred stockholders.

The proceeds of the bond issue, it was announced, will be used to carry out the company's expansion program. It was announced that fifty-one stores have been acquired or opened in the United States and Canada since September, 1928, while thirty-six women's ready-to-wear stores have been opened or acquired in the United States in that time; the ready-to-wear stores are managed by Millers, Inc., and subsidiaries, 75 per cent of the stock of which is owned by Schulte-United.

Investment Counselors for over a Quarter Century

When Reaction Sets In—

It is in periods of reaction that the value of investment counsel becomes most strikingly apparent.

You can easily have the profits of weeks or months wiped out if you have inadvertently become over-extended, have purchased speculative stocks, have accepted unauthoritative advice.

It is the business, and the duty, of an organization such as Brookmire to take every means to prevent these things from interfering with clients' investment progress.

It is dangerous to try to "go it alone".

We have set up comprehensive research facilities; and in every possible way provided a Service which you, as a careful investor, can use to help eliminate the sharp and frequently disastrous set backs, which individuals trying to "go it alone" experience all too frequently.

We would like the opportunity of letting you see what this Service is and how you can use it. Without obligation you can secure a copy of our recently prepared "Broader View Program", an outline of Brookmire Service, and our current bulletin on security trends.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—The recovery in curb prices, which started last Saturday, was extended today under the stimulus of easier money rates, but sufficient new points of heaviness cropped out to give the market the appearance of irregularity throughout most of the session. Public utilities, oils and specialties led the advance, gains of 1 to 10 points being scattered over a fairly broad list, with larger advances in a few ordinarily inactive specialties.

Trading was only moderately heavy in volume, the day's sales running just above 1,500,000 shares. Extension of the curb ticker service to several southwestern and southern cities today resulted in some new business from these points.

Public utilities rebounded in brisk fashion. Commonwealth Edison jumped 35 points on a few sales. Standard Power and Light, Middle West Utilities and American and Foreign Power warrants showed net gains of more than 10 points. Electric Bond and Share closed 3½ points higher. Cities Service moved up 1¼ points to another new high record at 63. Dixie with a gain of nearly 2 points, led the advance in the gas stocks.

Oils were in brisk demand at rising prices. Gulf, Humble, Lion and Standard Oils of Indiana, Kansas and Kentucky closed 1 to 3 points higher. The recent falling off in crude oil production has brought fresh buying into the oil group.

Marine & Midland, the new $60,000,000 bank holding company which made its official appearance today, sold between 73 and 77¾, as contrasted with the offering price of 60. The stock previously had sold as high as 88 in trading on the produce exchange.

Gleaner Combine Harvester dropped 10 points despite the announcement that directors intended to split-up the stock. New low records for the year were established by Allied Aviation, Crystal Oil Refining, Goldberg Stores, Ross Gear, Skinner Organ, Southwest Stores and Universal Pictures.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

BY PORTER FLINT

To conform with lease requirements, the Standard Oil Company is preparing site for the Santa Barbara County No. 1 to be drilled on a 318-acre lease embracing the county farm a short distance north of the Palisades field recently prospected by a number of operators.

Standard's test is located on the northeast quarter of Sec. 11, 4-28, and is halfway between Santa Barbara and Goleta, where activity is already on the increase. It will spud in by November 1.

Negotiations were closed a month ago between Standard and the County Board of Supervisors of Santa Barbara county. The bid offered one-sixth of all the income from oil or other hydrocarbon products developed on the farm as payment for the lease.

Development Increases

A further extension of the southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field appears quite likely because of the drilling campaign started following successful completion of the State Company's Sievers No. 1 near the intersection of State and Freemont streets.

The Plymouth Oil Company is preparing foundation for its No. 9 project near the corner of Twentieth and Ohio streets, and has nineteen other lots in the same general vicinity for prospecting purposes.

Bixby & McAdams's No. 1 is drilling below 1925 feet near the intersection of Temple street and Park Lane and one block north of it Otis Hoyt's No. 8 is rigging up.

The MacMillan Petroleum Corporation plugged back to 6290 feet in its No. 5, two blocks east of the State Company's producer, and is preparing to put it on the pump. It was originally drilled to 7000 feet. The Lewis No. 1 of Bawco, Inc., is drilling in oil sand below 6395 feet.

The Petroleum Securities Company's Graham No. 1 is drilling in hard sand at 3187 feet, and its Davis No. 1 is in sandy shale below 5008 feet. The Richfield Oil Company's Green No. 5 near the Sievers No. 1 is drilling in brown shale below 7251 feet.

The latest producer to extend the southeasterly portion of that area is the Petrolo Syndicate's Meyer No. 1. It is nine blocks southeast of the Sievers No. 1 and is putting out about 550 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 6890 feet.

The Bell View Syndicate's Lewis No. 1 near the intersection of Obispo and State streets, is coring in oil sand below 7141 feet. Near it the State Company is building derrick for Stoll No. 1 and may spud in within a week.

Preparing Location

The Keystone Petroleum Company is moving in material and equipment for a test to be drilled on a 950-acre lease in Kern county. The test is located on Sec. 18, 28-22 and the same section prospected several years ago by the Zurich Oil Company.

Rigging Up

The Rio Grande Oil Company is rigging up Mosesian No. 1 wildcat on Sec. 14, 13-17 in Fresno county. The test is located on an extensive lease west of Kerman, and near core holes drilled by the Associated Oil Company several years ago.

At Maricopa Flat, Rio Grande's Leuholtz No. 1 has ten and three-quarter-inch casing cemented at 491 feet with bottom at 4993 feet and will make a production test this week. Nearly fifty feet of oil sand is in evidence. Its Havenstrite No. 2 is rigging up near Havenstrite No. 1 producing 3700 barrels of oil per day.

On the Pump

The Invader Oil Company's deep test at Huntington Beach drilled to 6800 feet in search of production has been plugged back to 4800 feet and placed on the pump. It was originally producing from that depth about 100 barrels of oil per day. Oil showings were penetrated between 5700 and 5800 feet but no test of that formation was attempted.

New Test Spuds

The General Petroleum Corporation has spudded More No. 2 three miles southeast of Elwood, and is drilling ahead below 1000 feet.

General's More No. 1 proved to be unruly a few weeks ago when it blew in at 4533 feet and was killed and suspended because of the gas pressure. Reports were that an effort would be made to straighten the hole, but indications are now that it will be idle at least a year.

Making Test

Anderson & Garrison yesterday was trying to bring in Langman No. 1 on Patterson avenue at Goleta. Field reports stated that water was giving some trouble with bottom of the hole at 4600 feet. Approximately 100 feet of formation is in evidence.

Running Liner

The General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu No. 1 wildcat, eight miles west of Elwood, is to be given another test. Liner will be run and a test will be made this week. A few days ago this project produced at rate of 100 barrels of low gravity oil per day from a depth of 1395 feet.

The Shell Oil Company may drill another test in the same vicinity of General's Erburu No. 1. It will be drilled between the highway and the ocean west of Shell's Refugio No. 1 drilled to about 5000 feet in search of production.

Nearing Completion

The Continental Oil Company is preparing to bring in Bixby No. 29 at Seal Beach. Two-and one-half-inch liner has been run with bottom at 5500 feet, and completion may be today or tomorrow.

At Carpinteria Continental's Ballard No. 1 is sidetracking past twenty feet of six-inch drill pipe at 4495 feet. The fish interferes with progress by dropping into the hole and drilling is slow.

Standing Suspended

The Shell Oil Company's Armstrong No. 1 on Sec. 8, 22-18, on the north dome at Kettleman Hills is standing cemented with bottom of the hole at 7166 feet. This project is one of a group to be suspended pending present movement to conserve oil and gas in this State.

Plugs Back

The Texas Company was compelled to plug back in its Patterson No. 10-A at Santa Fe Springs because of lost core barrel with bottom at 8535 feet. This project was preparing for a production test when the fishing job delayed operations.

Sidetracking Down

The Ochsner No. 2 of the General Petroleum Corporation on Sec. 26, 22-18, on the north dome at Kettleman Hills, is sidetracking past three-inch drill pipe at 7128 feet, with bottom of the hole at 7321 feet.

Encyclopedia Americana Puts Total at More Than $1,500,000,000

With British investments in United States securities totaling more than $1,500,000,000, Great Britain is an important factor in the Wall-street market at all times, it is pointed out by the publishers of the Encyclopedia Americana, which estimates that investors in the United Kingdom have an income of more than $120,000,000 annually from the American securities they own.

This investment of British capital in this country greatly outstrips our investments in British industries, our long-term investments in England and Scotland being estimated at $750,000,00, or only half, it was stated.

SEABOARD UTILITIES IN OPERATING REPORT

Seaboard Utilities Shares Corporation yesterday reported earned surplus from realized profits and income on September 13, last, had increased to $454,819, and on September 27, last, to $604,770. Since August the number of shareholders increased over 5000, the present total being in excess of 16,000. The company's cash position enabled it to add to its holdings shares of many of the leading utilities of the country at prices which ruled during the recent break in the market, it was stated.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—On favorable news regarding the recent stabilization plan for the crude rubber between Dutch and English growers, futures on the local rubber exchange today resumed their upward trend after a slight setback, which occurred Saturday when plans for the scheme were denied by the secretary of the Rubber Growers' Association in London.

After a quiet opening here with prices unchanged to 20 points lower, deliveries became dull with traders assuming a waiting attitude on further developments of the plan until in the early afternoon.

The sudden demand for contracts on the exchange came chiefly from manufacturers, while a good deal of buying was for accounts which was thought to be short covering coming from the speculative element. Sales were 1030 contracts or 2575 long-tons.

London spot was steady and 1-16d at 9 13-16d, while the October position in Singapore declined 1-16 to 9 11-16. Outside spot here rose ⅜c to 20⅛c in a firm market.

We do things in a small way!

DOING THINGS IN A BIG WAY . . along the lines of Red Ink Expansion . . come too close to the line of Profitless Prosperity . . to suit the old-fashioned, small-town institution . . known as the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA.

We hold three State Records after 36½ years of thorough attention to the building and loan business, with but one loan loss in that period. There is no sniffy condescension in financial circles, is there, when you mention the MUTUAL OF POMONA?

WE HAVE NO GREED FOR HASTY GROWTH . . and we deliberately refuse new 6% accounts . . whenever our safe loan volume . . gets behind our growth-graph . . as has often happened.

Because we carry unlimited liability back of $3,000,000 paid-in capital, surplus and reserve. In our small-town, old-fashioned community, that responsibility is more potent than our greed for growth. And we're thoroughly substantial with $13,750,000 resources.

One hour's free parking is important enough, to us, to mention as being available for your visit to our 10th floor offices, in Los Angeles. Garage basement just south of 7th Street, on the West side of Spring Street. Take the elevator and we like to validate your ticket, as a small gesture of our pleasure in your call.

COUNTY PURCHASING AGENT GETS LEAVE

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 7.—W. M. Wiley, County Purchasing Agent and a civil engineer, has been given a six months' leave of absence by the Board of Supervisors, during which time he will assist as an irrigation expert for the Kern County Water Development Commission. Mrs. Juanita Vanderlie, assistant in the office for three years, has been appointed County Purchasing Agent to take over the duties of the office.

DIVORCES MADE FAMILY AFFAIR

Mother and Daughter Given Decrees Same Day and Latter Re-weds

RENO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Mother and daughter both obtained divorces at the same time today though in different departments of the District Court and the daughter was married immediately.

The mother is Mrs. Ella A. Sill, granted a decree from Seymour E. Sill of Buffalo, N. Y., on the ground of failure to provide. The daughter obtained a divorce from Richard Henry Means, son of a lawyer of Buffalo, N. Y., and was given permission to resume her maiden name of Sill, but only kept it a few minutes before becoming the bride of George F. Dehy, who gave his home address as Reno.

UNIONS IN SESSION AT TORONTO

President Green, A. F. of L., Invokes Cheers When He Mentions MacDonald

TORONTO (Ont.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Representatives of organized labor bodies all over the United States, assembling today with fraternal representatives of the Canadian and British labor movements, opened the forty-ninth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Two brief sessions enabled the formalities of organization, of committee appointments, and the acceptance of annual reports to be got out of the way of the protracted business sessions that will follow.

William Green, president of the federation, brought most of his audience to its feet when he digressed in the course of response to the welcoming speeches made the convention by Toronto city and Canadian Federal and provincial officials to mention the Washington visit of Ramsay MacDonald, British Premier. The union spokesman said he represented the unanimous sentiment of labor organizations in "wishing Premier MacDonald Godspeed on his mission," which he declared to have the purpose of "establishing instrumentalities of peace."

The applause which followed gave the gathering its most animated moment of the day.

Labor Shortage Not Yet Acute

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 7.—Although labor shortage reports continue to come in from various parts of the San Joaquin Valley, Miss Gladys Chadwick, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, stated this morning that as yet no acute labor condition exists here. A crew of 150 Chinese applied at the local chamber for work today.

Southern negroes, it is said, do not adapt themselves happily to local conditions, and so far have not proven a satisfactory solution of the cotton growers' labor problem. Mexicans, temperamentally and climatically suited to the San Joaquin Valley, according to F. J. Palomares, manager of the Agricultural Labor Bureau of the San Joaquin Valley, are finding it increasingly costly to cross the border, with demands for fees, head tax and vises, and sufficient money to pay his transportation into the valley and keep him for ninety days. The average Mexican laborer with that much money ahead doesn't usually care to find work, he said.

BAY CITIES JOIN ON ONE DIRIGIBLE SITE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Commercial and civic organizations throughout the bay counties today pledged unanimous support to the San Jose Chamber of Commerce in efforts to obtain location of the United States Navy dirigible base at Sunnyvale, north of San Jose. The chief problem before the bay group is to match San Diego's offer of 1000 acres for $1. There are 300 acres at Sunnyvale which can be offered the government for $1, but the lowest price cited for the remaining 700 acres needed is $460 per acre, it was reported.

SUFFRAGIST NOW AN EVANGELIST

Mrs. Pankhurst Practices on Second Coming of Christ in Canada Visit

MONTREAL, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Christabel Pankhurst, noted suffragist who was frequently on the front page of newspapers because of her violent tactics on behalf of the feminist movement in Britain just before the war, has changed her main interest in life. She has become an evangelist.

She arrived on this side of the water a few days ago, and last night appeared as special preacher in a Montreal Presbyterian Church. The second coming of Christ is her chief subject, and in her sermon she cited various "signs of the times" to support her belief that the second coming is imminent.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Témese Haya Habido Muchos Muertos en un Naufragio

TRONDHJEM (Noruega) Octubre 7.—Hoy decía un telegrama de Floroe que se teme hayan perecido ahogadas treinta y cinco personas en el hundimiento del vapor Haakon VII, que se fue a pique anoche, tras una colisión. Carece aún de pormenores del siniestro la compañía que explotaba el barco.

Mueren Tres en una Explosión a Bordo de un Buque

FILADELPHIA, Octubre 7.—Una explosión que se produjo hoy a bordo del vapor Eelbeck mató a tres hombres y lesionó a otros varios. El accidente, cuya causa no se ha podido averiguar, ocurrió en momentos en que se estaban haciendo algunas composturas en la cala del buque.

El Eelbeck pertenece a la Junta de Navegación de los Estados Unidos, y su agente es la compañía Charles A. Devlin, Inc., de Filadelfia. Arribó aquí ese barco el 24 de Septiembre, procedente de Santos (Brasil), con cargamento misceláneo.

El Coronel Roosevelt Presta Juramento como Gobernador

SAN JUAN (Puerto Rico) Octubre 7.—Apoyando la mano en la misma Biblia que sirvió a su padre para prestar juramento como Presidente de los Estados Unidos, juró hoy el coronel Theodore Roosevelt sostener las leyes de Puerto Rico y la constitución de los Estados Unidos, en su carácter de gobernador de esa isla.

El gobernador llegó con una hora de retraso, debido a vientos contrarios, y la ceremonia de toma de posesión se verificó, en parte, bajo uno tremendo aguacero.

Se Opone Enérgicamente a Ser Desahuciada

NUEVA YORK, Octubre 7.—En una vieja casa de Chelsea, en la que hace más de un siglo escribió el doctor Clement Moore su famoso poema de Navidad, "'Twas the night before Christmas" (Era Nochebuena), se ha hecho fuerte una mujer resuelta, que se propone no dejarse echar de su casa por las cuadrillas de demoledores.

Ya ha sido arrasada toda la manzana para levantar en ella un gran edificio de apartamientos, y sólo queda en pie, como una isla desolada, la casa que ocupa la señora Tillie Hart, tenedora de un contrato de arrendamiento que no expira sino hasta el próximo Junio. Pero los dueños creen poder desahuciarla, y ya tienen entablado juicio a ese efecto. Entretanto, las excavadoras de vapor siguen en su marcha, y mañana empezarán a rascar los muros de la casa de la señora Hart, cuyo servicio de agua está ya cortado, y cuyas habitaciones están llenas del polvo de las excavaciones. Pero la inquilina se mantiene firme.

Hoy Serán los Funerales de Jeanne Eagles

KANSAS CITY, Octubre 7.—El cuerpo de Jeanne Eagles, artista de las tablas y de la pantalla, descansa está noche en Kansas City, su tierra natal. Mañana por la mañana se celebrarán aquí los funerales de la actriz, que, desde los 5 años de edad se metió cómica ambulante de la antigua escuela, y que más adelante, trabajó en compañías locales en Kansas City.

Anoche llegó aquí el cuerpo de la señorita Eagles, fallecida el jueves en Nueva York. Lo acompañaba su hermana Helen Elaine Eagles.

NOTAS LOCALES

Se Ensanchará el Bulevar de Santa Mónica

El bulevar de Santa Mónica, entre las avenidas de La Brea y de Fairfax, va a ser de setenta y dos, en vez de sesenta pies de ancho, como se había propuesto en los proyectos de mejoras que se están estudiando ahora.

Así lo decidió ayer la Junta de "Supervisors", al votar porque se abandonaran los antiguos juicios, y se entablaran nuevos a efecto de expropiar diez pies de propiedad particular a ambos lados de la calle. Las aceras serán de catorce pies de ancho.

El Señor Hawthorne Sale Rumbo al Norte

V. R. Hawthorne, secretario de la sección mecánica de la Sociedad de Ferrocarriles Norteamericanos, pasó el día de ayer en el Hotel Alexandria. Va camino de Bornbrooke y Eugene (Oregon), con el fin de presenciar las experiencias que están haciendo los ferrocarriles con frenos y otros órganos de material móvil.

Los experimentos van a hacerse, según dijo este señor, en cuestas de la región del monte Shasta, con trenes de mercancías de cincuenta, ciento y ciento cincuenta vagones. Cree que van a resultar de ellos notables mejoras en punto a seguridad y eficiencia.

Se Aplaude al Director de una Orquesta de "Jazz"

Ted Lewis, director de orquesta de "jazz", manejó anoche la batuta en Coccoanut Grove, dirigiendo a sus Payasos Musicales, que aparecen por primera vez en el Oeste como orquesta de baile. El programa se compuso de números típicos de Lewis.

Personajes conocidos del mundo de los teatros y de los cines estuvieron a escuchar a Lewis en su estreno de anoche, y le felicitaron vivamente.

THREATS SENT CULT ACCUSER

Dabney Guarded Following Promises of Death

[illegible] Secret Graves Being Sought by Police

Police guards were placed at the home of Clifford R. Dabney last night to prevent the possible carrying out of death threats received by him during the day from members of the Divine Order of the Royal Arms of the Great Eleven.

Twelve of the ominous letters were received yesterday by Dabney at his home at 315 North Oxford avenue, he told police when he telephoned his urgent demand for protection for himself, his family and his property, and said that he feared bodily harm from the cult members.

Dabney became the target for the threats on the part of the religious followers of Mrs. May Otis Blackburn and Mrs. Ruth Angeline Wieland Rizzio, so-called "high priestess" and medium, after the two women were jailed on grand theft charges and a subsequent investigation uncovered the body of Willa Rhoads in a secret crypt.

The letters declare Dabney to be the cause of the police examination into the various rites and beliefs of the cult, through his breaking away from the order and the filing of civil suits to collect some $44,000 he had advanced to carry on the organization.

"HUSBANDS" HUNTED

Other developments yesterday as police sought to unravel the startling story of cult practices over a period of four years, brought to a climax by the discovery of the hidden body of the 16-year-old girl, were:

(1) Search instituted for two asserted husbands of Mrs. Ruth Angeline Wieland Rickenbaugh-Rizzio, asserted high official of the cult, who with her mother, Mrs. Blackburn, is held in the County Jail.

(2) Revelations of the definite split in the ranks of the followers of the two women with the filing of civil suits in August by Clifford R. Dabney, who had been advancing funds to the order for a period of four years.

BURIAL GROUNDS HUNTED

(3) William Rhoads, father of Willa, accompanied police investigators to various headquarters and homes of the members of the cult in a hunt for possible secret burying grounds and to question cult members at the 5605 Hollywood Boulevard headquarters.

(4) Police investigators visited colony in Santa Susana Mountains and discovered "gold throne room," several families of followers of the cult, and graves of "sacrificed mules."

(5) Graves found at Santa Susana ordered excavated by homicide squad of Sheriff's office to discover if human beings were buried following death on the mountain top.

(6) Mrs. Martha Rhoads, foster mother of Willa Rhoads, whose body was found buried beneath the family home at Venice Sunday, was questioned again yesterday by Dep. [illegible] Kearney, but told the same story that she gave investigators, maintaining that the girl died of natural causes.

MILLER FACES QUIZ

(7) Floyd Miller, caretaker of the Santa Susana settlement, will be brought to Los Angeles for questioning. Officers charge that when they questioned Miller a few days ago he expressed suspicions concerning the disappearance of several members, but denied that he knew anything about it. Since then, the investigators assert, they have found information which leads them to believe that Miller assisted in the burial of the Rhoads girl beneath the Venice cottage.

(8) The woman leaders of the religious group in the County Jail maintained a striking silence yesterday and refused to discuss the activities of their organization in any way. They declared they were acting under the instructions of their attorney, Thomas Wade Cochrane, who has been retained to defend them in the civil suits and criminal complaint.

POISON SOUGHT IN BODY

(9) Chemical search for poison in the body of Willa Rhoads was begun by Coroner's Chemist Abernethy yesterday. The analysis was ordered by the coroner when police learned that suspicious circumstances surrounded the death of the

Occupant of Cult Temple

Suggested for Throne

Merrett Wooddell, "King of Peace" of the strange cult, holding object known by members as the "Light of God."

CULT MYSTERIES REVEALED

Guarded Mountain "Temple" Occupied by Man Awaiting Ordination as Second Messiah

A golden throne, guarded by an armed negro; the graves of two sacrificed mules; four "sacred" horses and a man to whom it has been suggested that he will occupy the throne as a second divine healer.

These were the highlights discovered by investigators late yesterday when they invaded the Santa Susana mountain stronghold of the cult now under investigation following the death and preservation of the body of 16-year-old Willa Rhoads.

High up on a peak at the western end of Santa Susana Pass the crescent-shaped "temple" of the cult commands a view of the religious colony's dozen cabins.

Its windows and glass doors were shrouded with blankets and on the steep path leading to its entrance a negro blocked the way. He barricaded himself within and threatened a group of newspaper men with a pistol before the arrival of Thomas Wade Cochrane, attorney for Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, high priestess of the cult, now in jail on a grand theft charge.

ROOM REVEALED

Cochrane ordered the negro to open the "temple," revealing one long living-room and beyond this the "inner shrine," filled with the giant golden throne and six other pieces of furniture.

The throne; two seven-foot-high dressing tables; a tall stand lamp supporting a carved lion's head; a square stool; a sumptuous divan covered with gold colored satin and a similarly covered overstuffed chair were crowded in the room.

These pieces, each built of heavy gumwood, comprise the "Lord's furniture set" and are to be used when Mrs. Blackburn designates the man she asserts will become the second Messiah, it was declared by Merritt Wooddell, young "King of Peace" in the cult, who admitted that other cult members have told him he may be designated to occupy the throne and use the furniture.

Wooddell talked freely and admitted that two mules had been shot and buried on orders of Mrs. Black-

HEARING BY OIL-AND-GAS CHIEF ENDS

Final Draft of Contract Concerning Repressuring of Fields Expected Today

Public hearings before R. A. Bush, State oil-and-gas supervisor, seeking information regarding the co-operative operation of three major oil fields and the repressuring of gas in underground storage, were concluded yesterday morning.

The hearing was a continuation of the meeting of September 24. Former Judge E. D. Reiter, chairman of the independent oil operators' committee, stated:

"Our committee is to have a meeting with representatives of neighboring companies at 10 a.m. Tuesday, which probably will result in the final draft of a contract which will be submitted for your approval. A number of the executives of the Standard Oil Company are down here from San Francisco and we feel that something definite will be done at tomorrow morning's meeting. We had hoped to have had the conference this morning prior to this hearing, but it could not be arranged. I can see no advantage in the further continuance of the public hearing."

Although there were thirty persons present yesterday morning, no one responded to Mr. Bush's request for further expression of opinions.

EVANGELIST OUSTS AIDE

Mrs. McPherson Dismisses Dr. John Goben and Revokes His Call to District Leaders

Summary dismissal yesterday of Dr. John Goben, assistant pastor of Angelus Temple, by Aimee Semple McPherson and the revocation of a call for a meeting in Los Angeles of the ten district managers climaxed the feud which has been raging in the church during the past week between Mrs. McPherson and her assistant.

Asserting that he has been unfaithful to his trust and disloyal to supreme authorities and that he has created dissension in the ranks of the church membership, Mrs. McPherson moved quickly in retaliation to Goben's defy, issued Sunday evening.

At that time the assistant pastor announced that he had wired all ten district or divisional managers to report to Los Angeles at once and settle the matter of authority, which Goben held had been usurped by Mrs. McPherson.

The following communication was issued by Mrs. McPherson yesterday relative to the discharge of the pastor:

"I, Aimee Semple McPherson, president of the International Four Square Gospel Lighthouse, Inc., a California corporation, do by this instrument, under and by virtue of the authority given me under the given laws of the said corporation, discharge and remove from office Rev. John Goben, director of organization of said corporation, on the ground that the said John Goben has been unfaithful to his trust, has been disloyal to the supreme authorities of said corporation, by his actions has violated the general laws of said corporation in that he has created dissension in the

DOWNTOWN SKYSCRAPER ANNOUNCED

Height-Limit Structure to be Erected on Site at Fifth and Hill Streets

Title Guarantee and Trust Company will erect a height-limit office building to cost approximately $1,500,000, on the northwest corner of Fifth and Hill streets, the present site of the California Club.

A. T. Moreland, vice-president of the organization, confirmed the plans for the structure yesterday, but declared that construction cannot start until next summer as the California Club will not move into its new building, which faces on Hope and Flower streets between Fifth and Sixth streets, until later.

While architectural details have yet to be fully determined, it is anticipated that the building will be modernistic in design, with setbacks.

The California Club property has a frontage of approximately eighty five feet on Fifth street and 125 feet on Hill street. The building, erected in 1904 and five stories in height, will be razed to make room for the skyscraper.

Officials of the title company and the California Club declined yesterday to reveal the amount involved in the purchase of the site.

HART WILL FILED FOR PROBATE

Hotel Man's Widow and Brother to Get Estate Valued at $5,000,000

George A. Hart, one of the owners of the Rosslyn Hotel, left his estate, estimated as worth more than $5,000,000, to his widow and his brother, Dwight H. Hart, according to his will filed for probate yesterday by Attorney Arthur W. Eckmann. The Security Trust and Savings Bank is named executor.

Mrs. Ida M. Hart, widow, 107 Fremont Place, gets all the decedent's personal property, jewelry, $100,000 in trust and the residue of the estate after other bequests are paid. The testator's brother will receive 250,000 shares of Hart Brothers & Co., a corporation, and fifty shares of the Rosslyn Fireproof Building Company.

Robert Lee Hart, an adopted son 15 years of age, is residuary legatee after the death of his foster mother. Lucie Eloise Home and Frances Hartzell each will receive $250,000. Ella W. Woodward, a cousin, in Newton Falls, O., will receive $10,000.

Port Belt Line Car Handling Total Runs High

Although there were five Sundays and Labor Day—making six holidays during the thirty days of September, car handling activity by the Harbor Belt Line Railway was but a few cars less than for August, General Manager George F. Squires reported to the board of control at its monthly meeting yesterday. The total number of cars handled on which track payments accrued to the city was 9268. The rate is $1 a car.

Cars handled over the belt line for the Santa Fe totaled 1583. Those for the Salt Lake line totaled 1484. The Pacific Electric's quota was 2303 and the Southern Pacific 3018. Belt Line intraterminal cars totaled 350 and bridge interchange cars numbered thirty.

The freight checked by the neutral checking bureau totaled 118,516 tons.

Santa Monica Boulevard to be Made Wider

Santa Monica Boulevard between La Brea and Fairfax avenues in West Hollywood will be seventy-two feet wide instead of sixty feet, as had been proposed in improvement proceedings now under consideration.

This change was decided on by the Board of Supervisors yesterday when it voted to abandon the old action and institute new suits, condemning ten feet of private property on either side of the street. Sidewalks will be fourteen feet wide.

The change was voted on motion of Supervisor Graves, after a delegation representing property owners in the West Hollywood district presented a petition favoring the wider street.

WALNUTS BRING RICH RETURNS

Season's Harvest Valued at $16,000,000

Record Crop Offset to Lowered Price

Foreign Growers Unable to Meet Standard

Despite a reduced-price scale for 1929, California walnut growers will pocket $16,000,000 this year on the largest crop on record, except 1927, and will gain more on increased production than they lose in price reductions, according to prices and estimates announced yesterday by the California Walnut Growers' Association.

The bumper crop of 68,000,000 pounds of nuts will return the growers $14,280,000 on their various brands, plus $1,700,000 on by-products, Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the association, says.

The 1929 prices announced by the association and the board of directors, of which C. C. Teague is president, are as follows:

PRICE SCALES

Diamond No. 1 soft shells, 21½ cents per pound; Diamond, large budded, 23½ cents per pound; babies, 14 cents per pound, and the retail prices approximately will be for the No. 1, 30 cents; 33 cents for the budded variety, and 20 cents for the babies.

Those prices average a 20 per cent reduction under the 1928 prices, according to the officials of the association. Last year's yield of 42,000,000 pounds as against the 68,000,000 pounds of this year overbalances in production the decrease in price, and leaves the California producers winners nevertheless.

The 1929 announced prices are the lowest in ten years or more, but they are not necessarily depressed because of the bumper California crop. Huge crops in Italy have added to the market, double production on the Sorrento, a brand in direct competition with choice California nuts, and large productions in France have lowered the price range, according to Mr. Thorpe.

STANDARD COUNTS

Under the economic condition, with Europe unable to absorb the output, French and Italian growers, the association officials say, can deliver their best walnuts at Atlantic ports for 10 cents a pound. Tariff of 4 cents per pound places the foreign product in competition below the domestic prices.

The foreign product, however, is at a disadvantage because it does not have the high standard and uniformity of excellence and guarantee that the California walnut growers and the association are able to place on the local brands.

"We are confident," Mr. Thorpe says, "that we can dispose of our entire crop at the figures we have announced. Through our perfected co-operative organization, which takes in 85 per cent of the California growers and protects them, we have established standards of uniformity and excellence in our various brands upon which the dealers and public can rely unquestionably and with absolute certainty.

"The California walnut is the only one that has this guarantee behind it, while considerable variation exists as to quality between different bags of European nuts of the same brand."

Evolution of Flapper to be Demonstrated

Evolution of the flapper from 1829 to 1929 will be the subject of a costume pageant this afternoon and tonight at the first annual National Beauty Show at the Ambassador Auditorium, Alexander Swan II, president of the American Salon of Beauty Arts, sponsoring the exposition, said yesterday.

W. Oakley-Aoral is directing the thespian features and Randall Bruce the costume display, which will include 1930 styles.

The exposition will close Saturday night with a ball at the Alexandria.

Interest in the exposition is attested by the arrival of Frank Musto of Boston, beauty culturist, who motored to the show.

Y.M.C.A. EVENTS LISTED

Events of the week in the gymnasium and plunge at the Young Women's Christian Association, 941 South Figueroa street, were announced yesterday by Ella Stevers. At 11 a.m. today the first lesson in clog dancing will be given. Tomorrow at 6 p.m. business girls will be given gymnasium instruction, followed by a swimming lesson. On Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the swimming club of thirty-six will have its first meeting of the season. Children will be given instruction in posture, dancing, games and swimming Saturday morning.

FRONT-YARD CLEAN-UP SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

The whirr of the lawn mower will be more insistent all over the city today as home owners imbued with civic pride co-operate with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in observing "front yard day," the third day of the annual clean-up and paint-up week sponsored by the junior body.

"Front yard day" is sponsored by the Los Angeles Park Commission and everyone is urged to co-operate and enter into the spirit of making Los Angeles more beautiful and attractive by presenting clean, attractive front yards to the thousands of visitors that daily pass over the city's streets.

It is pointed out that the present is an ideal time to trim shrubs and hedges, clear walks and driveways of offending weeds, prepare and plant flower beds and to exterminate ants and insect pests. The fall rains soon will be here and gutters should be cleaned and prepared to properly carry off the water.

Avenues of well-kept front yards are declared to be of greater advertising value for the city than miles of perfectly appointed parks. The visitor expects beauty and charm in the public parks. It is the neat, well-watered lawns, the trim shrubs and artistically arranged flower beds that leave a lasting impression in his mind and count most in formulating his opinion as to the beauty of a city.

WOMEN WILL FOSTER LAW OBSERVANCE

Group at Luncheon Told Results Must be Gained by Example of Members

Women for Law Observance, a movement inaugurated recently by a group of representative women of this city to develop and foster a sense of respect for law, yesterday crystallized into definite action toward that goal when two members, Miss Jean Hill and Mrs. J. Boyce-Smith, were hostesses to fifty guests at the Town House for a general discussion of law observance.

This was an entirely new group of women from the original members, according to Mrs. Boyce-Smith, and the aims and aspirations of the organization as outlined to them met with enthusiastic response. Those of the group who join the movement will in turn contact with yet a different set of women and in this way it is hoped to make the influence of the organization limitless in scope.

Among the speakers were Mrs. Rufus Von KleinSmid, and Mrs. Boyce-Smith, and the thought most frequently stressed was that the Women for Law Observance group is not a militant organization, but one which hopes by the example of its members to create a sentiment for law observance and to bring a realization that observance of the law is the most effective method of law enforcement.

Another group of women will be reached when Mrs. Fred Gooding and Mrs. W. O. Jenkins hold a meeting in the latter's home tomorrow.

PAVING ORDERED

Council yesterday directed City Engineer Shaw to include in the Eighth-street project the paving of Beacon street between Seventh and Eighth streets.

PRINGLE GIRL'S RESCUE RECITED

Man Who Forced Door to Office Testifies

Sensational Evidence Given at Pantages Trial

Dancer's Questioning Gives Clew to Defense

"Help! Help! Save me. He is ruining me."

These were the words that brought William L. Gordon from his office on the third floor of the Pantages building to the little room on the mezzanine floor where Eunice Pringle charges that Alexander Pantages, millionaire theater owner, attacked her.

"First I heard screams and I rushed from my office to the little room on the mezzanine floor," declared Gordon when he was called as the third witness against Pantages, on trial before Superior Judge Fricke, charged with having attacked the 17-year-old dancer in the late afternoon of August 9.

"As I was coming down the long hall I again heard her screams and then her calls for help. Rushing to the door of the little office I lunged against it and pushed it open. A young girl ran out screaming. Since I have learned that she was Miss Pringle."

DESCRIBES SCENE

With Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart questioning him then Gordon declared: "I looked into the room and there on the floor was Alexander Pantages. His clothing was disarranged and he was saying:

"'Hush! Hush! Close the door—keep quiet.'"

Gordon took the witness stand in the late afternoon after Eunice Pringle had completed her story and undergone a bitter cross-examination at the hands of Defense Counsel Jerry Geisler.

Miss Pringle, who followed her mother to the witness stand, began her direct testimony last Thursday afternoon and was taken for cross-examination the next morning. All day Friday and yesterday morning together with most of the afternoon she answered question after question hurled at her through the long court hours.

It was Miss Pringle's little blue dress with white collar and cuffs that came under attack yesterday.

"Is not the outfit you have on now an outfit similar to the one you wore at school?" This question started this line of the examination.

Then over the bitter objections of both Stewart and Dist.-Atty. Fitts, questions came thick and fast regarding the usual manner in which Miss Pringle dressed.

"Was it suggested that you should, when you appeared here as a witness dress in a manner with reference to your clothes and your shoes and your stockings and the wearing of your hair and the absence of a hat so that it would give an appearance of simplicity?"

And then after more than half an hour of objections and contention between opposing counsel came the answer:

"No, none other than the ordinary sort of clothes I wear, Mr. Geisler."

But as a result of this questioning Miss Pringle was asked by defense counsel to appear in court during the afternoon session dressed in the bright-red, sleeveless dress, and even the underclothing worn on the afternoon of August 9.

Then with the afternoon session the girl was walked from the witness box before the jury and the six men and six women who sit in judgment peered at the young dancer dressed just as she appeared in Pantages's office on the afternoon of the asserted attack.

DEFENSE INDICATED

It was just after the attack on the manner of her dress that the first indication of what the defense may intend to attempt to prove popped into the case. It came in a long compound question put by Geisler.

"Did not the following occur on the afternoon of August the 9th about 3 or 3:30 in the afternoon; Mr. Nicholas Dunaev accompanied you into the entrance of the Pantages Theater Building on West Seventh street shortly off of Hill street, that there in the entrance you and he stopped first at the foot of the stairs, there being no ele-

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

Several of the penitentiaries have been in the habit of providing office space—free living—and the necessary notoriety to jailbirds who yearn for a literary career. Now comes a woman convict who uses her leisure hours to figure out successful methods of playing the Wall-street stock market.

I look to see some of the correspondence schools on "How to Attain Success" recommending incarceration very early in the career of every bright young person desiring fame and riches.

MATCHMAKING

Mr. Fatty Arbuckle's latest divorce suit discloses the fact that he was apparently dissatisfied with his bride because she refused to fight. So far as anyone knows, Miss Rudell Heath, the shooting young lady from Texas, has a heart free of entanglements for the moment. She'll fight anything from a fat husband to a herd of wild elephants; for choice, all at the same time.

UNSATISFACTORY VILLAINS

I am glad that Noah Beery has saved the reputations of the screen rough guys by at least facing the accusation of hitting some one over the head with a blackjack.

As a class screen villains do not live up to their responsibility. Warner Oland is a quiet gentleman who lives in a little house by the sea and indulges his primitive instincts by collecting water colors; Bull Montana is a soft-hearted sentimentalist; Ivan Lebedeff is one of the most charming and cultured young men I have ever known. What we need is some screen villains who beat up cripples and turn widows out of tenement houses to starve.

The stock that we have on hand are the bunk. They chase virtuous young ladies around the sets; and cry if they see somebody run over a kitten.

A STUDY IN SUSPENSE

The tragic end of the ringleaders of the revolting convicts is an interesting study in psychology.

The penned-in desperadoes faced the terrific machine-gun fire and dynamite explosions. They killed themselves when the firing suddenly stopped—waiting for the arrival of a military tank.

Their keyed-up nerves could not stand the suspense of waiting—for they knew not what. That sudden silence must have been a psychic explosion.

AUTHORS

I can't figure out why it is that some of our refined young lady novelists (of both sexes) consider that they achieve terrific dramatic power when they transpose the English language.

You always know when the piece is about to rise to furious heights of suspense; at that point—when they want to talk of a girl's white hands—they say, "The little white hands of her;" "The fluttering heart of her . . ."

It is a device useful in certain ways. Were it not for the "of her," one would never suspect that the author had come to high drama.

STALE STUFF

Now that we are on the topic, I am in favor of shooting the next author who quotes that very mild joke that news is when a man bites a dog.

Were Charles A. Dana (who never said it, anyway) to come back to life, he would sympathize with Gelett Burgess, who wrote:

"Oh, yes, I wrote the 'Purple Cow,'
I'm sorry that I wrote it.
I'll tell you now that, anyhow,
I'll kill you if you quote it."

STATE SOON TO PICK SITES

Committees Will Meet Next Week to Take Up Plans for Penitentiary and Hospital

Request that Gov. Young call a meeting of committees appointed by the Legislature to pick sites for the junior felon prison and the new State hospital for mental cases will be made by Alexander R. Heron, State Director of Finance, he said yesterday, after having spent most of the day on matters pertaining to the location of these two new Southern California State institutions.

The matter of choosing a location for the junior prison has been delayed during Mr. Heron's absence from the State. He arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Sacramento and will be here for several days.

"I will ask Gov. Young to call a meeting of these two committees to meet in Los Angeles the latter part of next week," he said. "At that time chairmen will be named and the possible sites cut down from more than 100 that have been offered to three or four. After this has been done we will want an engineering report on water supply and other matters. When this is done we will name the location."

The new junior penitentiary will be for men between 18 and 24 years of age, convicted of felonies. It will be used not only for first offenders, but for men between the prescribed ages. The committee has an initial appropriation of $375,000 with which to purchase the site and erect one building.

Twelve locations have been submitted to the committee having in charge the erection of the new $1,000,000 hospital for mental cases. Money for the structure is available, having been appropriated by the Legislature.

girl, whose body was kept for almost four years by her parents, who held the belief that the daughter would be restored to life.

The work of the chemists is not expected to be completed before a week or ten days. Chemical tests to determine the cause of death of the seven dogs that were buried beside the body of the girl also will be made. From a superficial examination the police stated there was evidence the dogs had been poisoned.

The search for Sam Rizzio, latest husband of the daughter of Mrs. Blackburn, started Sunday by Mrs. Frances Rizzio, mother, of 322 South Fremont street, Alhambra, was augmented yesterday with the arrival here of Frank Rizzio, young brother, who is convinced that Sam either is dead or being held a captive.

SEARCH FUTILE

Young Rizzio told police that for approximately ten months he acted as chauffeur for Mrs. Blackburn and her daughter during 1925. He said that although this employment was subsequent to the disappearance of Samuel in August, 1924, all his efforts to locate his brother had proved futile.

Samuel Rizzio at 18 years of age is asserted by his mother to have married Ruth Angeline Wieland, daughter of Mrs. Blackburn, in Santa Ana on May 24, 1924. On or about August 24, 1924, Samuel is asserted to have disappeared mysteriously from 640 South Manhattan Place, where he was living with his wife and her relatives. His mother asserts that inquiries concerning his whereabouts resulted in her being informed that her son was engaged in work of the religious order headed by Mrs. Blackburn and that when his work was completed he would return. That was approximately five years ago, she said, and since that time she has been continuing the search without results.

LETTER EXHIBITED

According to his mother, brother and Attorney Cochran, this missing youth is asserted to have engaged in an altercation with his wife about the time of his disappearance as a result of which his wife received a blow which cut her forehead and confined her to her bed. On being refused admittance to his wife, Rizzio, according to information Cochran maintains was supplied him by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blackburn, stepfather and mother of Mrs. May Otis Blockburn, left and has not been heard of since.

In this connection Cochran exhibited a letter purported to have been written by Rizzio expressing contrition for his asserted treatment of his wife. The letter, which Frank Rizzio says he saw for a moment about five years ago, but is unable to identify now as having been written by his brother until he sees it again, is as follows:

"Rear Ruthie: I am so sorry that I have been so mean to you. I should have realized that after so many years of hard work that you have had in writing the Sixth Seal and the great sacrifices you have made that you were not strong and able to stand my abuse. This is good-by, from Sammy."

SILENCE ALARMING

Both Frank Rizzio and his mother maintain that Samuel, who they assert served nine months in the State reformatory at Preston prior to his marriage for asserted check irregularities, was in the habit of keeping in communication with his mother. They assert that they cannot bring themselves to believe that he voluntarily has absented himself for the last five years.

Commenting on his period of employment with Mrs. Blackburn and her daughter, Frank Rizzio said that on numerous occasions he had been at the South Manhattan Place address, but that never had he been allowed to visit the Vermont-avenue address, where the body of Willa Rhoads is asserted to have been kept for a time immediately after her death.

While passing the house on Vermont avenue, Rizzio asserts that on one occasion he saw a horse of a reddish color in the rear yard of the house. He was unable to verify the rumor that the animal was one of a number buried with rites of the order under circumstances that as yet have not been disclosed.

Rizzio said that when he missed Willa Rhoads he inquired about her and was informed that the girl, then about his age, was teaching school in Altadena.

A search of marriage license records reveals that Ruth Angeline Wieland, 20 years of age, married Edgar Jacob Rickenbaugh, 23, a clerk of Altoona, Pa., on May 27, 1919, in Pasadena.

Visits to the various homes occupied by the foster parents of the dead girl yesterday failed to give police investigators any additional details of the mysterious death and mystic burial.

Under the direction of Capt. Cato, and accompanied by the father, the officers first visited the home at 427 North Vermont avenue, where the Rhoads are said to have moved from 640 South Manhattan Place, where the girl died. The family moved to the new home two hours after the death from diphtheria, the officers assert.

Reports that replaced timbers in the Manhattan address home might cover a possible burial plot, were discarded when the officers discovered that the present owner merely had made some alterations. The Manhattan dwelling was the headquarters of the cult for some time, with a number of the members living there, according to the officers.

At the publishing and city headquarters of the organization on Hollywood Boulevard, the officers questioned a number of the members. Among those interrogated were Mrs. Holly Steffen, Mrs. Gale Conde Banks, wife of the executive secretary of the cult; Miss Dorothy Steffen, a niece; Mrs. Margaret Sands, Elener Steffen, Mrs. Harriet Steffen and Mr. and Mrs. Shroyer. All reiterated their faith in the teachings of Mrs. Blackburn, and asserted that they knew nothing of the death of the Rhoads girl. They said Mrs. Rhoads told them that the girl had gone East to marry.

Another family of cult members was located at 365 Foothill Boulevard, Monrovia, where officers questioned Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dingman, Mrs. Mary Stewart and a 17-year-old daughter. The Dingmans assert that they are former residents of the Santa Susana colony, but have been living at the Monrovia address for the past six months. They told the police that they knew nothing that would shed any additional light on the death of the Rhoads girl.

Attorney Cochrane led Sheriff's officers to the mountain headquarters of the order in the Santa Susana section, and an examination revealed a secret chamber, securely locked and with all windows tightly curtained. The negro attendant obtained keys and the officers then were admitted to what was called the inner shrine. All the furniture was disclosed as covered with gold leaf, with the throne made of gum wood, in accordance with the cult beliefs. A huge divan was covered with gold satin as was an overstuffed chair, while two large dressing tables made up the remainder of the furniture.

The graves of the two mules referred to by Floyd Miller, the caretaker of the colony, as sacrifices to the teachings of Mrs. Blackburn, were found on the hillside. The graves will be opened today, according to police officers, and at the request of Cochrane. Four horses, evidently a part of the weird rites, were found occupying sumptous quarters in a building near the crescent-shaped headquarters. They are not used in any work around the colony, Miller said, but are carefully tended and fed. They were purchased after a message was received by Mrs. Blackburn, the caretaker said. One is red, another black, another white and the fourth brown.

MRS. TURNER DEATH CERTIFICATE INVESTIGATED

VENTURA, Oct. 7. (AP)—County Coroner Reardon today wired the State Board of Health at Sacramento, asking for the certified death certificate of Mrs. Frances Turner, former adherent of the religious cult headed by Mrs. May Otis Blackburn and her daughter. Reardon said he had found "discrepancies" in the certificate in his files.

Mrs. Turner, police at Los Angeles were informed, had been placed in an oven and hot bricks piled about her to cure her of a malady while she lived at the cult headquarters in the Santa Susana Mountains near here. Later she was reported to have disappeared and Mrs. Blackburn was credited with the statement that the woman had been healed and walked away.

Reardon said the death certificate here ascribed the cause of her demise to "dilation of the heart." It was signed by Dr. J. A. Mounoy.

The Coroner pointed out that although Mrs. Turner died on March 21, 1928, the certificate was not filed until March 26, five days later. "Possibly there is a typo-

HOLLYWOOD WOMAN RENOWNED FOR STYLE

Film Capital's Most Fashionable Woman Explains New Way to Buy Fall Clothes

Harmony is the keynote of a stylish appearance. Every article—the hat, coat, dress, hose and shoes—and the other little accessories—must all be in harmony, or contrast in harmony to make a woman's appearance attractive.

The only successful way to purchase a harmonious outfit is to select it all in one institution where you will have the opportunity to see the various articles together. This enables you to judge for yourself their smartness and correctness.

There are, of course, many stores in Los Angeles in which you can buy everything you wear but too often the prudent woman puts off buying a complete outfit because she hesitates to pay out so much ready cash. There is one store in Los Angeles that combines the advantage of buying everything in one store with the convenience of paying for what you buy in small amounts and at convenient periods.

Brown Israel's at 822-834 South Broadway will open an Extended Charge Account for you, and if you are permanently located, you do not have to pay even one cent cash down at the time you make the purchase. Neither do they charge you interest or extras for the convenience. It is the one store that everyone should make it a point to visit, see the new styles and try this unique and convenient plan. T.

'DIVINE ORDER' UNDER FIRE

Five Suits Filed by C. R. Dabney Against Leaders of Mystic Cult, Asserting Frauds

Five civil suits brought by Clifford R. Dabney against May Otis Blackburn and other officials of the Divine Order of the Royal Arms of the Great Eleven, seeking the return of approximately $44,000, an income oil lease and 164 acres of land in Ventura county, were revealed yesterday in a search of court rcords.

The actions, disclosing in their complaints the business ramifications of the religious sect, formed the basis for the arrest and jailing of Mrs. Blackburn and Ruth Weiland (Rizzio) on charges of grand theft, and the subsequent discovery of the body of Willa Rhoads.

The storm of dissension in the ranks of the members of the cult, according to the date of the filing of the suits, broke with apparent suddenness in August. In a period of eighteen days the complaints were filed and covered cash loans from 1925 to 1927, aggregating more than $24,000; the assignment on January 18, 1928, of a royalty interest on an oil lease worth $20,000, and a grant deed issued in September, 1928, covering the Ventura land in the Santa Susana Hills used as the "harmony hamlet" by the organization.

RECOVERY SOUGHT

The initial suit in the combination is directed against May Otis Blackburn, also known as May Otis and May Holmes. It is for the collection of a promissory note for $4000 asserted to have been executed May 1, 1925, by Mrs. Blackburn in favor of Clifford R. Dabney. It was payable in one year, but no amount has been received, according to the complaint.

A twin suit is on file from Dabney against the Divine Order of the Great Eleven, May Otis Blackburn, Ward Sitten Blackburn, Gale Conde Banks, Emily Miller, Ruth Weiland, Mary Stewart and May Otis Blackburn, doing business under the fictitious name of the Walter Blackburn Publishing Company.

ATTACHMENTS ASKED

This action is for the collection of $17,017.85 declared by Dabney to have been loaned and advanced by him to the chieftains of the cult. It seeks the attachment of land located in the Santa Susana Valley, which is asserted to be headquarters of the organization, and in which they hold an interest. Banks has filed his answer and sets up a general denial of indebtedness on his part.

A companion complaint, filed in Ventura county by Dabney and Wallace M. Dabney, reveals the manner in which the cult obtained the property, and is an action to recover 164 acres in the Santa Susana section. It names as defendants May Otis Blackburn, Ruth Weiland, Gale Conde Banks, Emily Miller, May Stewart, Ward Sitton Blackburn, five John Does and one Doe Corporation.

In this action Dabney charges that Mrs. Blackburn and Ruth Weiland told him that they had been visited by the presence and voice of God in January, 1925; that God had manifested himself to them in the form of an angel and commanded them to close their doors on the world and to write and transcribe certain dictations explaining the mysteries of life and health, heaven and earth. Dabney asserts that they called the book, which was to contain these revelations, "The Sixth Seal." They also said that it had required them three and one-half years to complete the volume.

The suit is unanswered in the Ventura courts, and no date has been set for hearing.

Another suit of Dabney, based on the representations of the "visit of the presence and voice of God" and the writing of "The Sixth Seal," is on file seeking the annulment of an oil lease worth $20,000, bringing an income of $400 monthly.

This complaint sets up fraud as grounds and is directed against May Otis Blackburn, Ruth Wieland, Emily Miller, Ward Sitton Blackburn, Gale Conde Banks and Mary Stewart.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS

After setting forth the allegation that the two cult leaders procured sums amounting to $21,000 from him on the plea that they needed additional funds to publish the manuscript on which they had worked three years, Dabney asserts that Mrs. Blackburn discussed the interest he held in the Huntington Beach oil field.

In January of last year, Dabney declares, Mrs. Blackburn persuaded him to assign her his interest in a Huntington Beach oil lease. He asserts Mrs. Blackburn told him that she would use the income to proceed with the work of completing and publishing "The Sixth Seal" and would repay the amounts to him after publication, also reassign to him the oil holdings.

Dabney charges that she has failed to publish the book, and expresses the opinion that the income from the oil land has not been directed to the described purpose. He also states that she has failed to reassign the royalty.

The final filing in the calendar of complaints by Dabney against the cult members, is directed at Mary T. Stewart, an individual official. The suit seeks to foreclose a mortgage on real estate in Monterey Park.

PRIESTESS SNUBS EX-SWAIN

Oil Worker Charging $1500 Mulcting Pays Visit to Jailed Ruth Wieland But Meets Rebuff

Reopening a closed chapter in the life of Ruth Angeline Wieland, high priestess in the mysterious religious sect known as the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of Great Eleven, Arthur C. Osborne, 33-year-old oil worker, appeared at Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney's office yesterday and charged that Mrs. Wieland and her mother had obtained $1500 from his six years ago while he was engaged to marry the former.

Osborne asserted that $150 of this amount was obtained by him as a loan from the Sanches Estate near Whittier where he worked and was given to Mrs. Wieland to finance divorce proceedings against her husband whom he had never met. Soon afterward Mrs. Wieland and her mother, Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, disappeared and he never saw them again until yesterday, Osborne said.

The romance between Osborne and the young high priestess, then 22 years of age, began in 1922 while the girl was employed as a "taxi dancer" in a dance hall on Spring street, according to his story.

Soon after meeting her, Osborne persuaded her to give up her dancing position because of ill health, he told the officers, and then took up the task of providing for her and her mother under promises of great reward when the two women completed publication of their religious book, "The Sixth Seal."

Additional sums over and above the living expenses also were borrowed from time to time, Osborne explained, to finance publication of the book and affairs of the religious organization.

COOL RECEPTION

After placing his personal papers bearing on the case in the hands of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney, Osborne visited Mrs. Wieland in the County Jail but met with a cool reception.

The titian-haired priestess reluctantly walked into the room where Osborne waited.

"Hello, Arthur," she said finally after staring at him for a moment.

"Are you glad to see me?" he asked.

"Yes, of course. It is mighty nice of you to come to see me here."

Osborne then mentioned the case pending in court against Mrs. Wieland and her mother which accuses them of grand theft.

"I can't say any more," the woman said, backing away. "If you have anything more to say, see my attorney."

Meanwhile Mrs. Blackburn in an adjoining room was beckoning her daughter to leave Osborne.

MONEY SOUGHT

Shortly after Mrs. Blackburn and her daughter disappeared from their home at 222½ North Lincoln Park avenue, Osborne enlisted in the United States Army air force and went to Honolulu. Several years later, he said, friends sent him newspaper clippings stating that Mrs. Blackburn had obtained $100,000 worth of securities found in the Santa Susana Hills by workmen digging a well. This was in February, 1925.

Osborne then sought through his father to collect the $150 which he had loaned to Mrs. Wieland after borrowing it from his employers. As a result the priestess got in touch with him by mail.

This letter, with several others, was turned over to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney.

One letter written during their early friendship referred to a mysterious fight on the doorstep of Mrs. Wieland's home but she did not disclose the names of the combatants. Osborne thinks one of them was Mrs. Wieland's husband, from whom she was seeking a divorce.

ranks of the membership of said corporation."

Last night Goben said: "Mrs. McPherson may have wired the district managers not to come, but she was too late. I have wires that they are on their way to Los Angeles. If we can't meet at the church we will meet outside; but the gathering is to be held. I shall do nothing until that time regarding my discharge as assistant pastor."

Objection to the "worldly element" in church affairs, fear of one person dominating the organization and objection to the entry of Mrs. McPherson into the talking picture game has caused a revolt of the Four Square gospel ministers, according to Dr. Goben, who declares that Mrs. McPherson knows that he is not alone.

"I was told that I should either destroy certain documents that I have in my possession or prove them. I have chosen to prove them. What they are or their nature I will not state at this time," Goben declared.

According to Dr. Goben, Mrs. McPherson faces a widespread revolt in the organization and the insurgents are graduate ministers of her own Bible school to the number of two score at least and pastors of the strongest churches in the district.

Inquest Ordered in Train Death

Fatally injured when struck by a train, Frank J. Galusha, 30 years of age of 6228 Bertha street, died yesterday in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Police recorded that Galusha threw himself in front of an inbound Santa Fe Railroad train near the Arroyo Seco bridge on Sunday afternoon, receiving injuries from which he subsequently died. Members of his family said that Galusha had suffered acutely from sinus trouble.

The Coroner will conduct an inquest into the death.

GIRL SCOUTS ENTERTAIN

Children at the Los Angeles Orphanage will be guests this afternoon at a playlet presented by Troop 27 of the Girl Scouts, according to Mrs. Edith W. Swarts, director. "The Spirit of Scouting," a candle service depicting the ten Scout laws, with Mrs. Swarts in the leading role, will be a feature of the program. She will be assisted by Miss Norma Lewinson, leader of the troop; Mrs. Annie Johnson, field captain, and girls of the troop.

PRINGLE GIRL'S RESCUE GIVEN

Door-Forcing Incident Described

Dancer's Dress Subject of Dispute

Defense Indicated During Cross-questioning

vator, you started to ascend the steps; at that time and place is it not a fact that you said to Mr. Dunaev, 'if he doesn't place me he will always be sorry,' and didn't Mr. Dunaev say, 'Don't get cold feet, and did you not say in response, 'I won't.' Answer that yes or no, please."

And the answer was: "No, sir."

SOCIAL ENGAGEMENTS

Both under direct and cross-examination before this question and answer Dunaev had been identified as a Russian author and actor who had written and was to manage the play for which Miss Pringle was attempting to obtain a booking from Pantages.

Social engagements kept between Dunaev and the young girl were also subjected to a searching examination before she was allowed to leave the witness stand.

It was developed that on several occasions Miss Pringle with Dunaev had visited apartments of various friends and on several evenings he had driven her to a downtown hotel where she telephoned her mother. It also went into the record from the young girl's lips, however, that these social gatherings always included others and that she never had been alone with Dunaev for any length of time.

A great deal of time during the latter portion of the cross-examination was taking in going over the details of what Miss Pringle charges took place in the little room from where she fled screaming.

Late in the afternoon the cross-examination finished and following a brief redirect examination conducted by Fitts the young girl was excused. She was led from the courtroom by a policewoman and once outside of the place burst into hysterical sobs.

REAL BATTLE BEGINS

It was with Gordon on the witness stand that the real battle began between the prosecution counsel and Ford, Gilbert and Geisler for the defense.

Gordon in a few brief sentences told his story under the direction of Stewart, and then Gilbert began his cross-examination.

First Gordon and Gilbert almost came to blows over the witness's true name. It developed under the examination that Gordon came to this country from Russia and that his father changed his name shortly thereafter.

"What was your name before it was changed?" This question by Gilbert.

Then Gordon pronounced some kind of a name which sounded in the courtroom like a loud sneeze.

"How do you spell that?" asked Gilbert.

"I can't spell it and I don't believe that anybody else can," declared Gordon, "that is why it was changed." And then Gilbert gave up.

But also as soon as the name matter was given up Gilbert and Gordon were right back at it again while the former was attempting to illustrate with a courtroom door just how he shoved the door of the Pantages office open.

Attorney Ford also got into the bickering and then Fitts, Stewart, Geisler and the Court took a hand. It came about when, with Ford taking the part of Miss Pringle behind the door, Gordon was attempting to show the jury just how it all happened.

COURT TAKES HAND

Ford kept popping in and out of the door, Gordon kept pushing and pulling, and in spite of Gilbert's best efforts kept talking all the time and Fitts and Stewart kept shoving in a word or two every now and then with Geisler kind of hanging on the outskirts of the verbal tilt until Judge Fricke took the whole matter in hand.

Leaving the bench Judge Fricke took the role of both defense and prosecution and after placing Ford in the proper position as Miss Pringle, trying to get out of the door, put Gordon where he said he was, pushing the door open, and then asked the explanatory questions from Gordon. It was all over in a few minutes and everyone back in their seats.

It was just after this that the day's session ended with Gordon squared away for another line of questioning from Gilbert, and from the looks on the witness' face, another battle brewing.

Gordon's story, according to courtroom observers, was a strong peg in the prosecution's case and coupled with Miss Pringle's story, which was unshaken in any major detail by the cross-examination, together with testimony which is to be offered today, will, according to the prosecution, make a perfectly linked chain of evidence against the millionaire theater man.

Following Gordon the prosecution will call Fred T. Wise, who was in the lobby of the building when the asserted attack took place, and joined Gordon at the door of the little office room, and W. C. Hale who also was attracted to the mezzanine floor by Miss Pringle's screams.

MANY WITNESSES

In all the prosecution expect to call about twenty witnesses, it was announced by Fitts last night, while the defense say that a like number will take the stand and testify for Pantages.

The case which got under way last Tuesday followed the arrest of Pantages on the evening of the asserted attack and after Miss Pringle had told her story to the police. At the time, again at the preliminary hearing, and for the third time as the second witness at this trial, the 17-year-old dancing girl has charged that Pantages lured her into the mezzanine floor office to "discuss" her play and there attacked her. She told under oath that she called upon Pantages a number of times after he had seen the preview of her act and that it was on her last call that the attack took place.

The trial, which is attended by a huge crowd, only a small portion of which ever gets into the courtroom, is expected to take at least two weeks more before the case is given to the jury.

PANTAGES SERVED WITH CONTEMPT CITATION

Alexander Pantages yesterday was served with an order to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of the United States District Court. The order was signed by Judge James when an affidavit was filed in his court stating that Pantages had failed to respond to a summons to appear before Lilian M. Cashion, a notary, for the taking of a deposition in the case of E. P. Dunn against the Pantages Theater Company. Pantages was served by Deputy United States Marshal Mangerina at the beginning of Pantages's trial in Superior Court yesterday. Pantages was ordered to appear in court on the 21st inst. to answer.

DECISION ON SHULER DUE THIS WEEK

His Fate and Briegleb's in Contempt Case Expected to Be Announced Friday

A written opinion on the guilt or innocence of Rev. R. P. Shuler and Rev. G. A. Briegleb on charges of contempt of court will be handed down Friday, it tentatively was announced yesterday.

Superior Judges Tappaan, Gould and Hardy, who heard the testimony and law against the two ministers on the complaint drawn by a committee from the Bar Association, held a conference yesterday for a discussion of the evidence and citations as offered by the preachers in their defense and by the prosecution.

Some time will be needed for a complete study of the case, the judges pointed out, and the preparation of the final decision. The verdict will be read in open court, with the three judges sitting en banc.

When he appeared before Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday, Shuler gained a delay in his trial on charges of libelling former Mayor Cryer. The case was continued until the 28th inst. The delay was granted over the protest of Deputy City Prosecutor Brockman, after one of Shuler's attorneys told the court that Paul Barksdale D'Orr, chief Shuler counsel, will be busy in Superior Court until the date set. No further postponements of the hearing will be granted, the court announced.

An effort to nullify the contempt proceedings was made by Shuler yesterday when he mailed to the three judges an affidavit charging he had been deprived of his constitutional rights. He attempts to set up grounds that he unwittingly became a witness against himself, when he testified under oath during an investigation of his radio address, which preceded the contempt trial.

DEATH CASE SLATED FOR JURY TODAY

Officer Bost, Accused of Slaying Mexican Youth, Soon to Know Fate

The fate of William J. Bost, police officer charged with murder in connection with the shooting July 4, last, of Christopher Sierra, 19-year-old Mexican, is scheduled to be placed in the hands of a jury today in Superior Judge Wood's court.

Bost is asserted needlessly to have shot Sierra while attempting to arrest the youth on a misdemeanor charge. Testifying in his own behalf, Bost denied the shooting.

All evidence was in yesterday and the State's opening argument to the jury was delivered during the afternoon session by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Barnes. Barnes will be followed today by Defense Attorneys Cliff Thoms and J. W. Kearby, while Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scheinman will close for the State. The prosecution is asking life imprisonment.

ARREST IN PANTAGES CASE MADE

Harold Dolley Accused of Attempting to Bribe Witness for State

Harold Dolley, accused in an indictment returned by the county grand jury, of attempting to bribe a witness in the criminal-assault trial of Alexander Pantages, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Fred Wolfe in his office at 354 South Spring street.

Immediately after his arrest Dolley was arraigned before Superior Judge Aggeler, who fixed 2 p.m. Monday as the time for him to enter his plea.

It is charged that Dolley, while working as a private detective in behalf of Pantages, sought to influence the testimony of Ivan P. T. Samsonoff, a friend of Nicholas Duanev and an important State witness.

Dolley formerly was a Federal prohibition enforcement official here.

ARCANUM SESSIONS STARTED

Fraternal Organization to Have General Reception at Alexandria Tonight

The eighteenth biennial State convention of the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum of California began its two-day session at the Alexandria yesterday with approximately 100 representatives from all over the State in attendance. Grand Regent David M. Carroll was the presiding officer.

The Royal Arcanum, which is a fraternal insurance body, is concerned chiefly with the problems of the needy, crippled and unfortunate and with the education of the children of members.

Reports of the finance and membership committees, according to Supreme Warden Arthur W. Kennedy, show that the organization is in a healthy condition with an encouraging outlook for its future growth and influence.

Today's session will be devoted to election of officers, immediately after which C. O. Fischer, supreme installing officer of St. Louis, Mo., will initiate the new officers.

Supreme officers and representatives were guests at a banquet at the Alexandria last night, and tonight there will be a general reception at the hotel.

Wives of delegates were guests at a dinner and theater party last night and under the direction of Mrs. David Carroll they have been taken on sight-seeing tours and shopping excursions.

Mayor Vetoes Council Action on Undertaker

Mayor Porter yesterday sent to Council his veto of an ordinance adopted last week granting W. M. Strother permission to engage in the undertaking business in Argyle avenue, just south of Hollywood Boulevard. The matter was referred to the City Planning Committee.

The Mayor based his veto on the fact that a majority of the neighboring property owners protested. In Strother's behalf, when the matter was before Council, it was stated he has been operating his business for the past twelve years at the corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Argyle avenue, but his lease runs out shortly and he wishes to move to a new location a few feet away.

ANOTHER BRIBE CHARGE VOTED

J. F. Howry, Police Officer, Under Indictment

Accused of Accepting Ring from McDonald

Tex Smith Also Named as Bootleg Chieftain

James F. Howry, Los Angeles police officer, has been indicted by the county grand jury charged with accepting a bribe in the form of a diamond ring from Harry D. McDonald, asserted bootlegger, it was revealed at the District Attorney's office yesterday.

Howry's indictment came as a result of his appearance in court during the trial of a brother officer, Thomas B. Washburn, who later was convicted of bribery. During the trial, McDonald pointed Howry out to officers and charged that he had given the officer a valuable ring he was wearing. The ring was seized and held as evidence.

After his indictment it was found that Howry had resigned his post at the Hollywood division and disappeared.

At the same time Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dave Clark revealed that Tex Smith, asserted leader of a Hollywood bootleg ring, is under indictment by the grand jury charged with conspiracy to violate the Wright Act. He, too, has disappeared, according to officers who were ordered to apprehend him.

Another man known as Louis Panhurst, said to be an employee of Smith's, who was arrested while driving a truck loaded with 300 gallons of liquor last Thursday night, also has dropped from sight, according to Clark, making his escape from Los Angeles police officers after he had led them to three giant stills in the mountains of Inyo county. The stills, the officers believe, were owned by Smith and operated by his employees.

Clift Returns from England

Denison Clift, American screen director who, for the last eighteen months, has been associated with two of the leading English motion-picture producing companies in London, returned to Los Angeles yesterday, bringing with him new ideas and methods relative to the production of talking pictures. During his stay in England Clift directed three sound photoplays.

"Despite the handicaps the British producers are laboring under, including the quota laws, they are making marked progress in the development of talking pictures," declared Clift. "They have no end of excellent acting talent to call upon, with their many brilliant stage stars. In the matter of technical equipment the English film magnates likewise are fortunate, as they have adopted the best foreign devices for sound reproduction, as well as having made the most of the inventions of their own electrical engineers."

COUNCIL DENIES PROTESTS

Council yesterday denied all protests against the Marmion Way and Avenue 45 improvement district, the improvement of Park Heights Terrace at Alta street, but continued until the 14th inst. the hearing of protests against the improvement of Nordhoff street between Balboa and Lindley avenues. The assessments for the lighting of Alcott street between Robertson Boulevard and Livonia avenue were confirmed.

Today's Bible Text

"And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God." St. Luke ix:62.

ONE THING NEEDFUL

Government officials have recommended a new $10,000,000 postoffice for Los Angeles. If they don't get a shinier showroom pretty soon customers will be going to San Diego to buy their postal cards.

LOVE AND PARALYSIS

Wife went paralyzed when the husband said he no longer loved her and hasn't been able to walk a step since. It must have been more of a shock than is usually indicated in divorce hearings. Sometimes the announcement is received with cheers.

OUT IN THE COLD

Dieudonne Coste, the French ace, seems to have made a 5000-mile nonstop flight to the Lake Baikal sector in Siberia, but the Irkutsk country is no place for an aviator to get lost at the dawn of a hard winter—unless he happens to be a snowbird.

GREAT MARKET

Once China gets settled down to the industries of peace our trade will be speeded up wonderfully. As it was we shipped more than $15,000,000 worth of merchandise from the local port to China in the last fiscal year. This is an increase of more than 500 per cent in eight years. At that it is only a start.

ROSY LOVE

A scientist again calls attention to the rich colorings of love. The male bird puts on his gaudiest plumage at the mating season and seeks to charm his choice by a display of his vivid dress suit. Also our men and maidens preen themselves when the tender passion comes up for an airing. All the world is at its best when love is on the boards. Even a white-domed scientist can tell this much.

O'ER THE BUMPS

It must be remembered that the broadcaster can hold a man up to the ridicule or vitupetration of countless thousands who listen on the radio, but the butt of his remarks can probably take but one punch in retaliation. That is why the peppery preacher must expect an occasional bump. It is sad, but it is human nature. Possibly in time the broadcaster may grow more thoughtful and considerate.

GOOD ANYWHERE

More than 2,500,000 boxes of oranges were shipped from the local harbor by water during the season just ended. It begins to look as if our orange juice were wetting the lips of the world. This business of sending the fruit forth in refrigerated ships is a comparatively new industry and we can get the oranges into any country of the world in good condition. Whether it is Siberia or the Sahara it is all the same with us.

NEED THE MONEY

The lawyers are saying that it is unethical for attorneys to draw wills or perform other little services without charging a fee for the same. They want something done about it. Of course they are right. For a lawyer to give any service without charging a fee is to desert the fundamentals of the faith. A counsellor without his fee is as impossible as a buggy without wheels. What this nation needs is bigger and better fees for lawyers.

MORE DIGNITY

An English critic objects to our calling the President just Hoover, or Herbert, as some careless folk will. He avers that there is a dignity about the most powerful office in the world that should call for an uncovered head in the presence of the President, or when he is to be named. The Britishers do not call their king George. He is His Majesty, the King. It must be admitted that the attitude here is different. It is a tribute to greatness that when one says Herbert it means that it is the one above the thousands of others that are in the telephone books. For that matter, Col. Roosevelt really enjoyed being called Teddy. In other respects the strictures of the English critic are well placed. We don't give the White House the dignity that rightfully belongs to it.

THE PREMIER'S VISIT

First fruits of the visit of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, executive head of the great British nation, to President Hoover are now apparent. They have drawn up and agreed upon the form of invitation to be extended France, Italy and Japan for a naval limitations conference in London late in January—a conference which may, it is now indicated, lay the foundation for an actual reduction of sea-fighting forces to a mere policing basis by the eventual elimination of the battleship.

The public, which had been told that practically all details of the Anglo-American naval accord were arranged between Premier MacDonald and Ambassador Dawes before the Premier sailed, have been wondering precisely what is the purpose of the visit. It is safe to assume that in addition to arrangements for the general naval conference, it includes discussion of the questions still pending between the two nations, such as freedom of the seas, and discussion of ways and means for inducing France, Italy and Japan to sign a general agreement.

In some aspects, this latter appears the task of greatest difficulty at the present time. The difficulty has perhaps been increased by the speed and ease with which Great Britain and the United States were able to reach common ground. There is a disposition in France at least to fear an Anglo-American combination to dominate the world, and it may be assumed also that if Mussolini considers it likely that such a combination might ensue, he will be hard to deal with when the five-nation conference is held. Of course nothing of the sort can come about; public opinion here would never support it. The ambitions of this country do not lie in that direction, and it is not likely that Premier MacDonald, a sincere friend of peace, is likely to propose an alliance or even an understanding that might be misinterpreted. The two executives doubtless will make it plain that other nations have nothing to fear in this regard.

France, Italy and Japan, however, can hardly be expected to take kindly to a conference in which they would be informed that all matters had been settled in advance and invited to sign on the dotted line. On the other hand, neither the United States nor Great Britain can afford to have the agreement they have practically reached upset. The situation is one that requires delicate handling and the President and Premier will have to devote some deep thinking to the problem.

The question of freedom of the seas, primarily a more than century-old dispute between the United States and Great Britain, affects other nations also, and can no more be settled offhand than can naval limitations. But substantial progress toward an agreement has been made in the past few years, through the fact that there is a growing body of public opinion in both countries which favors a compromise, and through the further fact that it is a moot question except in time of war. World statesmanship is bending its energies to make war unlikely.

The program for scrapping the battleship will not come up directly, it is expected, at the London conference, but that body will be asked to extend for five years the Washington battleship holiday which expires in 1931. In 1936, then, there may be presented a plan for limiting warcraft to vessels of 10,000 tons with no guns larger than eight inches in caliber—a plan which would cut naval budgets tremendously and incidentally would make a successful naval attack upon land fortifications almost impossible. The progress already made toward naval disarmament permits this solution to be considered practicable. An agreement abolishing the battleship would be easy to enforce, since no nation could build any of these great craft in secret.

A principal reason for the Premier's visit has already been satisfied. The personal meeting of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald has been brought about; they have been able to chat with no eavesdroppers in the vicinity; they are acquainted. When either speaks in the future the other will have a better idea of what he means. A closer touch has been established between them.

The fact that one is the son of an Iowa blacksmith, the other the offspring of a Scottish cottar, doubtless made their acquaintanceship easier, just as it emphasized how far caste distinctions have disappeared in the world's two most powerful nations and how far democracy has progressed. They laid aside pomp, ceremony and formality and talked plain English. In consequence they may, in the future, disagree, but they are not likely to misunderstand.

CANADIAN LIQUOR CONTROL

After the repeal of prohibition in several Canadian provinces following the war and the substitution of so-called government liquor control the wets of Canada and the United States set up the claim that those provinces had solved the drink problem.

Judging by recent reports from authoritative quarters, they have done nothing of the sort. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, says in October Current History that control has degenerated into government monopoly, and that "there is growing public sentiment throughout much of Canada" expressed by "dissatisfaction with the floods of liquor released, the mounting intemperance, the serious damage to business, the stimulation of vice and the political corruption resulting from government sale of liquor without real control." He says the consumption of spirits has doubled and that of wine and beer is five and a half times as much as when the system began.

It is plain from Mr. Cherrington's dispassionate study of the situation that while the provincial governments have reaped great financial profit by the system and that manufacturers and dealers have prospered under it there has been no return to the public commensurate with the damage done to legitimate business and that the drinking habit is more general than ever before.

In the same number of the magazine Alfred E. Cooke presents statistics that prove the complete failure of the government liquor control system in the wet provinces, "all of which are now in the liquor business, pushing the sale and reaping a profit thereby." In every wet province there has been a steady increase in the amount of intoxicants sold each year since government sale began. In British Columbia the volume has risen from $909,884 in 1919, the last year of prohibition, to $16,211,887 in 1928.

On the other hand, Prof. Carleton Stanley of McGill University at Montreal says in the same magazine that government control is an improvement on prohibition, but he does not present sufficient facts to prove his point. Like a lawyer with a desperate case, he resorts to a general and by no means convincing attack upon those upholding the merits of the opposite position.

One hardly needs further evidence of the futility of liquor control in Canada than the tremendous increase in the sale and consumption of intoxicating beverages in the wet provinces.

WAYSIDE OPTIMISTS

All are not billboards that clutter up the highways with uncertain literature and hem out the scenery from the tourist in a narrow lane like a mountain snowshed.

The countryside seems to be lined with optimists who try to coax the traveler out of his car into various concessions that sell everything from apple juice to sunshine. There is one in a near-by thoroughfare that asks sympathetically: "Hungry, Thirsty, Lost? Come In."

Inns of various sorts offer their hospitality; Saunter Inn, Dodge Inn, Wander Inn, Tumble Inn and even Duck Inn. This appealing psychology appears to function successfully.

Hot dogs run out at you at every intersection. A motorist has to go fast to resist temptation. You are invited into teepees, old shoes, skirts, ice-cream freezers and even slabs of layer cake. You are fascinated by big ebony chefs in snowy aprons sweeping the dust with deferential bow welcoming you to come in and fill your stomach. And herds of plaster cows furnish milk along the concrete pasture.

If all the "world's largest" as advertised along the highway were actual fact, the ordinary boulevard is the mightiest museum extant. The wayside optimist is ubiquitous in his feverish attempts to skid you into his place of business as a contented customer.

One Foreign Quarter Which Charms Not

FILIPINO RESTAURANT
HELP!

We can find quaintness, oddity or beauty of some kind in every foreign quarter in Los Angeles except one little strip of Filipino row. First street from Main to Los Angeles, excepting for the Yokohama Specie Bank Building and the drug store on the opposite corner, is mostly crowded with Filipino shops and is the smelliest, sleek-and-dirty district in Los Angeles. There are two restaurants in that block which we cannot pass without holding our breath. As most of us pass through that street to get to our interesting Japanese district or to Chinatown, or the better part of the Filipino row stretching down Weller street, it is an injury to all our foreign quarters, and for the good of the town ought to be thoroughly gasolined.

The Properest Couple

This week's medal for strict observance of the proprieties goes to a Pasadena couple who always put an evening dress when they are going to stay home and listen to grand opera via their radio.

Football of Earlier Days

Now that football is absorbing so many of us, Ed Risdon, editor of the American Legion Weekly Bulletin, gets reminiscent now and then and recalls the rugged football of not so many years ago. Ed used to play on the Throop Polytechnic team, before that school became the California Institute of Technology.

SOME GAME!
BIFF BANG HURRAY!
FOOT TO-D

"We played at Santa Ana one day when I was out of the game," Ed says, "and as I was the only man present who had a stop watch they made me time-keeper. For a long time the score was nothing to nothing, but toward the end of the second half Santa Ana started a march for Throop's goal line. Straight down the field they carried the ball to Throop's thirty-yard line, and then I announced to the teams that only three minutes of playing time remained. As football was played then, Throop easily could kill enough time to keep Santa Ana from scoring in that time, and it looked like a tie game. But just as the next play started and everyone was intent on the game, I was seized from behind by two mighty huskies, picked up and bustled away before I realized what was going on. I was carried behind the stand and held there until Santa Ana had scored. As the yells of the crowd proclaimed that triumph, I was released and dashed out to the officials, telling them the game had been over for two minutes before the touchdown was made. But they were Santa Ana men and wouldn't listen to me, and Santa Ana was given the game by a score of five to nothing."

RAH RAH!

Why No National Magazine?

It seems odd that Los Angeles does not have a nationally circulated magazine of general character, when more magazine writers of first rank live in Southern California than anywhere else. We have class and technical magazines of high order. Touring Topics comes very near being a general magazine and contains much general matter of quality, but is established only as a magazine for motorists. Southern California Business, published by the Chamber of Commerce, is one of the best magazines of its kind in the country. Transportation Magazine circulates nationally among transportation men. Rob Wagner's Script, published by a writer whose work long has been in demand in the East, has a great deal of very lively reading and doubtless circulates widely, but still is too local to Beverly Hills to be classed as a national publication.

Writers from everywhere come here for material. Los Angeles has become the greatest "story town" in America. Without the work California writers contribute to them, all the first-rank magazines in New York would have great gaps to fill. Yet still we ship the manuscripts away to the East and the East ships us back the printed magazines to read. Isn't our boasted American efficiency sort of falling down in this particular?

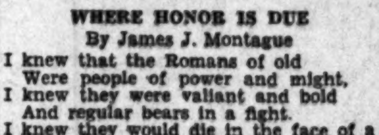
OPPORTUNITY FOR SOMEONE!

Public Interest in Mechanics Marvels

A telephone exchange at Montebello held "open house" the other day and all the citizens were invited to go through the plant and have the mysteries of modern telephony explained to them. Even the school children were invited and were dismissed from school, one class at a time, so that they could learn that practical lesson. And the school children were immensely interested. After their visit, they returned to school and wrote essays on what they had seen, and the compositions proved that most of them had learned a great deal. We doubt that there were a dozen families in Montebello which did not send at least one representative to that "open house." We wonder if that doesn't show what people are most interested in in this marvelous mechanical age, and how the young idea is most inclined to shoot.

LOFTY BEACONS

Col. Edward Green is about to erect two steel beacon towers a thousand feet high at each end of his private airport on his estate at South Dartmouth, Mass. They will cost more than $200,000 apiece and will be the loftiest of their kind in America. Col. Green is the son of Hetty Green, who would have grieved deeply at seeing her money spent in welcoming a flock of airships.



WHERE HONOR IS DUE

By James J. Montague

I knew that the Romans of old
Were people of power and might,
I knew they were valiant and bold
And regular bears in a fight.
I knew they would die in the face of a foe
Right down to the last humble talisman,
But I never believed, till a few days ago,
That Rome was a city of salesmen.

Nor reader, did you, I presume,
Suspect that in that distant day
Old Rome had a real estate boom
Like we have in our own U. S. A.
You have heard she had lawyers and doctors, no doubt
And statesmen with lofty ambitions,
But not, I am sure, that the town was laid out
In new all-improvement additions.

Plebeians, enriched by the wars,
Not content with their lowly stone cots,
Wanted houses with three or four floors
Upon centrally located plots,
And the keen-witted real estate brokers of Rome,
Alive to all up-to-date movements,
Sold dwellings, as soon as the armies came home,
With all of the latest improvements.

So we of this up-to-date day
Need not look with contemptuous pity
Nor think in our top lofty way
Of the folk of that great ancient city.
The Romans were wonders, we well are aware
In battle, in law and in letters,
And now we discover it only is fair
To admit they were also go-getters.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

Harry Sinclair Explains

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Sept. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] An article published in a recent issue of your newspaper states that a petition made by me for commutation of sentence was based upon the condition of my health. This is an error. I did not apply for executive clemency on the ground of ill health.

The principal ground of my application was that I was imprisoned for doing something that had not, heretofore, been prohibited either by statute or rule of the courts, and had been the regular practice of the United States Department of Justice. Observation of a jury became contempt of court only after I engaged in it.

No member of the jury was approached by operatives in my employ; nor were they molested or influenced in any way, nor were they even conscious that they were being observed. They so testified.

There was no sinister purpose in what I did, and no such finding was made either by the lower court or the Supreme Court, which reviewed the facts.

Very truly yours,
H. T. SINCLAIR.

Shrieks From a Siren City

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In regard to your editorial of October 2 about "Arresting Hornblowers" I will say that, after driving and living in a number of eastern cities, your street noise of ordinary nature is not better or worse than that of the average eastern metropolis. But one thing we would not tolerate in the East are those awful police, fire and ambulance sirens. Every time some fireman wants to go get a lunch or an ambulance driver is returning to the place where he can quit work for the day, they make whoopee down the thoroughfares that curls one's ear drums. And the police, forsooth, are going to quiet the city!

Reform, as well as charity, begins at home. I heard a stranger remark: "If there is a fire, accident or crime every time those sirens let loose, this must be a h—l of a city!" My children often awake, crying with fear in the night, when the wailing banshees of this "Siren City" perpetrate their cacophony.

Soft-Soaping Desperadoes

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Let us hope that the massacre of prison guards in Colorado will cause a stiffening up of discipline in the prisons of this country.

In no other country in the world is there any attempt to space and causes him to jump soft-soap desperate murderers as obtains in the United States. It is somewhat a relief when the resultant brickbat falls upon officialdom instead of, as is the rule, the defenseless "man in the street."

CECIL E. REYNOLDS.

Preacher and Auctioneer

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It seems high time Harry Carr and "Aunt Het" should reconcile their differences. Almost every day Aunt Het butts into Harry's space and causes him to jump clear over to an obscure place on the second page. If Aunt Het had anything to say, it would be different, but there isn't enough in 16,000,000 of her sayings to make a thought big enough to fill a gnat's cranium.

It's funny about Harry's stuff. There's a guy over on the editorial page who has a great splash every morning, but I seldom read what he has to say. Still, it's good stuff—I agree with it all. I don't agree with what Harry has to say, still I always read it. I wonder why this is. It must be like what my old college teacher said about the difference between a preacher and a auctioneer. The preacher tells the truth as if he didn't believe it and the auctioneer tells a fib as if he believes it.

Safety Zones

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like to take advantage of your letter column to ask a few questions.

What is a safety zone?

Who is responsible in case of accident while occupying a so-called safety zone?

How many of the people that drive automobiles approve of the condition of our streets?

Has anyone the right to tell people that they are safe while standing in a "zone"?

New Styles in Toy Dogs

In keeping with the changing styles in pets, Santa will bring many toy dogs of many kinds to children of Europe this year. Among the canines which have invaded the toy world since last Christmas are the Airedale and its white brother, the Sealyham, the Aberdeen terrier and the red English setter.

Trousers for Woman Artist

Mlle. Zozo Rosen, the French artist who makes a specialty of restoring pictures in grisaille, has adopted the sensible and cool fashion of her brother artists in wearing gray flannel trousers and a blue painting smock when at work. But, being a true French woman, she adds dainty high-heeled shoes.

Clothes may not make the man, but quite often they break him.

MUNICIPAL SOCIALISM

BY F. G. R. GORDON

Every week some business organization passes resolutions asking, appealing and demanding that government keep out of business of all kinds that has to do with production and exchange of goods, and just as often we find some groups of business men demanding that the government shall go into business, that some municipal government shall build and operate an electric light plant; that some State shall build a canal, a warehouse or a dam; or that the nation shall build and operate dams, power plants, canals, conduct river transportation, oversea shipping and so on.

For each one dollar in taxes we pay to Federal, State and municipal governments we get just around 34 cents in real service. This is generally accepted by all those who have taken the time to investigate. With hardly an exception every government, whether it be a city, a State or a nation, is characterized by slow methods, by red tape, by wastefulness, by unscientific book-keeping and large losses. Yet there are thousands of business men in all parts of this nation who seek to extend the functions of government. They don't want any socialization of their own property, nor do they want any government competition which escapes taxation, while imposing more taxes on private-owned industry.

Many business men imagine that it will be all right to socialize a water power, an electric light plant, or even a railroad, so long as his private property interests are not invaded by government.

When business men array themselves on the side of municipal ownership for instance, they are voting and working for more and more socialism, they are giving vast encouragement to the world-wide Socialist movement.

President Hoover said in his acceptance speech this: "It is the duty of government to avoid regulation as long as equal opportunity to all citizens is not invaded and public rights violated. The government should not engage in business in competition with its citizens."

States, counties and municipalities, in an attempt to pass the buck upon each other, duplicate almost every function of government two or three times over, thus providing three men to do one man's job. The late Congressman Madden found as many as forty-seven duplications. Can you imagine any private business living under such wastefulness?

The only way to prevent such waste is to solidify the business men of the nation against government ownership and government over-regulation. The 800,000 business men of the nation, who are members of chambers of commerce, Rotary clubs and other service organizations, have the power, once united, to prevent further wastes and more Socialistic fads and fancies.—[Haverhill Sunday Record.

The girls in the physical education class at the Sentous Evening High School, 1205 West Pico Boulevard, say that they "just love Gym." For those who need corrective exercises the teacher gives individual instruction, bringing all of her long years of training and experience to their aid. The class meets on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 in the gymnasium.

There is also a physical education class for men, meeting in the gymnasium Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9.

Both of these classes are free to adults, and very inexpensive gymnasium suits are worn.

A THING OF BEAUTY

To John G. Bullock

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever,"
So said a poet in the days agone;
Joy, too, there is in every great endeavor,
Nor more in roses on the garden lawn.

Time out of mind great temples have been builded,
For beauties sake, with glories half untold;
In every age as if the gods had willed it
And loved they are as in the days of old.

And such a one, with what a joy we see it,
Look from yon boulevard as toward the sea—
Some fairy hands by moonlight might have builded
One had not known such beauty there could be.

Without, delight—within, as if enchanted—
As if Aladdin and his lamp were there—
Each mirrored room by happy faces haunted,
How like a dream—its beauty everywhere.

Who builds like this—he does a world endower,
And shall have recompense beyond his ken,
Be it a palace, or a little flower,
His are the praises of his fellow-men.

S. H. M. BYERS.

Straw "Wood" Fireproof

Straw is being converted into fireproof "wood" in Europe. The straw is compressed, under a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch, in a machine which interlaces it with wire. The machine can turn out 4000 square feet of board a day.

AD CLUB CHIEFS CELEBRATE

Past Presidents Gather in First of Dinner Series and Review Growth Since 1912

The first of a series of dinners given by the past presidents of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, designed to foster the traditions of the organization, was held last night at the Hollywood Athletic Club. Fifteen former officers of the club who were representative of its history from 1912 gathered for a program which included short reminiscences of the growth of advertising and the club during the past seventeen years.

Herman Nater, president of the club last year, acted as chairman of the past-presidents' committee, and in a short address sketched the history of the club and said that similar dinners will be given quarterly to the end that the organization might be given the guidance of the "old guard." Following the program, the past presidents were the guests of Harry Carroll at the Hollywood Music Box revue.

In addition to Mr. Nater, those present included Paul S. Armstrong, 1927-28; Harold J. Stonier, 1926-7; Irving R. Smith, 1925-6; Arthur D. Smith, 1924-5; A. Carman Smith, 1923-4; Arthur M. Loomis, 1922-3; Bert Butterworth, 1921-2; Don Francisco, 1920-1; Ray E. Nimmo, 1919-20; Harry S. Carroll, 1918-19; J. F. Wilson, 1914, and S. W. Botsford, 1912; Homer B. Wright and J. A. Daley.

DECISION ON SCHOOL PROMISED

Bouelle Asks Patience While Survey Proceeds in Los Feliz District

Promise of early decision regarding building of the John Marshall High School in the Los Feliz district was made last night by School Superintendent Bouelle in reply to an insistent petition presented by a delegation of residents of that region. Twenty-five men and women attended the meeting of the Board of Education to add personal demands to their petition, which criticised the board for "withholding an investment of such size from the full and specific use it was bought for so long ago."

The petition referred to the fact that a site was bought four years ago for the erection of a senior high school to serve the Los Feliz district and to be known as the John Marshall High School. Among the members of the delegation who spoke, demanding prompt action by the Board of Education were Mrs. Estelle C. Holman, Mrs. H. B. Hills, Mrs. Charles Hayden and A. E. Storm.

Supt. Bouelle explained that a survey was being made to determine the exact number of children of senior high-school age living in that section who might be expected to attend such a school. As soon as this survey is completed, he said, the petitioners would be notified of the school board's decision regarding building the high school. He asked patience, saying that much time was needed for making a complete survey and determining the area from which the children would attend.

ALLOCATION OF VIADUCT COST FIXED

Supervisors Decide Ratio of Payments Correct for Fourth-Street Project

Allocation of the expenses of building the $2,500,000 Fourth-street viaduct over the Los Angeles River and two railway lines was ratified at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday, after a conference between Supervisor Shaw and W. J. Sanborn, president of the City Council.

It was decided that the city and county each shall pay 22 per cent of the cost, that the Santa Fe Railroad pay 32 per cent, the Union Pacific 11 per cent, and the Los Angeles street railway 13 per cent.

The Santa Fe Railroad, it is understood, has protested to the State Railroad Commission its allocation of 32 per cent, on the ground that the Union Pacific was let off with 11 per cent, because the tracks of the Union Pacific that would pass under the viaduct are only switch tracks. It is pointed out that if a union station is built in the Civic Center area, the Union Pacific will have to run all its passenger trains under the viaduct, as well as a large number of freight trains.

Mickey Walker Trial in Liquor Case Postponed

Trial of Mickey Walker, middleweight champion pugilist, and two friends on charges of liquor possession was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Bogue until November 6, next. The delay, which was not opposed by the defense, was granted at the request of Chief Trial Deputy City Prosecutor Eberhard on the ground that Detective Lieutenant Everson, arresting officer and chief prosecution witness, is on his vacation and will not return for some time.

Walker, with Ray Hallor and Arthur Houseman, film actors, who appeared in court yesterday, and Gordon Sweeney, film director, were arrested in the apartment of Miss Dorothy Davis, actress, at 1737 North Whitley avenue on September 9, last. Sweeney pleaded guilty some time ago to possession of the liquor, on which charge the other three are to be tried by a jury, and paid a $200 fine.

Cocoanut Grove Habitues Greet Jazz Conductor

Ted Lewis, jazz-band leader, last night swung his baton at Cocoanut Grove, directing his Musical Klowns in their first appearance in the West as a dance orchestra. Typical Lewis numbers made up the program.

As master of ceremonies he presented, in the first of the regular nightly floor shows which will be featured during his engagement, Eleanor Brooks, danseuse; Charlie Whittier, "Ace of Spades," the Dixie Four; Marjorie Moore; dancing violinist; Myra, character and dramatic dancer, and others.

Among well-known personages who entertained parties honoring Lewis last night are Alice White, Harold B. Franklin, D. W. Griffith, Sammy Lee, M. C. Levee, Jack Benny, Roscoe Arbuckle, Jeanie MacPherson, Clarence Brown, Denison Clift, Mort Harris, Noah Beery, Norman Taurog, Anita Stewart, Edmund Goulding, Reginald Denny, Edward Earle, Baroness Duth, Basil Woon, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Arthur Lake, "Mike" Lyman, Jeanette Loff, Paul Bern, Pola Negri, Hoot Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Warner, Marie Prevost, Raquel Torres, Millard Webb, Al Kaufman and William Collier, Jr.

Officer Jails Autoist After Hard Struggle

Bruised and cut after a battle, Policeman A. W. Wilson last night led Ray W. Caywood, 23 years of age, a painter of 2602 West Avenue 30, similarly decorated, to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. After Caywood was put through a test, he was booked for drunk driving.

Wilson reported that Caywood ran through a signal at Macy and Alameda streets. The policeman commandeered a car, and gave chase, overtaking Caywood at Spring and Ann streets, where he jumped on the running-board. When he told Caywood he was under arrest, the policeman says the motorist knocked him sprawling across the street. Wilson returned to the fray, and eventually took Caywood handcuffed to the hospital.

TRIAL SET OF ACCUSED POLICEMEN

Negro Officers Indicted on "Shakedown" Charges Face Court on 28th Inst.

The trial of Maceo B. Sheffield and A. T. McClanahan, negro police officers charged with twelve counts of bribery and extortion, yesterday was set for the 28th inst. by Superior Judge Aggeler.

Before fixing the trial date, Judge Aggeler overruled demurrers to the indictments which sought to have them set aside on legal technicalities.

Both officers denied charges in the indictments which accused them of extorting money from Central-avenue bootleggers in exchange for immunity from arrest.

Rum Runner's Capture Radioed by Coast Guard

Capture of an asserted rum-running boat was reported by radio last night to the Coast Guard base at San Pedro by the Coast Guard cutter 257. Boatswain L. H. Williams in command of the cutter reported that he had captured the Terminal, an eighty-foot eagle boat, forty miles southeast of San Clemente Island, following a long chase.

Williams radioed that he had confiscated a cargo of liquor and had two men under arrest.

GRAND LODGE OPENS TODAY

Masons Gather Here for Eightieth Communication Including Many Social Events

The eightieth annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of California will open here at 10 a.m. today with Most Worshipful Grand Master Gustav A. Hutaff of Dunsmuir presiding. Sessions will continue through to Friday.

Convention headquarters are in the Biltmore. Registration of members started yesterday and will continue until the hour Grand Lodge convenes.

With 572 constituent lodges in the State and Hawaii, numbering some 140,000 members, the Grand Lodge is the supreme body of the Masonic fraternity in California and Hawaiian Islands.

A reception to the Grand Master and Mrs. Hutaff was held last evening at 8 o'clock in the Sala d'Oro and was attended by members of Grand Lodge and their ladies.

At 9:30 a.m. today a special musical program by a large concert orchestra composed mostly of members of Silver Trowel Lodge, No. 415, Los Angeles, arranged and assembled through Edward Grimes of that lodge, all under the direction of Charles E. Anderson, grand organist, will be presented.

The formal opening will take place at 10 a.m. The balance of the morning will be devoted to the Grand Master's message, officers' and committee reports.

At 1:45 p.m. the annual oration will be given by Tully C. Knoles, grand orator, followed by committee reports.

The annual get-together dinner for members of Grand Lodge will be held in the Sala d'Oro at 6:30 p.m. with a theater party for the ladies at 8 p.m.

This marks the third occasion the annual communication has been held in Los Angeles during the eighty years of Grand Lodge's existence, first in 1912, then in 1924, when the Diamond Jubilee was celebrated, and this year.

In addition to the formal Grand Lodge sessions, various trips and entertainment programs have been arranged by the local Grand Lodge week activities committee which is composed of William L. Hovis, chairman; Thomas A. Dille, Lee T. Mullen, John W. Crawford and Harland West.

DAM BUILDERS' PATIENCE EBBS

San Gabriel Contractors to Charge for Idle Tools

Supervisors Given Six Days to Allow Resumption

Engineers to Report by Then, However, So All's Well

As a move to protect their legal rights the San Gabriel Dam contractors yesterday served notice on the Board of Supervisors that they will begin suit to collect rental for equipment rendered idle by the landslide at the west abutment excavation if work is not ordered resumed in six days.

It was stated at the office of E. C. Eaton, flood-control engineer, that the driving of test tunnels will be completed before the expiration of six days and that there is every indication that bedrock of sufficient strength to support the 425-foot structure will be located before the contractors begin suit, according to their notice.

The contractors have about $500,000 worth of idle equipment, which includes railway equipment, pumps, electric shovels and hydraulic giants and it is stated that they will ask $3500 a day as rental for this equipment not in use.

All work on the west abutment of the dam was stopped September 16 as a result of the landslide. It was not interrupted on the site of the east abutment, however, where tunnels revealed sound granite bedrock comparatively close to the surface. The Board of Supervisors, on recommendation of Engineer Eaton, immediately ordered a survey of rock condition by four nationally known engineers and on the report of these experts will rest the decision as to whether the rock on the west side of the canyon is sound enough to support the $25,000,000 dam.

FOUNDATION TO SPONSOR PLAY WEEK

Shakespearean Dramas to be Presented at U.C.L.A. Theater Early in December

The recently organized Shakespeare Foundation of California has announced its initial week of Shakespeare plays to be presented in the theater of Royce Hall, on the new campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. The foundation was organized to establish and maintain a chair of Shakespeare at the university. Its initial week of plays will be presented December 2 to 8, next.

The foundation plans to establish in California a group of Shakespeare players who will present semi-annually a week of plays. It is the hope that eventually this group will be to America what the Stratford-on-Avon Players are to England.

Announcement is made that by reason of the exceptional stage and screen talent available in Hollywood, it is assembling the most notable group of Shakespearean performers that has been brought together in this country during the last two decades. R. D. MacLean, Shakespearean actor, who for the last five years has portrayed the role of Father Junipero Serra in the Mission Play at San Gabriel, will head the all-star cast for the Week of Shakespeare. Joseph De Grasse will direct the productions.

Guardian Will Keep Custody of Frankie Darrow

L. D. Uhlman retains the guardianship of 11-year-old Frankie Darrow, motion-picture juvenile and son of Frank and Ada Johnson. The decision was handed down yesterday morning in the Appellate Court by Justice Craig and was concurred in by Justices Works and F. Thompson, denying the appeal and sustaining the decision of Superior Judge Desmond that a disinterested party should act as guardian.

In September, 1928, Beatrice Walton, Ada Johnson's sister-in-law, petitioned the Superior Court for custody of the child, who at that time was said to be earning $300 per week in motion pictures.

June 30, 1928, Ada Johnson filed a suit for divorce on the grounds of cruelty. The father filed an answer and the mother asserted Frank Johnson was not the father. Judge Desmond ruled, however, that the boy was the son of Ada and Frank Johnson and appointed Mr. Uhlman guardian.

Seven Jailed in Asserted Alien Smuggling Plot

Three white men and four Chinese, the latter said to be aliens, were arrested early yesterday by immigration inspectors near Westmorland, Imperial Valley, and are in jail. The white men, James Ward, John Maxwell and Walter Knight, are held on a charge of smuggling aliens into the United States and the Chinese are held for deportation.

Inspectors Weeks and Bartos examined a car without lights, which was parked along the road, and arrested one man, while Inspectors McClare and Ruskin rounded up the rest of the party. All prisoners will be brought to Los Angeles for questioning.

REALTY LAW TO BE TAUGHT

A course in real estate law will be opened at Los Angeles High evening school next Tuesday, the 15th inst., it was announced yesterday by Principal C. L. Vanderbie. The class will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings for ten weeks and will embrace the study of real property, estates, conveyances, mortgages, trust deeds and leases. Arthur S. Bruce will be instructor.

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

In honor of Mrs. Florence Kennett Dupee and Mrs. G. Aubrey Davidson of Coronado, who have come up to attend the grand opera, Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon Friday afternoon at her home in West Adams street, covers being arranged for ten guests.

Mrs. Dupee is the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Francis J. Kennett at her home in Pasadena during her two weeks' visit here, while Mr. and Mrs. Davidson are at the Ambassador.

Mrs. Dupee's attractive young daughter, Mrs. George Castero (Evelyn Dupee,) whose wedding was one of the brilliant events several years ago in the island city, recently has come to make her home here, her husband, formerly a lieutenant in the Navy, having resigned his commission to go into business and they have taken an apartment at 459 North Orange Drive, Hollywood.

Betrothal Announced

Formal announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Platt of 877 Crenshaw Boulevard, of the betrothal of their attractive daughter, Miss Evelyn Platt, to Lieut. John Drake Shaw, the wedding to be an event of the near future. Lieut. Shaw, who is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Shaw of Spokane, is attached to the U.S.S. Arctic. Miss Platt was graduated from University of Southern California last June and is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. She has traveled much abroad and was one of the most popular co-eds on the campus, taking part in all of its activities.

Going East

Mrs. Seth Marshall of the Ambassador is planning an eastern trip shortly, leaving the last of the month for Chicago, St. Paul and New York, planning to be gone until the Thanksgiving holidays.

Extended Cruise

Mrs. Charles Joseph Heyler of the Ambassador left Saturday with a party of friends aboard the City of Los Angeles for an extended cruise. Their itinerary extends to South America and they will return by way of the Panama Canal about December 8.

Warnke-Newhouse

The marriage of Miss Mildred Bernice Warnke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Warnke of South Pasadena, to Charles Max Newhouse of Boise, Idaho, was solemnized at the home of the bride's cousin in Alhambra, with only relatives and a few close friends bidden. Miss Roberta Warnke assisted her sister as maid of honor, while L. E. Warnke served as best man.

The bride was graduated from the University of Idaho and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, while Mr. Newhouse also attended the same university and is affiliated with Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. The bride was charming in an ensemble of blue transparent velvet, while the maid of honor wore a brown crepe ensemble. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Newhouse will make their home in Boise.

Entertaining Sister

Mrs. Edward T. Adams of 1409 Crenshaw Boulevard is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Houghton of New York. Mrs. Houghton is the wife of Charles E. Houghton, professor emeritus of New York University in mechanical engineering.

Honor Bride-Elect

Mrs. Leonard Manes and Mrs. Clarence Roloff recently honored Miss Anna Louise Hibbs, bride-elect of John Howard Bruhl, at the home of the latter in Alfred street, West Hollywood, with a surprise shower of glassware. Miss Hibbs and Mr. Bruhl are former students of University of Southern California, where Miss Hibbs is a member of Iota Sigma Theta Sorority. The marriage will take place the evening of the 16th in Immanuel Baptist Church.

Guests bidden to the shower included:

Mmes. P. J. Bachman, Roy Hollis, E. C. Peterson, Frank H. McCabe, Frank J. Hibbs, Ethel Palmatier, Ruth Kampschmidt; Misses Clara Bachman, Ethyl Thompson.

Following an afternoon of bridge a luncheon was served.

Home from Honeymoon

After a wedding trip passed in San Francisco and the mountain resorts of the High Sierras, Mr. and Mrs. Arden Moffat Lusch (Ruth Louise Scott,) whose marriage was solemnized in the presence of 150 friends and relatives at a beautiful ceremony in the Church of the Angels last month, have returned to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lusch, whose romance began when they were graduated from high school together several years ago, are now at home to friends at 2135 Holmby avenue, Westwood.

Wilson-Green

The marriage of Miss Jean Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Wilson to Robert L. Green, was solemnized last Tuesday evening, the ceremony taking place in St. John's Church, West Adams at Figueroa, with Rev. George Davidson officiating in the presence of 500 guests.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of autumn shaded dahlias, ferns and tall tapers and after the ceremony there was a reception at the Wilson home in Hayworth avenue, fifty guests being bidden, including the bridal party, relatives and a few close friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory velvet trimmed in rose point lace, with a long train effect. Her veil was of rose point lace over tulle with a tiny cap of rose point edged in orange blossoms and she carried a bridal shower of lily of the valley and orchids.

Mrs. Oscar A. Trippet, Jr., sister of the bride, matron of honor, and Miss Doris Dunsmoor, maid of honor, wore velvet gowns with matching velvet hats. Miss Kathryn Chapman, Miss Judy Jacobson and Mrs. Allan Miller (Dorthea Ruff,) were in tulle skirts and velvet bodices, all the gowns shading from yellow to flame color, and they carried sheafs of dahlias to harmonize with their gowns, and all wore tulle turbans with large bows.

Jack Green, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, while the ushers were Wallace Moir, Oscar A. Trippet, Ralph Bell and Easton Noble.

Mr. and Mrs. Green were graduated from University of Southern California, the latter being a member of Phi Beta Pi Sorority, while Mr. Green is affiliated with Sigma Chi Fraternity.

They are now on their honeymoon, motoring to Seattle, and plan to return to Los Angeles by boat. They will make their home in Beverly Hills after November 1.

Keep the Lid On

Always simmer pot roasts, stews, etc., with the lid on, because the lid keeps in the steam. The action of the steam is almost as important as the hot liquid that cooks the meat.

BRIDE AND MATRON OF HONOR

Lovely Wedding Takes Place in Church

[Sergis Alberts studios]

Mmes. Robert L. Green and Oscar A. Trippet, Jr.

ONE of the lovely weddings of last week was that of Tuesday when Miss Jean Wilson, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Wilson, became the bride of Robert L. Green, the ceremony taking place in St. John's Church, with Rev. George Davidson officiating. Mrs Oscar A. Trippet, Jr. assisted her sister as matron of honor, while Miss Doris Dunsmore was maid of honor, the other attendants including Miss Kathryn Chapman, Miss Judy Jacobson and Mrs. Allan Miller, while Jack Green served his brother as best man and Wallace Moir, Oscar A. Trippet, Jr., Ralph B. Bell and Easton Noble ushered.

After an extended wedding trip north Mr. and Mrs. Green will return to make their future home in Beverly Hills after November 1.

Pure Mercolized Wax Makes Skin Beautiful
Tonight before you retire, pat a little mercolized wax all over your face and throat. Let it seep down into the pores to cleanse them of all impurities. Gently it flecks off the thin outer layer of aged or discolored skin. Freckles, sunburn and other blemishes are peeled off also. The new complexion formed by the under skin is radiantly clear, smooth, soft and beautiful. Use mercolized wax regularly and your face will always be smooth, fresh and young. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To reduce wrinkles and restore the contour of youth to your face, bathe the face daily in a lotion made of 1 ounce powdered saxolite and 1 half pint witch hazel. At all drug stores—[Advertisement.

CHEF WYMANS RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

SPANISH KIDNEY BEANS

Two cupfuls of cooked kidney beans, two cupfuls of tomatoes, one finely chopped onion, one clove of garlic finely chopped, one pimiento finely chopped, one medium green pepper chopped, three tablespoonfuls of shortening, one tablespoonful of flour, and a seasoning of salt, place the butter or oil in a saute pan, add the onion, green pepper, and allow to cook until tender, but not brown, add the tomatoes, and the pimiento, season with the salt, and allow to cook for five minutes, mix the flour with enough cold water, to make a smooth paste, add to the mixture, with one teaspoonful of Spanish seasoning, add the beans, allow to heat through, and serve.

CRULLERS

One-fourth of a cupful of butter or shortening, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one-half a cupful of milk, two eggs, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of mace, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three and one-half cupfuls of flour, cream and shortening and sugar together until light, add the well-beaten yolks of the eggs, sift the flour, baking powder, salt, and mace together, and add half the mixture, to the creamed shortening, and egg yolks, then add half of the milk, and the balance of the ingredients, beat well, fold in the well-beaten white of the eggs and if necessary add enough more flour to make a stiff dough; place on a floured board, roll out three-fourths of an inch in thickness; cut with a cruller cutter and fry in deep hot shortening. Drain well, and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar.

CHEESE PUDDING

Two cupfuls of finely grated cheese, two cupfuls of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, a seasoning of salt and paprika, six slices of bread, butter the bread and cut in four pieces, place in a baking dish, sprinkle with half of the cheese and dust with salt and pepper, cover with the remainder of the bread sprinkle with the rest of the cheese and slowly pour the milk into the side of the pan. Place in a moderate oven and bake for thirty minutes.

BAKED PEPPERS WITH PEANUT BUTTER

Eight even-sized bell peppers, three cupfuls of boiled rice, one cupful of peanut butter, eight tablespoonfuls of finely chopped green pepper, one teaspoonful of celery salt, or one-fourth of a cupful of finely chopped celery, two tablespoonfuls of ketchup, one egg, cut the stem end from the peppers, remove the seeds, rinse well and dry; mix the rice, peanut butter, chopped green pepper, celery and seasoning, stuff the peppers with the mixture, set in a baking dish, brush the tops with beaten eggs, place in a medium oven and bake from twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THE DUCTLESS GLANDS

The Thymus

The thymus gland is located behind the upper part of the sternum and in front of the trachea. It becomes partly atrophied after puberty. Its functions are not thoroughly understood, but it undoubtedly produces one or more hormones having some influence upon the sexual glands and upon the formation of the blood, especially the lymphotcytes.

Children with enlarged tonsils, adenoids and nasal catarrh most frequently show an enlarged thymus. They are often fat and regarded as healthy, but the skin is pale and the flesh flabby. They have little resistance to infectious diseases, and may die suddenly during a period of slight excitement.

If the enlargement of the thymus exists after puberty, the male resembles the female type, and the female is underdeveloped. The distribution of fat about the body is abnormal. The bones may be either longer or shorter than the average. The enlarged thymus can usually be determined by the X-ray or percussion. It may become so large as to cause suffocation.

The diet suitable is similar to that which I outlined for enlarged tonsils or catarrh.

PITUITARY GLANDS

The pituitary glands, although a very small two-lobed body located in the skull cavity just underneath the brain, exerts a profound influence upon growth and metabolism. It is divided into two distinct lobes, an anterior and a posterior, each of which has a definite function. The removal of this gland causes death. An underfunctioning of this gland produces a very obese individual resembling a fat boy, while an excessive secretion produces an enlargement of the hands, feet and lower jaw, and an increase in height. Circus giants are usually affected with an excess of pituitary secretion. It is generally admitted that the front lobe exercises most influence on the bodily growth, and the back lobe upon metabolism.

THE PINEAL GLAND

Before adolescence the pineal gland, a small reddish body located in the brain, is an important organ of internal secretion. It was formerly believed to be an evolutionary remnant, analogous with the third dorsal eye found in certain reptile types.

The pineal gland retards the too-early onset of puberty. An increased secretion causes adiposity and delayed puberty. A lack of secretion causes precocious development and an unusually early onset of secondary sexual characteristics.

THE SPLEEN

Although the largest of the ductless glands, the exact purpose of the spleen is unknown. It is somehow connected with the manufacturing of white blood cells and the reorganization of worn-out red corpuscles. The spleen is not actually essential to life, and in many cases this organ has been removed and yet the patient lives for many years, but since it is of lymphatic origin, its removal causes an extensive enlargement of all other lymphatic glands of the body. It seems to produce an internal secretion which stimulates the intestines to greater activity. I have a special article on spleenic trouble which I will be glad to send to anyone who is interested.

(Tomorrow's article on parathyriods, adrenals and other glands.)

JAPANESE RED CAPS BEAT WOMEN RIVALS

There are limits, in Japan at least, to the invasion of men's occupations by female workers.

Women who tried to work alongside men as porters in the Osaka railway station found they had overreached themselves and after a ten months' trial have given up the unequal struggle.

A group of hakubo (white caps,) as the women were called, nattily uniformed in blue serge skirts and jackets with smart little white headgear, were given permits to compete with the akabo (red caps,) or male porters, for passengers' luggage.

The theory was that the women would be useful in helping female travelers, invalids or the aged. The red caps, an ungallant crew, showed them no favors. The women's earnings fell to almost nothing, and one by one they gave up.

It is noted, however, that women coolies still coal the ships at Nagasaki, while millions of other toil in the muck of the rice paddies.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORTON W. BURGESS

There's something new to see each day
And Always it will be that way.
—Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit had started for home. He was thinking about all he had learned about Thalessa, the insect whom he had first mistaken for a wasp. "My," said Peter to himself, "there are some wonderful things in the world. Yes, indeed, there are some wonderful things in the world. I didn't half-realize it until I saw Thalessa drill a hole in the trunk of a tree to lay her eggs. I don't believe I'll ever see anything as wonderful as that again. Hello! What under the sun is that?"

Peter stopped short and stared at a curious thing crawling across the path right in front of him. He knew it must be a caterpillar, but never before had he seen one like it. This caterpillar was of good size, green in color, and had what looked like a horn on the rear end of the body. He had seen just such caterpillars before, excepting that they never had had anything on their backs, while this one carried a backload. Its back was covered with what looked like little white eggs standing on end and close together. Peter took a step nearer to look more closely.

"Well," said he, "I have seen a lot of queer-looking caterpillars in my time, but never one as queer as this one. I wonder what kind of a caterpillar it is?"

The caterpillar paid no attention to Peter. It continued across the path and began to climb a plant. Presently it began to eat the leaves of the plant. It was only just above Peter's head and right where he could watch it. So he sat down to see what would happen next. The caterpillar went right on eating. Apparently it had no business in all the great world excepting to eat. It ate and ate and ate. Watching it, Peter grew hungry.

"I think I'll go and have a bite myself," said Peter. "That fellow can't travel far if he wants to travel, and I don't believe he does. He'll be here when I get back."

So away went Peter, lipperty-lipperty-lip, in search of something to eat. When he had filled his stomach he went back to where he had left the caterpillar. The caterpillar was still there and was still eating.

Peter took a step nearer, to look more closely

Peter sat down and [illegible] comfortable. He couldn't [illegible] plained just why he [illegible] watch that caterpillar. [illegible] ply that he had a feeling [illegible] that there was a [illegible] that if he watched he [illegible] something worth while.

"I wonder," thought Peter, "[illegible] caterpillar is sick. Those [illegible] things on his back are [illegible] wonder if they have grown [illegible] if they are really a part of [illegible] caterpillar."

Peter sat there a long time. [illegible] ing happened excepting that [illegible] caterpillar ate and ate and [illegible] There was nothing queer about [illegible] for most caterpillars live just to [illegible] and eat and eat. At last Peter [illegible] about ready to give up when [illegible] should come along but his [illegible] friend Thalessa, the wasp-like [illegible] sect who was not a wasp. She [illegible] right away what Peter was looking at.

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "[illegible] of my cousins has been this [illegible]

Peter looked all around. "[illegible] do you mean?" he asked.

"Don't you see that caterpillar?" asked Thalessa.

"Certainly, I do," replied [illegible] "That is why I am [illegible] That is the queerest-looking [illegible] pillar I have ever seen. [illegible] about that cousin of yours?"

"My cousin found that caterpillar before you did," chuckled Thalessa.

Forest Ranger Bags Mountain Lion

J. C. Albrecht and His Kill

This prowling slayer of deer had his marauding career in the Santa Monica Mountains cut short by a high-powered bullet from the rifle of Jack C. Albrecht, forest ranger, who shot the lion near Castro Peak.

The mountain lion weighed 200 pounds and measured seven feet from nose to tip of tail. Few of the powerful, dangerous pumas are left in the local mountains. Bounties totaling $75 from State and county will be paid for killing this one. Game wardens state that lions kill more deer than hunters.

Five Confess to Liquor Charge

Five persons, arrested by police Sunday in front of the Palomar Tennis Club, Palms, appeared before Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday and entered pleas to possession of liquor.

James R. Dayton, 28 years of age, 1170 South Morton street, pleaded guilty to ownership of a small quantity of alcohol and paid a $75 fine. Miss Muriel Delaney, 29, 300 South Hidalgo street, Alhambra; Jerry Taylor, 23; Gerald Dunne, 20, and Seldon Witt, 23, 1337 South Albany street, all pleaded not guilty. Trial for Miss Delaney was set for the 21st inst.; for Taylor and Dunne, November 4, next, and for Witt, the 14th inst.

FRENCH GOLF BERETS SMALLER AND LOUDER

The latest headgear for the French woman golfer is a fancy jersey beret to match dress or sweater.

Some hats with brims also are made of jersey, used like tweed. Most of them are stiffened by many rows of stitching. One sport blouse shows a combination of glazed leather and stitched jersey.

The new berets are made to fit the head closely and are just big enough to cover the top of the head. They are worn well forward, and on the side, partly covering the forehead and one ear.

DEMURRERS OF PLAYERS OVERRULED

Casts of "Bad Badies" and "Girlesque" Show Enter Pleas of Not Guilty

Demurrers to the complaints charging participation in indecent shows against members of the cast of "Bad Babies," Figueroa Playhouse show, and actresses in the "Girlesque" show at 541 South Main street, were overruled yesterday by Municipal Judge Bullock. The defendants in both cases were ordered to plead.

W. J. Clark, attorney for the "Bad Babies" group, entered pleas of not guilty and requested jury trial for his clients, while Jesse Schaffer, representing the Main-street defendants, did the same. The cases were transferred to Judge Bogue's court for jury setting.

The Main-street case, with Alice Parker, Coryl Powell, Margie Ager, Babe Perry, Myrtle Panhurst, Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. Gene Gulon, will be tried on November 5, next. Judge Bogue refused to set a date for the trial of Jobyna Ralston, Arthur Rankin, Mervin Williams, Norman Peck, Elinor Flynn, Annette Westbay, Dario Shindell, George Scarborough and Frank Jennings of the "Bab Babies," when several of the defendants failed to appear in his court after leaving that of Judge Bullock. He ordered all of them to return on Thursday when the date for jury trial will be set.

CLUB NOTES

Starts Fourteenth Year

Beginning its fourteenth year of club work the Beverly Hills Woman's Club opens at 2 p.m. today, with the new president, Mrs. Karl Murdock, in the chair.

For a new French study section the organization has obtained as director Mme. Yvonne Soudart-Balboni, a native Parisienne educated in France, England and Germany. For three years she served in the secretariat of the League of Nations. Mrs. Randolph Carter is curator of the section.

Mrs. Josiah Kirby has been selected curator of the psychology section, with Mrs. J. Jerome Canavan, immediate past president of the club, directing the study.

The program of the first meeting will be provided by the California Mixed Quartet, Irmalee Campbell, Eleanor Bryan, Charles King and Bodan Gilowitz, remembered for their work in the Mission Play the past season.

Tea at Gaylord

A tea complimentary to members of the League of American Pen Women will be given at 2 p.m. today in the Gaylord, 3355 Wilshire Boulevard, where a literary program will be presented by Mrs. Jessie Tarbox Beals, formerly of the New York branch, and Mrs. W. H. Anderson. Mrs. Guy Bush will give a musical lecture, and Miss Annette Beals will preside at the tea urns.

University Book Club

Mrs. E. Keith Harkness, president of the University Book Club, will conduct her "president's reception" at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Artland Club, 1719 South Figueroa street.

Assisting in the receiving line will be Mmes. S. Hamlyn, Charles L. Bogue, M. J. Boyd, Ella Adams, K. J. Brandthill, Mary C. Prohock, A. G. Wild, Julia Kennedy, R. S. Goodrich, Louise Haas, E. S. "Conservation" is the theme of this year's meetings of Hillside Parent-Teacher Association, and the idea of "conserving" boys and girls will be stressed by a county probation officer, at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the school auditorium, Avenue 35 and Griffin avenue.

Mrs. Garrel W. Starr will preside, and a playlet will be presented by fourth-grade pupils under the direction of their teacher, Miss Pauline Scharf.

CHEST FIGURES SCALE OF GIFTS

Table of Contributions on Incomes Worked Out

Greater Needs of Charities Demand Larger Sums

Fund to be Raised This Year Fifth More Than Last

J. A. H. Kerr, campaign chairman of the Community Chest, announces that in order to raise this year's quota of $3,200,000, the largest in history, representing a needed increase of 21 per cent over the amount raised last year, a suggested scale of giving has been established by Chest campaign headquarters which will form the basis for all contributions to be asked by the unpaid volunteer army of more than 15,000 solicitors beginning November 12, the official opening date of the Chest campaign.

J.A.H. KERR

In making the announcement, Kerr pointed out that the 131 member agencies of the Community Chest need more adequate financing in the face of mounting service demands. During the last five years Chest budgets have increased a bare 3 per cent; notwithstanding that 50 per cent more service was rendered by Chest agencies this year than in 1925. The population of Los Angeles has increased 25 per cent during this period.

SUPPORT INADEQUATE

"Campaign headquarters of the Community Chest," Kerr said, in urging serious consideration to the scale of giving, "feeling that there is a widespread inadequacy of support by those in a position to substantially subscribe, has completed an intensive investigation of the relative subscriptions which should be asked, basing such estimates upon net worth coupled with annual income. A scale of giving has been established, based upon similar tabulations used in other leading Community Chest cities. These amounts must be contributed by persons of various incomes if the Community Chest is to attain its goal.

"The tremendous problems which face the member agencies of the Chest are of such vital concern to the well-being of the community that I bespeak a most earnest consideration on the part of everyone. The emergency which exists is strikingly defined in the 1929 campaign slogan—'Please give more—the need is greater!'"

Official of Rail Association Will Witness Equipment Tests

V. R. Hawthorne, secretary of the mechanical division of the American Railway Association, spent yesterday at the Alexandria en route to Hornbrook and Eugene, Or., to witness the tests that are being made by the railroads in brakes and other railway equipment.

"These tests are to be made on grades of the Mt. Shasta district and will deal with freight trains of fifty, 100 and 150 cars. It is anticipated that definite improvements in safety and efficiency will result," he said.

MATE "SPOILED," WIFE ASSERTS

Marital Woes Attributed To Their Living With Mother-in-Law

Going to live with his mother-in-law spoiled Richard Savage, according to testimony of his wife, Mrs. Alta Savage, yesterday before Superior Judge Yankwich. She was granted a divorce.

"After our marriage on November 26, 1927, we went to live with my mother," Mrs. Savage testified. "That spoiled my husband. After that he would not support me or buy me any clothes."

The couple separated on December 27, 1928, according to the complaint.

GIRL HORSE TRADER NOW IS FAMED STYLE PROPHET

Manufacturers of fabrics for women's clothing reward generously those modern oracles who can forecast the trend of fashions six months or a year ahead.

Mistakes are costly. Fabric mill operators and wholesale cloth merchants try to avoid losses by hiring alert young women to tell them what the feminine world will be asking for in the way of clothing a season or two later. And the experts earn from $36,000 to $60,000 yearly.

Alma Archer was one of the thousands of girls who arrive each year in New York to launch their careers.

Five years ago she left Galesburg, Ill., and arrived in New York with $7 in her handbag. Her experience consisted of horse trading with gypsies whose trail crossed Galesburg, a year as secretary to a local railroad official and a year doing magazine editorial work in Chicago.

Miss Archer worked awhile as secretary to the merchandising manager of a large department store, then went to Paris to watch the fashion wheels go round. She returned to New York and became an adviser on styles to buyers for big department stores in various parts of the country.

She made tests of her forecasts and found that her batting average was high enough to warrant a position as style prophet to mills, wholesale houses and retail dealers.

HAROLD J. STONIER TO GIVE CLUB ADDRESS

"Making Friends of Bankers" will be the subject of Harold J. Stonier, speaker on tomorrow morning's program at the Breakfast Club, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Stonier is vice-president and educational director of the American Banking Institute of New York. He is a former vice-president of U.S.C., and well-known in Los Angeles. Among the guests will be other eastern bankers and E. L. Copeland, treasurer of the Santa Fe Railway, all of whom attended the bankers' convention last week in San Francisco. Entertainment will be offered by Eleanor Woodford, soprano; Beatrice Huntley, contralto; Henry Cantor, tenor; Harry Ershoff, baritone, and Ignacio Ruffino and Luis Rocco, basses, all principals of the Los Angeles Community Grand Opera Association, directed by Manuel Sanchez De Lara. The hosts will be Roy A. Rogers and G. Fred Wehrly.

POLO FIELD AUTHORIZED

An ordinance adopted yesterday by Council grants to the Los Angeles Athletic Club permission to build a polo field on Beverly Boulevard near Capri Drive.

INSURANCE MAN DIES IN OFFICE

C. T. Inman, President of Inman Corporation, Victim of Heart Disease

Suffering a heart attack as he sat at his desk in his office in the Bartlett Building, Charles T. Inman, president of the Inman Corporation, loan and insurance company, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. He was 71 years of age.

In the office at the time were two of his children, Richard Inman and Mrs. Eleanor Reissnyder, who are connected with the firm. They summoned Dr. Gustave Haas, but Mr. Inman was dead before the physician arrived. Funeral arrangements will be made by Reed Brothers Company.

Mr. Inman came to this city in 1907 from Ohio, where he had been in the drug business and shortly after he arrived here he went into the loan and insurance business. He lived at 316 Westminster avenue. In addition to his two children who were in the office at the time of his death he leaves his widow, Mrs. Marian B. Inman, and three other children, Mrs. Ligon Ard of this city, Mrs. Lisle R. Davis of Winterhaven, Fla., and Mrs. Ralph R. Corlett of Auburndale, Fla.

"NOW I BUY ONLY ONE SOAP"

"I used to buy two soaps—one for fine things and the other for the dishes and heavy washing. But now I know from actual experience that one—White King Granulated Soap—is perfect for every household use."

White King keeps the sheerest hosiery and dainty lingerie like new. It preserves their silken sheen, their lovely softness. In fact, any silk or rayon that water will not harm, can be washed safely in White King. And it takes so little! One spoonful will do in place of two or three of most other soaps.

No wonder White King—the soap for every household use—is considered by leading garment manufacturers and department stores the finest and most economical soap you can buy.

WHITE KING SOAP FOR EVERY HOUSEHOLD USE

AN OPEN LETTER to the grocers of Los Angeles

Libby's 100 Foods now enjoy the most comprehensive advertising campaign ever used to promote the sale of any line of canned foods.

We are taking this means of telling you about it because it would be impossible for our salesmen to reach you all before the full concentrated drive begins.

To the national magazines, to the illuminated outdoor bulletins, to striking newspaper advertising—another series begins in this and other Los Angeles papers next Friday—we now add radio broadcasting.

There are two fascinating Libby programs each week broadcast over a coast-to-coast network. Your customers will hear them over KFI.

Every Tuesday evening at 5:30 there is a musical program, "Around the World with Libby." The quality of these programs—by the Libby Concert Orchestra under Josef Pasternack, with eminent guest artists—is a true reflection of the quality of Libby's 100 Foods.

These Tuesday programs acquaint their hearers with the world-wide prestige of Libby's 100 Foods. Each week they present the music of some one country where Libby's Foods are known and enjoyed. As this includes every country in the world, the variety and possibilities of these programs are unlimited.

The Wednesday programs are broadcast at 10:15 A. M., an hour when almost all housewives are at home.

This series is one of special utility to your customers. It is broadcast by Mary Hale Martin, Home Economics Expert for Libby, McNeill & Libby, and it gives many valuable household hints and recipes.

Four months' experience with this morning series has demonstrated that we have found something women really want. Literally thousands of letters have come to Mary Hale Martin's desk from women all over the country, expressing appreciation of her talks and asking for her recipes, which naturally include Libby's Foods.

With the beginning of the newspaper campaign next week many grocers in Los Angeles will specially feature Libby's products through sales or display. Throughout Los Angeles grocers are now placing orders for Libby's California Peaches and other California fruits, for Libby's Hawaiian Pineapple, for Libby's Vegetables, Pickles and Condiments, Canned Meats, Alaska Salmon, and Evaporated Milk.

Ready for you now is a large quantity of effective Libby display materials. Phone Libby's Los Angeles headquarters, Trinity 1761-2-3, for your supply.

DURING THE FIRST PART OF JULY, 1918, VON HINDENBURG WAS PREPARING A GREAT GERMAN DRIVE THAT WOULD BREAK THROUGH THE FRENCH LINE ON BOTH SIDES OF RHEIMS, CAPTURE CHALONS AND EPERNAY, AND EXPOSE PARIS TO ATTACK FROM THE SOUTHEAST.

BY DAY NO SIGNS OF UNUSUAL ACTIVITY COULD BE SEEN IN THE GERMAN TRENCHES TO AROUSE THE SUSPICIONS OF THE WATCHFUL ALLIED AIRMEN, BUT AT NIGHT THE TRENCHES BEHIND THE GERMAN LINE WERE ALIVE WITH TROOPS MOVING UP TO THE FRONT.

WITH GREAT SKILL HINDENBURG MASSED 50 DIVISIONS (650,000 MEN) OPPOSITE THE FRENCH LINE FROM CHÂTEAU THIERRY EAST ALMOST TO THE ARGONNE FOREST. MANY DAYS WERE SPENT BRINGING UP THE 2,000 BATTERIES THAT WERE TO BLAST A BREACH FOR THE INFANTRY.

THE GERMAN PLAN OF BATTLE (SHOWN ABOVE) WAS EXCELLENT. THE ATTACK WAS TO BE GERMANY'S SUPREME EFFORT. IF IT SUCCEEDED, THE ALLIED LINE WOULD BE SHATTERED AND FINAL VICTORY WITHIN GERMANY'S GRASP. [illegible]

comes the greatest news of all from the Mac-Kek-Nee bakers

—today we bring to Los Angeles homes our Masterpiece

"MACK'S HIGHLAND BREAD"

Read about the new Scotch Twist, the new blended flavor, the natural flour, the amazing food value of this, our finest loaf of bread

This new bread was planned for you twelve years ago. Our idea was to prepare for you a loaf of bread that could be truly called the staff of life. Mothers will marvel at the length to which we have gone to produce this perfect loaf. They will welcome Highland bread as the most worthy of all good food for growing children.

As you taste the nut-sweet flavor of this [illegible] tender crust, consider that more than a score of years was spent perfecting this loaf for you.

As you enjoy the richer blended goodness of a creamy slice, think that we travelled thousands of miles learning this secret of blending from famous bakers all over [illegible].

As you watch dainty morsels of Highland bread disappear behind satisfied smiles of your children, know that nowhere can you match the food value they are enjoying.

Notice the texture of Highland bread. Separate the slices and look at each one. This fine snowy texture, like angel food, is the result of our own Scotch twist. After much experimenting we learned that a certain twist before baking gives this bread the perfect texture you see.

One of the most remarkable features of this new bread is the fact that only natural flour is used. This means that the flour we use is not bleached by chemicals but is the pure, natural wheat heart.

This is the result of a great achievement in baking, the recent discovery of famous research bakers.

It brings you in Highland bread, a food value that surpasses all other breads . . . that is proved more beneficial for growth than such worthy foods as eggs and milk.

Every morsel of this new bread is life-giving goodness. Every loaf must pass the most rigid of all baking tests for purity, for food value, for flavor.

Thus we are proud to give you our assurance that no one can go to greater lengths to produce the perfect loaf of bread than we have done in this Highland bread.

Food experts tell us we bring you a loaf that is truly the staff of life.

They point out that ten slices of Highland bread each day supply more than half the food value every child needs for healthy happy growth.

They prove that this needed food value is quickly helpful because almost entirely digested, goes to build sturdy bodies, energy, resistance to sickness.

They say that no other food or combination of foods compares in value with Highland bread.

Thus our twelve years of constant endeavor make it possible for you to serve today, for a few pennies, the most valuable of all good foods.

To make Highland bread doubly welcome in your home we have sliced each loaf into even, dainty slices, ready to serve.

Now children help themselves to health : : . picnics are prepared in a jiffy . . . bread is quickly served for every meal . . . and quick toast becomes a revelation in bread goodness.

Today for a new delight, for new food economy, for many new conveniences, for your children's health, serve this masterpiece of baking, Mack's Highland Bread.

Look for the new plaid wrapper and the gay Scotch piper at your grocer's. Remember the name soon to be famous in Los Angeles, Mack's Highland Bread. It is truly the staff of life.

DAVIS RECITES WIFE'S FAULTS

Cemetery Owner Charges She Kept Late Hours

"You'd Be Surprised" Only Reply to Questioning

Finding of Other Man With Her in Home Related

On one occasion when Mrs. Clara Davis was out late at night and her husband asked her where she had been she merely replied: "you'd be surprised," Len C. Davis, Glendale cemetery owner, testified yesterday when the hearing of the wife's divorce complaint and his cross-petition was resumed before Superior Judge Guerin.

Davis, opening the testimony on his cross-complaint, accused his wife of going out at nights and having improper relations with other men.

"I reprimanded her for going out at nights alone and remaining out so late," Davis said. "I told her it didn't look nice."

"What did she say?" asked his counsel, Attorney Leo Daze.

DISCOVERS OTHER MAN

"Well, once when I asked her where she had been she said: 'You'd be surprised.'"

The husband then said that on one occasion he left his home to go to his gun club and after leaving the house discovered he had forgotten some of his paraphernalia and went back to get it.

"When I got back to the house I found my wife in the breakfast nook with a man—an undertaker."

The husband under questioning said that the conduct of his wife had caused him great mental and physical distress. He attributed an attack of neuritis partly due to her actions.

The husband also described a trip to his home after April 10, last, the date he and his wife parted, declaring he could not get into the house as all the locks had been changed.

WIFE DENIES ALL

Practically the entire afternoon of the day was given over to the testimony of Mrs. Davis who took the witness stand and denied each and every charge made by her husband.

Mrs. Davis, under the examination of her attorneys, William Anderson and Lawrence Cobb, denied going out alone at nights and emphatically asserted she never had been on too friendly terms with John E. Krieger and James McDonald, the men Davis named as co-respondents.

No testimony was offered during the session yesterday, while Davis was on the witness stand, to offset that given by Mrs. Davis earlier in the hearing accusing her husband of improper conduct with his stenographer, Miss Virginia Long.

The hearing of the case, relative to community property and the disposition of the Davises two children, Leonard, 17 years of age, and Milton, 8, will continue today.

While repairing an iron fence at Bristol, Eng., recently, James Grimble, 61 years of age, was killed by lightning.

ACTRESS TO TAKE MARITAL VACATION

Elinor Fair

FILM PAIR FINDS YOKE IRKSOME

"Friendly Parting" from Elinor Fair Announced by William Boyd, Spouse

William Boyd, film actor, and his screen-actress wife, Elinor Fair, have come to the parting of the ways, according to Boyd's admission at the Pathe studios yesterday. Word of the separation came as a surprise to their friends in the film colony.

WILLIAM BOYD

"We just agreed to disagree," Boyd declared in discussing his marital break. "We are still friendly and our parting came after a number of disagreements. Divorce has not been mentioned nor can I say whether there is a possibility of a reconciliation."

The romance between Boyd and Miss Fair had its inception when they were cast together in "The Volga Boatman," in which Boyd played the leading role and Miss Fair the princess.

SILENT ARCS DEVISED FOR TONE FILMS

Engineers of City Perfect Lighting System Which Will Save Studios Millions

A device designed to eliminate the noises produced by high-intensity carbon lights and thus making possible their use in connection with the production of talking pictures has just been perfected by city engineers, it was learned yesterday. It is the result of research carried on by J. C. Alberts and A. N. Owens of the test section of the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, in co-operation with Wallace Oettel, chief electrician at Metropolitan studios.

The invention, technical details of which are not announced, will render unnecessary the scrapping of millions of dollars' worth of lighting equipment. Since the advent of sound pictures the carbon arc-lamps have been discarded in favor of incandescents, due to the humming, high-pitched whistle which in the past has accompanied their operation. The problem was made additionally confounding by the fact that incandescents are not as conducive to high-quality photography.

Recently E. F. Scattergood, chief electrical engineer of the city, detailed T. A. Panter, in charge of operations, to make the facilities of the test section available for research. As the result of experiments they fashioned a device and applied it directly to the generating plant at Metropolitan studios. Scenes produced with carbon lamps to which the new attachment had been fitted yesterday were pronounced successful.

SCHUMANN-HEINK TO AID TROJAN ORATORIO

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink is to sing the contralto role of the oratorio "Elijah" as one of the outstanding events of the semicentennial celebration program of the University of Southern California in May-June, 1930, according to announcement of Prof. Arthur Perry, chairman of the music committee of the S. C. semicentennial, and assistant dean of the Trojan college of music.

Mme. Schumann-Heink received the honorary degree of master of music from the University of Southern California in 1922. The oratorio is to be given in Shrine Auditorium.

VETERANS SPONSOR CACTI EXHIBITION

An exhibit of cacti and succulent plants will be held for the benefit of Post 1732, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at 1114 South Main street, the 18th to 21st inst., inclusive, R. C. Foote announced yesterday. The post is a new one just organized last month. Ralph Haylette is its commander. It occupies temporary headquarters in American Legion Hall. Foote said a number of nurseyman will provide professional displays, but that the exhibition will be open especially for amateurs.

WILL ROGERS TO PLAY OWN LIFE

Lasky Star Will Appear in First Zane Gray Talker; Lena Malena Wins Role in "Hell's Angels;" Estelle Taylor Triumphs in Two-a-Day

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It was a foregone conclusion that, as soon as talkers came into vogue, Will Rogers, conceded to be our greatest living humorist, would be a knockout, especially if they let him talk his own lines. Though Rogers never took acting lessons from Booth and Barret, he has a wonderful personality, and this, combined with the brilliancy of his mind, is bound to make him a big success. His first Fox picture, "They Had to See Paris," is proving to be one of the hits, and that in a day when most of the sound pictures are musical comedies.

WILL ROGERS

Rogers's next picture has just been decided on. It will be called "By the Way, Bill," and is based on the history of the humorist-actor's own life. Ben Ames Williams has been given the assignment of writing it.

William K. Howard will direct the screen-acting phases, with Henry Kolker as director of dialogue. The pair recently made what promises to be a success in Georgie Jessel's picture, "Love, Live and Laugh."

GARY COOPER PLAYS ZANE GREY'S HERO

It looks as though the "western" is coming back into popularity. Anyway, Paramount feels that way about it to such an extent that they are planning several of this sort of stories.

The first of these will be Zane Grey's newest novel, "Fighting Caravans," to be made as a talker and shooter, according to word received yesterday from Jesse Lasky.

GARY COOPER

Gary Cooper is to be starred in "Fighting Caravans," which is another story having to do with the travels and travails of covered wagons trekking westward in pioneer days. Actual filming is due to start as soon as Cooper completes work in "Medals." Otto Brower will direct.

"Fighting Caravans" will be the first Zane Grey story to be brought to the screen as a talker.

Gary Cooper and the west long have been associated, as the star was brought up on a Montana cattle ranch, and several of his most popular roles for Paramount have been in stories of the west. His recent work in "The Virginian" caused his selection for this new starring part.

Lena Malena With Caddo

That charming young German actress, Lena Malena, was sure to attract attention sooner or later. And now it looks as though the fraulein were to score heavily.

LENA MALENA

Miss Malena has just been signed by Howard Hughes for a prominent role in "Hell's Angels." She will be featured in a comedy ingenue role as a German bar-maid. Refilming of "Hell's Angels," with sound and dialogue began this week.

Miss Malena formerly was a German star with U.F.A. She came to this country under contract to Pathe.

Paramount's New Color Process

A high-speed color-photography process is announced as perfected by Paramount camera experts, working in conjunction with representatives of the Technicolor Corporation.

The improved process now makes it possible to photograph in natural colors the swiftest of movement—movement that the ordinary motion-picture camera was too slow to catch except at start and finish.

Paramount and Technicolor proved the worth of this new development by special shots made of an Albertina Rasch ballet of twenty-four girls in a number that was extremely rapid. The girls were told to do the steps as rapidly as possible. The tests showed that the camera had captured each position and movement of the feet. These scenes will be shown in William Powell's newest picture, "Pointed Heels."

Myrna Loy With Fox

Fox is apparently determined that "Cameo Kirby" shall have an excellent cast.

Now it is no other than Myrna Loy who has been signed by that organization to portray a featured role in the picture, which costars Norma Lerriss and J. Harold Murray, and which Irving Cummings will direct.

Miss Loy has made her mark in several important productions, notably in "The Desert Song."

Estelle Taylor in Vaudeville

We hear that Estelle Taylor is having a triumphal time on her vaudeville tour, which opened in Springfield, Ill., on September 29. From there she went to Detroit and will shortly visit Indianapolis, Cleveland, Buffalo and finally at the Palace in New York about November 1.

Virginia Lee Corbin Here

Following a several months' stay in New York, Virginia Lee Corbin has returned to Hollywood.

Picture offers tempted Miss Corbin to come back to the old stamping ground.

Natalie Moorhead In It

That charming actress, Natalie Moorhead, has been signed to play an important part in Fox's production of "The Romance of the Rio Grande," we learned yesterday. Al Santell is directing.

Miss Moorhead is a New York stage favorite. She came West under contract to appear in talking pictures. She has also appeared here and in San Francisco in a couple of Duffy productions.

J. J. Gain Leaves Lasky

J. J. Gain, formerly executive manager of the Hollywood studio of Paramount, who recently was assigned a special post in connection with the physical operation of eastern and western studios of the company, has resigned that position. Announcement was made yesterday of the fact.

The executive will take a vacation before announcing his future plans. His departure brings to a close a ten-year association with Paramount.

Roy Mack With Warners

Another protege of Gus Edwards is cutting a niche for himself in the talkers.

Roy Mack, who received his first theatrical experience under Edwards's tutelage as a member of his original School Days Revue, has been signed to direct Vitaphone Varieties for Warner Brothers.

Mack's first effort for Warners will be the direction of "Minstrel Days," a short-reel sketch with a cast of forty colored entertainers, including Mosby's Dixieland Blue Blowers.

His second feature will be another shorty called "Dance of the Paper Dolls," to be made in technicolor, it is announced by Bryan Foy, executive in charge of Vitaphone Varieties. Geneva Mitchell will have the lead.

George Jessel Departs

Georgie Jessel is to depart on Sunday for New York, where he will stay just long enough to attend a dinner being given there in his honor, then return to the Fox studio to begin another picture.

It is rumored that this picture will be a circus story, and that Georgie will have the role of a clown. Sharon Lynn, we hear, will be his leading lady.

Tom Reed Retained

Universal has exercised its option on the services of Tom Reed, assistant editor-in-chief of the Universal scenario department, and has signed him to a new contract.

Million Shows 'Fast Company'

Comedy and romance in a harmonious blend bring laurels to Jack Oakie in "Fast Company," Paramount's all-talking Ring Lardner-George M. Cohan story, featuring Evelyn Brent, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher and Gwen Lee, now showing at the Million Dollar Theater.

The charming femininity of Evelyn Brent, smart mannered, city-bred girl who finally unbends to the naive graciousness of the king of the baseball diamond whom she had at first thought to be a "hick," provides a startling background for the rapid-fire dialogue as Ring Lardner himself wrote it. Joseph Cherniavsky and his Classic-Jazz Band are another feature of the program.

DYNAMIC PLAY RUNS RAMPANT

"Lulu Belle" Hits Rapid Tempo Throughout

Dorothy Burgess Scores As Salome in Sepia

Maze of Characters Add to Entertainment

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

If you have ears to hear, veritably they will be assailed should you happen to go to the Belasco Theater in the ensuing weeks. For there, "Lulu Belle" is being presented and it goes a mad nightmarish pace from Harlem to Paris, with stops only at the most important points between.

This is a show! Take it or leave it as you will. But rest assured that you will not be bored.

"Lulu Belle" is a long time in reaching the show world here. This fantastic carnival of negro life, written by Edward Sheldon and Charles MacArthur, the latter of whom authored "The Front Page" was a starring piece for Lenore Ulric in the East. It is not being played by her here but it will make the fame of the young actress that it does present.

Dorothy Burgess, it is, who is playing the name role. She was seen in "The Squall" on the stage some months ago, and she was the trouble-making siren of "In Old Arizona" after that. This, however, is her first real role.

"Lulu Belle" comes in the class of dynamic entertainment, and I do not believe that its frenzy has abated much since it was first given. Certainly the play and its production moved with a rhythmical swiftness last evening. The presentation is certainly far and away the best that has been associated with any pla, here in many moons. And the play is difficult. For no less than sixty characters wander through its maelstrom, and most of them are seen only once.

Fierce in its intensity is this melodrama of the Harlem colored quarter, and ever ingenious in its situations. It has a strong and consecutive plot that opens wildly on a tumultuous street corner, where brawls, weddings, quarrels and love-making follow each other in stormy succession. In the midst of the turmoil and rout enters the Carmenesque heroine, a bit more dashing and magnetic than the others around her. Her life is an erotic whirlwind. She steals one girl's lover away, and then fights her rough-and-tumble. This duty done, she proceeds to vamp the best man of a wedding, incidentally a man who, himself, has been married seven times.

This is the real beginning of Lulu Belle's career as exhibited upon the stage, and it progresses through mischief and villainy until the moment when she tosses the lover whose life she had ruined away and sails for Paris with an effete French vicomte. That she should meet a tragic end is in the web of the fates from the beginning, but how it actually comes about is too interesting to be divulged at this particular juncture.

There is no question but that the impressions hammered over across the footlights in "Lulu Belle" are of a sensational sort. There is no restraint in its realism. It goes the limit of daring, and though there are moments that touch the note of overdoing because of this, there are plenty that compensate in their pictorial and hectic force. There is never a let-down to the vividness of the scenes, and rarely to their clamor. The one in the cabaret is unforgettable in its fierce power.

And at all events—this is a play!

Miss Dorothy Burgess really achieves a stellar performance in the stellar role. There were those who had seen the New York production who compared her even more than favorably with Miss Ulric. Perhaps a shade or two more of subtlety in the interpretation might have been demanded by the critical, but there is no doubt of the earnestness and vitality of her work. Her dancing too in the cabaret scene caused a veritable thrill, and brought her a big ovation immediately and at the close of the act. Throughout the play, she never failed to make the character interesting, even in the scenes which are of their very nature repellent. Miss Burgess will be highly established as an actress because of this piece.

There are a score of supporting characters well played in this piece, but the major credit goes to Russell Hopton, Walter C. Percival, and Pierre De Ramey. One loses track of many of the others in the furious shuffle, but the production as a whole is remarkably done.

JOLSON SCORES WITH SONGS

New Warner Effort Pleasing in Melodies; Personal Appearance of Star Applauded

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

With Al Jolson personally adding to the glamor of the occasion, "Say It With Songs" achieved an elaborate premiere last night at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater. This is the first Jolson feature since "The Singing Fool" and is certain to renew the popularity of its star because of his voice, and the pathetic elements in its story. Scenes toward the close of the film had a large percentage of the audience in tears, and there was applause for "Little Pal," which is by way of being the theme song of the production, and several other numbers.

"Say It With Songs" is not worlds removed from "The Singing Fool" in the substance of its plot. There are different situations, of course, but it is the love of the singing hero for his child that proves the guiding theme. Little Davey Lee is in the role of the youngster which makes this particular resemblance somewhat more patent.

It is as a prize-fighter and radio singer that Jolson is cast. The combination is, to say the least, odd, but the prize-fighting is only discussed incidentally and is to establish the fact that Jolson could deliver a blow with his fist that was powerful enough to prove fatal. For this he spends a portion of the story in prison, but doesn't lose his voice. Indeed, he entertains the inmates with his songs.

For all that is plot may be a strain upon the probabilities, there is no lack of interest in this production and the star himself discloses a well-defined appeal throughout. There is no question but that Jolson has the capacity for touching the heart of the audience and that he does it not only with his singing but with the spoken word.

Interesting are the supporting performances given by Marian Nixon, Holmes Herbert and other principals in the picture. Miss Nixon seems to display distinct qualifications for the talking picture medium. The sympathy in her work is very marked. Kenneth Thomson, Fred Kohler and John Bowers are in the production, and the film was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Jolson himself made a personal appearance before the showing of the picture, and remarked lightly upon something he had said over the radio about "too many premieres" at the opening of Warner's Downtown Theater. He kept the audience laughing through a goodly portion of his talk, and as usual scored a great personal hit. He also sang "Little Pal."

In addition to the feature a short subject called "Stimulation," with Johnny Arthur and Beatrice Blinn, was shown, that had some amusing situations and dialogue.

'RIGOLETTO' BRILLIANT OFFERING

Fine Voices Win Favor of Audience; Costuming Also Feature

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

"Rigoletto," the perfect example of Italian opera, held an audience enthralled at the Shrine Auditorium last night. Danise as "Rigoletto" concentrated the attention with the intensity and emotion of his singing. Lauri-Volpi captivated his listeners with the power of his high notes, his good looks and the abandon of his love-making, while charming little Nina Morgana was an appealing Gilda and displayed lovely qualities of voice. Cimini conducted with skill and finesse.

The opera was set in the conventional manner, but exceptionally well costumed. The chorus sang to the queen's taste, but the courtiers and later the ruffians got in each others' way a bit and gave the onlooker the impression of crowding. Minor difficulties did not seriously mar an unusually finished performance.

This "Rigoletto" was another jewel in the crown which the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association is earning for itself in this season of splendid productions. There is a sense of ease and assurance in the company which permeates the audience and creates an enjoyment and pleasure which has not been equaled in any past season.

Giuseppe Danise has sung here before, but to my mind he has not reached the heights of last night's pathetic, tragic and wicked old hunchback in any previous performance here. He was easily the star of the production because of a smooth bel canto, phrasing, musical taste and the powerful restraint of his acting.

Morgana is one of the few operatic sopranos who looks plausible as an object of a beautiful tenor's affections. Her singing, although not effortless and too often weakened by nervousness, awakens a certain tender response and her acting as Gilda is wholly convincing.

Lauri-Volpi carried the crowd by storm of his vocal utterance. His gay ways not only ensnared the hearts of the stage beauties he was intended to conquer but the entire audience broke into waves of clapping in all the right places and he was inspired to toss his cup far over the invariable stone wall after "La Donna e Mobile" in sheer exuberance. Seriously analysing the Volpi success, I am inclined to attribute it to a marvelous perfection of phrasing and not particularly to his voice which for the most part seems but slightly louder and higher than most tenors of the opera. However, it is also his luck to be an Adonis and an actor.

Eva Atkinson, a new singer, in the part of Maddalena, was effective in the notorious quartet "Bella figlia dell' amore," and the opera achieved a splendid climax in this act.

Verdi wrote interesting music and beautiful for the opera and Cimini made much of it, controlling the orchestra with its unusually rich tone quality and balancing it against the singers to a nicety.

Noted Thespian Scores Hit in Show Shop Play

Jerome K. Jerome's "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," starring Ian Maclaren, the Cristus of the Pilgrimage Play, has been held over for another week at the Glendale Show Shop. Maclaren is giving a masterly portrayal of the "Stranger," the part created by Forbes Robertson. Gertrude Elliot's part of the Cockney slavey is being played by Doris Mortlock. Gladys Kingsbury is the landlady.

The production has been aptly cast with such recognized names as Eddie Morris, London music hall star; Edward Porter, Arthur Belasco, Mira McKinney, Robert Ingersol, Mildred Meade and Kenneth Von Egidy.

The direction is under Thomas Mills, who made such a success of the theater in the spring. He has returned with a new policy of a guest star for each performance. "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" will be followed by "The Trial of Mary Dugan," starring Creighton Hale in the part of Jimmy.

BILLIE DOVE FILM COMES TO LOEW'S

"Her Private Life" Will Include Versatile Cast of Players

Billie Dove in "Her Private Life," announced as the next attraction for Loew's State, starting Thursday, reveals the life and loves of a titled English lady in what is described as a fascinatingly and subtly risque romance, dignified by the beauty, charm and motives of its heroine.

The attractive voice of Billie Dove, already revealed in a former picture, is again added to her gorgeously gowned beauty in this all-talking production from First National-Vitaphone.

Walter Pidgeon sings as well as talks in his role of lover to the aristocratic and extravagant lady who, repelled by her drunken husband's conduct, yields to romance elsewhere. Holmes Herbert, Montague Love, Roland Young and Thelma Todd are in the cast and the picture is adapted from Zoe Akins's stage hit, "Declassee."

"Side Street" Cast Includes Three Brothers

The three Moore Brothers, Tom, Owen and Matt, are to be seen together in one picture. "Side Street," which comes to the R.-K.-O. Theater Thursday, serves as the vehicle to bring these three popular screen stars together for the first time in their long careers before the camera.

Each of the Moore brothers has attained stardom during his career on the screen and it remained for Radio Pictures to present them together and give the public an opportunity to not only see them together for the first time but also to hear them, as "Side Street" is an all-talking production.

George O'Hara wrote the story long before the cast had been selected, but it appears that he must have had the three brothers somewhere in his mind when he penned it. Tom is seen as a Manhattan cop, Matt as a police surgeon and Owen as the king of racketeers with Owen keeping his means of livelihood secret from the family. Emma Dunn, who was recently seen here on the stage in "Courage," and Frank Sheridan have the paternal and maternal roles. Mal St. Clair directed.

REVIVAL STIRS AVID AUDIENCE

Boucicault Drama Given as in 1868

Thrilling Situations Cause Laughs and Tears

Frank Wilcox Leads Versatile Group of Players

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

The Biltmore Theater, one of the more refined and genteel playhouses of our city, last evening suffered such a horrifying loss of dignity as has not been noted in these parts for many years. To its stage there came a company of traveling players in a melodrama by Dion Boucicault, who will be remembmered, perhaps, as the instigator of such properties as "How She Loved Him," "A Dark Night's Work," "Led Astray" and "The Streets of New York." And to its basement, a full-panoplied and shameless saloon with beers being served to an eager and shouting clientele of presumed ladies and gentlemen who so far forgot themselves, alas, as to partake of them.

The play was "After Dark," or, "Neither Maid, Wife Nor Widow." Staged much in the fashion of 1868, when the prolific Boucicault's genius was finding complete and satisfying expression, it will prove an unmitigated delight to everyone who loves the theater—and even, I am tempted to add, the circus. Acted to the hilt by a troupe versed in the delineation of palmy-day character, it abounds in humor and pathos and thrills of that dear dead day when heroes felt so honest a passion for heroines that they could confess it without a blush, and for their pains were laid before onrushing locomotives charging from the mouths of tunnels.

Who can fail to be profoundly stirred by such moments as that in which Eliza and George are parted by cruel fate, as they believe, forever; or that in which Old Tom, despised among beggars, plunges into the river to the rescue of the drowning Eliza; or that in which the same Old Tom, hearing from her lips words which establish her irrefutably as his own daughter, cries out in his joy, "It is my little Fanny!" How one longs to lay hands on the dastardly Richard Knatch Bull, whose villanies threaten the happiness, aye, the very lives of those unfortunates who cross his path! And how one rejoices in the defiance flung in his teeth by the magnificent Capt. Chumley, gallant soldier of fortune and Civil War veteran!

"After Dark" has many more such soul-shaking scenes. It is, indeed, all soul-shaking scenes. Only in those lighter, gayer interludes during which the various members of the company come before the olio to render such elegant songs as "Buffalo Gals" (by the Buffalo Boys;) "She Has Fallen by the Wayside," "My Mother Was a Lady," and "MacSorley's Twins" may one forget ever so briefly the plight of the lovers and their staunch friends. It distresses me to report, in passing, that the ladies and gentlemen of the audience so far forgot this plight, and I may add, themselves, that they accompanied Mr. Thomas Bradley's rendition of the last-named with a disgraceful stamping of feet, and worse still, the firing of missiles of every kind—coins, programs, candy, anything—at the poor unprotected head of the fellow. I trust this will not happen again.

The "aside," it develops, preceded Mr. O'Neill and "Strange Interlude" by a sizable half-century at least. Not the least amusing aspect of the performance is the earnest and intense manner in which the players turn to the audience and divulge their deductions, to the obliviousness of those who are standing no more than a foot or two away from them.

The device is imperative. Boucicault had so much to say that his first act, for instance, was necessarily exposition for the most part. Thus Eliza, at the mention of Morris, breathlessly sums up the identity of the gentleman: "Morris? Do you mean my old employer at the music hall where you first met me?" It is all likely to take you a little unaware, if you are not careful. But after the thing gets going—and how it goes, to be sure!—you are likely to straighten out the matter of who's who to your own satisfaction. Or perhaps I should say, what's what. As a noted critic once wrote of Boucicault, his "supreme talent was a felicitous dexterity in making a story tell itself in action rather than in words."

In the large and hard-working personnel one notes Mr. Frank Wilcox, who gives the most humorously comprehensive performance in the piece, as Capt. Chumley; Mr. Robert Elton as Old Tom; Miss Marion Burns as Eliza; Mr. Del S. Lawrence as the blackguardly Chandos Bellingham; Miss Margaret O'Brien as Rose Egerton; Mr. Robert Elton as George Medhurst, and Mr. Charles W. Daniels as the Bartender (not the one in the basement.) The numerous others you will discover for yourself when you settle into your seat at the Biltmore for an evening which your grandparents would have accepted as quite in the natural order of events, but which to you will be a unique and vivifying experience of quite another—and to them, undreamt-of—kind.

BURLESQUE IN FAVOR

"Cute 'N Pretty," this week's burlesque at the Burbank Theater, is another mirthful and gloom-chasing production. The comedy in the hands of Charley Fritcher and Billy Mossey is the cleverest offering these two comedians have yet attempted. The production is replete with lighting effects that are startling. The chorus of Burbank beauties is the outstanding feature of this week's bill and is shown in a series of fantastic costumes which were specially designed for the present offering. "Cute 'N Pretty" is stocked with clever dancing and fast routines. Fay Norman, soubrette, offers a new dance specialty. June Rhoads offers a clever routine of work. Betsy Ross, ingenue, has a pleasing specialty and Jane Hazleton wins high honors with her vocal offering.

MANY LANGUAGES USED

Foreign languages are useful in talking pictures. Judith Vosselli, who plays the countess in Lawrence Tibbett's vehicle, "Rogue's Song," at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, can speak five languages. She has used them all in her few monuths in talking pictures, she told Lionel Barrymore, the director.

WIRT MURDER JURY CHOSEN

Nine Women and Three Men to Try Wife-Killing Case

Row Over Ring Asserted to Have Ended in Slaying

Surgeon Testifies Gunshot Wound Caused Death

A jury of nine women and three men was selected yesterday in Superior Judge Hardy's court to hear the testimony in the case of Lee A. Wirt, charged with murder in connection with the shooting June 13, last, of his wife Frances. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kemp, prosecuting, announced the State will seek the death penalty.

Wirt is asserted to have shot his wife in their home at 2750 Marengo street following a quarrel over a diamond ring.

Autopsy Surgeon Webb, called as one of the first prosecution witnesses, declared Mrs. Wirt died of a gunshot wound.

Webb was followed by Louis Perlstein, a jewelry salesman, who testified he went to the Wirt home the day of the shooting to collect a payment on a diamond ring. Shortly after leaving the house, he said, he heard a shot, and rushed back into the Wirt home to find Mrs. Wirt lying wounded on the floor. Perlstein stated Wirt was at home when he first called there, but that he did not see Wirt after hearing the shot.

The trial will proceed today.

HUGE RUM PLANT RAIDED

Police and Federal Agents Arrest Two Suspects After Chase and Seize Liquor and Auto

Raiding an old two-story warehouse at 1327 Palmetto street police and Federal officers late yesterday unearthed what they characterized as one of the largest and most complete liquor plants they ever encountered, took two of four asserted bootleggers in custody after a thrilling chase over several roofs, and confiscated more than 1000 gallons of gin, alcohol and beer.

The arrested men gave their names as Harry Hebert, 35 years of age, of 2372 Beach avenue, Venice, and Harry Wilson, also 35, of the York Hotel, Fourth and Los Angeles streets. Both were booked on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act. In addition to the liquor the officers also confiscated a Cadillac sedan and a large truck.

Following the arrest of Herbert and Wilson, officers arrested William Paar, 37 years of age, at 2300 Starrett street, and booked him on suspicion of violating the Volstead Act. Paar described himself as an importer.

PLANT WATCHED

The raid was engineered by Detective Lieutenants Berenzweig, Irvin and Evans of the police liquor detail, and Federal Prohibition Agents Joe Ellis and J. J. Randall, under instructions from Federal Prohibition Inspector Sweet. It climaxed an investigation of two weeks, during which the asserted plant has been kept under constant surveillance.

As the officers entered the building, Hebert, Wilson and two other men, its is charged, fled to the roof by way of a ventilator shaft up which ran a ladder. From the top rung of the ladder they leaped a distance of ten feet to the roof and scampered over several adjoining roofs, negotiating two other jumps in their flight.

TWO GET AWAY

Berenzweig gave chase after instructing the other officers to take posts at the entrance of the near-by buildings and intercept the suspects. A few minutes later Hebert and Wilson emerged from one of the buildings and were made captive. The other two escaped, either by concealing themselves somewhere in one of the other buildings or going out through a rear exit.

An inspection of the warehouse, according to Inspector Sweet, revealed 105 drums containing ten gallons of Belgian alcohol each, 120 cases of rubbing alcohol intended for redistillation, fifty gallons of gin, twelve five-gallon cans of denatured alcohol, seventy-five cases of beer, a formula known as No. 39-B for the manufacture of gin and a great quantity of flavoring extracts, bottles, tops, capping apparatus and labels. A completely equipped "cutting plant," Sweet said, was discovered accessible by means of opening a secret panel in the side of the wall opposite a freight elevator.

APPEALS HEARD TODAY

Council today will hear appeals against the confirmation of the assessments for the widening of Manchester avenue from Avalon Boulevard to St. Andrews Place.

HUGE STILL DESTROYED BY BLAST

Inyo Plant With Capacity of Fifty Gallons an Hour Wrecked by Dynamite

One of the largest whisky plants seized by law-enforcement officers in California was taken last week in a raid by Los Angeles police and Federal dry agents, it was revealed yesterday. In the raid a man giving the name of Louis Panhurst was arrested, but escaped later, it was stated.

The raid was made in the mountains near Shoshone, Inyo county. Federal agents reported finding three 500-gallon stills, capable of producing fifty gallons of liquor an hour; six 2500-gallon vats, four of which were filled; seventy gallons of liquor and other apparatus.

The raid followed an investigation and gun battle between dry agents and police against hi-jackers in Holly Vista Drive, Los Angeles, resulting in the arrest of three men and two women. The police were led by Police Lieutenant Justin. The plant was destroyed with dynamite.

CANADIANS TO MEET

The monthly meeting of the Canadian Society of Southern California will be held at the Hollywood Roof Auditorium, 1549 Vine street, tomorrow evening. Committees will be formed for a Canadian Armistice Day ceremonial, picnic and reunion Sunday, November 10, at Rose Hill Park. A frolic and social dance will follow the meeting.

WIFE ADMITS SHE "SPOILED" HUSBAND

Bernice Brown Cruse

Mrs. Bernice Brown Cruse was so pleased with her husband's compliments when they first were married, she told Superior Judge Crawford yesterday during the trial of her divorce case, that she had to admit she spoiled him a bit.

"And finally he got so he wouldn't work," the plaintiff continued. "He laid around the house while I went out and held a job in order to support the family. I even had to pay for his clothes and pay the grocery bill."

Judge Crawford gave Mrs. Cruse a divorce from D. R. Cruse, who is a radio operator.

Countess Fights for Reversal in Hotel Bill Case

An effort toward obtaining a rehearing of her appeal from a conviction in the Municipal Court on an asserted charge of defrauding an innkeeper was made yesterday by Countess Claudia de Chanquett, through her counsel, Newton Kendall, before the Appellate Division of the Superior Court. After hearing arguments Superior Judges McLucas, McComb and Bishop took the matter under submission.

The Countess was found guilty by a jury on a charge of failing to pay a $500 bill at the Ambassador. On appeal the Appellate Division of the Superior Court sustained the conviction. However, the court found an error in the instructions of the judge to the jury, but held that as the defendant had not protested it at the time, it was not reversible error.

The Countess asks the Appellate Division to reconsider its ruling on the grounds that the error makes the decision a reversible one.

Gem Salesman to Face Trial

Jacob L. Sydenberg, jewelry salesman residing at 426 South Manhattan Place, yesterday was ordered held under $5000 bail by Municipal Judge Stutsman to await trial by Superior Court on grand theft charges.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker, Sydenberg pawned jewelry placed in his hands for sale by A. Riskin, Loew's State Building, and Abraham Moss, Title Guaranty Building, and played the stock market with the proceeds. Riskin and Moss identified jewelry which Detective Lieutenant James reported recovering from pawnbrokers, as their property.

Sydenberg was defended by Attorney Nate Freedman.

Joseph Engert Funeral Today

Funeral services for Joseph Engert, pioneer wholesale liquor dealer in Los Angeles, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at the J. H. Riedeman chapel, 1618 South Main street. Interment will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Engert died Friday at the California Hospital at 70 years of age. He was born in Germany in 1861; came to Los Angeles in 1889 and established a business as one of the first wholesale distributors. He also purchased valuable city properties.

Mr. Engert leaves his widow, Mrs. Mina Engert, 969 West Vernon avenue; a daughter, Mr. Pearl Corell, and two sons, Joseph, Jr., and Carl H. Engert.

FEDERAL PRISONER ADJUDGED INSANE

After a hearing yesterday before United States District Judge Pollock during which a report was made by government physicians, Harry O. Hartman, who escaped from a deputy United States Marshal at Goffs and a year later was recaptured at Needles, was declared insane and ordered confined in St. Elizabeth's Hospital at Washington, D. C. Hartman was accused of forgery of a government compensation check. He was arrested in New York and was returned here a year ago when he escaped. Investigation as to his sanity followed his rearrest.

ATTORNEYS TO SIT AS JUDGES

Move to Relieve Congestion in Courts Announced

Eleven Listed as Available for Service on Bench

Pro-Tem. Appointment Calls Slated to Begin Today

Eleven attorneys who are willing to serve as judges pro tem, to relieve the congestion of the local Superior Court, have submitted their names to Presiding Judge Craig. They will be called on, beginning today, it was announced yesterday.

Although fifty courtrooms are available in the Courthouse, only thirty-three judges have been sitting during the past month, because out-of-town judges who have served all summer have been called home by the opening of their terms of court. As a result, 490 cases that should have been set for trial in November will be carried over to December.

By a recent constitutional amendment the presiding judge can appoint as judge for a trial any attorney otherwise qualified that the litigants may agree on. Compensation for the judge pro-tem also is a matter of stipulation, as it is paid by the litigants as part of the court costs. The rate of payment is not determined by statute, but probably in any case will not exceed $25 a day, it is stated.

The eleven volunteer judges, all of whom, it is stated, have had experience on the bench are: George Acret, L. H. Valentine, Joseph Vickers, Nathan O. Freedman, Edwin Miller, Miller Morrison, John W. Luter, Fred Taft, Robert Shippke, W. J. Thomas and John Pelletier.

Each master calendar judge has this list of attorneys which will be submitted to litigants who are willing to pay a judge for an early trial.

RITES FOR CLINE TO BE TOMORROW

Son of Former Sheriff Will be Laid at Rest in Inglewood Mausoleum

Funeral services for Harry W. Cline, son of former Sheriff John C. Cline, will be conducted at 3 p.m. tomorrow at All Souls Church, Wilshire and Plymouth Boulevards. Rev. C. F. Aked will give the funeral address. Entombment at Inglewood Masoleum will follow. Mr. Cline died Sunday at his home, 802 South Spaulding avenue, after two weeks of illness following an operation for appendicitis. He leaves a wife, a daughter, Harriet, his parents and three cousins, George and William H. Cline and Margaret Benson.

He was born in Los Angeles December 25, 1887, and graduated from the public schools, Harvard Military School and the University of California. He was connected with the Walter Murphy automobile-distributor organization.

Boy Cyclist May Die From Hurts

Garland Ligon, 10 years of age, living at 845 Hamilton avenue, San Pedro, was in a critical condition at the County Hospital last night, suffering from a punctured lung, received when the bicycle on which he and his brother, Homer, 12, were riding yesterday morning collided with an automobile driven by Andrew H. Jones, a salesman living at 3437 Carolina street, San Pedro.

The boys, en route to the Point Fermin school a block distant, had coasted down the steep Thirty-first-street hill and had turned on Carolina street, when their excessive momentum forced them into Jones's machine. Garland, in addition to internal injuries, received a broken thigh and cuts about the face, while Homer's right ankle was broken. Jones was absolved of blame by police.

HORSEMEN ARRIVE FOR RIDING EVENT

Riders from various parts of California, Arizona and Nevada began arriving yesterday for the International Exposition of Horsemanship to be given in Hollywood Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Sunset Boulevard and Vine street. The Los Angeles Breakfast Club stables and those of the Griffith Park Riding Academy will be equestrian headquarters for the arrivals. To date more than 600 riders have signified intention of participating.

Local Stars Drawn in by Major Draft

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Twenty-six players, twenty of whom have been up previously, were drawn back into the major leagues from minor circuits at the annual draft meeting tonight. The Philadelphia Nationals claimed four, the largest number by one club.

The world championship contenders, Philadelphia Athletics and the drafted one man each. The A's claimed Outfielder Oliver from Little Rock of the Southern Association and the Cubs called in Pitcher Al Shealy, former Yankee, from St. Paul of the American Association.

STAR RIGHT-HANDERS OPEN ANNUAL TITULAR CLASSIC

Athletics Slight Favorites to Win Series From Cubs; Grimm Will Start at First for Bruins

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—To the accompaniment of all the tumult and shouting that goes with America's annual baseball carnival, the boys will go out on the firing line tomorrow to substitute fast balls and base hits for oratory and argument in the battle for the 1929 championship of the world.

The Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago Cubs, rivals again for the richest of the game's prizes after a lapse of nineteen years, come to grips in the opening game, with fair weather and a spectacular fight expected from the outset between two fast, hard-hitting and aggressive ball clubs.

JOE McCARTHY

Unless there is a last-minute switch, Charley Root, foremost flinger of the National League, will pitch for the Cubs against big George Earnshaw of the A's in a struggle between fast-ball right-handers.

Root was definitely selected today by Manager Joe McCarthy as the opening game choice over Pat Malone, another rugged right-hander. Connie Mack, 67-year-old chieftain of the A's, kept his twirling secrets to himself on arrival this afternoon with his team but the expects considered Earnshaw the logical choice. There was, however, the prospect that Mack might switch to Robert Moses Grove, his famous left-hander, or so far cross up the experts as to send either old Jack Quinn or Howard Ehmke to the box.

GREAT CROWD

The full-throated roar of 50,000 fans is expected to resound in Wrigley Field for the opening game of the series that furnishes the climax to the greatest baseball season Chicago has ever known.

So keen was the enthusiasm that hundreds of fans were in line tonight outside the park, prepared for the all-night vigil before the bleacher seats go on sale around 8

McKechnie Signs Papers to Manage Braves for Next Four Years

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—William J. McKechnie, 1929 pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, has signed a four-year contract to manage the Braves, Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston club, announced tonight.

BILL McKECHNIE

McKechnie was offered a one-year renewal of his Cardinal contract but turned it down in favor of the longer one with the Braves. His new duties begin next spring. His salary was not revealed.

Judge Fuchs made the announcement at the draft meeting of the major leagues held on the eve of the world series.

McKechnie has had somewhat of a shifting managerial career in the major leagues and apparently was happy to get a longer contract. His first achievement as manager was accomplished in 1925 when he managed Pittsburgh to a National League pennant and a world series victory over

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP) — The weather man, after going into a huddle with his various instruments today, held out promise of generally fair weather with not much change in temperature, for the opening game of the world series tomorrow.

If there is no drop in the temperature it will be around 69 or 70 deg. at the start of the game. With chilling winds sweeping off Lake Michigan, however, light topcoats probably will feel comfortable.

TROJANS DRILL ON PASS PLAYS

Team Off Tomorrow Night for Washington Game

BY BRAVEN DYER

Howard Jones, the master mind of Bovard Field, is planning an aerial barrage for Washington such as has never been unleashed by a Southern California team. The Trojan varsity spent two solid hours yesterday afternoon doing nothing but pass, pass, pass.

BERT RICHEY

First it was Russ Saunders, then Ernie Pinckert, and then Jim Musick on the throwing end. For receivers Jones employed practically every man on the team but his guards and center. The shots were swift and accurate, and the varsity completely snowed under the fourth string with its overhead attack.

FOUR UMPS TO HANDLE SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—The four umpires who will handle the world series games are William J. Klem and Charles Moran, representing the National League, with Roy Van Graflan and William Dinneen, the choice of the American League.

Klem, Dinneen and Moran are the veterans, the first two having served as arbiters for more than twenty years, while Moran has been calling 'em for twelve years. It will be Klem's fourteenth appearance as an umpire in the world's series. Van Graflan, who started umpiring three years ago, will make his debut as a series arbiter.

Teams Play Three Games in San Francisco

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Led by the mighty Ike Boone, leading batsman and foremost home-run hitter of the Pacific Coast League, the San Francisco Mission Reds will line up here tomorrow against the Hollywood Stars in the opening game of the post-season series for the 1929 pennant.

IKE BOONE

Boone ended the regular season with an unofficial batting average of .407, which betters by three points any previous record in the league's history. His home-run mark of fifty-seven is only three short of the circuit-swatting feat turned in by Tony Lazerri while with Salt Lake City in 1925.

But whether the big outfielder and his Mission team-mates carry enough guns to silence the peppery Hollywood outfit is a baseball problem that will produce plenty of arguments from both sides.

The Missions, first-half winners, have the better-balanced team and possibly a shade on the pitching side. Hollywood is a trifle stronger in team batting.

All of which means nothing, as noted last Sunday when the tail-end Seattle club walloped the Missions in the two final games to prevent the locals from clinching the pennant.

Indications are Wade "Red" Killefer, Mission manager, intends to feed the Stars considerable left-handed pitching. Either Bert Cole or "Dutch" Ruether is expected to get the call.

The Stars arrive here tomorrow

MACKS PLACID BUNCH OF MEN

Won American League Pennant so Long Ago They Fail to Get Excited on Arrival in Chicago on Eve of First World Series Game With Cubs

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Of course, it is not to be expected that a team of major league ball players will tear around in narrowing circles, biting their finger nails as far back as their elbows and uttering shrill cries of excitement for three weeks to signify their excitement over a world series, but it does seem that the Philadelphia ball club is a bit more placid than the occasion warrants on this, the eve of their world series with the Cubs.

JOHN McGRAW

They arrived in Chicago shortly after noon and got into a motor bus and went to the Edgewater Beach Hotel. A guard of police outriders on motorcycles rode before them, emiting those mournful wails with which municipalities nowadays announce the passage of distinguished guests through their streets and this special honor may have aroused the boys to some consciousness of importance. But perhaps it didn't, because in my observation the well-behaved young athletes of Mr. Connie Mack's stall have been champions of the American League so long that they have come to think of themselves almost as last year's champions.

FADES QUICKLY

There is no honor that fades so quickly as the honor of winning a major league pennant. The Athletics, therefore, brought less enthusiasm with them than the motorcycle police brought to meet them and they will go into this set of ball games with the easy composure of the Red Sox in a Monday afternoon game with the Senators in Washington along toward the end

Veteran Ump Teams Up With Rookie in Series

Quick Return Strike Likely to be Barred

BY GEORGE MORIARTY
American League Umpire

GEORGE MORIARTY

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—It is doubtful if any other world's series contestants were ever more anxious than the Cubs and Athletics to start their battles for supremacy.

The players realize that every possible angle has been exhausted, both in verbal and written form, and as a matter of dispelling theory, they are waiting to hear the clang of the bell. Unbiased dope leads to the belief that no two teams were ever more evenly matched and the conservative dopesters are in a delemma that only actual preformance will unravel.

Considering the fact that the games will be played in two parks of limited space, there is every reason to expect plenty of tall hitting from both teams. However, the best pitchers going to the rubber in the first two games, the great hitsmiths may be temporarily delayed in their business of populating and depopulating the bases.

MAY START GROVE

General opinion also credits Malone and Root as McCarthy's two best pitchers and Carlson as the third best.

There is a rumor that Connie Mack may start Grove in the opening game as a bit of psychology to show his leading southpaw that he maintains the utmost confidence in him. Other Philadelphia supporters believe Connie cannot go wrong whether he starts Earnshaw or Grove. From a purely psychological standpoint, Earnshaw seems to be Mack's best weapon, as he is a right-handed pitcher and would be facing eight right-handed batters in the Cubs' line-up, with First Baseman Grimm as the lone exception.

Almost lost in the hurly-burly of detail and excitement is the fact that three veteran umpires and one rookie will officiate in this vital series. William (Bill) Klem, the old seadog of the National League, teams up with Charlie Moran as his partner, while William (Bill) Dineen and Roy Van Graflin complete the quartet. Van Graflin is making his debut as a world's series arbiter. All four are well qualified to handle the most delicate situation that may arise.

EASY TO HANDLE

Usually, a world's series is just as easy to umpire as the regular-season contests. Undoubtedly, four umpires are more efficient than the old two-man system for a big series. One umpire at each base insures the least amount of running and leaves a man in a position to be at the proper base and on top of the play.

Ground rules must be thoroughly understood by the umpires, and each park calls for different rules. In the 1925 series between Pittsburgh and Washington, the importance of ground rules came to the surface. It was in that memorable and concluding game of the series. Cuyler came to bat with the bases loaded, and drove the ball over first base like a rifle shot. The ball bounded behind the stands beyond first base, and all the runs crossed the plate, making the score, 11 to 7.

Then the four umpires held a consultation, and sent Cuyler back to second, and another runner back to third to comply with a ground rule established prior to the opening game a week previous. Washington retired the next batter and the score ended 9 to 7 when the Senators failed to score in their half of the ninth.

I suppose that no "quick-return strike" will be allowed in this series. If this is to be included among the special rules, it might be a good plan to let the pitchers of both clubs know about it before the series starts.

Last year the umpires, in the presence of Judge Landis, agreed to bar the "quick-return" in justice to the batter who might be off guard. This is good sportsmanship.

However, Willie Sherdel sneaked a third strike over on Babe Ruth and pandemonium broke loose when it became known that the "quick-return" strike had been barred. Ruth then lifted the next ball over the right-field pavilion for a home run.

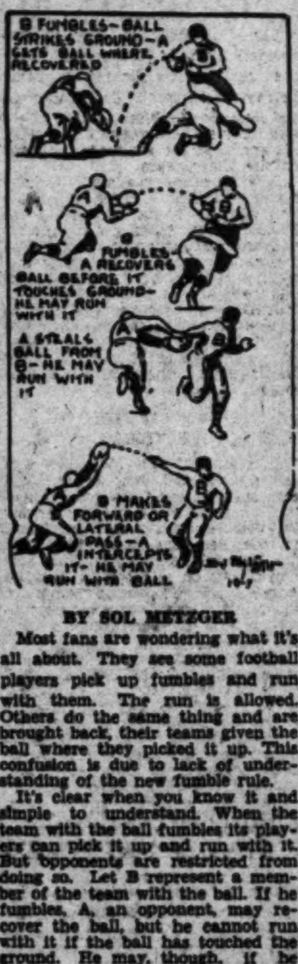
If this series is to be replete with the close and exciting plays that are expected, good umpiring should not be the least of the spectacle. I have talked to many veteran umpires, and they all agree that the gesticulators in this series may have a most exacting task on their hands.

Speedy Dado to Jaunt East

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Tom McArdle, Garden matchmaker, communicated with Frank Churchill of Los Angeles today.

Tom spoke about Speedy Dado, Filipino flyweight under Churchill's banner, entering the Garden 112-pound tourney November 4. Terms were accepted and Dado will come east after his bout in Hollywood, Friday, Churchill said. McArdle figures on trying to send Dado against Ernie Peters, Willie Davis with Midget Wolgast, Eugene Huat with Black Bill and Izzy Schwartz with Willie Lamorte.

Fumble Rule Explained



B FUMBLES—BALL STRIKES GROUND—A GETS BALL WHERE RECOVERED

A STEALS BALL FROM B—HE MAY RUN WITH IT
B MAKES FORWARD OR LATERAL PASS—A INTERCEPTS IT—HE MAY RUN WITH BALL
Sol Metzger

BY SOL METZGER

Most fans are wondering what it's all about. They see some football players pick up fumbles and run with them. The run is allowed. Others do the same thing and are brought back, their teams given the ball where they picked it up. This confusion is due to lack of understanding of the new fumble rule.

It's clear when you know it and simple to understand. When the team with the ball fumbles its players can pick it up and run with it. But opponents are restricted from doing so. Let B represent a member of the team with the ball. If he fumbles, A, an opponent, may recover the ball, but he cannot run with it if the ball has touched the ground. He may, though, if he catches the fumbled ball before it touches the ground. And he can run with it if he steals the ball from A. There is no rule, there never has been one, prohibiting a player from taking the ball from the runner. B can also run with the ball if he catches a forward or lateral pass made by A. See that you understand this rule clearly and you'll never again be confused by it when attending games.

Lions to Battle Arizona State

Loyola University's eleven will hold its final practice session tomorrow prior to the Arizona State game which will be played on the latter's field at Flagstaff, Saturday afternoon. Under the direction of Coach Bill Driver the Lions have undergone a series of stiff drills and scrimmages in order to be able to meet the attack of the Arizonians at such a high altitude, 7500 feet.

The Del Rey warriors have met this same school twice during the past two years and both times have completely overwhelmed them. They are expected to win again, but are likely to find the going tough, because of the climate.

Coach Driver with twenty-four of his selected cohorts are slated to leave Del Rey, via stage, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, arriving at their destination on Friday evening.

MACKMEN SET FOR BATTLE to get his hits in the series, which was what would count.

The result? "Now who," begged Mr. Mack, "can foretell with any certainty the outcome of any one ball game, or seven?"

The soundness of the Philadelphia patriarch's logic admitted, the fact remains that this kindly gentleman with the silver pate looks to the 1929 world series with something more than hope. The eagerness of a schoolboy lights eyes which first looked out upon a world series battlefield just twenty-four autumns ago. And after fifteen years of waiting, why not?

Connie Mack and the young men he paternally terms his "boys," are going into what the magnates like to call the "annual fall classic" with the utmost calm, each proud of his task and eager to perform it. This atmosphere among the players undoubtedly has been acquired from their association with the cool, clear-thinking manager who never in forty baseball campaigns was known to flutter before a crisis, win or lose.

In some quarters tonight, it was felt that Jack Quinn or Eddie Rommel would be trotted out before the Cubs in a bid to curb fast swinging with slow pitching. Such predictions however, were based largely upon Connie Mack's world series reputation for having a surprise ever in store for his public. There is no twenty-year-old Joe Bush upon the Athletic bench in this campaign, as there was in 1913 after Bender and Plank had been used, and Earnshaw remains the logical guess with Rommel and Quinn favored if the starter should need help.

The Athletics arrived in Chicago on a special train of seven Pullmans and a club car at 2:25 this afternoon, following a ride of 17 hours and 55 minutes over the Pennsylvania Railroad from North Philadelphia. Players, officials and guests went immediately to the hotel.

FIGHTING TWINS WIN AND LOSE ON CARD

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Oct. 7. (AP)—The Perlick boys, fighting twins from Kalamazoo, Mich., won and lost in their bouts here tonight. Henry was knocked out in the sixth round of a ten-round fight by Joey Goodman of Cleveland, and Richmond, Va., and Herman won a technical knockout over Marty Silvers, Brooklyn, in the third round of a ten-set fight. Silvers dislocated his shoulder in the third round when he fell through the ropes and was unable to continue.

POP WARNER TO SCOUT TROJANS

Stanford Mentor Will Not Come Here for Tilt

Tiny Thornhill Will Handle Team in Bruin Game

Santa Clara Upset Cards While Coach Was Away

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 7.—Napoleon and Pop Warner both got where they are by disregarding, rather than by heeding, the lessons of the past. Precedent has it that Stanford can't play a good game of football unless Coach Warner is on the bench, the fact having been sensationally brought out to the consternation of all two years ago when Warner left the direction of the Santa Clara-Stanford game in the hands of his henchmen while he scouted California. Santa Clara outplayed a dumb Cardinal team to win, 13-7.

"POP" WARNER

In the face of that leson, Warner is going to scout Washington and U.S.C. next Saturday in their melee at Seattle, the whilst his squad of forty-nine are disporting themselves in the Los Angeles Coliseum against the University of California at Los Angeles. Pop leaves here Wednesday for the north and Claude E. (Tiny) Thornhill, Stanford's able line coach, will be in command down south.

Of course, no one hereabouts thinks history has a chance in repeating itself this week, but, then, no one thought in 1927 that the Broncos would upset the Cards. Despite the exhibited weakness of the Bruins this season, Saturday's tussle may provide some excitement.

All the gentlemen who did the heavy work against Oregon last Saturday were allowed to stand by today as the second and third teams scrimmaged in a spirited practice. The men were feeling happy over Saturday's results and they are commencing to be a confident, though not yet a cocky, squad.

Harlow Rothert has joined what has been dubbed the "knee club." In the Oregon game he received a bruise on his right knee which today kept him out of uniform, but will not keep him from play against the Bruins. Other members of this rapidly growing club are K. Albertson, Chucker Horn, Bill Simkins, Chuck Smalling and John Preston. The cripples are in various stages of hobbleitis, but Dr. Frederick Roth, team physician, announced this afternoon that every one of them will be ready for the Oregon State game a week hence. Definite assurance of Simkins's and Preston's recovery takes uneasiness off the minds of the coaches, who were wondering about their use in the Trojan contest.

Coach Thornhill said today that Rothert will be used both as a right halfback and as a fullback during the remainder of the season. When both Smalling and Fleishhacker are in he probably will play half, when Smalling goes out Rothert will play full and Hillman or Winnek, or whom have you, will take the halfback's job. If Fleishhacker is taken out Smalling goes to quarter and Rothert to full.

Guido Caglieri showed markedly in today's scrimmage what he has promised all season, viz., that he is a powerful, tireless line-plunger who, when used at right half, will accomplish much.

The Card squad leaves here Thursday night on the Lark for Los Angeles. It will be quartered at the Huntington Hotel, Pasadena, over the week-end. The team is not to have a workout on Friday, it was announced today. Friday morning the men are to be shown through the Warner Brothers' film studios in Hollywood and Saturday evening after the game they are to be the guests of Stanford alumni in a dinner at the University Club.

Empire State Board Not in N.B.A. Merger

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Chairman James Farley and the venerable William Muldoon of the New York State Athletic Commission today denied reports that the New York boxing board intended to affiliate in the near future with the National Boxing Association. They were agreed that their present arrangement of working agreements with various other State associations was entirely satisfactory.

Farley, incidentally, named Vittorio Campolo; the Argentine, as the most likely looking of all current heavyweight contenders, in his opinion. "Campolo is the best prospect of the lot and needs only proper coaching," he declared.

SUN BEAU WINS RACE

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Sun Beau, owned by Willis Sharpe Kilmer of Binghamton, N. Y., won the $25,000 Hawthorne gold cup today with Misstep second and Diavolo third. Sun Beau ran the mile and a quarter in 2:01, smashing the track record for the distance.

Sun Beau came from behind in the stretch to overtake Karl Eitel, which had set the early pace.

GOLF TOURNEY PLANNED

Those who own or manage the office buildings of Los Angeles are going to play. Chairman A. S. Thompson of the association announces a jamboree and golf tournament to be held on Catalina Island Saturday and Sunday, October 12 and 13. Many of the members will travel by special yacht, leaving Marine Club pier at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Four Hundred Writers Will Cover Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—So great has been the demand for press seats for world series games to be played at Wrigley Field, starting tomorrow, that the press box has been enlarged to accomodate 412 writers and telegraphers.

Ninety-six telegraph wires have been strung into the press stand. These will be handled by 108 operators and supervisors.

The booths from which six radio announcers will bark their accounts of the games, will be located in a section apart from the press box.

of September. Whether this will affect their work adversely or well or not at all is something that I would rather not go into, having no reliable information on the subject.

Some baseball managers, such as Mr. McGraw of the Giants, place considerable value on eager, frisking, yelling and glove-pounding at important times, but Mr. Mack is a tranquil old man who prefers quiet efficiency. Highly agitated athletes have been known to throw to bases before they had quite finished fielding the ball and the nonchalant kind have been known to dawdle too long, so either frame of mind is right only when it wins.

Mr. Mack made up his mind long before the special train arrived in Chicago that he would not trouble his players to go to the Cubs park to acquaint themselves with the acoustics, the shadows or the range of the home-run wall, as it was his idea that any major league player who didn't know the general direction of left field and so forth instinctively on any ball grounds couldn't learn enough in one day to do him any good in a world series.

And, anyway, he thought an afternoon of dashing through the streets behind outriders with those lugubrious siren notes wailing before them all the time, and a quick change into uniforms and out of them and a quick practice would upset their poise and do them no good.

BRIGHT BOYS

"It would be like hurrying a golf shot," he said, "and anyway my boys are very bright boys and they can find their way around the park in no time whatever."

George Earnshaw, the socially prominent young twirler, from Swathmore, Pa., had a suspicion that he would be asked to pitch the first game for the Athletics, but the responsibility weighed lightly on him, if at all. He had thought of bringing his family with him but that was a long time ago, when the Athletics were newly authenticated winners of the pennant, and since then the Earnshaws have come to think more of the railroad fare and incidental expense of the trip than they do of the spiritual value of the experience.

"And, anyway," he said, "it will just be a job of work for me and you never hear of a man taking his wife down to the office to watch him keep books."

Judge Von Ohl, the traffic manager of the baseball firm, was noticeably wrought up as the train arrived and your correspondent remarked about his agitation but he said:

"I wasn't even thinking about the world series; I was thinking about a dog."

NOT MAGISTRATE

It seems that Mr. Von Ohl is not a magistrate but a judge of dogs, horses, snakes and New Jersey peach brandy and he was thinking about a man who came to his house recently with a dog for which he had paid $1000, asking his opinion of the same.

"It just shows how events link up and disasters happen," he said sorrowfully. "This man said, I would like to have your opinion of this $1000 setter.' I said in my opinion your $1000 setter is a cur and his puppies will have six legs apiece with anywhere from two to eighteen toes on each foot.' With that, the man fainted on my porch and when I ran into the house to get a bucket of water my wife came running out another door with a bottle. When I came back I found her down on her knees, sopping a towel from this bottle and bathing this man's face with it to revive him. Then I looked at the bottle and I had to gulp down all there was left to keep from fainting myself because the bottle she grabbed was one full of 1886 Bourbon, which I bought from Pierre Lorillard twenty years ago in a trade for a quart of my own peach brandy. Can you imagine using 1886 brandy to bathe the face of anbody who would pay $1000 for a cur?"

Mickey Cochrane came to the world series accompanied not only by Mrs. Cochrane but by a handsome young light comedian named Mr. Brown, who is teaching him tap dancing and schooling him in an airy stage manner against a career of six weeks in the vandeville houses after the close of the season. They rehearsed their dialogue on the observation platform after to Chicago and your correspondent is still of the opinion that Mr. Brown is a pleasant young actor and Mr. Cochrane a very good catcher.

Al Simmons, born Simonich, expects to play to a considerable personal public from Milwaukee, his native city, in the world series and he seems to be the most eager of all the Athletics to make good in some abrupt sensational way. But the A's as a club are more nonchalant than the calmest of the customers who fell in line at the bleacher ticket windows the day before the series to wait all day and all night and all morning again for the chance to buy tickets or sell their places in the queqe.

BOONE'S BAT WAS HOT

Ike Set Remarkable Record During Season With His Hitting; Puts Record Up

Ike Boone's batting performance of the season just closed is one of the most remarkable ever compiled. He set up a new high average of .407 for the Coast League, adding three points to the former high mark of .404 established by Smead Jolley in 1928.

Playing in 198 contests Boone officially was charged with 794 trips to the plate, hitting safely 323 times. He missed by two safe hits the league record of 325 set up by Paul Strand a few years ago.

Boone also was the league's best home run hitter with 55 to his credit, five shy of the league record set up by Tony Lazzeri five years ago. Among Boone's assortment of safe hits were 207 singles, 53 doubles, eight triples and 55 home runs, a total of 557 bases.

Smead Jolley, two times batting leader of the Coast League, was runner-up this time with a mark of .387. Bill Rumler finished in third place with an average of .386. Elias Funk is listed fourth with .383 and Gus Suhr fifth with .381.

Fred Haney's stolen base record of 56 is the best compiled by a Coast League player in many seasons. "Buzz" Arlett is the leading two-base hitter with 70 to his credit. Cleo Carlyle drove out twelve triples to take the three-base hitting honors. Dudley Lee was at bat 848 times.

In team batting the Mission Reds lead with a mark of .319. The Reds also manufactured the most safe hits, 2264. Hollywood proved the best run-scoring club with 1233. San Francisco drove out the most home runs, 192.

Following are Statistician Leo Moriarty's unofficial figures for the complete season:

BEAR ELEVEN NOT DISCOURAGED

California Psychology Blamed for Poor Showing; Offensive of Berkeley Boys Weak; Price Working Hard on Second Stringers; Cougars Come Next

BERKELEY, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—Practice was resumed this afternoon by a University of California football squad not nearly so disconsolate as many people think, following the scoreless tie played with St. Mary's College last Saturday afternoon before a howling mob of 75,000 spectators.

ROY RIEGELS

With scarcely an exception those fans given to critical yodeling about the lack of a real Golden Bear offense have forgotten the two states of mind that possessed the Bear and Gael teams. Those fans who did not forget that point attempted to minimize the effect of psychology upon the play of the two teams.

California, although realizing that the Saints were to be tough babies, as they unquestionably proved to be, positively could not afford to get tuned up to high emotional pitches.

The Golden Bears have several games coming up of more importance than the Saint contest, as, for instance those with the University of Southern California, Stanford, Washington and Pennsylvania, not to mention the conference game with Washington State.

St. Mary's College was putting forth one tremendous bid for national recognition. There is not another team of California's caliber on the 1929 schedule of the men from Moraga, why should they not put forth everything for victory? They did offer up their very best. They slashed, fumed, and exhausted themselves, they passed, they shifted, they tried everything that Coach Slip Madigan taught them and what they knew was not enough.

California, taking the Saints as a pre-schedule opponent, escaped without dishonor. This was sufficient, but not for St. Mary's. The Saints gained nothing where they had everything to win. Price looked with loving eyes today upon Capt. Roy Riegels, Ted Beckett and Bob Norton. This trio gave the California line that invulnerable aspect of the 1928 season. Riegels made about half the tackles of the entire California team. When Beckett hit them they came down hard. Norton, on one occasion, charged headlong at the Saint punt recipient and so shook that young worthy he came up staggering. The Bear defense was superb, the backfield even contributing mightily to this phase of the game. Rice, Barr, Lom, Egan and Garrity were inescapable.

Where California's weakness did manifest itself was on the offensive, particularly where interference running was concerned. Instead of knocking their men down, the Bear interferers ran along with them and the result was that the pigskin was not advanced far on end runs or line plays. The interference for the Santa Clara game was much better. St. Mary's brought a stronger defensive team to light, however, than did the Broncos and it was no easy task to clear those ferocious babies out of the way. California was too conservative on the offensive. Cagey little Lee Eisan called for a forward pass in practically every series of downs. Eleven passes were attempted by the Bears throughout the game and considering that California had the ball less than St. Mary's, who tried fourteen, it cannot be said justly that the Bears were out to play a mainly defensive game.

Inasmuch as California will board the train for Pennsylvania immediately after Saturday's contest with Washington State College, Price today gave Ralston (Rusty) Gill, fullback; Eldred Lane and Fred Schlicting, halfbacks, and Tom Werdel and Nick Becan, tackles, lots of attention. These men will probably have to bear the brunt of the attack against St. Ignatius College on the 19th inst., when the first varsity is in the East and also on the 26th inst. when the Olympic game is scheduled. Price will want to rest his varsity on the Olympic date on account of the important University of Southern California match on the following Saturday.

ICE HOCKEY TEAMS TO CLASH THURSDAY

Ice hockey, Canada's favorite sporting dish, and now the leading American winter indoor game, makes its second appearance of the season at the Winter Garden Ice Palace, Thursday night, when Earl Gilmore's husky Lions clash with the Sunfreeze Bears, in a battle that should produce plenty of fireworks.

These two big outfits clashed several weeks ago and for the three periods there was little to choose between them. But, in the last few minutes of play, Sunfreeze sank a pretty shot into the Oilers' net and they won the game, 2-1. The Oilers have been crying for a return battle ever since, and the management of the Garden arranged the game last night.

PAL SILVERS WINS BOUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Pal Silvers, Brooklyn middleweight, gained the decision over Arturo Scheckles of Belgium in a tame ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight.

GORCHAKOFF AGAIN WINS IN MEXICO CITY TENNIS

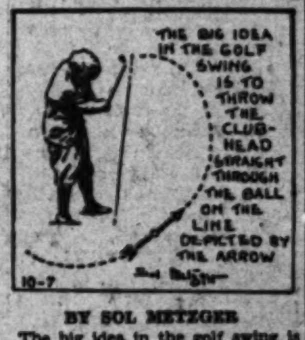
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 7. (AP)—Robert Kinsey, a former American, scored Mexico's greatest victories in the national tennis championships here today, winning two matches in straight sets. He took the first from L. Legoretta, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, then swamped Dr. Ricardo Alvarez, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

John Van Ryn of Orange, N. J., and Ben Gorchakoff, Occidental College, each turned in their third victories of the tournament. Van Ryn defeated Federico Sendal, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Gorchakoff defeated Gomez Palacio, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3. Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., got into action in the singles, defeating Mario Lopez Llera, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. One American entry was eliminated when Rex Kipp lost to the Mexican, Felix Delcanto, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

In the women's singles, Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, Cal., eliminated Eugenia Villain, 6-2, 6-0; Edith Cross of San Francisco defeated Carmen Villaurrutia, 6-0, 6-4, Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, defeated Judith Segura, 6-2, 7-5, and Marion Williams defeated Mrs. Trine Septien, 6-1, 6-4.

Miss Cruickshank and Miss Williams eliminated Amalia Deffis, and Elena Torres from the women's doubles by scores of 6-2, 6-3. Miss Gladman and Van Ryn conquered Mrs. Septien and Sendal, 8-6, 6-0, in the only mixed doubles match.

Correct Swing Explained



THE BIG IDEA IN THE GOLF SWING IS TO THROW THE CLUB-HEAD STRAIGHT THROUGH THE BALL ON THE LINE DEPICTED BY THE ARROW
Sol Metzger

BY SOL METZGER

The big idea in the golf swing is to get the right mental picture of what it consists of. Then, and then only, is the dub on a firm foundation to build up his style. And the big idea in the swing is to throw the clubhead straight through the ball on the direction line and to compel it to hold this line for at least a foot after contact.

The correct swing is not the true arc of a circle. A close study of the form of any star will prove this. Before, during and after contact they strive to and actually do keep the clubhead moving in a straight line, the line they wish to hit the ball.

If the swing were the arc of a circle it would have to be made with the body still and entirely with one arm. As the body and both arms are used the element of the pivot enters into it. No part of the swing is less understood or proves more confusing. The pivot concerns the hips and the hips contribute more than any other factor toward keeping the clubhead on a straight line as it sweeps the ball from its lie.

McLarnin and Baker Mingle in Star Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (AP)—Jimmy McLarnin of Los Angeles, now a full-fledged welterweight, tackles Sammy Baker, veteran Mitchel Field 147-pounder, in the ten-round feature bout at the New York Coliseum Wednesday night. Baker will be a decided underdog.

Madison Square Garden offers a ten-round bout between Al Singer, Bronx junior lightweight, and Young Zazzerino of Jersey City, on Friday night. Ben Jeby battles Al Ros, Spanish middleweight, and Ned Tarloton of England faces Archie Bell, Brooklyn bantam, in the supporting tens.

At Chicago Bud Taylor is matched with Earl Mastro in a ten-round featherweight clash at the stadium tomorrow night. Two other ten-rounders find Salvatore Ruggirello, Italy, pitted against Les Kennedy, Los Angeles heavyweight, and My Sullivan, St. Paul welterweight, squared off with Jackie Brady of Syracuse.

Benny Bass, Philadelphia junior lightweight, engages Armando Santiago in the ten-round wind-up at the Philadelphia National League ball park Thursday night.

Huskies Work Out in Secret

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Behind locked gates late today Coach Enoch Bagshaw began to remodel and rejuvenate an ailing University of Washington football team in preparation for a battle with the Southern California Trojans here next Saturday. That the Washington Husky needs something became apparent last Saturday when the University of Montana held Bagshaw's touted eleven to a 6-to-6 tie.

The Huskies line, a combination of veterans from last year, will get a lot of attention this week. The forward wall functioned only spasmodically against Montana, and is due to see some hard work.

In the backfield Bagshaw is satisfied with Thurle Thornton and Merle Hufford at the halfback posts but intends to try some new men in the quarterback and fullback positions. Last Saturday, John Stombaugh, a light man for the fullback job, attempted to back up the line on defense but found it a big task. Bagshaw plans to groom a much heavier man, possibly Charles Rosenhan, for use in the Southern California game. Rosenhan, a sophomore, weighs over 200 pounds but needs lots of drilling.

The Washington mentor was hardly satisfied with Johnny Geehan's work at quarterback and will likely give either Bill Mittlestedt or Jack Patrick a chance at the signal-calling berth.

Card Aquatic Plant Ready

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 7.—Stanford's new $105,000 aquatic plant, composed of three swimming pools, an additional wing to the gymnasium, and up to date diving apparatus, is now in use by the swimmers, divers and water polo players.

N.B.A. Names Brown Champ

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Oct. 7. (AP) Panama Al Brown today was named world's bantamweight champion by the championship committee of the National Boxing Association. The announcement was made here tonight by Edward C. Foster, chairman of the N.B.A. committee following upon a telegraphic conference with other members.

FULLER NABS SCRAP

NEWCASTLE (Pa.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Harry Fuller, Niagara Falls (N. Y.) lightweight, won a decision from Henry Firpo, Cleveland, in ten rounds here tonight.

U.C.L.A. Opens Practice for Stanford Game

Westwood Players Hope to Hold Score Down

Spaulding May Make Shift in Front Wall

BY FRANK ROCHE

Their spirits somewhat lifted by a 56-to-6 victory over the Fresno State football squad, the U.C.L.A. Bruins yesterday began the very [illegible] task of preparing for [illegible] collision with the Stanford Redshirts, which takes place Saturday at the Coliseum. The Bruins, with few exceptions, have recovered from the physical injuries received in the Trojan game. "Bunker Bill" Spaulding had forty varsity gridders working at the Westwood field, and from that group he will pick eleven men who he hopes will be able to make some sort of a showing against the powerful Stanford team.

CAPT. CARL BROWN

The Bruins are fearful of another such score as was run up by the Trojans. The word has been passed along that "Pop" Warner will not come down with his squad for the game and that the assistant coaches will handle the team here. This means that the Cards will no doubt "shoot the works" at the Bruins as the assistant coaches will take no chances in trying to keep the score down with "Pop" away. That, at any rate, seems to be the opinion of the Bruins' coaching staff.

BUILD DEFENSE

Spaulding will work all week building a defense against Stanford plays. A. J. "Sturzy" Sturzenegger, Bruin coach, scouted the Cardinals last Saturday when Stanford played Oregon. He worked the Card formations and passing plays with the scrubs and the freshmen squad yesterday. They, in turn, will use them tomorrow and Thursday against the varsity.

Spaulding is very much worried over his front wall. Jacobson, the big 200-pound tackle, is out for the season. Capt. Brown has not completely recovered from the battering he took in the Trojan game.

Bishop, at end, is out with a bad leg. In his place he has Len Wellendorf, who looked very good in the Fresno game. "Swede" Nilsson is taking Jacobson's place.

GOOD PROSPECTS

The Fresno game brought out several good prospects from the reserve string. Outstanding among these was Glen Lloyd, a guard. Spaulding was very pleased with his work and will use him regularly, they say.

Whether Billy Townsend had "loaded" gloves when he knocked out Wildcat Carter in Seattle a few weeks ago may be decided when they meet tonight at the Olympic in another battle.

Jack Allen, who brought Townsend here, thinks he has a fighter who will go just as far as McLarnin. Townsend was born in Newcastle, Eng., but has grown up in Vancouver.

Carter and Townsend would probably have drawn capacity had not the steam-up for the Mickey Walker-Ace Hudkins world's championship fight overshadowed them. Negroes will attend the bouts tonight and root for Carter since Art [illegible] is part manager of the fighting negro. Joe Waterman is the other half of the firm.

Members of the L.A.A.C. will have the world's series brought to them play-by-play today, on the Frank A. Garbutt electrical scoreboard in the club gymnasium. TROJANS DRILL ON PASS PLAYS be one of the biggest on the Coast, and by massing his men Coach Bagshaw may (?) be able to stop Southern California's running attack. However, if this type of offense is to be effectively checked it will take help from the Huskies' secondary defense and once "Baggy" begins pulling his backs in close the Trojans will bust loose with their passes.

Gaius Shaver, third-string quarterback, is in the hospital with an infected leg. It is expected that he will be ready to leave tomorrow night with the rest of the squad. If Shaver can't go, Jones will take two other quarters in addition to Saunders and Duffield. They will be Brown and Kemp. If Gaius recovers, he will go and the two little bantams will stay at home.

Trojan medical advisers state that Bob Hall, tackle, who has been laid up with ptomaine poisoning, will be able to go north. Jim Truher, another tackle, is similarly stricken.

As a reward for their efficient work on the Spartan squad, two players were promoted to the varsity last night. Those given the boost were Tex Neidhardt, guard, who will probably be used at center, and Bert Ritchey, end. Jones, in promoting the players, stated that any other Spartans who merited elevation to the varsity would get their reward in the near future. The athletes will probably get the Seattle trip.

Tony Steponovich is nursing a bad charley horse, as is Bill Seitz, the mammoth tackle. Both should be ready for Washington. Garrett Arbelbide has a bad headache as the result of a kick in the noodle in the Oregon State game.

SAME LINE-UP

Jones made no changes in his first-string line-up and plans to open against Washington as he did for last Saturday's game. The Trojans donned new shoes with special cleats last night, getting used to the change in preparation for the probable need of different footgear at Seattle.

Either this afternoon or tomorrow Jones plans to soak a couple of footballs and get the players accustomed to kicking and passing a water-logged pigskin.

Sam Barry, assistant coach, returned last night from Seattle, but got in too late to give Jones all the latest dope on the Huskies. Sam will be on deck today and some stiff scrimmage against Washington formations will probably be the order of the afternoon.

One switch in plans was made yesterday when it was announced that the Trojans will stop in Sacramento Thursday morning rather than Oakland. A practice session will be held on the field of the Sacramento Junior College. Arrival in Tacoma, where the team will spend Friday night, comes a little earlier as a result of the switch, the train being slated to pull into the Washington metropolis about 1 p.m.

No official list of players making the trip was available last night, but it will be announced some time today. Either thirty-eight or forty men will go, leaving here tomorrow evening at 8:45.

Check Drawn for Winner of Play-off

Yesterday was pay-off day at the office of the Pacific Coast League in this city. A check for $6000 was drawn, which will be held pending the outcome of the Hollywood-Mission series, at the conclusion of which 60 per cent will go to the players of the winning club and 40 per cent to the losing players.

President Williams mailed a check for $2,000 to the San Francisco club, which drew third place money, one for $1200 to the Oakland club, which was awarded fourth-place money, and a check for $800 to the Los Angeles club. Division of the money was based on the standings for the entire season.

Williams, who left for San Francisco last night, announced that Umpires Powell, Genshlea and Cady had been assigned to officiate in the play-off between Mission and Hollywood, which opens in San Francisco today. Had the Missions won the second half Killefer's players would have received the entire $6000 without a play-off.

morning so no line on the mound strategy was available today. It is believed, however, that August "Lefty" Jones, who also flings them from the port side, will start. He has been effective against the Missions all season.

The teams will play the first three games here and the next three in Los Angeles. Location of a seventh game, if necessary, has not been decided upon. A $6000 bonus, voted by the league's directors when the season was split suddenly last July, will be divided on a 60-40 basis.

a.m. tomorrow. Scores had begun to hold their posts more than twenty-four hours before the time for Umpire Bill Klem, dean of the National League staff, to cry "Let's go," at 1:30 p.m. A Chicagoan occupied the first place in the bleacher line, with Pittsburgh and Montreal next represented and the first woman customer identified as a tourist from Renssalaer, N. Y.

All reserved seats have been sold, with speculators having difficulty doing any substantial business, even at such fancy prices as $50 for a single-game ticket. The "gate" for the first day, as well as for the second game here, is expected to exceed $200,000, with a $1,000,000 series assured if the issue goes only to five games. The best guess is that it will go six.

Pregame developments today, aside from the inpouring of fans, officials and notables, centered chiefly about the late arrival of the Athletics, the definite selection of Root to pitch for the Cubs and a tendency to shorten the odds which have made the American League champions favorites from the start.

Wagers, hitherto largely based on quotations of 7 to 5 on the A's, dropped to around 6 to 5 with a rally in Cub stock. Because of the uncertainty over the A's initial pitching choice, the opening game betting was mostly "even money and take your pick."

Root is declared to be in prime condition for the getaway. The 30-year-old right-hander, who came in the baseball ranks ten years ago from the rolling mills of Middleton, O., has a world of stuff, speed and a "wrinkle ball" that he made famous in winning twenty-six games for the Cubs in 1927. That big season was supposed to have sapped Root's stamina. He had an off year in 1928, but came back brilliantly this year to finish strongly with a record of nineteen victories against six defeats, enabling him to beat out his team-mate, Guy Bush, for the ranking National League twirling position.

Root at times has had an unhappy tendency to experience one bad inning in games in which his pitching otherwise has been unblemished. He hopes to avoid this jinx tomorrow, for one inning's outbreak might very well be quite enough for the slugging cast led by Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Mickey Cochrane to do decisive damage.

MALONE NEXT

Pat Malone, the iron man who turned in twenty-two victories for the Cubs and originally was slated for the opening game assignment, now is booked for the white elephant-taming job in the second game. Guy Bush probably will pitch the third game for the Cubs, scheduled in Philadelphia Friday.

The Cubs place lots of reliance in these right-handers but it is no secret they depend chiefly for victory on the war clubs of Hornsby, Wilson, Cuyler and Stephenson, the "big four" who battered about everything in sight during the National League race. The power in the Chicago attack, plus the club's fighting spirit and ability to come from behind to win, is its chief asset.

The A's have plenty of sharpshooters to offset the big Cub offensive, regardless of how the veteran Mack rotates his staff, and a spark plug to back them up in Cochrane, baseball's outstanding catcher. If Earnshaw starts the first game, Grove is likely to go out in the second to settle the much-discussed matter of his effectiveness against the formidable right-handed Cub line-up.

Both teams, on the whole, enter the series in good condition. Such recent Cub casualties as Shortstop English, Catcher Taylor and First-baseman Grimm all are in shape to start. Bing Miller, veteran right-fielder of the A's, was suffering from a heavy cold on arrival today and had some temperature but a good night's rest was expected to put him in condition for the opener.

The Cubs went through an hour's batting drill at Wrigley Field this noon, sharpening their hitting eyes against both right and left-handed twirling. The A's arrived on a special train at 2:25 p.m., in plenty of time for a workout, but Manager Mack adhered to his original plan of staying away from the park and giving his players a rest.

BREAK GROUND FOR EASTSIDE STADIUM

Mayor John C. Porter was in charge of the spading ceremonies yesterday afternoon when ground for the new $150,000 East Side fight auditorium to be constructed at the corner of Alosta street and De La Torre Way was broken.

Leo Newman, promoter of the new fistic project, was on hand and announced that building operations on the club will start immediately. When completed the arena will seat 5100 people, it is planned.

A brass band on hand and a big crowd gathered at the ground-breaking. Capt. L. L. Oakley of the Hollenbeck Heights police division was one of the officials present.

McADAM LEADS IN "TIMES" GOLF EVENT

Negotiating the east course of the Fox Hills Country Club in 73 net, Cliff McAdam yesterday morning won the first leg on The Times-Mirror loving cup being played for by The Times Golf Association members.

Twenty-four members of the association vied for the cup over the recently completed course. George Thompson was runner-up to McAdam and was given a consolation prize.

THREE STANFORD SELLOUTS

SOME of the boys at Palo Alto were taking a twitting the other day because of the comparatively meager crowd of 17,000 which filed in to see Stanford and Oregon in a conference game that was supposed to have quite a bearing on the title.

It was pointed out to them that California and St. Mary's in a nonconference game were performing before a big gathering of over 70,000 persons at Berkeley while the Palo Alto ceremonies were in progress.

But these gentlemen of Stanford—the Messrs. Al Masters, the graduate manager; Don Liebendorfer of his staff, and Dink Templeton, the boy track coach, merely smiled.

"Show us three crowds in your Los Angeles Coliseum this fall that will match our three sellouts.

"Pick out any three games you have down there that will pack 'em in as we will here.

"The game with Southern California will be a sellout. So will the California game, and the one with Army late in December."

And the boys are right at Stanford.

They can seat more people in the bowl at Palo Alto than any other in the Coast, and for that matter I believe it is the biggest college stadium in the country.

It holds 87,432 persons since its enlargement two years ago.

It is larger by 10,000 seats than the Coliseum here and the Memorial Stadium at Berkeley.

Crowds of 90,000 see the "big game" when it is played at Berkeley, but the overflow congregates on the heights of "Tightwad Hill" overlooking the playing field.

Think of the vast interest in football when a total of over 250,000 persons will see just three contests at Stanford.

No wonder football crowds every other sport out of the picture in the fall.

SENTIMENT WITH A'S

IT SEEMS, however, that baseball is going to battle hard for another week at least.

What with the world series opening at Chicago today, and our own Coast League play-off getting under way in the north, baseball cannot be totally ignored.

Although the Cubs apparently are liked by just as many people as the Athletics the sentiment of the old-timers is with the A's.

Any guy like Connie Mack who has to wait fifteen years for a pennant victory in his own league is deserving of sympathy.

And just as in the old days when Bender and Plank and Coombs were his mainstays in world series battles so old Connie seems to be a bit better fortified for the strife than the Cubs.

He has Earnshaw and Grove as his biggest aces, and they look to be the difference between the rival pitching staffs.

On top of that Connie has just as many hard hitters as Bill Wrigley, and he has the extra advantage of experience in previous world series over Joe McCarthy, the Cubs' skipper.

OUR BEST FIGHT

AS A sort of added attraction for the fall calendar we have the Walker-Hudkins battle for the middleweight title. This positively refuses to be subdued in any way, shape or form by football, world series, or whatnot.

Although the extra tariff for the tickets was expected to throw a little cold water on the proposition the opposite seems to have been the case. At least there has been a fierce rush for choice ducats. And at $15 per head for tops that runs into money pretty rapidly.

Regardless of the price it is the best fight that could possibly be staged in this city.

Los Angeles won't pay New York prices for a heavyweight championship battle. And when you run through the fistic division from flyweights to light heavyweights there is no other fight that could stir up such interest as a Walker-Hudkins affair.

Hudkins has been the biggest fight attraction over a period of years this city has ever seen. Walker is the champion, and although he has been accused of slight deviations from the straight and narrow, being a playboy is the farthest thing from his thoughts right now.

He is training to retain his title—not to lose it.

CARTER AND TOWNSEND

THE Wildcat Carter-Billy Townsend fight at the Olympic has something more behind it than the usual ballyhoo.

Although it is overshadowed by the steam-up for the Walker-Hudkins title bout there is just as much venom between the performers as in the championship fracas.

Townsend knocked Carter out at Seattle—just before Carter came south to fight Goldie Hess.

Carter's backers insist the gloves were loaded.

Jack Allen, well-known sportsman and promoter of Vancouver, who is here with Townsend, laughs at the idea.

So does Townsend.

"Loaded with leather," they chorus. "Watch the black phantom get it again tonight."

HUDKINS NOT TO BE SOLD

Brother Clyde Denies Kearns Will Take Over Ace's Contract if Kin Wins Walker Title

Clyde Hudkins yesterday spiked the report that Jack Kearns wanted to buy the contract of Ace if he wins the middleweight championship of the world from Mickey Walker at Wrigley Field on October 29.

"There isn't enough money in Los Angeles county to buy the contract I hold on the Wildcat, for he is my brother," said Clyde as he superintended the Ace's training at Bastanchury's ranch.

ACE HUDKINS

"Hudkins will be the next champion, but Kearns won't be in on the party. We all think that Ace will stop Walker inside of six rounds. He actually doesn't look as dangerous as Joe Anderson did."

A story broke out in the East that Kearns was dickering for the Nebraskan's contract providing he won from Walker.

Kearns and Walker were in town yesterday taking care of legal matters that surround the champion.

"Why would I bother about trying to tie up a challenger when I know that Walker will stop this here Hudkins?" said Kearns when broached on the subject.

"Walker could have knocked Hudkins out in Chicago if the rain hadn't slowed things down after the fifth round. Hudkins is too open for a puncher like Walker.

"Talk that Mickey won't be in condition is a lot of applesauce. I'm looking after him and he'll be in shape. That Hudkins is playing around thinking he's in shape and he's liable to be all mixed up when the fight comes off."

The Hudkins camp has declared Wednesday as newspaper men's day. The Wildcat is scheduled to work out with Billy Papke, former middleweight champion, who knocked out Stanley Ketchell twenty years ago.

COVINA LIGHTWEIGHTS BEAT GARFIELD, 13-0

In a close hard-fought affair, the Covina lightweights defeated Garfield, 13 to 0, at Garfield yesterday. Although Garfield had several opportunities to score they were unable to take advantage of them. Covina scored in the first quarter on a 40-yard pass, followed by a line buck in which Fisher plunged over for a touchdown. The second came as a result of a drive started in midfield, and ended when Schields slipped over the line for the final marker.

Fisher of the Colts played a bang-up game for Covina, while Hoff and Koontz of Garfield also showed up well.

AWARD OF PRO GOLF EVENT TO HILLCREST IS APPROVED

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—The Professional Golfers' Association championship tournament will be held at the Hillcrest club of Los Angeles, December 2 to 7, inclusive, the executive committee of the Professional Golfers' Association of America announced tonight through its president, Alex Pirie.

Pirie's statement said that $10,400 prize money had been guaranteed by Joseph M. Schenck, moving-picture producer. Rail fare one way will be paid by the golfers' association. Qualifying rounds are to be held in twenty-four sections of the country at which time sixty-four professionals will be certified as eligible to the P.G.A. tourney on the Coast.

TERRIBLE WAR AMONG MATMEN

Daro and Sandow Said to be Completely at Outs

Lewis Trying to Squirm Out of Local Contract

Lou Scours Byways for Foe Worthy of ex-King

War was declared here yesterday between Promotor Lou Daro and Billy Sandow, manager of Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

LOU DARO.

Following a meeting between the pair which threatened several times to end in a combination fighting and wrestling bout, Promoter Daro is reported to have turned down all of Sandow's proposals for the cancellation of Lewis's contract to appear in the finish feature event of the mat show being scheduled by the local promoter for the Olympic, the 16th inst.

Sandow asked to be released from this contract so that he could accept the offer made Lewis for a match with Champion Gus Sonnenberg.

Sandow is certain the proposal will interest Sonnenberg and his manager, Doc Brown. The guarantee is as large as that given for the match between Lewis and Sonnenberg in Boston, January 4, 1929, which is reported to have drawn the biggest gate in mat history in this country.

The text of Kaufman's offer to Sandow follows:

"Will guarantee $50,000 with privilege of 67½ per cent of the gross gate receipts for Lewis and Sonnenberg to meet in championship match in Kansas City during the week of the American Royal Stock Show. Have already posted $10,000 guarantee. I mean business. Will post balance when match is closed. Wire answer, Convention Hall, Kansas City. Signed, Gabe Kaufman."

Lewis's manager declared he would sign the former champion with any promoter in the country who was able to get a title match for his wrestler, and as Kaufman's offer is the biggest among several already received for a title bout between Lewis and Sonnenberg, Sandow is of the opinion the champion will accept the Kansas City terms.

"Lewis is ready for the champion," Sandow stated. "He has beaten every heavyweight in the game who cared to face him, and I think he is in better condition now than he has been for any match he has ever had with Sonnenberg. I look for him to win back the title if they meet again. That is why I am so anxious to get that title match now. I promised Daro I would bring Lewis back for his first match as champion, if he won the title, but Daro refused to release Lewis from his contract.

"Lewis has signed to wrestle in a main event here on the 16th inst. and I intend to hold him to his contract," Daro declared. "At the present time I am seeking a worthy opponent for him. The title match offers do not interest me in the least."

Outboards Set Speed Records

Six new American records were established yesterday in the final day's racing in the international mile outboard trials staged on the waters of Newport Bay. Bill Lyons in his Baby Brontosaurus set new marks in Class B-1 and D-1. His first record was 42.2 and his second mark 46.9. Miss Mildred Milde set a new mark in Class C-1. Her time was 43.5. H. G. Ferguson, driving the Blue Streak, accounted for the B-2 Class American mark. Ferguson's time was 42.2. Al Thompson in his Black Maria V made a new record in Class C-2 by covering the mile in 43.0. Ferguson established the sixth American mark in Class D-2 with a 48.2 performance.

Dick Loynes was also credited with an international mark at the last minute by the officials in charge. He covered a nautical mile in the 2½ litre class in 45.187.

Lobos Likely to Fly Here for Oxy Tilt

The University of New Mexico football team is planning to make the trip here by air for its game Friday night with Occidental in the Rose Bowl. Word to this effect was received here yesterday by Phil Ellsworth, astute graduate manager of the Tiger team.

R. W. Johnson, coach of the Lobo eleven, watched Occidental in action against Santa Barbara State Friday night, making the trip to and from Albuquerque by air. The trip can be made in approximately six hours by T.A.T., and Johnson was enthusiastic over the prospect of making the journey by air, as it would not be so tiring on his players. Johnson also stated that no players would be allowed to fly here without their parents' consent.

PLAN CHEER SECTION FOR LOBO ROOTERS

University of New Mexico alumni and their friends who wish to obtain seats in the Lobo rooting section for the night game this Friday between New Mexico and Occidental in the Pasadena Rose Bowl will find special reserved rooting section tickets on sale both at the Los Angeles and Hollywood stores of the H. H. Dyas Company, according to Phil Ellsworth, Oxy graduate manager.

Choice reserved seat tickets in other sections of the Bowl also will go on sale today at the Dyas stores, as well as at Hunter & Williams, 49 East Colorado street, Pasadena; Cornwell & Kelty, 115 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale; at the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce, and on the Occidental campus.

RICHFIELDS OUT TO BEAT LA NATIVIDADS

Richfield Oilers will be out for revenge on the ice Thursday night at the Palais De Glace rink when they again face Eddie Hume's La Natividad pucksters. The teams clashed last week with the Natividads, and by virtue of a last-minute rally, won by the score of 7 to 3. Bert Clark, star wing man of the victors, will be a marked man Thursday night as a result of having scored four goals in the previous tilt.

RUGGED COURSE NO BARRIER FOR SQUIBB'S

Double-action Shaving Cream Plunges Through All Hazards with Ease

All the rough is fairway when you lather up with Squibb's Shaving Cream. It is so cool and soothing, so easy on your razor and your face. For Squibb's now contains a new ingredient—a unique balm for the skin that gives you double-action.

First, Squibb's shields your face with a coat of softness, does away with all the little irritating strokes in the rough. You're round the course—your morning shave is over—in surprisingly fast time—and with a cool comfort you never thought possible.

And—then—this new ingredient restores the delicate oils essential to the skin—restores natural comfort and health! Nature keeps your face fresh and supple with these vital oils. Soap absorbs them—leaves your skin parched and exposed. But just feel your face after you've shaved with Squibb's. It's smooth and pliant—and it's packed full of natural comfort because the delicate oils are replaced.

It doesn't matter how you shave. If Squibb's has prepared the way, you're always in for a double-action shave. Extra comfort, extra-ease every time.

Buy a tube of Squibb's at your druggist's tonight. Only 40c for the generously big size.—[Advertisement.

Title Hopes Fade in Northwest

OREGON DEFEAT BITTER WALLOP

Northern Fans Did Not Look for Such a Rout

Oregon State's Showing Not as Bad as Expected

Montana's Strength Greatly Underestimated

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 7.—Saturday's football games pretty well destroyed any championship hopes held by the Pacific Northwest. Oregon's downfall by a crushing score was unexpected. The Webfoots were doped to play Stanford a fairly even game and many looked for a victory. No one in the north expected the rout that resulted. The game is impressive of Stanford's strength, as a weaker Oregon team last year played the Cardinal a closer contest. Saturday's defeat was the worst the Oregonians have ever experienced from Stanford.

PAUL SCHISSLER

On the other hand Oregon State did better against Southern California than had been expected here. Rather than be discouraged Coach Schissler's team, which has been rebuilt this fall, will be looked to for continued improvement and several victories on the rest of its schedule. It has a set-up in Columbia University next Saturday which will give it time to get in shape for Stanford the following week.

Undoubtedly the most surprised team of the Pacific Coast is Washington. Although they outplayed Montana, nothing like a tied score was looked for. Bagshaw had announced that he would save his star backs, Merle Hufford and Ellis Johnson, for the Southern California game, but he used them both. He needed everything he had. It is likely that the strength of Montana had been underrated, but it is just as evident that the Huskies are not as formidable as their earlier showing indicated. Even so, Washington had a clear edge, making seventeen first downs to eight for Montana and gaining 356 yards to 178 for the Grizzlies.

Idaho performed against Whitman in much the same way that Washington had the week previously. Idaho appears much faster this year than last and probably stronger in every respect. Idaho's tackling was a little ragged, and was its chief weakness. It made twenty first downs to five for Whitman.

The Mt. St. Charles game revealed Washington State in fair shape for the 13,688 miles of touring that fills up the rest of its schedule. The Cougars will not win all their games, but they probably will be the most-traveled football eleven in America by New Year's. Their roving schedule includes trips to Berkeley, Portland, Missoula, Spokane, Los Angeles and Honolulu.

The Cougars performed very well against Mt. St. Charles, considering it is largely a new team. Hollingbery's men lack experience for their game with California Saturday, but they ought to show considerable individual ability, especially Schwartz, fullback, who not only is an effective ground gainer, but who Saturday was on the receiving end of seven successful forward passes. Not a bad record for any footballer.

Oregon, with a game scheduled against the light Willamette University eleven next Saturday, will have two weeks to recover from the Stanford drubbing before it meets Oregon State in Portland the 19th inst. Washington, despite its tie with Montana, may be expected to give the Trojans quite a tussle. Washington had regarded the Montana game as an easy victory, and has been concentrating all of its attention on Southern California. That game ought to tell whether Bagshaw's new players are as good as they look.

PASADENA LIGHTIES TIE SOUTH PASADENA

JOE STECHER VICTOR IN STASIAK BATTLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 7. (AP)—Joe Stecher, Nebraska heavyweight wrestler, tonight defeated Stanley Stasiak of Poland, taking two falls out of three. Stasiak won the first fall in twenty-three minutes, and Stecher took the next two, employing his body scissors. He won the second fall in seven minutes and thirty seconds, and the deciding one in one minute and twenty seconds.

Joe Malcewicz, Utica (N. Y.) heavyweight, won a decision over Charlie Hanson, Iowa, in a forty-five-minute bout.

VON TILLOW TO WED

BERKELEY, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Another well-known University of California athlete has been stunned by Cupid's well-directed shafts. The engagement of Ward Von Tillow, bow on last year's varsity crew, is announced to Kathleen Ryan, a co-ed at the university. A few of Von Tillow's affiliations are the Sigma Pi Fraternity, Beta Beta, Skull and Keys, Winged Helmet, Golden Bear and the Big "C" Society, an organization of letter men in the major sports.

Fail to Set Post-Season Service Date

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (AP) Secretary Good said today that efforts to arrange a post-season football game between West Point and Annapolis for this season had failed. He added, however, that efforts were being made by himself and Secretary Adams to get the service institutions to resume athletic relations on a basis suitable to them. He said he and Adams had discussed calling the superintendents of the institutions together to see if they could not work out a satisfactory plan. Good added jokingly that the Navy "wanted parity."

KILLEFER TO PILOT BROWNS

Washington. In 1928 he piloted the Cardinals to a championship but was replaced at the helm by Billy Southworth at the start of the 1929 season. During the Cardinal slump this year, however, he was recalled from the Rochester club of the International League, a Cardinal property, and again took over the managerial reins of the St. Louis club.

Tonight's announcement was the second within a few hours to affect St. Louis' major-league clubs Bill Killefer being announced today as the new manager of the St. Louis Browns, succeeding Dan Howley.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Bill Killefer, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, former coach of the St. Louis Cardinals, and for the last three years chief coach of the St. Louis Browns, today signed a three-year contract as manager of the Browns, succeeding Dan Howley.

The choice of Killefer was announced by Phil Ball, president of the Browns, in a brief statement in which he said the club had signed a man who would be loyal and would enforce the necessary discipline. The contract contained a clause that Killefer would be expected to co-operate with the "front office" in all things pertaining to the team.

Howley announced Saturday he was not a candidate for renewal of his three-year contract as he and Ball had disagreed as to management policies. Killefer said today he had signed only after Howley had persuaded him it was the right thing to do. Killefer and Howley have been close friends since they were catchers on the Phillies more than a decade ago.

Tennis Stars Gather Fame for Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 7.—Stanford's tennis history is full of accounts of individual triumphs, with such players as R. Lindley Murray, former national champion; Phil Neer, James Davies, Cranston Holman, Tubby Ogden and Alan Herrington upholding the Cardinal on the courts, but the summer's tennis campaign just completed by John Doeg, of Santa Monica, is perhaps the greatest record of steady accomplishment ever turned in by a Stanford player.

Although getting off to a poor start in the intercollegiate matches held at the commencement of the season in June, Doeg improved weekly, and, in all, he won five major tennis championships — the Rhode Island State, the Nassau invitational, the Longwood Bowl, the Seabright invitational, and, with George Lott, the national doubles. Perhaps his most notable victory was over R. Norris Williams, former national champion, in the Seabright finals. The most startling display by the 19-year-old star, however, was made against the venerable William Tilden in the semifinals of the national singles, which match Tilden won, 3-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, and it was so brilliant that the final between Tilden and Hunter was an anticlimax.

Ranked eighth in the national ratings last year, Doeg this season walloped Wilmer Allison, No. 4; Johnny Van Ryn, No. 5; Arnold Jones, No. 6, and Fritz Mercur, No. 7. Hence, he is due to go up about four places.

Further strength has been added this season to Stanford tennis by the enrollment of Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, national junior champ, who is a sophomore transfer from Santa Barbara State College. Although he will be ineligible for play next spring, Gledhill will have the benefit of practice with Doeg.

Harry Plymire, promising junior player of Palo Alto, who has done well in several California tournaments this summer, also is enrolled at Stanford this year.

YOSEMITE PLANS ICE-HOCKEY GAME

YOSEMITE (Cal.) Oct. 7. (AP)—Plans to secure an intercollegiate ice hockey game during the holidays and to initiate new sports were outlined today by Des Baillets, director of sports for the Yosemite Winter Club. C. G. Thompson, superintendent of Yosemite Park and vice-president of the club, has pledged the support of park officials.

The second annual meeting of the club, said to be the first organization of its kind in California, was held last night. Officers elected were: Dr. Don Tresidder, president; C. C. Thompson, first vice-president; H. H. Hoss, secretary, and E. D. Ashdill, treasurer.

PREP ELEVENS WORKING HARD

Chuck Gabriels's Injury Hurts Manual Arts

Brennan Shaking Up Poly Football Line-up

Franklin is Dark Horse of City League

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Pity the poor perspiring prepsters these hot October afternoons. Every day as soon as school is out high-school lads don their football uniforms with added vigor because this week-end every league in Southern California opens play except the San Fernando Valley loop, and the Minor City circuit. Both of them start the season on the 18th inst.

VOYLE BRENNEN

Local interest is centered around the Poly-Manual clash at the Coliseum Friday. Both elevens are considered to be title contenders, although both of them have been defeated in practice games. This is nothing against them as every team in the league has been beaten in early season games.

Manual's chances for victory took a slump yesterday when it was found out that Chuck Gabriels had injured his shoulder last week in practice. However, Gabriels was in uniform last night and worked out with the team as usual.

Coach Blewett's Toilers are still the favorites to beat Poly. Coach Brennan's Mechanics have been defeated twice this season, Huntington Park and Fremont both turning the tables on the Parrots.

In the two other games listed for the City League Friday, Lincoln is still favored to defeat Franklin in spite of the Panthers' strong showing against Belmont last week, and Coach Vic Kelley's Hollywood Redshirts figure on beating Jim Pursell's Franklin Democrats. Franklin and Hollywood are the home teams.

The Coliseum turf will be kept warm this season. The City League will have a game there practically every Friday afternoon. Lincoln will see action in the major portion of the contests as Coach Bates's Tigers have no home field and will use the Coliseum for their games.

LOCAL STARS LAND IN DRAFT

of the American League were the only ones not calling in players.

The Philly list included three pitchers, Byron Speece, from Indianapolis of the American Association; Nichols from Montreal, International League; Collard, Shreveport, Texas League, and a first baseman, Jack Sherlock from the Mission team of the Pacific Coast League. Speece formerly was with Cleveland, Sherlock with Detroit, Nichols with the Yankees and Collard with Cleveland.

Hollis Thurston, who once pitched for the White Sox and Washington, was drawn from San Francisco of the Coast League by Brooklyn which also got Pitcher Faulkner, once with the Giants, from Buffalo of the International League.

Detroit drafted but one player, Spencer Harris, hard-hitting outfielder, from Minneapolis of the American Association. Harris previously was up with the White Sox and Washington.

Other clubs and players they obtained were:

Boston American — Bill Sweeney, first baseman, from Toronto International League; Otto Miller, infielder, from Milwaukee, American Association, and Pitcher George Smith, from Seattle of the Coast League. Sweeney and Smith formerly were with Detroit, while Miller had a trial with the St. Louis Browns.

Boston National — Johnny Nuen, first baseman, from Baltimore, International League; Red Rollings, third baseman, from Hollywood, Pacific Coast, and Outfielder Bratcher, from Denver of the Western League. Nuen played with Detroit, and Rollings was tried by the Boston Americans.

Chicago American — E. Smith, shortstop, from Birmingham, southern Association, and Outfielder D. S. "Sheriff" Harris, from Portland, Pacific Coast League. Smith had a previous trial with Washington, and Harris was up with the Boston Braves.

Cincinnati National — Earl Webb, outfielder, from Los Angeles of the Coast League, and Harry Riconda, from Kansas City of the American Association. Webb was with the Cubs at one time and Riconda has been up with several major-league teams.

St. Louis Nationals—Pete Fowler, potcher, from Reading, Intercatcher from Toledo, American Asnational League; Harry McCurdy, sociation, and Andy Messenger, pitcher, from Wichita Falls, Texas League. Fowler was tried once before by the Cards, and he also was with the ubs, McCurdy also received a trial with the Cardinals, and was with the Whiet Sox. Messenger was with Cleveland.

Pittsburgh National — Charles Angle, shortstop, from Memphis Southern Association.

New York National — Shortstop Allen, from Wilkes-Babbe, New York-Pennsylvania League.

New York American — William Karlon, catcher, from Springfield, Eastern League.

Washington American—H. E. Pyle, pitcher, from Chattanooga Southern Association.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

FRUIT OFFICIAL INSPECTS PORT

Traffic Manager of United Silent on Plans

Hope Revived for Direct Line to Central America

Says Company Alive to Trade Growth at Harbor

BY WALDO DRAKE

Continued reports that the United Fruit Company will establish passenger and cargo service between Los Angeles Harbor and Central American ports in 1930, were strengthened yesterday by a visit to the port of M. C. O'Hearn, vice-president of the United Fruit Company and chief of the company's domestic traffic, from New York. Mr. O'Hearn, who spent the day on a survey of local banana terminal facilities and watching discharge of 25,000 stems of Canal Zone fruit from the British steamer Gracia and the Norwegian motorship Abraham Lincoln, was accompanied by J. Scott Ryder, Pacific Coast manager of United Fruit.

Mr. O'Hearn would not deny that his company has plans for establishment of weekly service to and from Los Angeles Harbor with its own ships, but said that he could make no announcement of the 1930 program at this time. As the first step, he said, the weekly, four-ship exclusive freight fleet operating between Port Limon, Costa Rica, and the Canal Zone to San Francisco will be increased to seven ships, with passenger accommodations.

"I can say, however, that the United Fruit Company is fully cognizant of the rapidly increasing passenger traffic to and from Los Angeles, and we have never yet passed up a trade opportunity," declared Mr. O'Hearn. "We are delivering between 150,000 and 200,000 stems to this port each month on vessels of the nine European-Pacific lines plus the new electric ships of the Panama-Pacific Line. All of these lines have been giving us good service, but, of course, use of our own vessels would make for more expeditious and economical transportation.

"We are developing refrigeration facilities for our Pacific Coast ships, which we believe will aid the growth of a big trade in California fruits, fresh meats, eggs and vegetables with Central America."

BALFOUR, GUTHRIE AGENT HAS BUSY DAY

Five offshore ships, three of them new, were in for Balfour, Guthrie & Co. yesterday, and all calling at the same time for the services of Jim Sullivan, agent's representative.

Of the new ones two are chartered to join Winge's fleet between this coast and the west coast of South America. They are the 8200-ton motorships Sveadrott, owned by Sveadrott Steamship Company, and the Samuel Bakke owned by Knute Knudsen. Although of different design, they have the same 4000-Burmeister & Wain Diesels, giving a speed of fourteen knots and have 60,000 cubic feet of refrigeration, and cabins for twelve passengers. The John Bakke, out from here a month ago, gives the line three new refrigerated passenger carriers in this service.

Also in for Balfour, Guthrie & Co. is the new Japanese tank motorship Yeiyo Maru of Nippon Tankers, Ltd., which broke the tanker record by crossing the Pacific from Yokohama in fifteen days and two hours, Capt. Nagata said, when broken-in, his ship will make a round trip monthly. She sailed last night with 85,000 barrels of fuel oil taken from Shell Oil Company for the Japanese navy.

Others handled by Sullivan yesterday were the Kanju Maru, loading 60,000 barrels of fuel oil for Teikoku Kisen Kaisha, and the Donaldson steamer Gracia, discharging from United Kingdom and Central America.

Another new foreign tanker in yesterday is the German motorship Max Albrecht, Capt. G. Buettemeyer commanding. She gets out today for Stockholm with 60,000 barrels of gas oil, under charter to Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Her M.A.N. 3300-horsepower Diesels give her 11½ knots loaded. Albrecht Mineral works of Hamburg is owner.

Tom James, vice-president and general manager of the Banning Company, stevedores, will return from New York today after three weeks spent in the metropolis for conferences with intercoastal operators relative to 1930 freight traffic.

The Banning staff had a busy session yesterday at the Vegetable Oil terminal with three ships; the Donaldson-Pacific steamer Gracia, discharging 15,000 stems of bananas from Colon and 1200 tons of general from the United Kingdom; the Transmarine freighter Surailco, with 2500 tons of pipe from Mobile; and the Holland-America steamer Moerdyk, loading up 1000 tons of Southland freight for North Europe.

The Harbor Boatbuilding Company yesterday started construction on a sixty-two-foot Diesel cruiser for Dr. F. W. Schefick, Minneapolis yachtsman, from design by D. M. Callis. She will be powered with a single 100-horsepower Union engine.

The new bait boat Cipango will sail on her maiden voyage for the tuna banks off Lower California today. She is a 100-foot Diesel craft of new lines with raised deck forward and flaring bow, designed by A. D. Lee and the San Pedro Boat Building Company and built by the latter for Y. Nagasugi and N. Maleda, who will fish for California Packing Corporation. She will carry 140 tons of iced fish and cost around $70,000.

HUDKINS IN EXHIBITION

Ontario boxing fans will get their chance at the man who may be the next middleweight champion when Ace Hudkins boxes an exhibition bout there Wednesday night. Hudkins, who is scheduled to box an exhibition bout with one of his sparring partners, has never shown in that locale and should draw a capacity gate by his appearance.

FRATERNITIES TIE IN BEAR SWIM TOURNEY

BERKELEY, Oct. 7. (Exclusive)—The most spirited interfraternity swimming championship tournament in the history of the event at the University of California ended in a tie between Phi Mu Delta, winner for the past two years, and Alpha Tau Omega, both of whom captured 18 points. Ralph "Babe" Bontall was the individual star for the A.T.O house with first places in the 50 and 100 overhand and a third place in the 150-yard medley, which accounted for 11 of the 18 points scored. Victories in the backstroke and medley by Fred Kothe, a freshman from South Africa, gave Theta Kappa Nu, 10 points and third place. Other houses trailed in this order: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Psi Upsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Mu.

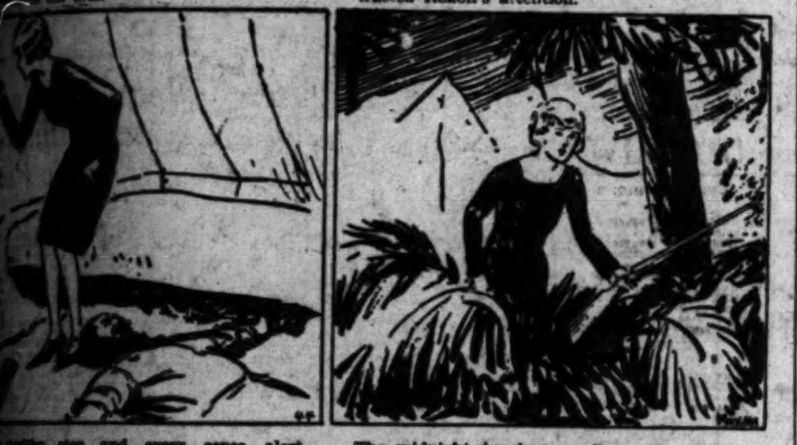
[illegible] that even if she were compelled to [illegible], she would be no better off. The shot [illegible] his men and her fate would be even [illegible]. The memory of the two brutes who stood [illegible] Rokoff struck her was still vivid. [illegible] the Russian lunged toward her, but [illegible]. Swinging the heavy revolver [illegible] his evil face, she dealt him a terrific [illegible] the eyes.

Without a sound he sank, limp and unconscious, to the floor. A moment later the girl stood beside him—for that moment at least—free from the menace of his attack. She extinguished the smudgy lamp, and in the darkness paused to collect her wits and plan the next step in her venture for freedom. Outside she heard again the noise that had distracted Rokoff's attention.



[illegible] stealthy step and every sense alert [illegible] her way to the back of the tent, [illegible] upon the first stage of her [illegible]. Bending over the form of the [illegible] Russian, her fingers came upon [illegible] of his long hunting knife. With this [illegible] an opening in the tent wall. Silently [illegible] without, straining her ears to listen. [illegible] was apparently asleep.

The midnight jungle was alive with countless, nameless noises. She hesitated, trembling. The jungle terrors appalled her. But behind her lay a fate worse than death, at the hands of human beings. Before her lay an almost certain fate—but it was only death—sudden, merciful, and honorable death. Without a tremor and without regret she darted from the camp, and the mysterious jungle closed about her.

September total sales at Dana Point surpassed any previous month's business in the history of this wonderful development. More sales, more homes completed, more improvements, more commissions paid, more prospects for the largest, happiest, best paid sales organization successfully functioning in California, selling the finest property with the utmost co-operation. Wake up if you think business is poor. Former automobile and insurance salesmen are making big returns.

This is a straightforward suggestion to ambitious salesmen & saleswomen who can and must earn more than their present connection affords. Plenty of prospects. We make appointments, supply car expense and give every assistance. Good closed car essential. Contact JERRY LYLE, 3043 Wilshire Blvd., preferably before 9:30 a.m.

OIL PROPERTY— Miscellaneous —67

OIL—OIL—OIL

We have structure, surface high, very apparent to the eye, good rig and drilling machinery with hole down 3000 ft. Well making lots of gas, which is further proof of structure. Excellent oil indications in oil scum, traces and rainbows on water coming from well. Our geologist thinks first productive sand will be tapped at 2325 ft. or less. This is a California Co. and holds full 7-8 lease covering well on 135-acre tract. We are not broke, have money in the bank, but must run casing before drilling proceeds and want to raise $5000 quickly; of this amount you can take all or part. Light oil with plenty gas expected upon going just a little deeper. This is clean deal, a real bet and a most unusual opportunity for big returns on small investment.

MRS. HOLLAND'S CASE DISCUSSED

Mother-to-Be May be Freed on Compromise

Prosecutor Offers Probation on Guilty Plea

Woman's Attorney May Elect to Stand Trial

Possibility of a compromise between defense and prosecution attorneys on the status of Mrs. Thelma Holland, 22 years of age, who is facing trial on a charge of possession of a still despite the fact that she expects to become a mother within two months, was admitted at the District Attorney's office yesterday.

A conference probably will be held between her attorney, Moses Davis, and Daniel Beecher, chief trial deputy of the District Attorney's office, today to settle the question.

According to Dist.-Atty. Fitts the prosecution will be willing to approve probation for the woman if she pleads guilty to the charge because of her physical condition. Attorney Davis asserts that he has not yet decided to accept the offer.

Mrs. Holland pleaded guilty to the charge before Superior Judge Wilson last July, believing, she asserts, that she would be granted probation. She was sentenced to San Quentin prison, however. Later the court granted permission for her to change her plea and ordered a new trial.

The woman's husband, C. W. Holland, and Walter Payne, a friend, pleaded guilty to possession of the same still at the same time. Holland was sentenced to Folsom prison and Payne was ordered confined in the Preston School of Industry at Ione.

Mrs. Holland is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Walton Wood for trial tomorrow.

TWO LAWS CUT CITY'S RECEIPTS

Strict Economy Needed to Avoid Drawing on Reserve Fund

Strict economy will be adhered to in the municipal government in an effort to avoid drawing upon the reserve fund, Budget Director Knox said yesterday, stating there is a potential deficit of approximately $1,000,000 in receipts as against budget allowances.

The situation arises as the result of two laws passed by the Legislature, Knox said. One of th[illegible] low rate on intangibles, reduced the city's income from stocks, bonds and money, although it is expected the increased amount of these securities declared in the future will more than overcome the drop. The other law was one placing much of the expense of maintaining the Municipal Court upon the city, which heretofore has been borne by the county.

The reserve fund, built up during several years now amounts to $6,000,000.

Screens Here to Show MacDonald

Close-ups of Ramsay MacDonald, British Premier visiting President Hoover on a peace mission, are to be shown soon by the Times-Universal Newsreel at an important group of Southern California theaters. Miss Ishbel MacDonald also is shown in news film, with interesting comment by the Talking Reporter.

Other famous personages shown in action in this release of the Times-Universal Newsreel are Col. Theodore Roosevelt, starting for Porto Rico to assume his post as Governor-General; Al Smith atop the historic Waldorf-Astoria Hotel; Carl Laemmle returning from Germany, the late Dr. Stresemann in intimate scenes taken before his recent death, and Premier Mussolini being greeted by 30,000 war buddies.

Thrills are offered in this issue of the Times-Universal Newsreel in the form of scenes of the Florida hurricane and a steeplechase race at the Westchester Biltmore Club. There also are interesting scenes of 50,000 Legionnaires parading at the Louisville convention, and a pet parade at Venice.

HOOVER DRY RULE PRAISED

Methodist Preachers Hear Dr. Eaton Describe Great Progress Made in Few Months

"Under the efficient, Christian administration of Herbert Hoover the United States today, in regard to prohibition, is no more like the United States of eight months ago than white is like black," declared Dr. E. L. Eaton, field secretary of the National Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, in his address yesterday before 200 Methodist preachers at First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Declaring that Washington, D. C., is the dryest city in America and that President Hoover is making it America's ideal city in many respects, Dr. Eaton voiced his admiration for "a President who did not hesitate to challenge the Senator who charged that Washington was 'all wet.'"

WET PAPERS RAPPED

"And when, at Mr. Hoover's demand that the Senator give instances to prove his charges, the latter brought up data three years old, Washington and the country generally began to sit up and take notice," said Dr. Eaton.

"I have just finished a tour of fifty of the largest cities of the country and I saw only three intoxicated men throughout the entire trip," said the speaker. "In Buffalo a taxi driver told me there were 100 speakeasies in that city, but when I offered him $50 to show me one such place he closed up like a clam."

Praising the Jones-Stalker law for its effectiveness, Dr. Eaton said the only real wet place in the country "is to be found in the columns of some of our big daily papers."

"It is these big newspapers and many leading magazines that are trying to break down the morale of the American people," said the speaker. "Millions of dollars are being spent by the wets for propaganda and I do not doubt that some of our outstanding periodicals are being subsidized by the liquor interests.

NATIONAL WILL

"When the people of the United States voted the Eighteenth Amendment into the Constitution, it was a movement to free themselves into a larger liberty and to promote a high idealism that touches every strata of our national life. It was not a war measure, but the will of the American people, climaxing a reform movement that had lasted for a century. It represented the people's final decision on the only way to deal with the drink evil. They had tried moderation, pledges of total abstinence, local option, government control and State-wide prohibition and all these efforts had failed. The Methodist church always stood for prohibition and when the Methodists voted for Hoover they did so not because he represented the Republican party, but because he represented Americanism. The saloon is gone, but we must remember that there are 8,000,000 voters, who were not old enough to vote in the last election, that will hold the balance of power in 1932. If the church does not win these voters, the wets are likely to ride to victory on their ballots."

Announcement was made that the quarterly conference of the Retired Methodist Preachers' Association of Southern California will meet at the First Methodist Church at 10 a.m. today. Dr. A. B. Leonard, who has been in the ministry for more than fifty years, is president of the association, which boasts more than 100 members.

NEGRO GUARDS CULT TEMPLE

burn. This followed a trek across the Mojave Desert to Stovepipe Wells in September, 1928, he stated.

Nine persons, led by Mrs. Blackburn, made the week's journey in two automobiles, completed a religious mathematical "contact" at Stovepipe Wells, Wooddell asserted.

The day after they returned the mules were buried in symbolism of escaping from the jaws of death and of the biblical victory of David over Goliath, Wooddell recounted.

"Mother (Mrs. Blackburn) received her orders to make this journey, sacrifice the mules, and construct this furniture from an angel," Wooddell stated.

"When the throne was built it did not comply with the directions mother received, so we had to rebuild the lion's head on the back of it. We made several changes before the angel told Mrs. Blackburn the furniture was all right.

HORSES BOUGHT

"We had the furniture built in Los Angeles three years ago and brought it here to be ready when mother gets the final message. The throne weighs about 500 pounds and contains 580 square feet of timber. It took eight men to get it in here. It and the other wooden pieces are covered with pure gold leaf. I don't know how much they cost."

In another angelic message, Wooddell asserted, Mrs. Blackburn was ordered to purchase four horses, a white, black, red and brown one. This message came two years ago and the horses still occupy stalls just below the "temple" and are not made to work. The colonists consider them to be as "links" in the scheme of things as set forth in Mrs. Blackburn's teachings. Whether they will be killed Wooddell did not state.

Other colonists denied that anyone had mysteriously disappeared from the mountain camp. They also asserted that some of the members may have taken sun baths, but that reports from other persons in the vicinity of cultists wandering around the hills nude are groundless.

GRAVES HUNTED

Having been informed of secret burials with mysterious rites, followed later by digging up of the grave, Detective Lieutenants Condaffer, Hickey and Edwards went to an address on the outskirts of Inglewood shortly before sundown yesterday.

A hurried investigation brought forth the story from neighbors that Mrs. Blackburn and some other members of the cult occupied the house in question and while there buried a number of dogs at the foot of some fig trees that had been given symbolical names.

Later, the officers reported, some of the cult returned, armed with new bed sheeting, exhumed the bodies of the dogs and took them away. The neighbors were alarmed at first and suspicious of the burial, but any fears were dissipated by the proof that it was dogs that were buried.

Mounoy said he had treated Mrs. Turner from January, 1927, to November, 1927, but had not seen her from that time until her death.

Reardon said he will order the body disinterred if subsequent developments in the case appear "suspicious."

A writ of attachment was served on Miller late yesterday by the Ventura county Sheriff covering all the holdings and property of the sect in the mountain colony. It was brought to satisfy a suit of Dabney, seeking to annul title to the property, which he asserts was obtained from him by members of the cult through misrepresentation and fraud.

SETBACK INITIATED

The Council adopted a resolution of intention calling for the establishment of setback lines on Vermont avenue between Weston street and Two Hundred and Fifty-fifth street. It was set for hearing November 4.

(Not all the interesting and out-of-the-ordinary news of the day finds a place on crowded wires or waves. Every evening The Times conducts a news exchange by airplane. By Western Air Express, T.A.T. and Standard lines papers of current and yester date from pivotal cities are received. Washington, D. C., contributes the Star only two days from the press, Indianapolis and Chicago, thirty-six hours, Kansas City, Salt Lake and Phoenix are just halfway 'round the clock. Today's gleanings range in subject from an account of how the police of Washington, D. C., had to take a man's leg away from him to prevent him from escaping, to the report from Utah revealing that 90 per cent of automobiles in use have defective brakes.)

GERANIUM BULBS?
Chicago Tribune, Oct. 6.

Officer Jack Shea of the Rogers Park police station planted geranium bulbs last spring and has been anticipating nature's miracle and their ensuing appearance above the ground in his garden. The other morning, following his daily inspection, he yelled to the family: "Here they are; come on out and see them." Sure enough, delicate shoots were visible, but it developed they were not geraniums but green onions. Sergt. William Bean had slipped into the garden and changed bulbs on him.

PARKED HIS LEG
Washington (D. C.) Star, Oct. 5.

James Watkins, alias "Peggy," nimble "peg-legged" colored man who walked out of Prince Georges County Police Court about a month ago when no one was looking, had no opportunity to repeat his escapade yesterday when he was again brought to the courtroom, for police removed the peg leg and placed it behind the judge's bench while the man himself was "parked" in the corner of the room farthest from the door.

HOW ARE YOURS?
Salt Lake Tribune, Oct. 7.

Only six automobiles out of a total of sixty-five tested by traffic officers of the Sheriff's department in the last ten days, had brakes in good condition, Deputy Karl Riedheim, in charge of the drive on faulty brakes in the county, said Friday.

Fruit Patent Suit Ruling Sustained

The validity of the Brogdex Company's patent covering the use of borax in the treatment of fresh fruit for the prevention of blue mold decay was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third District in Philadelphia yesterday, according to word received at the local office of the concern. The Circuit Court's decision upheld the ruling of United States District Judge Morris before whom the Brogdex Company had brought suit against American Fruit Growers, Inc., for infringement of patent and who had found in favor of the plaintiff.

If the Circuit Court's decision is not eventually overturned by the Supreme Court, the Brogdex Company and its licensees will have the exclusive right to use borax to prevent blue mold decay, it was said by a representative of that company yesterday. As part of the company's campaign to prevent infringements, it was added, it has filed suit against the California Fruit Growers' Exchange in the United States District Court at Philadelphia and is contemplating suit against Florida fruit packers.

LAND SHOW SET FOR LATER DATE

Realty Board Enterprise to Open Place March 8

Conflict With Other Affairs Reason Assigned

Plans for Event Embrace Exhibits and Lectures

The opening date for the California Land Show under the auspices of the Los Angeles Realty Board, to be held in Los Angeles, has been postponed from January 25 to March 8, next, and will continue as originally planned for sixteen days to March 23, according to an announcement by Edwin G. Hart, general chairman of the show committee.

The change in dates was made for several reasons, chief among which were the possibility of better weather conditions in March, avoiding conflict with the San Bernardino Orange Show and the Los Angeles Automobile Show, and the fact that tourists who are inspired by the displays of the various counties to visit the back-country will see it under very much better conditions than in the earlier part of the year.

COMMITTEE PERSONNEL

With the completion of the committee to handle the details of the show, arrangements are going forward rapidly. The personnel of the committee consists of Edwin G. Hart, chairman; Gaston Bastanchury, A. B. Bishop, E. R. Bowen, Sydney B. Brown, Frank H. Brooks, Dr. George P. Clement, U. T. Clotfelter, John T. Cooper, N. J. Cordary, Harry H. Culver, W. H. Daum, Ralph Ensign, Harold G. Ferguson, William M. Garland, Clifford Gillespie, M. Y. Hargreaves, W. H. Harrison, Harry Haehner, Bert Holloway, W. I. Hollingsworth, Herman Janss, L. B. Jorallmon, Henry W. Keller, D. E. Lane, A. P. Moran, Carl Newman, D. W. Pontius, Charles B. Shattuck, Charles B. Starr, William B. Stringfellow, J. Benton Van Nuys, Glenn D. Williams and Gerald Young.

A site in downtown Los Angeles, at Hill and Washington streets, has been obtained for the show. The location is easily accessible both by automobile and street car. Negotiations are under way for a fireproof and waterproof tent, 130 feet by 670, to house the main part of the exhibition, which will be supplemented by two smaller tents in which will be conducted a farm land convention and lecture bureau during the show.

The farm land convention program will be worked out by Carl Newman, president of the Calavo Growers of California, and a committee to be selected by him. At this convention every subject pertaining to horticulture, agriculture, floriculture and mining will be covered. Programs will be printed and distributed daily to visitors to the show, so that they may plan in advance to attend the sessions in which they are most interested.

The lecture bureau will be conducted in a specially equipped tent where motion-picture operators will be provided to show films and stereopticon slides which exhibitors may supply. The daily programs will give in advance the name of the county or community being featured, as well as the name of the lecturer. Ralph Ensign, a widely known developer of agricultural lands, is the committeeman in charge.

COUNTY EXHIBITS

Harry L. Heffner, one of the large land owners of California and a member of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, heads a special committee on county participation. Much interest is being shown and it is expected that practically all of the counties of the State will have exhibits of their agricultural products. Contact with the counties will be made by Glen D. Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate Association, with a local representative in each county.

The show will be purely educational in character, its purpose being to revive interest in the country land business in the belief that whatever can be done toward building up the farm land sections will be of genuine benefit to the entire State.

Woman Robs Three Places With Pistol

A woman bandit is charged with three hold-ups, out of a total of eight reported to the police last night. The plan used in two drug stores and a restaurant were so similar that the female robber is believed responsible for the trio of crimes.

The first appeared at Walfron's Pharmacy, 6634 South Hoover street and ordered a drink. Finishing, she pulled a small gun from her coat sleeve and demanded the cash in the register. A little later the same maneuver worked at the Academy Den, 4803 South Normandie, and $25 was procured. The woman appeared again at the Mark Drake Pharmacy, 5660 South Vermont, and took $2 from the cash register after she forced the clerk to open the box under a gun threat.

A taxi driver was robbed by a man and woman who stepped in his car and after driving for three blocks held him up at the point of a gun. Frank Minor, operator of a gas station at 3492 Hunt Drive, lost $60 when two men brandished a pistol and demanded his receipts. A woman lying in the gutter, apparently injured in an automobile accident, proved a hold-up lure, and her would-be rescuer was robbed of $3 by a man pal lurking in the shadows. Two men asked for a drink at the restaurant of S. Takafe, 523 East Tenth street, and enforcing their demands with two automatics took $100 from the cash register.

Maybe Not

Two friends were talking over a projected holiday on the continent.

"I say," said one, "how do we ask for water in Paris?"

"'Avez vous' ——" began the other, then broke off. "But shall we want any water in Paris?"—[Birmingham Gazette.

ATTORNEY ACCUSED OF USING GUN

'Arrest Follows Story of 'Hold-up' to Get Retainer; Suspect Denies Charge

Accusations of holding up a client with a pistol to collect a retainer were made yesterday against Fred W. Meyer, a lawyer of 123 West Fourteenth Place, who was booked on suspicion of robbery. Meyer was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Sanborn, Ryan, Vanaken and Hatcher on complaint of Adolphe Linne of 812½ South Spring street.

Linne complained that he took a friend, R. E. Showalter of 910 Insurance Exchange Building, to Meyer's office as a prospective client. Meyer demanded a retainer and when Showalter admitted he did not have the money, Linne relates that he displayed a roll, but changed his mind and put it back into his pocket. At that, Linne asserts, Meyer drew a pistol and ordered him to leave the money on the desk, which he did.

Linne hurried to the Georgia-street station to demand Meyer's arrest. The lawyer denied holding up his visitor.

Deputy Sheriff Takes Own Life

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA ANA, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Turning his own pistol against himself, G. E. (Eddie) McClellan, former deputy Sheriff, this evening committed suicide in Trego Canyon, seven miles north of El Toro. He left a note saying that he was ending his life. Coroner Brown refused to make public the note.

McClellan leaves a wife, living at 2381 Riverside Drive, Santa Ana, and a brother in Tennessee. Two years ago he was convicted of assaulting a man while serving as a deputy Sheriff under Sam Jernigan and was sentenced to jail. He came to California as a youth and was widely known in Orange county. Since serving his sentence he has worked as an automobile salesman and lately on the Whiting ranch.
